CRAIG WYLIE

CRAIG WYLIE TO SPEAK ON "AFTER KOREA — WHAT!"

Too many of us are puzzled today by chaotic world conditions and are not convinced that increased armaments will protect us indefinitely against world war. We ask if increasing deaths in our armed forces in Korea are really necessary. Are we helpless to avoid them?

In a desire to work out some solution, the Winchester Chapter of United World Federalists have asked Craig Wylie to discuss with us "After Korea — What?" next Wednesday evening, October 10 at 8 p. m. at the Winchester Library. Everyone is invited to hear him without charge. Mr. Wylie has just returned from Europe and is especially qualified to discuss this problem.

The United World Federalists are firm supporters of the United Nations, but urge, before it is too late, that the United Nations be strengthened with adequate but limited power so that the Korean War may not explode into a Third World War.

Everyone, the UWF believe, can be an effective voice in bringing this change about. The benefit of your opinion on this problem is needed.

Craig Wylie is Editor of Houghton, Mifflin Company. During World War II he was anti-submarine warfare specialist with rank of Lieutenant and saw service in the Atlantic, African and South American waters. He is now a member of the Board of Directors of the Massachusetts Branch of United World Federalists, a nationwide organization with active members in every state of the United States.

The idea of World Federal Government has been supported by organizations, churches and people of all creeds and beliefs in this country. UWF are members of the World Movement for World Federal Government, which Movement was warmly endorsed by the Pope at the Movement's meeting in Rome last spring.

Mr. Wylie will be glad to answer questions after his talk. We are privileged to have him with us. Come with your friends to hear him on this most timely and important issue.

WINCHESTER AT WINTHROP

Indians Face Stiff Test Saturday

Winchester High School's football team, with a record of three straight victories, faces its toughest test of the season Saturday when they journey to Winthrop to face Winthrop High's unbeaten, but once tied eleven. Kickoff at 2:30 p. m.

Strangely enough it is the tie in the Winthrop record that is giving the Beach City boys their prestige. Winthrop beat Hingham, 19 - 6, in the season's opener, and slaughtered Lexington, 39 - 0, the following week. Last Saturday Winthrop held Amesbury to a scoreless tie and statistically outplayed what most authorities seemed to think at the start of the season is the best team on the North Shore.

Amesbury had beaten Marblehead before meeting Winthrop and since the Headers beat Salem last Saturday, Amesbury's claim to being a good hallclub would seem to rest on solid ground.

How much the Amesbury game took out of Winthrop remains to be seen. Local scouts say the Beach City team is definitely better than Watertown and will give Winchester its stiffest test to date. Watertown, conqueror of Brockton, and loser by a single point to Leominster, always a good club, led most prognostictators, "Mack" of the Woburn Times excepted, to pick the Arsenal Towners to take Winchester last Saturday.

What would have happened had Watertown scored early in the game when Winchester had a six point lead nobody knows, but as things turned out the Indians really outclassed the visitors and after the game Watertown Coach Joe Zeno, former Holy Cross and Pro star, rated Winchester the best club he had seen, either in games or scrimmage, this year.

Winchester beat Winthrop last year in a tight game, 13 - 6. The Beach Towners are reputedly much better thhis year than last, but so too is Winchester. Winthrop is bigger than Watertown, according to local scouts, but the Indians are big enough to battle the big fellows. Winchester's big asset this year is speed, and the Indians also have power on the ground.

The local boys came out of the Watertown game in good shape and bar accidents this week, are expected to be at full strength for Winthrop. That means Co-Captain Dick Errico, who saw little service last Saturday, will be ready and Dick means much to the Indians' defense.

Co-Captain Joe Donlon is also expected to be ready for full-time defensive service, which should make Winchester's pass defense considerably stronger than it is without the tall boy in action.

Paul Amico, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Amico of 336 Cross street, made the Dean's List for scholastic excellency at University of New Hampshire for the spring semester last year. A sophomore, Paul is a strong candidate for regular position in the Wildcats' backfield this fall, having played on a freshman team a year ago. He was captain and star fullback on the Winchester High School eleven two years ago.

Indians Outclassed Favored Scarlet

Winchester High won its third straight football game of the new season last Saturday afternoon, rolling over favored Watertown High, conqueror of Brockton, 25-6. A big crowd saw the Indians stun the visitors with a running attack that combined power with speed and still more speed.

Winchester rushed for 292 yards and made 14 first downs, adding 34 yards on two passes completed out of eight attempts. The Indians fumbled twice, recovering once and lost 55 yards in penalties, two of the five yarders helping Watertown to its sole touchdown, while one of the fifteen yard setbacks stopped the red-hot Indians as they were surging toward the Watertown goal early in the game.

Watertown made 10 first downs and 122 yards rushing, completing four out of 14 aerials for 50 yards and losing 35 yards in penalties. The visitors recovered two of their four fumbles, one for a gain of two yards.

Watertown was very air minded, and it is a question whether the Scarlet couldn't have given Winchester a closer game had they kept more to the ground. At times they moved the ball well by rushing and seemed definitely on their way to a score along the ground early in the second period when a fumble ended this threat.

Winchester broke right into the scoring column. Watertown fumbled on the second play after "Anchor" Murphy's kickoff and "Prep" Keyes pounced on the ball for Winchester at the Watertown 30.

Sericka and Griffin ran the ball to the Watertown 17, Michelsen sneaked for a yard and then Jimmy Griffin went out to the left and cut back beautifully inside the Watertown right tackle to go over. Griffin's attempt at conversion was blocked.

Strong defensive work by Atkinson and Lentine penned Watertown deeply in its own territory after the kickoff that followed the first score and Griffin ran Watertown's punt back to the visitors 33. On third and two Winchester easily made first down but lost 15 yards for illegal use of hands and had to kick, Griffin's boot going into the end zone.

Neither team could go anywhere for the remainder of the quarter, but on the first play of the second period Griffin punted to Basile who was downed on the Watertown 25.

Simourian faded and passed to Northrop and a questionable ruling of interference against Serieka on the play gave the visitors the ball at the 39. Miller, McMahon and Simourian ran to a first down at the Winchester 36, with Knowlton getting through to the 25.

Miller picked up three through the line and then McMahon went wide to his right and seemed on his way to a sure touchdown when he was hit hard by Joe Donlon at the four. The Watertown back lost the ball at the impact and Winchester's Carrier fell on it for the game's big break. A moment later the entire complexion of things changed completely.

Swinging wide behind his interference, "Jocko" Serieka took a pitchout from Jost Michelsen, and coming to a dead stop while his interference blotted out the Watertown left wingback, the big speedboy started up the sideline, legging it to the Watertown 40 where he was pulling away from his nearest pursuer, Simourian, when he suddenly cut away from the sideline right into the path of the Watertown boy.

Looking back, "Jocko" lost his speed and as he swerved toward the sideline again Simourian brought him down on the Watertown 25. Had Serieka run straight along the sideline he surely would have gone all the way as he was gradually pulling away from Simourian when he cut right into his path.

With fourth and one Johnson bulled his way to the Watertown six and on the next play Michelsen broke through center for the score. Michelsen caught Watertown flat-footed with a pretty pass to Flaherty for the extra point, but a Winchester back was in motion on the play and a second attempt to pass was blocked.

Winchester was in possession again soon after the kickoff when Serieka intercepted a forward pass thrown from the Watertown 20. The Indians were caught clipping on the play and lost 15 yards, the ball going back to the Winchester 42.

Johnson and Michelsen made first down at the Watertown 30, from where Serieka rifled off a long pass to Paul McGowan, the Winchester end failing to hold the ball in the clear at the Watertown 10.

Michelsen ran the Watertown second-half kickoff back to the Winchester 40, hitting into a flow of defenders like a snow-plow. Johnson picked up five and Serieka got away to the Watertown 37. Bellino replaced Griffin and Serieka knifed through to the 22. Michelsen picked up five through the middle and then Bellino darted and wriggled to the four. Johnson bulled his way to the very goal line and Michelsen pushed over through center. Errico kicked the goal at placement.

Some great defensive play by Bobby Flaherty, plus a 15 yarder for clipping, forced Watertown to kick, and Serieka, aided by a great block by Bellino, got back to the Watertown 34. Johnson was stopped on a reverse, but Serieka got six and then broke through again to just inside the 20.

Griffin added nine and then little "Moosie" Bellino brought the crowd to its feet by zig-zagging up the middle to go over standing up. A bad pass from center forced Michelsen to run with the attempted point conversion and he didn't make it.

Watertown went all the way from its 35, opening the last quarter by rushing to a first down at the Winchester 36. A five yard offside penalty put the ball back on the Winchester 41, and McMahon got only four of the five back on a sweep.

Two passes were grounded, but Winchester lost five for delaying the game for a substitution, and a screen pass from Simourian to Knowlton went to the Winchester 16.

Here Winchester lost another five yards for delaying the game, when a substitute ran on and off the field again, though in both cases the clock was stopped at the time.

With the ball at the 11, McMahon wriggled to the four, but on the next play Watertown lost five for offside. With the ball at the nine, one pass was grounded, but another pass bounced from a Watertown player and two Winchester boys into the arms of McMahon in the end zone. Lucky or not, it counted six points, but that was all, for Lentine squarely blocked the try for the extra point.

With time running out a long pass from "Stu" Thomson to Bellino advanced the ball from the Watertown 44 to the 20, but Winchester fumbled at this point and Watertown recovered. Just before the final whistle Bellino on a pass play had to run and advanced, after fading to midfield, all the way to the Watertown 27.

Winchester played a good part of the game without Co-Captains Errico and Donlon, both of whom are troubled with leg injuries.

FACTS OF FLUORIDATION

Having read the recent editorials in your paper regarding the possibility of adding fluorides to Winchester's water supply, and being actively engaged in the water works business, I should like to get some facts on fluoridation before you and your readers as a matter of record. I believe it unfair for one of your readers to direct a blast against the use of fluorides on the basis of toxic effects when the peers of the realms of medicine, dentistry and sanitary engineering have placed their respective stamps of approval on the addition of fluoride to water to prevent dental caries in children. Among others, the following national organizations have examined the records of people who have been drinking fluorides all of their lives (since they do occur in many natural waters) and have recommended that they be fed in dilute concentrations (1 part per million) to municipal water supplies: American Public Health Association, State and Territorial Health Officers, United States Public Health Service, Federal Security Agency, American Water Works Association, and the American Dental Association. Approval of these agencies has been obtained after extensive studies of both the lack of toxic effects and the benefits derived in preserving the teeth of children.

A very interesting study has recently been completed by the University of Wisconsin. This showed that children from the age of birth to 16 years are benefited greatly by fluorides in water supplies. Furthermore, their survey showed that the cost of dental work for the average of a great number of children up to 16 years of age in a non-fluoride city was $183.08. The cost of dental work in a similar city where 1.2 parts per million of fluoride was present was $39.36. The average cost of adding fluorides to water supplies was 15 cents per person per year. The saving in dental expense was over $140 per child. Added to this was the better health of children with better teeth, something which cannot be evaluated on an economic basis.

Should we continue to deprive the children of Winchester of the benefits which can be achieved at such low cost and in such a safe manner?

Very truly yours,
Rolf Eliassen

REPORT OF FRUIT AND FLOWER MISSION

Editor of the Star:

The Fruit and Flower Mission Committee for Winchester would like to use your column for a brief report of its activity from June to September.

Each Tuesday morning the hampers and cartons at the Winchester Station were filled with garden flowers, wild flowers, and potted plants. Since the first of June thirty-four of these containers have been sent in on the nine o'clock train. At the North Station the Railway Express trucks generously contributed their services to deliver them to the Rutland Street Center. There a club of older men and women, known as "The Friendly Folks", unpacked he hampers, arranged the flowers into bouquets, and gave them to the sick, needy, and shut-ins in the area.

Five days a week flowers from twenty-nine suburban communities are received at various settlement houses in Boston. This work, begun eighty-one years ago, continues to grow each year. Hundreds of stories can be told about the comfort and joy that these gifts bring to the needy and the sick. At the North End Union on Thursdays, people stand in line to get the flowers to deliver to those less fortunate than they. At another center a Chinese laundryman asks for one blossom for his window.

We wish to acknowledge gratefully the efforts and contributions of all the participating churches and clubs, the Winchester florists, and the countless individuals who gave their flowers. Even the children brought their flowers this month.

We also wish to thank you for the generous space you gave us in "The Winchester Star."

Mrs. George B. Redding,
Chairman

BAND CONCESSION SUCCESSFUL

Editor of the Star:

Those who are interested in the High School Band and Orchestra will be happy to know that the operation of the concession at the football game last Saturday was successful. It is hoped at future games to have two full stands, one near the Manchester road gate. In this way, it is felt, confusion at the half will be eliminated.

An attempt is going to be made to reduce the price of hot dogs to relieve the strain on youthful pocketbooks, the committee feeling that while the object of the concession is to benefit the Band and Orchestra, the enjoyment of the youngsters, whose game it is should not be limited.

Many worked hard to make this new project a success, and it is hoped that anybody who wishes to help the Band and Orchestra will offer their help, now or later, when a permanent organization is to be formed.

The one disturbing note was that during the week-end after the game the building on the field was broken into and a substantial amount of Coca-Cola stolen. The theft is, of course, a crime primarily affecting the Orchestra and Band.

CIVIL DEFENSE ANNOUNCEMENT

CD Routes and Traffic Control Stations

In the event of any future Practice Alert involving a test of Traffic Control, Winchester residents will be interested in knowing the part our local highway system plays in the statewide traffic plan.

Route 3 (Cambridge street) is a Primary Route in the State Civil Defense Route System. In practical terms, this will become a major artery for military and CD Rescue and Evacuation vehicles in event of enemy attack (or Practice Alert) and part or all of the Route may be closed to public travel.

Though none of the following category is planned through Winchester, there are also designated Emergency Routes to serve as auxiliaries to Primary Routes, when needed. These routes are already marked by red-white-and-blue CD numbered signs, each number being just 500 more than the Primary Route number for which the Emergency Route is the auxiliary. For example, the auxiliary to Route 1 is numbered CD 501.

Both on and beyond the Primary Routes, Traffic Control Stations are already established at important intersections across the State. Winchester has eight of these, spotted as follows:

344-1 at Cambridge and Church streets
344-2 in the center, at Route 38 (Main street) and Church and Mt. Vernon streets
344-3 at Main and Bacon streets
344-4 at Main street and Highland avenue
344-5 at Highland avenue and Mystic Valley Parkway and Mt. Vernon street
344-6 at Washington and Cross streets and Kenwin road

The foregoing information on Routes and Traffic Control is chiefly, of course, the responsibility of Police, Auxiliary Police and other CD volunteers who man the positions. But everyone will realize how it is to his own advantage to familiarize himself with the facts, and be prepared to act accordingly during future tests, or — as is still all too possible — in the event of attack.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Remember the Weenie Roast on Saturday evening, October 6, at the Legion Home. All members and their friends are invited to come and enjoy the food and entertainment. Tickets may be obtained from Lola Bennett, the chairman or any Auxiliary member.

The Blood Donor program is more important now then ever before and we ask every one who possibly can, whether an Auxiliary member or not to assist in this. If you are interested call Dot McCormack, WInchester 6-2176-R for information.

The Hallowe'en Dance is not too far away, Saturday October 27, so make plans now for one of our most successful events.

Have your gifts for Christmas Gift Shop in by the next meeting.

SHOOTING RANGE OPENS

Auxiliary Police Chief Robert A. Johnston announces that the Shooting Range in the basement of the Star Building off Park street will open for members of the Auxiliary Police Thursday, October 11, at 7 p. m.

THE TARRS LEAVE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Mr. Tarr will commence his new duties December 1. The parish he will serve is of nearly 2,500 persons and has a church school of more than 1,100. He will he one of three ministers, sharing equally in the preaching and pastoral work of the church. His special parish responsibility will be the young people of senior and junior high school age, and a vigorous young adult group.

Mr. and Mrs. Tarr have done effective work with the Church School and young people's Forum of the Winchester First Congregational Church, the school under their stewardship having increased in enrollment from 891 in 1948 to 774 in 1951. Attendance during the same time has increased from 487 to 621.

Forum membership has grown from 108 in 1948 to 173 in 1951. Forum attendance at chapel and church services has increased in the same time from 62 to 112. Incidentally Mrs. Tarr's particular contribution to parish work here has been with the Forum, where she has been adviser to many committees and a counselor and friend of the individual young people. She has also done much in the field of teacher training for the Church School.

The Tarrs came to Winchester in September of 1948 from Syracuse, N. Y., where Mr. Tarr had been pastor of the Geddes Congregational Church and minister to the Congregational students at Syracuse University. A native of Gloucester, he is a graduate of the Boston University School of Religious Education and School of Theology, also attending two Ministers Summer Conferences at Union Theological Seminary.

Mr. Tarr is presently serving as Dean of the Community School of Christian Education sponsored by the Protestant Churches of Winchester and Woburn, and is also president of the Professional Religious Educators Association of Greater Boston, having previously served as vice-president. Last year he led a discussion at the Boston University School of Theology sponsored by the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tarr have assisted other churches in this district with problems in the field of Christian Education, and Mr. Tarr has been on the radio for the past two years as preacher for a week's broadcast of Morning Devotions over Station WHDH. Last year he was one of the guest preachers on the Morgan Memorial Morning Devotions Hour.

Mrs. Tarr is a native of Pennsylvania and a graduate of Boston University School of Religious Education, having done graduate work toward her Master's Degree at Syracuse University. She and Mr. Tarr have made their home at 227 Forest street, and have a son, Edward H. Tarr, who attended the Winchester schools until this year, when after completing his sophomore year at high school, he won one of the largest competitive scholarships at Phillips Exeter Academy. He is now an upper middler at Exeter, having passed the necessary tests for placement in that grade.

NEW ENGLAND COUNTRY FAIR

Autumn and Country Fairs go hand in hand, and in keeping with this New England tradition a Country Fair is coming to Winchester on October 26th. The Social and Recreation halls of the First Baptist Church will be gay with attractive displays of handwork, dolls, kitchen articles, men's wear, books, food, candy, plants, and many others, in tempting array.

The committee chairmen in charge of the various booths are engaging in a friendly rivalry to present a variety of articles both useful and ornamental. The General Chairmen are Mrs. Elizabeth MacLeod and Mrs. Theodore C. Gray, with the following booths and chairmen in charge: Dolls — Miss Doris Emery, Miss Harriett Emery, Mrs. Lewis M. WYMAN MOTHERS' FALL MEETING

The fall meeting of the Wyman School Mothers' Association met yesterday afternoon at the Wyman School at 1:45. Mrs. Ronald Wyman, president of the association, called the meeting to order and extended a very warm welcome to both the new and old mothers of the school.

Special mention was made of the individual room mothers and the ticket mothers by Mrs. Wyman and they were later introduced to the group by Mrs. Joseph Dolben, chairman of that committee.

Mrs. Wyman also announced that last year's board left the sum of $200 to refurnish the teachers' room at the school. Plans to raise more money for this much needed project are in the making. Miss Lowry, school principal, will serve on the committee for the redoing of this room.

The secretary's and the treasurer's reports were given and the various committees reported on the progress of their work. Mrs. Wyman spoke of the Social Committee and their responsibility for providing refreshments during the social hours of the meetings. Mrs. Seymour Bingham is chairman of this committee. She is assisted by: Mrs. Frank Barnes, Mrs. James Baldwin, Mrs. Raymond Chase, Mrs. Charles Newton, Mrs. Arthur Pratt, Mrs. Richard Smith, and Mrs. John Snook.

Mrs. Wyman then spoke of the fact that last spring suggestions were made by several people that the Wyman district should contribute more to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation and as a result of these suggestions the board decided to launch this drive for sustaining members to the Foundation. She introduced Mrs. Bradford M. Bentley who is chairman of the drive. Mrs. Bentley spoke of the idea for the drive as it was conceived by the board members at their meeting last spring. She introduced Mrs. George Marks who is a member of the General Committee of the Scholarship Foundation. Mrs. Marks called on her several years of working with scholarship and enlightened the mothers with the past, present, and future of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation. She presented many human interest stories of the type that are available only to those who have the privilege of helping young people to realize their dreams of education beyond high school and their preparations for useful and worthwhile lives in their chosen fields. She pointed out that an average of eleven to twelve scholarships are given each year to deserving students graduating from the Winchester High School. The scholarship committee works very closely with Mr. Grindle and members of the high school faculty in making its selection of recipients of the awards.

This talk by Mrs. Marks touched off a ten day drive to gain 500 sustaining members to the Foundation. Plans are made to contact as many people living in the Wyman district as possible, and the committee in charge of this drive is prepared for lots of hard work as it seeks to top its goal.

Miss Lowry was introduced next and after some appropriate and inspiring words from her, she introduced the teachers to the parents. Each teacher was wearing a corsage and in Mr. Bennett's case, a boutonniere. These flowers were presented by Mr. Whittaker of the Winchester Conservatories whose kindness and generosity in the past have been so much appreciated by the Wyman mothers. His offer to donate the flowers for this occasion was certainly received with the thanks of the board.

After the business and program parts of the meeting the group enjoyed a social hour at which time refreshments were served and an opportunity was provided for the mothers and teachers to chat informally.

Tickets may be obtained at the church office, the Mary Spaulding Book Shop and from Mrs. Walter Badger beginning October 9. Individual tickets are $1.50 including tax. The deadline for season tickets, which include the Fall and Spring productions, at $2.50 including tax, is October 15.

More than half the quota had been reached by Monday of this week. THE WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester will hold its first fall meeting on Wednesday afternoon, October 10, 1951, at 2:30 P. M. in the Music Hall. The meeting will be presided over by the new president, Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds. Preliminary speakers will include Robert P. Campbell of Medford, Senator from the Middlesex District, who will report on recent state legislation.

The problem and responsibilities of civil defense, especially as related to the women of towns and cities, a subject of utmost timeliness, will comprise the program of the afternoon. Mrs. Barbara Metcalf, Club Chairman of Civil Defense, will introduce the guest speaker, Miss Pauline Fenno of Rowley, Consultant for Women's Voluntary Participation in Civil Defense. Appointed by Governor Dever soon after the creation of the Civil Defense Agency, Miss Fenno is expert consultant to its director, John F. Stokes, on women's participation in the program, and is probably the best equipped woman in the state, if not in the nation, to serve in this capacity. From 1938 through 1945, she was a member of the staff of Lady Reading, head of Great Britain's Women's Voluntary Service, and saw action throughout the Battle of Britain. Since her appointment to the Massachusetts Agency, her time has been divided equally between observing civil defense activities in England and service here. Miss Fenno's aim is to stimulate interest in civil defense so that when called upon for service, women will promptly and eagerly respond.

Accompanying Miss Fenno to the meeting will be Lady Brinkman, a Canadian woman, English by marriage, who was in Great Britain throughout World War II, working primarily with the Red Cross. She will relate her experiences in England during this period.

At the conclusion of the meeting tea will be served by Mrs. J. Howard Macaulay, chairman of hospitality, and her committee.

This will be an open meeting, and the Republican Club extends a most cordial invitation to all women who are interested to attend.

The following are tickets for the Supper: G. K. Charles W. Craven; D. G. K. Everett W. Kimball; Chancellor Jeremiah J. McCarron; Warden Eric W. Johnson; Financial Secretary William D. Sullivan; Recording Secretary John H. Bennett; Advocate William J. O'Leary; Guards Vito Scaturro and Bert Stevens; Treasurer Francis E. Donovan; Bart Conlon, Edward F. Dalton, John D. SECOND SESSION OF RELIGIOUS SCHOOL ATTRACTS MORE PEOPLE

Twenty-five people, including five from Woburn, who were not present at the opening session of the Community School of Christian Education registered last Monday evening at the First Congregational Church at the second session of the School.

At 7:30 coffee and doughnut buttons were served by the Church of the Epiphany. While enjoying these delicious refreshments, it was evident that the people were eager for eight o'clock to come and for the classes to begin. All of the courses are proving to be popular.

At the course on "Dramatics", Rev. Mr. Storer re-stated the purpose of the class: to give help to teachers who wish to dramatize a class lesson, to plan a worship service, and to be of assistance in putting on a pageant or drama. Helpful books were suggested:

"Poetry Arranged for the Speaking"

Under Mr. Storer's guidance, a worship service on "Light" was planned and demonstrated, using a processional, lighted candles, and choric reading. Suggestions for a Thanksgiving processional were given. For next week's session there will be ideas for Christmas and the dramatization of Bible stories.

At nine o'clock, Dr. Elmer A. Leslie spoke on "Jeremiah", and made him live as he had made Moses live the week before. Jeremiah was called to his ministry during a very difficult time in human history and stood with bravery and courage when to speak out might mean the dungeon; he has a message today for every young leader starting on his ministry. He was one of the greatest prophets in history, and his influence is still felt. Dr. Leslie very graciously remained after the close of his address to talk with anyone who wished to ask questions about this great man.

Rev. Donald B. Tarr, Dean of the School, announced that on next Monday evening Dr. Edwin P. Booth of the Boston University School of Theology will give one of his famous lectures on the life of Christ.

There will be three more sessions of the School. Anyone who was unable to attend the first two may register next Monday evening and enjoy these remaining sessions.

"GREAT BOOKS" GROUP STARTS THIRD YEAR

All of us at sometime or another need a mental pick-up, a challenge to our usual processes of thinking, another view point. And today particularly in the stepped-up tempo of our times, there are many problems to be met clearly and objectively.

Joining a "Great Books" discussion group is one of the more enjoyable ways of clarifying our own ideas by discussing with others in an informal manner the thoughts and ideas of great men of another day. What were their social and economic problems, their philosophy of life and how do they apply today?

The Winchester group starts its third year of the "Great Books" on Thursday evening, October 18 at the Library. Mr. Richard Novak will again lead these sessions and Mr. Robert Sands will co-lead. These meetings occur every two weeks for a two hour period and start at 7 o'clock. The first reading is Pascal's Pensees. (Selections).

Mrs. John P. Carr.
Mr. Bruce G. Bond of Arlington.
Mrs. Thomas F. Halloran.
Mr. and Mrs. Adin B. Bailey.
Mr. Robert A. Sands.
Mr. and Mrs. J. Murray Ross of Cambridge.
Miss Eva M. Sherman.
Mrs. Gardner W. Handy.
Mrs. Donald L. Puffer.
Mr. Klaus Halm.
Miss Mary Hall.
Mrs. Helen Weisenborn of Arlington.
Mrs. Mary L. Prestwood.
Mrs. Guy P. Livingstone.
Mrs. Wallis Moulding.

So if you feel the need of a mental cocktail, won't you join us and bring any interested friends. A reading list of the "Great Books" is available at the Library.

MISSION UNION GUILD

The Mission Union Guild of the First Congregational Church will begin their fall activities on Tuesday, October 9, at 10 a. m., with a sewing meeting in charge of Mrs. Hugh Grimes and Miss Mabel Ward. Luncheon will be served in the social hall at 1:00 p. m. by Mrs. Donald E. Davis and Allen O. Eaton.

The afternoon meeting at 2 p. m. will be presided over by Mrs. James Allen, director of Mission Union, and Mrs. Frederick S. Hatch will have charge of the worship service.

A most unique and interesting program has been outlined by Mrs. Wayne B. Thompson, program chairman, and Mrs. Robert D. Lowry, associate director. There will be a round table discussion of "Congregationalism in Action", by members of the board who visited and were taken on a conducted tour of the Congregational House at 14 Beacon street, Boston, on Tuesday, September 25.

A general survey of this trip to the House will be given by Mrs. Richard Ashenden, Jr. Short talks on the work of Congregationalism, which consists of five district divisions, will be given by Miss Helen Hall, on "Massachusetts Conference"; Mrs. James S. Allen, on "American Board of Foreign Missionaries"; Mrs. Norman Padelford, on "Board of Home Missions"; Mrs. Robert Lowry, on "Council for Social Action"; and Mrs. B. Edward Zinn, on "Service Committee". This is to he followed by a general discussion with all present having the opportunity to take part.

All women of the church and their friends are urged to attend this meeting, which should be very informative, as well as interesting.

IMPORTANT MEETING

The committee will act on a proposed schedule — drawn up by the publicity and program committees Tuesday — to coordinate the activities of the cooperating churches up to Loyalty Sunday, set for Dec. 2.

Six churches are participating: First Baptist, New Hope Baptist, First Congregational, Second Congregational, Crawford Memorial Methodist and Unitarian.

The purpose of the United Canvass is to integrate individual drives, work together to make the whole community more aware of the needs of the churches and to promote interdenominational activity.

The actual collecting of funds will be done by each individual church after the joint activity of the committee has laid the groundwork. Experience in other communities indicates that each church may hope to find its individual quotas increased by the cooperative work of the group.

There is no general pooling of collected funds.

PASTOR'S ASSOCIATES TO MEET

Some thirty men, known as the Pastors' Associates, along with the Visitation Committee of the Women's Society of Christian Service, will sit at a supper meeting at 5:30 p. m. this Sunday, at the parsonage of Rev. John Snook, Jr.

Plans will be made for visitation throughout the parish, culminating in a reception of new members, Sunday, October 28th. A baptismal service will also be conducted.

This committee has been one of the most effective in the work and growth of the church.

The idea of the personal visitation started two years ago with about 10 men and has grown steadily since.

Rev. Snook is president of the Board of Evangelism of the New England Conference of the Methodist church and thus has a special interest in this type of work.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The Winchester Girl Scout adults, namely leaders, council members and friends, under the leadership of Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, deputy commissioner, will take a most active part in the coming Red Feather campaign.

Realizing the Girl Scout work here in Winchester is maintained solely by funds received as a Red Feather agency and by money earned by the Cookie Drive, these adult Girl Scouts are planning to canvass about a hundred stores between 11 and 12 noon on Red Feather Retail Trade Day, October 27th.

A discussion of whether American Youth is meeting it's responsibilities, featured at the Girl Scout National Convention at Mechanics Hall in Boston, will be transcribed and broadcast throughout the nation on "America's Town Meeting of the Air" on Tuesday, October 16th at 9:00 p. m. The discussion itself will take place at the evening session of the convention on Monday, October 15th at 8:00 p. m. and be transcribed.

The speakers on the program will be Miss Dorothy Stratton, National Executive Director of the Girl Scouts and Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly magazine with George V. Denny, the moderator. Members of the convention audience, which will include approximately 8,000 delegates, will participate in open discussion following the debate. The broadcast will be the first of it's kind to emanate from a Girl Scout National Convention.

The "Town Meeting of the Air" is one of the oldest programs on radio and is known for the interesting and timely topics which are discussed. This should be of great interest to Winchester parents, as should the convention, the 31st in Girl Scout history, — the theme — "Girl Scouts — A growing Force for Freedom."

"HIGHER LEARNING" AWARDS TO PAST RED FEATHER LEADERS

Outstanding community leaders of the past ten years have been invited to receive special Red Feather "diplomas" at the Red Feather Informal Party to be held Tuesday, October 9th, at the Music Hall at 7:45. Burton Miller, Chairman of the 1952 campaign, will present these awards as symbols of the long standing and continuing effort these Winchester people have shown in working and having fun together: Audrey and Harold Fuller, 1938; Christine and Frederick Craven, 1939; Nan and James Nowell, 1940; Evelyn and Harlow Russell, 1944; Marie and George Chatfield 1945; Florence and Ralph Jope, 1946; Helen and Walcott Thompson, 1947; Ruth and Reveley Smith, 1948; Doris and Earl Carrier, 1949; Eleanor and Davenport Davis, 1950; and Eleanor and Charles Butler, 1951. The Fullers, Chatfields and Smiths have since moved from Winchester, but are hoping to be present at the party.

Representatives and officers of the Winchester Red Feather agencies will be present to show their appreciation to these workers for making possible the constantly increasing quantity and quality of the services available to all Winchester people.

Although 1952 Campaign personnel will have a few hits of business to attend to (such as picking up their kits, etc.), the main idea of the whole affair is to have people who are working together to know each other and to meet together just for fun.

PAST NOBLE GRAND'S SERVICE CLUB

The Past Noble Grands Service Club of Victoria Rebekah Lodge held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Roberts, Clematis street on Wednesday evening, the 26th, at which time a very delicious supper was enjoyed.

The business meeting was presided over by the President, Mrs. Roberts, and plans made for the fall. The mystery was won by Muriel Roberts. The next meeting will be on Novemher 1st with Miss Elsie Lyons as Hostess. There will be a penny sale following the meeting.

OIL HEATER EXPLODED

The Fire Department was called Monday forenoon to the home of Mr. William B. Denison, 16 Brooks street. The family had been absent from home for the week-end and when they returned found that in their absence there had been an explosion in their basement oil heater, blowing out the smoke-pipe.

An odor identified by the firemen as coming from the exposed soot bothered the family considerably and the firemen used the smoke ejector and ventilation to rid the house of a major part of the odor.

The firemen believed that delayed ignition in the heater had been responsible for the trouble.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Executive Board of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester met at the home of the president, Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds, on Tuesday morning, October 2, 1951.

Mrs. Reynolds outlined a particularly effective program of meetings for the coming year and presented in detail the money-making project that the club will sponsor shortly. Promoted by the Ways and Means Committee under the chairmenship of Mrs. Charles A. Weimer and Mrs. James M. Beale, a Bridge-Canasta party will be given on Wednesday afternon, October 17, in the Unitarian Church Hall with dessert to precede the playing.

Of great satisfaction to the Winchester Republican Club will be Mrs. Reynold's announcement that the Republican Country Fair held in Topsfield last June was an outstanding financial success as well as broad and effective publicity for the party and that Winchester's individual effort, the sale of five hundred tickets, was the finest individual showing of any town in the state.

Much discussion at the board meeting concerned increasing the membership of the club and extending hospitality at club meetings to recent members. Plans for a special tea for new members, to be held later in the year, were given consideration.

Coffee followed the adjournment of the meeting.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

Have you members ever been asked, "What is the Fortnightly?" Or, "Does it consist of only older women?" Since I am not a New Englander I asked these questions, and many people have asked them of me. The following is for those who have been wondering. The Fortnightly is the Winchester Woman's Club, made up of women of all ages and religions. It was organized some sixty years ago. It meets in the Masonic Hall the second and fourth Mondays beginning in October through March. The programs are super. Tea or dessert is served once a month. They are both beautiful as well as delicious. This year they will be even more so under the capable chairmanship of Mrs. Rebecca Meigs. We have a most gracious President, Mrs. K. B. Hiscoe, whom everyone adores. There are a number of elderly women in the club, but they are not old really; they have just been young a long time. They are the backbone of the club and are both kind and cooperative as well as wonderful workers. Next week I'll tell you the purpose of the club.

The first meeting of the season will be a dessert meeting, Monday, October 8, at 1:00 p. m. This is a reception to new members. The business meeting begins at 2:00 p. m. We are extremely fortunate in having for our guest artist, Miss Deborah Upton, a concert violinist. Her accompanist will be Miss Lois Stevens.

Miss Upton is a member of the Master Class of Emanuel Ondricek of New York and Boston. She is a young lady of rare talent. Not only has she inherent musical ability, but she possesses a wisdom, intelligence, and character to develop it. She is an artist who is satisfying to hear and charming to watch.

Miss Nancy Townley-Tilson of this town has been chosen for the Glee Club at Mt. Holyoke College and for a part in the Mt. Holyoke Junior Show. A graduate of Winchester High School, she is a junior at Mt. Holyoke and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. D. Townley-Tilson of Foxcroft road.

CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

The Tuesday Group of the Church of the Epiphany will hold its first meeting and tea of the season on Tuesday, October 9 at 3:00 p. m. Mrs. Bruce LaRose of 4 Lakeview road will open her home for the occasion.

Mrs. Hollis A. Dyer, chairman, will introduce new members to the group and will outline plans for the coming year. The Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church, will give a special greeting, and Mrs. Guy Livingstone, First Vice-President of the Church Service League, will tell the group of the various opportunities for work in the Church.

All members of the Parish are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Erskine N. White has been confined to her bed by illness this week.

PARKHURST SCHOOL NEWS

The Executive Board of the Parkhurst School Mothers' Association met September 26 at the home of it's President, Mrs. George Herrick. Plans were made for the annual fall meeting of the association which will be held the end of October at the Parkhurst School.

It is hoped that all Mothers will attend and learn of the plans for the coming year. A special invitation is extended to all mothers of new pupils enrolled at the school.

The resignation of Mrs. John Stevens as corresponding secretary was accepted with regret and Mrs. Martha Porter was appointed to fill her unexpired term.

The flower committee under the direction of Mrs. Carl Pynn arranged the placing of flowers on each teachers' desk the opening day of school.

Plans are being made for the children's Christmas Fair which was so successful last year.

ANNUAL FAIR COMMITTEE

The third and final meeting of the "Annual Fair" committee of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Earl Haney, Chairman, on October 1st. Over coffee and donuts, final plans were drafted, which will insure a bigger and better fair than ever on November 30th.

METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PROGRESS

From the actual records of the Church School program of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, it was interesting to note that the actual gain of enrollment on the first day of Sunday School this Fall, was 200% over that of the Fall of 1948, a period of three years. The staff of teachers and officers has doubled and the reorganized program offers a strong religious educational program to the children.

Requirements for graduation with honor were published two weeks ago by request. In answer to the questions of several townspeople we have asked the Star to publish the general program of study, which is as follows: (First Quarter).

Nursery — "Here We Go To Church." This subject acquaints the child with the purpose of God's House; that God is his Heavenly Father and Jesus his friend.

Kindergarten — "Learning in the Church." This is an advanced study of the child's relationship to God and the Church.

Grade I — "My Book for Home and Church." The main thought here is in making friends through loving kindness and sharing.

MYSTIC SCHOOL TEAS

Grade Five:

A tea for Mrs. Eileen Hartwell was given on Wednesday afternoon, September 26, by the mothers of her Mystic School Fifth Grade pupils at the home of Mrs. Richard B. Chase on Pierrepont road. Each new-to-Winchester mother was presented with a tiny chrysanthemum corsage, and Mrs. Hartwell was given one of red roses. Mrs. Hartwell discussed and answered questions about the various phases of fifth grade teaching with real understanding, and Mystic School Principal Mr. Joseph Forte's brief but welcome appearance added a great deal to the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Mulford and Mrs. Charles A. Myers amid lovely flower decorations. Presiding at the tea table as pourers were Mrs. Colver P. Dyer and Mrs. William C. Ross.

McCORMACK'S BACK AT OLD STAND

McCormack's Apothecary reopened at its old stand in the White Building at the corner of Church and Common street, after occupying temporary quarters on Church street beyond Common street following the fire that badly damaged the building last spring.

McCormack's opened their remodeled quarters to the public last Saturday, and all who visited the apothecary on that day, as well as those who have dropped in since, were enthusiastic about the new layout.

The new layout features the open display of goods, with everything marked clearly for the further convenience of patrons. The store is air conditioned and there are two air-conditioned telephone booths. Mothers and prospective mothers will find the new and complete Baby Section intriguing, and another interesting feature is the completely modern prescription department, the last word in this sort of thing. Incidentally the pharmacy in the new Shoppers World at Framingham has a prescription department just like McCormack's, installed by the same company. The local layout is the most modern in New England.

The general appearance of the store is most attractive. Ample lighting of the latest type, installed by a Winchester electrician, Frank Pollitano, makes the store light as day at all times, and the Bonnie Maid Versatile Floor laid by Winchester's Northern Floors makes a fine background for the attractively tinted walls and the lavish use of chrome on the counters and shelves.

All brands of popular candy are refrigerated in the apothecary's modern candy refrigerator, and the last word in fountains will dispense the sodas and milkshakes which have made McCormack's a hyword in Winchester. Proprietor Freddy McCormack tells the Star that Winchester footballers still train on his milkshakes and insists his opening last Saturday was planned to enable the Indians to get this luscious nourishment in time for Watertown.

Although Fred has a strictly new store, he wants to make it clear that the same popular help and old-line business policies will be waiting customers at his new apothecary. Why not drop in and see for yourself?

INTERESTED IN SKIING?

Last week's current events:

1. It snowed on Mt. Washington.

2. Up at Chandler's Barn on Forest street the directors of the Chamois Ski Club of Winchester met and planned a lively program for this season which will include fun for all — youngsters and oldsters.

You can go to ski school with local instructors right here in town, snow permitting, or enjoy a ski week-end in the mountains (there are four week-ends planned for this winter), or if you like to take your skiing sitting down by the fire some extra special ski movies are in store for you.

Want to hear more? Come to the first meeting of this season Wednesday, October 10 at 8 p. m. at Chandler's Barn, 130 Forest street. When you see that ski movie you won't be sorry to see the leaves falling off the trees and then when you see that first snowfall — well, you're off —.

It will be fun to greet the old faces and if yours is a new one, bring it along and let's get acquainted.

RUNNING START TO RED FEATHER GOAL

Arthur Pratt, Chairman of Advance Solicitation for the Winchester Red Feather Campaign, is prepared to give a running start toward the Winchester goal of $56,355. This is the magic number of the 1947 campaign when Winchester went over the top — a good omen for this year. Over half of this money is for Winchester people served by the six Winchester agencies. Representatives of three of them are shown with Mr. Pratt: (l to r) Mrs. Allen Kimball, Home for the Aged; Mrs. Joy Woolley, Winchester Hospital; Mrs. Albert Crockett, Winchester Girl Scouts; and Mr. Pratt, who also represents the Boy Scouts, Fellsland Council. The Winchester District Nursing Association and the Society of St. Vincent de Paul are also supported by the Red Feather. This year the USO, serving the 327 Winchester servicemen all over the country and abroad, is included in the campaign. So add the price of a dinner or show to your Red Feather Pledge. What you give makes the difference.

Mr. Frederick B. Craven of Wedgemere avenue attended the 35th reunion of his class at the United States Naval Academy's Alumni Week-End at Annapolis, Md., last week.

Mr. Craven's class, the Class of 1916, was graduated from the Naval Academy in the days before World War I when both naval aviation and submarines were in their infancy. Members of the class entered both fields, pioneering to the extent that 1916 has produced the greatest percentage of flag rank officers of any class at the Naval Academy.

Four of the present top flight Navy commands are classmates of Mr. Craven, they being Admiral W. M. Fechteler, chief of naval operations; Admiral Arthur W. Radford, commander-in-chief of the Pacific; Admiral Robert B. Carney, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean and South Atlantic; and Vice Admiral C. T. Joy, commander-in-chief of the Far East, presently chairman of General Ridgeway's staff trying to negotiate peace with the Chinese Communists in Korea.

CHILD CAUGHT ON SWING HOOK

Jane Van Dyke, 5 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Dyke of 162 Forest street, was painfully injured while playing in a tree at 156 Forest street late Monday afternoon when she fell and caught her right arm between the elbow and shoulder on an eyehook, from which was suspended a swing.

The hook went through the inside of the arm, and when the Fire Department arrived with a ladder crew the men found the little girl still impaled on the hook and being supported by a boy, whose name was not secured.

Chief James E. Callahan of the Fire Department got the hook out of the childs' arm and the firemen took her into the house where first aid was administered while awaiting the arrival of Dr. Charles Rooney.

PACETTI — ELDREDGE

At the Church of the Holy Spirit in Orleans on Saturday afternoon, October 6, Miss Barbara Eldredge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Eldredge of Chatham and Boston, was married to George Francis Pacetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gino S. Pacetti of Foxcroft road. White chrysanthemums and ivy made an attractive setting for the four o'clock service which was read by the Rev. Rollin J. Fairbanks of the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge. Mrs. Harry E. Swanson, organist, played the bridal music.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Eldredge wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace over pure white satin and carried white chrysanthemums. The fitted bodice of her gown was fashioned with long sleeves and a scalloped yoke outlined with seed pearls, and her bouffant skirt extended to form a cathedral-length train. Her full-length tulle veil, which was caught to a Juliet cap, had previously been worn by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clement Eldredge.

Mrs. Charles Starkweather of Chatham was her sister's honor attendant, and another sister, Mrs. Victor Chase of Chatham was one of the three bridesmaids, the others being Miss Georgia Robbins of Chatham and Miss Frances Hawkes of Cambridge.

The bridesmaids wore identical gold satin and nylon tulle dresses like that of the honor attendant. Their headdresses were of matching veiling and gold ribbon and they carried bronze chrysanthemums tied with ribbons to match.

Stanwood Johnson of Harvard was Mr. Pacetti's best man, and the ushers were Charles F. Buckingham of Winchester, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Ralph R. Montuori of Arlington, cousin of the bridegroom; and William Palmer of Boston.

A reception was held after the marriage at the Wayside Inn in Chatham. Mrs. Eldredge, mother of the bride, was gowned in royal blue crepe and wore a white hat and gloves with a corsage of pink chrysanthemums. Mrs. Pacetti, mother of the bridegroom, wore a winter rose crepe gown with pearl grey hat and gloves, and a corsage of Marguerites combined with pink carnations and chrysanthemums.

After a wedding journey to Nassau Mr. and Mrs. Pacetti will make their home in Boston at 1163 Boylston street.

The bride attended Chatham High School and the Junior College of Connecticut at Bridgeport. Mr. Pacetti, who is assistant treasurer of the G. S. Pacetti Company of Boston, attended Arlington High School and the Chauncy Hall School.

WORKMAN CAUGHT IN BRICK PRESS

Octavio Masedo, 29, of 2A Vining court, Woburn, a worker at the Winchester Brick Company's plant in the Highlands, seriously injured his right arm early last Friday afternoon when he caught the member in a rotary brick press there.

The police were notified and Officers James Flaherty and William Callahan went to the plant with the department's ambulance. They in turn called the Fire Department for assistance in attempting to extricate the unfortunate workman.

Neither the police nor firemen could free Masedo, it being necessary for workmen to cut the bolts holding the press arm with acetylene torches so that the heavy slab could be pried up with crowbars.

Masedo's arm was badly crushed, the bone being exposed. Dr. Phillip J. McManus was at the plant while the man was being freed from the press and preceded the ambulance in which the injured worker was taken to the hospital by Officers Flaherty and Callahan, assisted by Fireman Robert Wyman.

At the hospital Masedo was treated by Drs. McManus and William F. Hickey, Jr. The full extent of his injuries were not announced.

NEW BUS STOP IN USE

The new Bus Terminal on Common street at the railroad crossing, created by the Selectmen as a possible means of alleviating traffic congestion in the center, was put in operation Monday morning.

There was naturally some confusion at first, but as time went on and commuters commenced to get the new location in mind things began to improve. It is still too soon to decide definitely, but the consensus of opinion seems favorable toward the plan thus far.

Albert Ernest Simonds, a long time resident of Woburn who died in that city Monday, October 8, was the brother of Mrs. Mary Laraway of Lloyd street. The deceased, a retired Telephone Company employee, was a member of the Woburn Firemen's Association and active in the Ancient Order of United Workmen. Besides Mrs. Laraway he leaves two sons, a daughter and fourteen grandchildren.

SLOCUM — STEVENS

There is Winchester interest in the marriage which took place at historic Eliot Church in South Natick on Saturday afternoon, September 6, when Miss Shirley Ann Stevens, daughter of Mrs. Sturgis Stevens of Wellesley and Mr. Winthrop Stevens of Albany, N. Y., became the bride of Philip Sperry Slocum, son of Mrs. Wayne B. Thompson of Crescent road and the late Mr. Slocum. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia read the 4 o'clock service which was followed by a reception at the Wellesley Country Club.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Stevens wore a princess style gown of slipper satin trimmed with lace and fashioned with long pointed sleeves and a full skirt that extended into a circular train. Her veil of illusion was caught to a headdress of heirloom lace, previously worn by her mother and grandmother, and her bouquet combined fleurs d'amour with orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Nancy Cummings of Northport, Long Island, N. Y., was maid of honor and Miss Joyce Stevens of Wellesley, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Both attendants wore princess style dresses of turquoise satin and carried bouquets of garnet roses and snapdragon.

Mrs. Stevens, mother of the bride, wore a Persian blue gown with matching velvet hat and a corsage of cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Thompson, the bridegroom's mother, also wore orchid with her gown of navy blue lace and matching hat.

Joel Byron Slocum of Winchester was best man for his brother, and the usher corps included Robert Slocum of Darien, Conn., cousin of the bridegroom; Gerald McCarty of Portland, Maine; and Richard Alden of Needham.

After a wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Slocum will make their home in Burlington, Vt., where the bridegroom is on the editorial staff of the Burlington Free Press.

The bride is a graduate of Albany Academy for Girls and from Wheelock College, Class of 1951. Mr. Slocum prepared at Tabor Academy and was graduated from Bowdoin College, where he was a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. During World War II he served in the United States Navy.

UNITED NATIONS WEEK

The United Nations is six years old October 24th. The event is being observed in communities of the sixty countries throughout the world already members of the United Nations.

Winchester is one of these communities. Sponsored by the League of Women Voters, an interested group has met to discuss plans for celebrating U. N. week, October 21 - 27. Any group wishing to show their interest in the ideals of the U. N. is urged to contact Mrs. Austin T. Bunker, chairman of the International Committee of the League of Women Voters, Tel. WI 6-3542.

The library will show movies relating to the U. N. on Friday, October 26, for junior and high school students, and adults. It will have on display posters and publications of the U. N. Also on the morning of the 26th an open meeting of the Women's Council will be held at the library. The UNESCO film, "This is Their Story", will be shown.

To many, the United Nations is the war in Korea. If that were all, every parent should be interested in the U. N., knowing it is trying to bring peace and security by curbing aggression. But the U. N. is more than the Security Council. In Economic and Social Welfare fields progress is being made as it works towards "the greatest good of all mankind".

Girl Scout troops all over Winchester will be starting this week. A few troops are without leaders and the girls must wait until someone offers to help them out. Please call Mrs. Neville at WI 6-1067-J if you can help these girls.

Our Girl Scout National Convention starts October 15 through October 18. The following delegates were voted upon at the Fall Association Meeting, held at the Girl Scout Cabin on October 3rd.: Mrs. James B. Willing, Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Mrs. Roswell Harding; Alternates: Mrs. Walter Roberts, Mrs. Robert Tomon and Mrs. Barbara Metcalf.

Mrs. Metcalf spoke at this meeting on her experiences at Camp Edith Macy at the International Camping Conference which she attended through a Juliette Low Scholarship. She stressed the importance of belonging to a World Association — with common aims and understanding.

Mrs. Willing, Girl Scout Commissioner, then presented a Thanks Badge to Mrs. James McElroy, who will leave Winchester in November. Mrs. McElroy has been a leader of a Girl Scout troop for four years, Public Relations Chairman for two years and Co-Chairman of the Father-Daughter Banquet Committee in 1951. Few women in Girl Scouting in Winchester have received a thanks Badge, for it is given only to women who have given unsparingly of their time and energy — Mrs. McElroy has done this, and the Winchester Council wishes her well.

Girl Scout Sunday will be celebrated on October 28. St. Mary's Church at 9 A.M. Mass — Protestant girls, Intermediates and Senior Scouts, the 11 A.M. Service at the Unitarian Church. Girls are to wear full uniforms if possible. No Brownies will attend this service. Girls should be at the church by 10:45 A.M.

The following Senior Scouts have been asked by the Council to attend several sessions of the National Convention: Nancy Dowling, Mary Cullen, Catherine Goss, Eugenia Flaherty, Althea Hersey, Tina Tonon, Peggy McNally, Arlene Weafer and Sheila Scanlon.

Many registered adults will also attend the convention; some of the men on the Council are attending the Men's Luncheon and the following women have registered for sessions: Mesdames Wright, Dallin, Hersey, Pyne, Fortiere, Looney, Ryan, Weafer, Dashback, Marchant, McGregor, Finn, Dowling, D'Angelis, Oliver, D'Elseaux, Cullen, Beal, Gross, Goodwin, Glowacki, Lowry, Walker, Crockett, Parsons and Hill.

Miss Constance Lane, in charge of registrations at the Hotel Statler on Sunday, October 14, has the following women who will serve for 3 hour periods: Mesdames Roberts, White, Finn, Randlett, Nanry, Dowling, Ryan, Dashbuch, Glowacki and Kelliher.

Anyone who has not registered for the Convention but who wishes to attend, may register just before the session at Mechanics Building.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NOTES

Do you think of a hospital as just a serious and scientific institution? This is far from the fact. A hospital is actually a very pleasant place where many of the joys of life transpire. In spite of the laboratories, operating rooms and many scientific instruments, it is sometimes a place of great romance — as the following letter recently received by the administrator will testify.

"For fifteen years the Millers — all seven of us — have used the facilities of the Winchester Hospital for the treatment of all sorts of ailments and complaints and although we never thought you would help us cure a bad case of heart trouble (the love variety), this happens to be the case.

On Friday evening, September twenty eighth, our daughter, Lee Miller, became engaged to your hospital. That diamond on her finger seems to have done the trick. The patient is much improved.

We thank you for all past and present services.."

Sincerely,
Jo Miller

We now feel assured that the Winchester Hospital is truly a "general hospital."

BADMINTON

Yes, folks the Badminton Club got started as scheduled and is now playing in the High School gym every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:30 to 11. If you have finished high school, you have a standing invitation to come and join us. The cost is minimal and goes to pay rent. Shuttlecocks can be bought at the gym and even rackets can be rented. You must provide, however, your own non-floor scarring sneakers.

There will also be some inter-club play again this year. Jack Tarbell, our president, is heading the men's team; the mixed doubles team is headed jointly by our secretary Marjorie Moore and by Ed Williams. So you can take your badminton very seriously and try to make the teams, or you can do like the majority of us: come and have one whale of a good time with good friends and new.

Whistle Language

I remember reading once about a couple of Yankee railroad telegraph operators. As I remember it they worked in separate towns on opposite sides of a wide river, back around the turn of the century. One Spring there was a big flood, and it washed out the bridge, and the telegraph wires along with it. There was no communication between the two towns, and all trains were stranded.

Then one of the operators, sitting before his dead key, heard a sound that was strange yet familiar. He listened — ran out to the station platform — and sure enough, a far-off locomotive whistle was calling him in Morse code. He hopped aboard an engine on the siding, and soon he and his pal across the river were swapping news and information by whistle telegraph.

"Marconi had nothing on Yankee ingenuity," Bill remarked when I told him the story. "That was probably the world's first conversation by wireless."

I'd been reminded of the story because our evening train had stopped outside the North Station yards and the engineer was talking loud and long in whistle language. It was a monologue, though. There were no answering toots.

Later, I asked our conductor what all the whistling meant.

"Well," he said, "different railroads have different signals, of course. But on the B and M, when a train stops on a main line, the engineer blows one long and three short, to notify the flagman to protect the rear of the train."

"But don't block signals do that?" Bill asked.

"Sure," said the conductor, "but there's no harm in being extra careful. When the train is ready to go on, the engineer calls in the flagman. Four long blasts if he's to the West or South of the train. Five long ones if he's to the East or North."

"Gosh," I said, "you have a secret language all your own, don't you?"

"Nothing secret about it," replied the conductor, "but that's only half the story. Gotta go up ahead now, but I'll tell you the rest of it some other time."

Indians Survive Hardest Test of Season

Winchester High beat Winthrop High, 21 - 0, at Miller Field Winthrop last Saturday in what turned out to be the Indians' toughest game of the season to date. The Beach City boys were big and rugged, and until Winchester scored a quick touchdown at the very end of the second period it was any one's ballgame.

The Indians out-statistiched Winthrop, making 13 first downs and 202 yards by rushing to twelve opponents' nine first downs and 149 yards on the ground. In the air Winchester completed five of seven passes for 76 yards and a touchdown while Winthrop made only one of seven passes good for seven yards. Winchester lost 40 yards in penalties and fumbled once, recovering for a short gain. Winthrop didn't fumble and lost no yardage to the "white pants", who let a lot of pretty rough stuff on the part of the big Winthrop boys go until late in the game when they finally penalized Winchester as one of the locals objected strenuously to having one of his arms twisted off at the shoulder.

Winthrop advanced after the opening kickoff from its 13 to Winchester's 37, with a 22 yard scamper by Lockyer and some powerful bucking by the 200 pound Miles the outstanding factors.

With fourth and one at the Winchester 36 Winthrop elected to rush and "Prop" Keyes, veteran guard, knifed through to drop Miles for a yard loss on the 37 and give Winchester the ball.

On fourth down the Indians were shy two yards and Griffin dropped back to punt. Instead he ran with the ball, going all the way to the Winthrop 35 for an important first down. Johnson bucked for two, Serieka slanted for four, and then Griffin again got away to the Winthrop nine.

Miles and Noyes stopped Johnson a yard short of scrimmage, and Flaherty dropped a pretty pass from Michelsen in the clear inside the Winthrop five. On third down Griffin was dropped for a two yard loss, back on the Winthrop 12.

With a fourth and 12 Winthrop stayed in its tight defense, and Michelsen fading, picked Flaherty from three Winchester receivers free in the end zone, lobbing a soft pass into the speedy end's eager arms for the touchdown. Errico kicked in the extra point with a perfect placement shot.

Winthrop got a nice break in the second quarter, after advancing from its 22 to the 47. The Blue had to kick and Lockyer's boot was poor going outside at the Winchester 23. Winchester was offside on the play and Lockyer's second kick from five yards nearer was taken by Donlon at the goal line and run back only four yards.

Griffin got off a nice kick from the end zone to the Winchester 34. Winchester held for downs at its 31, and immediately in two rushes Serieka made it first down at the 11. Serieka added a yard and Griffin got away outside to the Winthrop 42.

Michelsen passed out to the right to Serieka who caught the ball at the Winthrop 25, sharing the pigskin with a Winthrop defender. Both boys made a jumping catch and came down with the ball between them.

Big "Jocko" won the ensuing wrestling match, tearing the ball from the Winthrop boy's arms and then losing possession himself, the ball rolling out of bounds. Had neither boy been able to gain complete possession the ball would have gone to the offensive team (Winchester) as a completed pass. As it was it went to Winchester as the team last in possession before the ball went outside.

Michelsen immediately passed again and this time the officials ruled interference with Atkinson's attempt to get to the ball, giving Winchester a first down at the Winthrop 12. On the next play, Serieka took a pitchout from Michelsen and going outside the Winthrop left end, cut inside and through a wall of Winthrop tacklers to go over standing up. Errico again kicked a perfect placement goal just at half time.

Winthrop was not as cocky taking the field the second half but its team was full of fight and it looked like the Beach City boys would score right after the kickoff.

Winchester received and after making a first down, couldn't go, and faced an eight yard deficit on fourth down. The Indians elected to run with it and Griffin from kick formation got only four. Winthrop taking over at the Winchester 39.

With Miles and Duplin doing some effective running Winthrop moved to the 20, where an offside against Winchester, after a running play had been piled up, put the ball at the 15, first and ten.

Here Keyes knifed through again to get Lockyer for a four yard loss, and on the next play Rizzo broke through to drop Miles on an attempted jump-pass play at the 24. Lockyer was again stopped for a yard loss and Trainer's pass on fourth down was away too far for Miles to cover.

Winchester took over at its 22. Donlon got away for 13, but Winchester was penalized all the way back to the seven for clipping. From there the locals rushed and passed their way to the Winthrop 15, Flaherty making a great jumping catch of Donlon's pass for a badly needed first down at the Winthrop 45 and Johnson making another corking clutch of a Michelsen aerial for a first down at the 30.

— Old Salts and Young —

Tell your grandchildren to keep their eyes on the ball for next Saturday's game between Winchester and Stoneham High on November 30th!

WINCHESTER AT STONEHAM

Winchester High plays its annual football game with Stoneham High at Stoneham on Saturday afternoon with the kickoff at 2 o'clock.

This is the game Stoneham really wants. For the past two years the boys from the hockey town, coached by Winchester's Tony DeTeso, have been favored by many to upset the Winchester Indians, but each time, in games played at Winchester, because of repairs to Stoneham's field, the Indians have prevailed, winning in 1949, 34 - 0; and last year, 20 - 2.

This is another year, according to Stoneham, and as Coach DeTeso has practically a veteran team Stoneham's rabid followers are looking for an upset. There isn't too much in the record to date to support such optimism, but any team with a passer like Picano can score pretty easily as Woburn found out last year.

Stoneham has beaten Wakefield, Ipswich, and Lexington, and has lost to Concord. Ipswich is supposed to have a good team this year, but both Wakefield and Lexington are weak, and it was an intercepted pass late in the game that enabled Stoneham to beat the Minuteboys, 19 - 13 last Saturday. Stoneham won its opener from Wakefield, 12 - 0.

Winchester has beaten Milton, Swampscott, Watertown and Winthrop, scoring three touchdowns or more in each game, while yielding touchdowns to Swampscott and Watertown. A deflected pass, bouncing from three players in the end zone was completed by Watertown for its score. Swampscott scored on the Winchester scrubs after a muffed punt.

On the record Winchester should win tomorrow, but as Ted Bartlett, former Winchester coach, keeps reminding us, you can't overlook that Picano. Any team with that good a passer can be dangerous all the way!

MICHELSEN GETS SPORTS HONOR

Jost Michelsen, quarterback on the Winchester High football team, was named to the WCOP Sports Honor Roll last Saturday by Jack Matters, top high school sports reporter on the "Pepsi-Cola School Boy Sports Parade" at 6:45 p. m. over WCOP and WCOP-FM. In addition to the radio salute, he will receive an Award of Merit for his outstanding athletic ability and sportsmanship.

Attention is called to the advertisement on Page 1 of this issue, announcing a public hearing for the open discussion of senior and junior high school building needs to be held at the high school auditorium Wednesday evening, October 17, at 8 o'clock. The Building Committee, of which Mr. Bonnell is chairman, has called this meeting so that any one interested can find out what is being done by the committee, and has been done to date, can hear what the School Committee believes is necessary, can tell the committee what he thinks should, or should not be done in solving our secondary schools problem and make objection to anything he does not like in the plans as they have developed thus far. The Star sincerely hopes that there will be a large attendance at next Wednesday's meeting, and that those with opinions about the solution of our schools problem, especially strong views, will be present to state them, before it is too late this time. The committee faces a difficult task, at best, and deserves at least the right to avoid proceeding with a plan that is generally unpopular, or unpopular with any considerable segment of the voters. The Committee wants everybody's help in their effort to find a solution to our pressing schools problem. We shouldn't forget that the problem is ours, as well as theirs; just as the schools are ours, the property and responsibility of all of us.

SHADES OF THE EARLY 20'S

Editor of the Star.

It may be a little too early to crow especially with Reading and Woburn yet to be met, but as an earnest follower of Winchester High's football teams for the past quarter century, I just want to say that this year's team brings back fond memories of the years when Jim Fitzgerald, Frank Melly, Joe and Frances Tansey, Abe Winer, Glen Kendrick, Art French, Dana Kelly et all used to cavort for the good old red and black.

Since this season started this Winchester team has been a credit to the town — they knocked off Watertown without breathing too hard right after that team had beaten Brockton, and don't let anybody kid you, they were out to do a job on Winchester. But, I think the big hurdle was against Winthrop, who were highly touted, big and strong, and the way Winchester polished them off was really something to see.

Our boys' running attack, blocking and tackling so far this season has been well-nigh perfect. I hope they keep it up against Reading and Woburn. If they do I think I am safe in saying they will go undefeated and untied this year. For [illegible] and holding and as they always say, a football game is won or lost on the line — and as of this writing we have [illegible]

Henry Knowlton is one of the best in the business — this team is playing the kind of ball Henry himself used to play for Coach Red Wilcox [illegible] years ago. I say it is [illegible] — more power to him. Also, what a break Woburn's fans got when they engaged Frankie Provenzano — he must be putting some of his old time pepper into that Winchester backfield — how they travel and block. Frankie [illegible] carry the mail in the old days, too. In closing may I toss a few bouquets at Quarterback Michelson, Jocko Sericka, Joe Donlon, Dickie Errico, little Bellino (please give him the ball more) and don't forget the line — what a line!

BAD BUSINESS

Editor of the Star:

In our neighborhood there has been a lot of excitement this week. First my cat had to go to the hospital to have a needle removed from his throat. Then the Miller's dog got run over in front of the Mystic School. The Halloran's dog was sprayed by a skunk. The Farnum's cat was run over on Main street. We hope it does not happen to any other animals.

NO CHANGE IN AUTO PLATES

The 1951 Massachusetts Legislature has decided that the 1951 Motor Vehicle registration plates will be used again for 1952 and Registrar Rudolph F. Kong will validate the use of these plates by a new registration certificate and will use a windshield sticker as the visual evidence of registration.

For the convenience of the public the Registrar has this day ruled that all holders of five figured registration plates may obtain their certificates of registration and windshield stickers for 1952 from any of the 21 branch offices over the counter or from the main office in Boston. Branch offices are not equipped to handle registrations by mail.

Holders of five-figured registration plates should co-operate with the Registry and get their 1952 certificates and windshield stickers at once in order to protect their reserved numbers.

Mrs. Bailey had left her pocketbook lying on the kitchen table, and this had been ransacked, but nothing taken. Nothing else in the house had been disturbed.

IMMACS STILL WINNING

On Saturday, September 29th the Drum and Bugle Corps with the all girls color section, boarded busses for a long trip to North Adams. After a fine trip through the Berkshires the local outfit participated in the Annual Fall Festival of the Berkshires. The festival was under the sponsorship of the North Adams Chamber of Commerce.

The local boys made first place in the junior group participating in the competition and came very near winning over the senior group from Cohoes, N. Y., who were only a slight margin higher on their score. The corps from Cohoes are the Northern New York Upstate Champions and the Immacs felt pleased to be able to go on record as giving these seniors a good contest for top spot.

A tired but happy group arrived back home late Saturday night. The pastor, Rev. H. K. Driscoll accompanied the group on the trip.

Bright and early Sunday morning the local groups entramed for Hyde Park.

The Eastern Massachusetts Junior Drum and Bugle Corps Association held a competition for the purpose of determining the "51" Champs. Sixteen corps participated in the event. The Girls drill team were crowned, Champion Girls Drill Team of 1951. The local girls have been tops all year, defeating all comers. The all girl color section also was a top winner being awarded Champion color section for 1951. The boys ran into hard luck losing to their neighbors of Beverly by three tenths of a point. There was not time enough to run off the drum and bugle singles and quartet competitions on the same day so they will be held later this month.

Winchester and Woburn certainly should be proud of the local groups bringing home their share of top honors this season.

NEW JEWEL PRESENTED BY MACEFIELD EXCLUSIVELY

Macefield is making ready for a fourth fall season with unusual designs in jewelry and silver. Increased demands of last season and this summer have encouraged us to present a larger and more varied collection this year.

Included in this showing of new motifs, textures, and stones are the new Miraj jewels of light appropriately named, for it is really hard to believe what you see, and you must see them to appreciate their beauty. This small selection of Miraj jewels does not begin to indicate the vast importance these stones will play in the world of jewelry. Of local origin, exclusively from Macefield, first in Winchester, they will one day be seen throughout the world. See them now in our window displays. Visit our showroom and handle these color beautiful stones and be fascinated as everyone has been who has seen them.

In the made-to-order department, many of our clients have already placed their orders for the season's gifts — which is wise for their comfort and ours in keeping ahead instead of behind schedule. If you will require something especially made to order, it is not too soon to consider the designs we will sketch for you — either for an entirely new piece or for the resetting of your own stones.

COACH KNOWLTON ON TELEVISION

Star Reporter Learns All Channels Aren't Alike!

Coach Henry Knowlton of the Winchester High School football team, accompanied by his co-captains, Joe Donlon and Dick Erricc, appeared with "Bunip" Hadley on the Chevrolet Dealers television sports program over Station WBZ Monday evening.

Your sports reporter and his wife accepted an invitation from Coach Knowlton's good wife to see the show on their television with Dot and George Field and Virginia Dudley, nearby neighbors.

A perusal of the public prints told us the Hadley show was on Channel 11, and as no one in the gathering knew anything about TV, we all supposed the timetable meant what it said and that you tuned in Channel 11 to see the telecast.

Mrs. Knowlton did just that, though she prefaced her tuning with the dispiriting remark that Channel 11 was usually ungettable and would we please keep our fingers crossed.

In our entirely inexpert opinion it would take considerably more than even the tightest crossed fingers to get anything much on Channel 11, at least on the Knowlton TV. Mrs. Knowlton wiggled various knobs hopefully and from time to time wobbly blue images appeared on the screen, interspersed with light colored parallel lines and ladder effects that moved back and forth from right to left.

Mr. Hadley appeared now and then, seated at a desk and apparently talking earnestly. We couldn't hear him, and from what we learned later, it really didn't matter, because he was talking for the most part about the World Series game played that afternoon, and all of us knew all about that one, that Allie Reynolds had beaten Sal Maglie and the Yanks were back in the series.

Finally just about the time that the show was going to be over the Winchester Co-Captains, Joe and Dick, were shown, flattened against a screen, a bit lop-sided and apparently saying something too. At least their lips were moving!

Then the scene, still wobbly and pale-blue, changed again, and the classic Knowlton features appeared beside the Hadley physog to the right of the desk. Mr. Knowlton, too, seemed to be saying something, but on Channel 11 on the Knowlton set you don't know what they say; you just guess, like in the days of the old silent tillums. Mr. Knowlton is very photogenic on TV and seemed quite at home, when his image stopped shimmying so you could see it clearly.

Well, it was soon over, Mr. Hadley having consumed most of the time with his baseball small talk. After the telecast, the host took Coach Knowlton and his expectant co-captains to a steak dinner two inches plus, on the level) at the Hotel Kenmore.

We are told this part of the program was a great success. In fact the hotel culinary staff will long use the Donlon and Erricc capacity as a yardstick for succeeding hearty trenchermen. Mr. Knowlton, too, did full justice to the menu, especially to some succotash, of which he is exceedingly fond. Mr. Hadley, being on a reducing diet, could only eat at the one-man-and-a-boy rate.

And just in case you TV wiseacres are thinking of calling in to tell us that we could have seen the telecast over Channel 4 and seen it perfectly, don't bother, please!

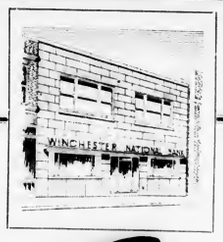

FORUM CHAPEL PLANS

Dr. Edwin Prince Booth, Professor of New Testament at Boston University School of Theology, held a group of High Schoolers spellbound last Sunday as he gave the first of his three scheduled addresses on the Life of Jesus. He was speaking to the Senior Forum, High School youth group of the First Congregational Church. He will continue his stirring account of this most influential life in the history of mankind, at Ripley Chapel Sunday morning at 9:30.

Ronald MacKenzie, will be the chaplain assisted by William H. Johnston, Jr. Ushers will be Roger Bainbridge and John Butler. The service was planned by a committee consisting of Ronald MacKenzie, Marjorie Dexter, Gail Stratton, Gardner Smith, Dick Rush, and John Becker. Bradford Johnson will speak briefly about the coming "Workday for Christ" in which the Forum hopes to have 100% participation of Forum members.

The first social event of the fall season for Forum members is an all-day outing October 12, at Hardy Hill Farm. Softball, basketball, football, snack races, a tug-o'-war, and a picnic lunch will be enjoyed by all who attend. Each person is asked to bring at least one article of used clothing in good condition for shipment to refugees by the Forum Service Committee. Cars will leave the church at 9:30 and return at 6:00. The plans for the outing have been made by the Forum Social Committee under the leadership of Ronald MacKenzie and Judith Higgins.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST, WINCHESTER

Sunday Services at 11 a. m.
Wednesday testimonial meeting 8 p. m.
Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson Street). Open daily except Sundays and holidays from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The provable falsity of sin, disease, and death on the basis that they do not originate in God, who gives man life and health, will be dealt with at Christian Science services next Sunday. Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

The Golden Text is from Psalms: "The Lord is my strength and song, and is become my salvation . . . I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord" (118:, 14,17).

Bible citations include Christ Jesus' statement to his disciples: "Behold I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you." Luke 10:19.

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "Since God is All, there is room for His unlikeness. God, Spirit, alone created all, and called it good. Therefore evil, being contrary to good is unreal; and cannot be the product of God." p. 519.

MYSTIC SCHOOL TEAS

Grade Two

A tea for Miss Norma Littlefield and the mothers of her Second Grade pupils at Mystic School was held on Wednesday, October 3, at the home of Mrs. Charles O. Nichols, 14 Jefferson road. Each mother was presented a boutonniere of fall flowers bearing her name and that of her child, new mothers having a special identifying flower. Miss Littlefield, who received a corsage of sweetheart roses, talked informally with the mothers of her pupils.

Tea was served by Mrs. Sumner Goodwin, co-hostess, Mrs. William Ryan, and Mrs. Raymond Gross. Pouring at the tea table were Mrs. Burton Miller and Mrs. W. Campbell Ross.

Grade Five

Mothers of Grade Five pupils at Mystic School met on Friday afternoon, October 5, at the home of Mrs. Rowland Patrick on Ledgewood road to meet their children's teacher, Miss Margaret Millican. All present enjoyed hearing Miss Millican express her plans for the year, in which citizenship and character training will be emphasized. Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Oliver Peterson, Mrs. W. Campbell Ross, and Mrs. Colver P. Dyer were pourers, tea committee members being Mrs. Horace deRivera, Mrs. Oliver Peterson, Mrs. Francis Colclough, and Mrs. Lynwood Bryant.

FRENCH "AZILUM" RESTORATION URGED AT 1793 SITE ON UPPER SUSQUEHANNA

Farm meadows now spread over the 2,400 acres in northeastern Pennsylvania where the French village of Asylum (Azilum) sprang up in 1793.

Yet the strange story of that short-lived wilderness retreat of French exiles still holds a deep interest in the region, as a current proposal of Pennsylvania State officials for its restoration shows.

The colony was founded by aristocratic refugees fleeing the bloodletting of the French Revolution, notes the National Geographic Society. Its site was the land within a big horseshoe bend of the Susquehanna River, a few miles downstream from present-day Towanda and 30 air miles northwest of Scranton.

The Grande Maison, largest of Asylum's 50 log buildings, was built for ill-starred Marie Antoinette, tradition says. But the French Queen died in the Reign of Terror without seeing her American home.

Liberal Royalists

Descendants of the builders still live in the neighborhood. Most of the Frenchmen made Asylum their home for a scant ten years, however, and returned to France under an amnesty proclaimed in 1802 by Napoleon.

The refugees had been part of a brilliant French society, which, prior to the French Revolution, set the fashion and conversation for the world. Many were deputies to the tradition-smashing French National Assembly of 1789 which voted to surrender numerous feudal rights and sought to establish a Constitutional monarchy. Liberal, yet loyal to the Crown, they stayed in France after the fall of the Bastille and until the Revolution's excesses forced them to flee for their lives.

The colony's founders were Vicomte Louis de Noailles, Lafayette's brother-in-law and brother-in-arms during the American Revolution; and Antoine Omer Talon, Parisian jurist. Robert Morris, American financier, acted as land agent.

Gay Despite Hardships

An American wilderness was a far cry from the highly cultivated estates many of the colonists left behind in France; yet the royalists faced their program of community building with vigor, even gayety. In summer, French ladies planned picnics and boating parties along the scenic Susquehanna River, danced in outdoor pavilions and organized fetes under riverside trees. In winter the Grande Maison was the scene of concerts, chess and card parties, and amateur dramatics.

All was not play, however. Houses were built, papered, shingled, and fitted with glass windows, then a novelty in America. Gardens, orchards and vineyards were planted; blooded bulls and sheep imported. Roads were built into the forests, which were felled for building, tar, and potash industries.

But most of the colonists had left family, wealth, ancestral homes, and hearts in France. When Napoleon made it safe for them to return, they were content to bid farewell to their Penn's-woods Asylum.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

In August, when Belgrade is hot, the scenic town of Bled in the Julian Alps of northwest Yugoslavia becomes that country's unofficial capital. Marshal Tito then occupies the former king's lakeside villa, says the National Geographic Society, and foreign embassies move with him to this comfortable resort.

The city of Grasse in southern France, lying in the heart of a flower-raising region and saturated with the vapors of its scent-extraction factories, is sometimes called the "Duchy of Perfume" says the National Geographic Society.

The largest lamasery in Tibet, housing more than 3,000 monks, is named The Island of Completely Victorious Joyfulness, in English translation.

LAFAYETTE GRAVE NEGLECTED! U. S. TOURISTS REPORTED FEW

Have Americans forgotten Lafayette? In an obscure private cemetery in Paris, across the city from popular tourist haunts, his grave lies covered with a blanket of Massachusetts soil brought from historic Bunker Hill and marked by an American flag, notes the National Geographic Society. Yet reports come that no visitor from the United States has called at tiny Cimetiere de Picpus for nearly a year.

It was scarcely more than a century ago when the news of Lafayette's death threw this nation into deep, well-nigh universal mourning. President Andrew Jackson ordered the same military honors accorded him as marked the passing of President George Washington 35 years earlier.

From every army post, navy station and ship 24 guns were fired at daybreak. And throughout the day, every half hour until sunset, a lone gun boomed solemnly. Officers were bands of black for six months.

Congress Mourned

In Washington members of Congress also went into mourning for 30 days during that summer of 1834. In joint session they heard John Quincy Adams eulogize the gallant Frenchman, then by formal resolution they expressed the sorrow of the nation. The halls on Capitol Hill remained draped in black until Congress adjourned.

Memorial services were held in every city in the land, and the few surviving veterans of the old Continental Army turned out for their last parade. People everywhere wore badges of mourning for the man who offered his youth and money to the American Revolution and, later, his mature wisdom and influence to help a struggling republic.

Many remembered Lafayette personally from the triumphant tour of the nation he had made a decade earlier — a tour described as belonging to "the poetry of history." Invited by President Monroe, Lafayette spent more than a year visiting every major U. S. city, receiving "demonstrations of frenzied enthusiasm without precedent or parallel in America," to quote contemporary writers.

"We Are Here"

Congress voted him $200,000, gave him a tract of public land in Louisiana and placed an American frigate, the "Brandywine," at his disposal for the trip back to France. It was on that return voyage that Lafayette brought with him the earth from Bunker Hill, to be placed over his grave when he died.

In remembrance of the distinguished Marquis, Americans have named after him eight counties, more than a dozen towns and cities, and countless streets, parks, squares, and schools. Children saved their pennies and, in 1900, presented France with an equestrian statue of their hero, which was placed in the Square du Carrousel near the Louvre.

This gesture of a nation's continuing gratitude found renewed and eloquent expression 17 years later as the advance units of the American Expeditionary Force began arriving in France to fight in World War I. That Fourth of July special services were held at Lafayette's grave and General John J. Pershing delegated Col. C. E. Stanton of his staff to represent him. It was Stanton who delivered the inspired salute that spoke everything in four words.

"Lafayette, we are here!" he said.

A hit of enchantment has fled the streets of American cities.

The sight and sound of it made children dance and lifted the hearts of their elders. It was spring itself, that trio of organ grinder, barrel organ and "monk," notes the National Geographic Society. Yet today even the great city of New York is reported to have but one organ grinder left, a man of 75 years slowly cranking out the tunes of yesteryear.

The tinkling voice of his barrel organ is barely heard midst the whir of motor cars with strident horns, the blare of countless radios, television sets and record players. Things were different 20-odd years ago . . .

The barrel organ — or hurdy-gurdy, as it is often called — was the rage of New York in the late, gay 1920's. While an estimated 300 professional Italian grinders strode the streets, rich and famous amateurs cranked away on their own "machines" set up in fashionable drawing rooms.

"Sidewalks of New York"

New York state's ex-governor Alfred Smith, leading the fad with his own organ, played, sang, and danced to his favorite tunes — "When We Were Sweet Sixteen," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Weary River," and "Sidewalks of New York." Debutantes turned organ handles at lavish coming-out parties while captains of industry found repose at Southampton in grinding the boxes on their garden strolls.

The stock market crash and the sobering 30's quelled the enthusiasm of the amateur. The profession a grinder, meanwhile, found it ever harder to make a living. By 1939, when New York banned the music box in an anti-noise campaign, there were only 25 licensed organ grinders in the city.

Thus the barrel organ takes its place in history as a gay, colorful instrument that gave man nearly four centuries of pleasure. One of the first mentions of it as a distinctive instrument came in the 16th century when England's Queen Elizabeth sent one to the Sultan Mohammed III in Constantinople (Istanbul).

Scandalize Nations

For reasons best known to himself, a chronicler of the time wrote, "A Great and Curious Present is going to the Grand Turk which will scandalize other nations, especially the Germans."

The modern form of the barrel organ emerged in the 18th century and was immediately adopted by one woman of fashion, Lady Jersey, who had an instrument set up in her drawing room at Berkeley Square. By the last half of the 19th century London lords and ladies were dancing to organ music.

ART ASSOCIATION OCTOBER MEETING

An interesting speaker, Mr. Leon Pescheret, and a well-attended October meeting with the President, Dr. Harrison presiding, started the Winchester Art Association auspiciously off on its present season.

With easy informality, Mr. Pescheret led his audience through the intricacies of etching, drypoint, and aquatint to his ultimate goal, color etching. Emphatically he stressed the distinction between Color Etching and Colored Etchings, — the latter colored by hand after the completion of the etching process, the former one process. Colored etchings may be beautiful and if the purchaser knows what he is buying and buys merely for the satisfaction which that particular work gives to him, well and good. But if he is not averse to an appreciation in his purchase, and who is, then he must insist on color etchings since these alone increase in value with the passing of time.

Many examples of Mr. Pescheret's etchings will be on exhibit in the Winchester Art Gallery at the Public Library during October. As might be expected they are, for the most part, color etchings, in comparison with which etchings and drypoint seem rather lifeless. But is must be mentioned in passing that the velvety black shadows of the drypoints are very good. One impression which this observer carried away from the color etchings was the sunny effect of their coloring. Mr. Pescheret may have an especial talent for blending effective colors or he may, perhaps, have purposely avoided gloomy subjects; be that as it may, these etchings have a cheerful lilt which etchings in general do not seem to achieve.

Mrs. Williams and Miss Everett were the hostesses for the evening and one of the most artistic effects of an artistic evening, was the large platter of garden vegetables which formed the centre-piece of the table. It is difficult, perhaps even unnatural to rhapsodize about the beauty of vegetables, nevertheless the dark velvety sheen of the polished eggplant and the startlingly pure and shining red of the enormous pepper merit special mention.

Miss Hatch, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Carrier and Mrs. Whatmough assisted in serving the seasonally appropriate refreshments.

The new corner display cabinets, still minus their lighting, were installed just in time for the meeting, and interesting examples of stoneware and earthenware pottery were exhibited. These exhibits will be changed frequently and give still further enjoyment to time spent in the Winchester Art Gallery.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The first regular meeting held on last Tuesday afternoon was a most successful one. The beautiful Autumn day was an incentive for many members to come and greet their friends, and meet new ones. The plans and program for the coming year were discussed and everyone was most enthusiastic to get started on all the events.

The new Co-Chairmen of Hospitality, Mrs. Joseph Burgatti and Mrs. C. Douglas Wheeler served a delicious Tea assisted by the following hostesses:

Mrs. John Kelleher, Mrs. B. P. McCarthy, Mrs. B. P. Russo and Mrs. Donald Abbott.

Our first Dessert Bridge will be held on October 25 — make plans for it now.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH FAIR

The women of the First Congregational Church are as busy as bees making plans for their Autumn Fair which will be held Wednesday, November 14, 1951 under the capable supervision of Mrs. John B. Wills and Mrs. Raymond C. Strawbridge. The general color scheme will be carried out in the autumn shades and Miss Suzanne Gleason will have charge of decorating.

Lumsford will be in charge of candy; having plenty of home made sweets, hard and soft candies and a Christmas assortment including canes and lollipops.

At the Book Table Mrs. Harry Wood and Mrs. William Bates will be ready to show you the Christmas display for children, and books for adults.

The Childrens room, presided over by Mrs. Raymond Carter and Mrs. Herbert Clark will have an inexpensive Gift Table, Trading Post, Ice Cream, punch and pop corn booths, and there will be movies, pony rides and a Midway. Mrs. Robert Scott and Mrs. Edgar Hinton will have an appetizing lunch ready at noon for the children, while Mrs. Raymond Brown and Mrs. Harold Jones will be ready to satisfy your hunger with a noon luncheon. Morning coffee will be served by Mrs. Michael Kaknes, and Mrs. Ralph S. Smith from 10 a. m. to 12 at the Coffee Bar. For the weary shoppers, Mrs. Arthur Cameron and Mrs. Donald True, will preside at the Tea Table.

At the Country Store, Mrs. George Connor will show her collection of fine China, glassware, furniture, and special buys in good clothing. Mrs. Ross Cunningham and Mrs. Frank Knight have been busy collecting for the Gift Table. There you will find many interesting things for the wee one. The Household Table will have their usual fine display of home made aprons and other useful articles. Mrs. Hugh Grimes and Mrs. Mabel Ward will be waiting to show you their display.

Mrs. George Traut and Mrs. Henry Isaman will have many lovely plants to sell to you, and the attractive and fascinating Paper Table will be in charge of Mrs. Gilbert Hood and Mrs. Richard Johnson.

DR. BOOTH ENTHRALLS AUDIENCE AT COMMUNITY SCHOOL

Monday night at the third session of the Community School of Religious Education, Dr. Edwin P. Booth, one of the ablest professors of Historical Theology and New Testament, held his audience spellbound as he dynamically wove the story of the main characters and events concerning the "Life of Jesus".

Dr. Booth's superb flow of language and his unique command of historical facts, made his "Life of Jesus" something that will never be forgotten by his audience.

As people were leaving the Chapel several were heard to remark, "I wouldn't have missed it for the world!"

Dr. Lemuel K. Lord of Melrose, is conducting a course entitled "Parents Problems" and this course has proved to be very popular at the school.

Here, at an informal gathering, parents may state their individual problems, and be given answers by Dr. Lord in a wise, counseling manner.

Dr. Lord said that "Parents Problems" really go directly back to the parents themselves. His advice was to relax, to really love and enjoy your children, to return love for hate, and to live 100% and your children are bound to make it.

Next Monday night at 9 p. m. in Ripley Chapel, Dr. Booth will continue his "Life of Jesus".

All interested persons are invited to come and enjoy the last two sessions of the Community School of Religious Education, beginning at 7:30 with Coffee and Fellowship.

THE WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester is sponsoring a Dessert-Bridge-Canasta party on Wednesday afternoon, October 17 at 1:30 at the Unitarian Church. The chairmen, Mrs. Charles Weimer and Mrs. James Beale, have planned a delightful affair with the usual appealing dessert and coffee and individual prizes for all tables.

WINCHESTER HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

With the first touch of frost and the turning of the fall foliage comes the opening meeting of the new season for the Winchester Home and Garden Club. The date is Wednesday, October 17th at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Edward J. McDevitt, Jr., is opening her home at 34 Everett avenue for this first meeting for members and their guests. The new president, Mrs. Alexander P. Aitken, will welcome prospective members at this time if they will please first call the membership chairman, Mrs. Edwin Chesterman, Winchester 6-1711-M. The purpose of this active club is not only to aid in one's own personal gardening problems, but to participate in worthwhile local projects in connection with the Library, the Winchester and Bedford Hospitals, the Home for the Aged, and many more.

The program for this meeting will be an informal talk by Mrs. Norman M. Mitchell on "Fall Flower Arrangements". She is planning her demonstration so that the results will be simple and practical enough for the average person to practice and enjoy.

The club's year books are ready for distribution and you may have yours at this first meeting. Mrs. George French and her committee are planning the refreshments.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Remember to make your reservations for the Hallowe'en Dance on Saturday, October 27, at the Legion Home. There will be entertainment and dancing as well as the fun of seeing everyone in costumes. Our gifts for the Christmas Gift Shop at the Veterans' Hospital must be in by the next meeting so get yours ready early. They depend on us for these gifts and there are so many more hospitalized this year that everyone must collect as many as possible and have your friends assist also. This need not be confined to Auxiliary members, any person or organization is urged to contribute gifts if they can do so.

Blood Donors are still needed — if you are interested, call Dot McCormack for details.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

The first meeting of the seventy-first season of The Fortnightly was held Monday afternoon in the Masonic Hall. The Hostesses for the dessert preceding the meeting were Mrs. Harold Bergquist, Mrs. Milton Galucia, Mrs. John Billings, Miss Marion Clark, and Mrs. Rebecca Meigs and her Committee. Mrs. Lora Rhodes and Mrs. Harold Given presided at the coffee table. The stage was beautifully decorated with fall foliage and flowers by Miss Louise Bancroft. After an hour of pleasant chatter, Mrs. Hiscoe called the meeting to order at 2:00 p. m.

One verse of America The Beautiful was sung followed by The Pledge to the Flag. In memory of those who have passed since our last meeting, Mrs. Walter Winship played on the piano "The Old Rugged Cross". A complete report of our annual meeting was read by our efficient secretary, Mrs. Forbes Norris. The various chairmen reported on the many interesting things planned for us this season. Miss Clara Russell of the antiques committee has planned an outing to The Old Iron Works at Saugus. Those interested in taking this tour must get in contact with Miss Russell for transportation.

Mrs. Frederick Cole, art chairman, exhibited interesting Christmas cards that our members may design if they will contact her. Mrs. William Priest appealed for knitters of shawls for Koreans.

Mrs. Harold Given gave a very interesting report on the annual convention of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs at Swampscott in May. She had the privilege of hearing such fine speakers as: Col. Ben C. Limb, Foreign Minister of the Republic of Korea, who spoke on "Korea, Bridgehead for Democracy"; Mr. George Fingold, former assistant Attorney General, whose subject was, "Is There Any Cure for Crime for Corruption?"; Countess Antoinette de Belaigue, who spoke on The Ten Greatest Women in the World and their Impact on Civilization, and last but not least Dr. Harold C. Case, President of Boston University whose subject was "If We Would Be Free." He gave five recommendations for the future. 1. Refuse to condone government waste. 2. Conserve our natural resources. 3. Develop a constructive atomic policy. 4. Make problems our business. 5. Invest more in answer to question "Why" than in "How".

After a full business meeting we all relaxed to the beautiful music of Miss Deborah Upton's violin, and her accompanist Miss Soma Aronian. Miss Uptons natural graciousness and charm together with her ease and mastery of the violin was most gratifying to see and hear. She played many selections for us, including such numbers as: Sonatina-Fibich, Concerto in A Saint-Saens, Waltz in A-Dvorak-Ondricek. Variations in Theme of Corelli-Kreisler and others.

Need I tell you now that the object of The Fortnightly shall be the promotion of social, educational and civil interests.

Homer Pendleton of Cambridge street was among those who attended last Thursday's performance of "Love and Let Love", the Ginger Rogers show currently running at the Plymouth Theatre in Boston. He returned home with Miss Rogers' autograph and that of Dorothy Adams, a member of the cast.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM RACES TO SECOND STRAIGHT VICTORY OVER WOBURN

The local hill and dalers scored a decisive victory over arch rival Woburn on their home course Friday, September 28, by a 19 to 48 score.

This victory avenged last season's loss and was an important one in the locals quest for the divisional title held by Woburn last year.

The early stages of the race saw Captain Ryan and Dave Hanlon of Woburn jump off to substantial leads but in the middle part of the race Pete Coon, Captain Murphy and Dick Rush moved into contention. At this stage Captain Ryan unfortunately took a wrong turn and although Coon, only 10 yards behind, hailed him he continued off the course and out of the race. However, even if he had finished on top it would have made no difference as to the winner of the meet as the top three Winchester men swept by Hanlon and continued on to finish in that order.

For Pete Coon it was his second straight victory and only six seconds behind came Charlie Murphy giving Winchester a potent one — two punch. Dick Rush, continuing to show improvement, finished a very satisfactory third. Woburn runners took the 4th and 5th places and then Winchester's strong second line took the next five spots with Doug Hawkins and Bob Nelson in 6th and 7th completing the team scoring.

First 15 to finish:

1. Coon Time: 15:32
2. Murphy
3. Rush
4. Hanlon (Wob.)
5. Gonsalves (Wob.)
6. Hawkins
7. Nelson
8. Godwin
9. Becker
10. Valcour
11. Linehan (Wob.)
12. Maroney
13. Wells (Wob.)
14. Hooper
15. O'Connor (Wob.)

SCHOOL NOTES

The milk lunch program began last week in the grade schools. Whiting Milk Co., received the contract this year, and the principals are handling the details in their respective schools.

Nine of the ten teachers at the Washington School are taking courses during the first semester. The subjects include Education, Social Studies, Psychology, Tests and Measurements, and Rug Hooking. Over half of the faculty at the Noonan School is similarly occupied, studying at Leslie College, Boston University, and Harvard.

Recently, Washington School students and their teachers were pleased to have as their guest Mrs. George Gaw, of Singapore, British Malay. Mrs. Gaw, who is visiting Mrs. James deRevere, of Fells road, is the mother of three school-age children, and she was much interested to compare the schools in Singapore with those in Winchester. She was impressed by the size and physical equipment of the buildings here, by the use of moveable furniture in the classrooms, and by the co-educational classes. In Mrs. Gaw's opinion, however, the most noteworthy difference between our schools and those of Malaya was the careful provision for individual differences among the pupils which she found at the Washington School.

The after-school program of athletics for 5th and 6th grade boys was started recently under the direction of Coach Knowlton. A supervised play period will be held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Each school is using its own playground, except for Washington School which will meet at Leonard Field.

Supervisors are young men from Boston University and Tufts College, including two former Winchester High School athletes—Bob McElhinney and Bob O'Brien.

A touch football league has been set up, and the first inter-school games were played last week. Wyman School will use Ginn Field for its home games.

A similar program for Junior High School pupils is already in progress under the supervision of Miss Gale Davenport and Mr. Meurling.

School Supplies at Wilson The Stationer, Star Building, 3 Church street.

SPEAK UP — WHAT YOU SAY MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

Winchester High School will have eight contestants in the Red Feather Junior Leader Speaking Contest, supervised by popular Tom Morse. The theme — "The Red Feather - Humanity in Action"— gives both student speakers and listeners an opportunity to understand the work which their parents and neighbors are working for and supporting.

Preliminary contests will be held the week of October 22nd. Other high schools competing are: Arlington, Cambridge High and Latin, Malden, Newton, Reading, Watertown, Wayland and Westwood.

These able Winchester young people will be available for a few limited speaking engagements to Winchester organizations or business. It is really refreshing to hear their peppy yet thoughtful presentation. Watch the Star for names and progress.

POIRIER NEW COACH AT BURR & BURTON

Fran Poirier, former Winchester High and Tufts athlete, is the new head coach of athletics at Burr & Burton Seminary in Manchester, N. H. He is currently coaching football and has seven lettermen in his squad.

Son of Mrs. Aline Poirier of Mt. Pleasant street, "Fran" was a halfback on "Bill" West's State championship eleven at Winchester High in 1942. It was his pass to West in the final moments that beat Stoneham and enabled Winchester to go through the season undefeated and win it's championship honors. Stoneham had Winchester beaten up to that moment.

Poirier graduated from Tufts in 1950 and got his Master's degree this year. During the war he served in the Army Air Force. He coached freshman football at Winchester a couple of seasons ago.

WORKING FOR STATE BOYS' TOWN

As his share in the state-wide campaign to inaugurate a much needed Boys Town in Massachusetts, Mr. Harry Sarkisian of 4 Lagrange street will be approaching businessmen, residents and organizations in town for the next few weeks.

MILLION DOLLAR ANNEX TO N. E. SANITARIUM DEDICATION

Massachusetts U. S. Senator Leverett H. Saltonstall was the speaker at the laying-of-the-corner-stone ceremony of the new million-dollar Annex of the New England Sanitarium and Hospital, Stoneham, Sunday, October 7, at 3:30 o'clock.

Associated with Senator Saltonstall on the platform were Mayors and Chairmen of Selectmen of the neighboring cities, Stoneham, Reading, Wakefield, Melrose, Malden, Medford and Winchester, — as well as the pastors of the churches.

The 1st Corps of Cadets Band of Boston played a concert on the lawn at 3:30 p. m. The Star Spangled Banner opened the official program.

A. C. Larson, Business Manager of the Sanitarium, introduced the Master of Ceremonies, L. E. Lenheim, Chairman of the Hospital Board.

Among those invited on the plat form were:

Dr. V. A. Goetting, Commissioner of Public Health of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Charles Gibbons, State Representative.

Dr. A. D. Rubenstein, Director of Division of Hospitals of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Col. Arthur V. Harrington, Senior Engineer of the Department of Public Health of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

State Senator George J. Evans.

State Senator Sumner G. Whittier.

State Representative Theodore J. Vaitses.

State Representative Joseph A. Milano.

Dr. Thomas P. Devlin, President of the Middlesex East Medical Society.

M. A. Dyer, Architect.

James S. Kelliher, Contractor.

A large gathering of friends of the N. E. S. attended the dedication.

The five-story million-dollar south wing will provide additional rooms and facilities for 132 patients. This Annex will present a frontage of the New England Sanitarium of 500 feet overlooking beautiful Spot Pond in Middlesex Fells Park.

The corner-stone laid last Sunday will usher in a new era in the long history of this medical center. Through the past half-century the Sanitarium has grown with the Boston area. It serves 135 courtesy staff physicians in the community. The New Institution is incorporated as the New England Sanitarium and Benevolent Association. It has no capital stock and no endowments, depending on its earnings to operate.

The Federal Government, under the Hill-Burton Act, is participating in the cost of the $907,000 Annex to the extent of $317,636.52. $150,000 has been given by friends, leaving a balance of approximately $100,000 to be raised. The New England Sanitarium and Benevolent Association greatly appreciates the liberality of the Federal Government and friends in providing $800,000 towards the cost of the Institution.

Depending on friends, the Manager, A. C. Larson, and R. M. Heald, Extension Secretary, have been authorized to promote the financing of the new wing.

ARMSTRONG ON WINNING CAMP TEAM

Don Armstrong of 34 Mt. Pleasant street, a private in the A. S. A., stationed at Camp Gordan, Georgia, played the hot corner for his company soft ball team which won the playoffs recently completed for the championship of the entire post, a camp of over 20,000 men. There were a large number of leagues playing during the season, and the playoffs were a knockout affair of the winners in the individual leagues. After the final game Brigadier General McConnell, the post commander, presented each player on the winning team with an individual trophy and the company with a large trophy.

Don reports that in general the soft ball played at Camp Gordan is no better than that played in Winchester, with the possible exception of the pitching which for some of the company teams was excellent.

HOMECOMING DINNER

GREAT NEED FOR NURSES AIDES

An intensive course to train Nurses Aides will commence early in November, it was announced today by Mrs. William F. Hickey, Jr., Chairman of Nurse's Aides, Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross.

Anyone between the ages of 18 and 55 years of age may enroll by calling either Mrs. Hickey at WInchester 6-1766 or Chapter Headquarters at WInchester 6-2300.

Under the supervision of Miss Mary Virginia Loftus, R. N., who taught last spring's class, instruction will be given in the class rooms of the Nurses Home. All necessary equipment is provided by the Winchester Hospital and the Red Cross pays for the instructor.

This course is free and provides a very worthwhile opportunity for one to be of service to himself, his family and the community. Last spring a great many of the girls and women who participated were business people who could only give their time, after graduating, in the evening and on weekends. A particular need has arisen for women who can serve weekdays during the day. Classes will meet three times a week for eight weeks and each class will last two hours.

All graduates are required to give 100 hours a year to the Winchester Hospital or the Blood Bank. Because Winchester Hospital does serve many patients from surrounding towns, last spring several of the trainees came from outside Winchester. The Red Cross extends to anyone in nearby towns, who may be interested, a most cordial invitation to participate in this valuable work. Inasmuch as Winchester Hospital is one of the few nearby hospitals that cooperates in such a program, it is an opportunity that many have been waiting for. The starting date and exact hours of classes have not yet been set, so if you are considering this course, call Mrs. Hickey today and talk it over with her.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The October 3rd meeting of the League of Women Voters was held at the Music Hall, with Mrs. William Cusack as hostess. Mr. Thomas H. Eliot spoke of the accomplishments and aims of the Special Commission on the Structure of the State Government, of which he is the Executive Director. The "Baby Hoover Commission" was recommended by Governor Dever and authorized by the members of the State Senate and House in 1949. It is truly a non-partisan committee which is working for a more effective, efficient and economical state government. The Massachusetts government has not been overhauled for thirty years, during which time independent state agencies have increased from 21 to 77.

Since it is impossible for a governor to keep in touch with so many agencies, several of them are really accountable to no one, and there is much duplication, waste and confusion. The Commission believes that where possible without impairing the work of the various agencies, some should be combined, such as coupling the Youth Service Board and the Foster Care Program with the Public Welfare Department, and including the Racial Discrimination Committee with the Education Department.

The Commission feels that in some cases not enough money is allotted to an agency to maintain efficiency. This is true of the Department of Public Education, where a good salary is paid to specialized supervisors of citizenship, physical education, music, etc., but there is no allowance for traveling expenses, so these supervisors do not help all the towns and cities.

The possibilities of obtaining more income are also being studied by the Commission. In some other states, the "State Lien Law" requires that when a beneficiary of old age assistance dies, any real property he may own becomes the property of the state. At present in Massachusetts, the state is entitled to only one-half the assessed value. This law has substantially decreased the numher of old age assistance payments in those states with the law, and the Governor and the Commission recommend it for Massachusetts.

The present legislature will not vote on any of the recommendations of the Commission, but Mr. Eliot urged that all citizens must insist action he taken in the future. Many of the state employees will fight any changes, but they must be made if we are to have good government in Massachusetts.

For all the news read the Star.

ROTARY NOTES

Last week Thursday the Rotary Club of Winchester acted as hosts to the newly formed Kiwanis Club here in Winchester. Officers of both clubs sat at the head table with President Al Elliott of Rotary and Henry Thompson President of Kiwanis. The program consisted of each man present rising at the request of Allan Wilde to give his club and classification. In this manner all men became acquainted with each other member of the two clubs.

During the meeting it was also announced hy President Al that the Kiwanis Club had requested permission to become one of the four sponsoring organizations of the Little Leaguer's Baseball Association that is being formed under the general sponsorship of the Rotary Club. Charlie Koch announced, in this connection, that the leveling of Shore Road Field for the little leaguers own diamond will take place Friday morning, October 12 at ten o'clock. All members of Rotary particularly are urged to show up at that time with shovels, sod cutters, rakes and enthusiasm. Members of Kiwanis and or any other interested citizens are more than welcome in starting this project. A good turnout is not only expected but necessary for the success of this new venture.

Miss Phyllis McManus, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Phillip J. McManus of 465 Main street, flew home this past week-end to attend the Holy Cross — Fordham game. Phyllis, a graduate of Boston Academy of Notre Dame in the class of 1951, has just started her freshman year at Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart in New York City.

Better Wait-Than Be Sorry!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

For the man or woman who wants a Cadillac, there is no satisfactory substitute in the whole wide world!

So, if your heart is set on sitting at the wheel of this great and distinguished motor car—let us talk with you frankly about the matter.

First of all, you should come in and place your order—just as soon as circumstances will permit.

There is now—as there has been for many years—a waiting list of wonderful people who wish to own this wonderful car. And the sooner your name joins this distinguished list—the sooner your hope will be realized.

This may not be easy—for temptation is almost certain to assail you!

Cars without number may be had today—almost as soon as you agree to accept them. And, quite naturally, people who sell these available cars may ask you to shift your preference from Cadillac.

But, again, we urge you to hold firm—for the sake of your own welfare and your own satisfaction.

Remember—it's Cadillac you want.

Cadillac—with such performance that owners actually think up excuses for taking to the highway!

Cadillac—with such amazing endurance that its full life-span has never yet been measured!

Cadillac—with economy so extraordinary that few cars, at any price, will run farther on a gallon of gasoline!

Yes—if you want a Cadillac, come in and order it. And then stand firm until you get it.

It's far, far better to wait—than be sorry. For, remember, there is nothing that can take its place.

LOCAL TRAVEL AGENT

On Wednesday, October 10th, J. F. McGrath, Jr., of the McGrath Travel Service, Woburn, left Boston on TWA Constellation plane, on a direct flight to Frankfurt, Germany.

Mr. McGrath is a Delegate to the International Travel Convention being held in Paris the last of October.

In connection with the Convention in Paris, the Governments of the several European countries have invited delegates to be their guests while in Europe, so that Mr. McGrath will visit five days in the south of Germany as guest of the German Tourist Association. He will then go to Austria as guest of the Austrian Government, for six days in and around the Dolomites and Vienna, from where the delegates will be sent by special train to Paris for the week's convention there.

The Convention will include travel executives, representatives of the various steamship, airline and railroad companies, all tourist companies in Europe, and representatives of the principal hotels, who will meet in joint sessions to discuss travel arrangements in all parts of the world for the coming year.

After ten days in Paris Mr. McGrath, with other delegates, will be the guest of the French Government, touring the Basque country in the south of France, and crossing into Spain, he will leave from San Sebastian on the famous Talgo Express train for Madrid, where he will be a guest of the Spanish Government for ten days, in and around Madrid, and El Escorial, with four days on the Island of Majorca, returning from Palma to Barcelona.

From Barcelona Mr. McGrath will fly to Rome for a conference with the Hotel Association, and then go on to Yugoslavia, which country has just resumed diplomatic relations with the United States, for a complete survey of the tourist possibilities along the Dalmatian Coast.

His return to the United States will be made on a TWA Constellation, and he expects to be back in the United States about November 20th.

During his absence the McGrath Travel Office will be in charge of Miss Mavis McGrath, who is also a world traveler.

CONSUMERS RESEARCH ON FLUORIDATION

The following, clipped from the Consumers Research Bulletin for August, 1951, is offered by the Star without comment. We do not know enough about the advantages or disadvantages of adding fluorine to drinking water to make an intelligent comment, and the reader who brought in the clipping was in the same boat. It is offered it for publication in the Star as a statement from a source he believed to be neutral. We are printing it with the same feeling.

The Current Fashion of Adding Fluorine to city water systems in order to improve children's teeth is something that requires further study before it can be conclusively termed a sound and desirable measure. Warning of the need to consider the effect of fluorine, even in so small a quantity as one part per million, on people with diseased kidneys and other disorders, particularly in the middle aged and elderly group, come from Dr. V. O. Hamer, director of clinical research, Forsyth Dental Infirmary for Children, Boston. Dr. Hamer points out that the elderly group, which is increasingly large, is likely to provide the medical profession with most of its problems in the treatment of degenerative diseases, including the illnesses caused by failure of the kidneys to eliminate various toxic agents. Instead of sponsoring the fluoride treatment of public water supplies to improve children's teeth, public health authorities will do better to give attention to a more effective attack upon the problem of tooth decay, for instance, by taking steps to discourage the sale of candy, sweet crackers, and soda pop in and around school buildings.

WIN THIRD STRAIGHT FROM WELLESLEY BY 26 TO 31 SCORE

Last Friday, for the third week in a row, Winchester Harriers ran up against a strong club as they traveled to Wellesley High School.

Wellesley had a veteran club that showed excellent balance, and the meet turned out to be hotly contested. The local club faced the handicap of a flat course very unlike the paths of the Middlesex Fells on their home trail. However, they did an excellent job and succeeded in downing the home team by a 26 to 31 count.

The race started with three Wellesley men pacing the field closely followed by Coon, Murphy and Rush. By the middle of the race Pete Coon had taken the lead over Bauer of Wellesley by about 8 yards, with Charley Murphy third about 5 yards out. This order continued the same for the balance of the race as Pete stretched his winning margin to about 50 yards. The time of 14:35 was the best time run over the course since Perry Norton of Wellesley set the record for the course three years ago in 14:14. Capt. Murphy caught a "flat" cramp in his last half mile and could not catch Bauer but still finished a creditable third. Dick Rush in 5th, Bob Nelson, 8th, and Pete Maroney, 9th, completed Winchester's Scoring.

This was an important victory for the locals and a good showing for the first meet away this season. It should help when Winchester journeys to Concord this Thursday. This should be a good meet, highlighted by the personal duel between Murphy, Coon and Hammond, Concord's great 3 year veteran.

First 15 finishers:

1. Coon 14:35
2. Bauer (Wellesley)
3. Murphy
4. Noonan (Wellesley)
5. Rush
6. Reynolds (Wellesley)
7. Parnin (Wellesley)
8. Nelson
9. Maroney
10. Becker
11. Godwin
12. Hawkins
13. Farrell
14. Valcour
15. Hogarty (Wellesley)

WINCHESTER FROSH LOST AT WOBURN

Woburn Junior High won a 12 - 0 victory over the Winchester High School freshman team at Woburn last Friday afternoon in a closely contested game.

The Woburn pups scored their first touchdown on a sustained march of 40 yards with Joe Castiglione going over from the three. Winchester marched 60 yards toward the Woburn goal line after the kickoff but couldn't quite get to pay dirt.

Woburn's second touchdown came in the second quarter when "Muzzi" Rosa intercepted a Winchester flat pass at his 40 and ran 60 yards to score.

The Winchester pups scored in the fourth quarter on a spectacular 80 yard run by Fullback "Mike" Murphy. The officials, however, ruled he stepped outside at midfield, which nullified the score. Winchester wasn't too happy about this call, incidentally.

Both teams threatened in the second half, Winchester being held for downs on the Tanner seven and Woburn reaching the Winchester three-yard line.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE STATES ATTENDANCE POLICY

The School Committee recently announced its policy concerning school attendance in a notice sent by the schools to each parent. It is believed that this statement will be of interest to many others in the community.

To All Patrons:

In order to prevent any misunderstandings, and to assure our patrons of our desire to do the best thing for individual pupils and the school system as a whole, the School Committee desires to state publicly its policy concerning school attendance.

I — The School Committee is interested in the safety and health of the children, as well as in their regular, well-planned instruction.

II — The schools will be kept open every day possible. In case of unusually severe weather or travel conditions, the Superintendent may, at his discretion, close the schools.

III — There are many competent observers who believe that the safety of our children is greater when they are in school than when they are not. However, the schools may be open on days when the parent feels it inadvisable to send the child for reasons of health or safety. On such days, the parent should decide on what he thinks is for the best interest of the child.

IV — Sometimes, the weather may improve to such an extent soon after the opening of school that the pupil can reach school safely and without danger to his health. Although he may be tardy, the parent should send him with a note to the school explaining the tardiness.

V — When a large percentage of pupils is absent, the teachers will not take up any new work. In any case, every effort will be made to help pupils make up the work that has been missed.

VI — Whenever absent from school for any reason, the pupil must present a note from the parent on his return to school explaining such absence.

No Schools Signals: 2 - 2 repeated four times.

At 7:30 a.m., No school, Grades and 7 the same as in any of the Winchester classes is known.

At 12:30 p.m., the afternoon session of the Elementary schools will be cancelled.

No school announcements will be made.

Radio broadcasting stations between 7:00 and 7:30 a. m.: WEEI; WBZ; WNAC; WCOP, and WLAW.

Beginning January 2, 1952, and continuing through February 29, or at the discretion of the School Committee, the Elementary Schools will operate on a 60 minute lunch period with a correspondingly earlier dismissal in the afternoon; those parents desiring to have their children remain at school for lunch during this period are requested to send a note to the school setting forth the reasons for their request before December 20, 1951.

CARL DE SUZE

The Wellesley Club of Winchester opened its series of Winchester Mornings on Thursday, October 4, with a most entertaining exposition by Carl de Suze of W. B. Z. The Music Hall was completely filled and all who attended will recall with amusement the very funny and quite unaccountable report of interviews with celebrities like Tallulah Bankhead and H. Allen Smith. Carl paid a sincere tribute to Marjorie Mills, whose program he announces daily, describing her sympathy and interest in people and her valuable contribution to the war effort during World War II, requesting and receiving needed items and particularly in sending and into the homes of French sailors.

On Thursday, October 25, the second Winchester Morning will feature John Harriman of the Boston Globe, who will talk on "Current Developments in our Defense Economy." Coffee will be served as usual at 10 A. M. at the Music Hall, with the lecture commencing at 10:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Seth B. Cole of Cape Elizabeth, Maine, spent the week end with Miss Ethel Richardson of Cambridge street. A family gathering was held on Sunday.

GEORGE JONES AWARDED WILLIAM HALL MEMORIAL TROPHY

The feature attraction of last Friday's Winchester Boat Club annual business meeting, aside from the election of new officers, was the first presentation of the William Hall Memorial Trophy. This trophy commemorates the memory of one of our most active and best loved members, "Bill" Hall, whose activities and contributions to the Club over the past twenty years are too numerous to mention, and who will be missed by all who knew him.

The deed of gift of the trophy specifies that it shall be awarded annually to any member of the Winchester Boat Club whose club activities have been outstanding, and we are sure that everyone agrees that no one more deserved to receive the trophy than George T. Jones. We have never asked George what the "T." stands for, but it must be for "tireless", because George is one of those rare people who believes actions speak louder than words and his contributions to the betterment of the Club have been endless. The beautiful yard-arm on the flag pole is a typical example of George's activities; the marvelous miniature model of a Snipe which is on display in the Club's Ballroom and which George generously contributed to the Club; years of faithful service on the Board of Directors; are other examples which will give you only an inkling of the myriad of activities in which George is involved. Far from congratulating George on receiving the coveted trophy, we feel that the Club should be congratulated on having such an outstanding member.

Morse Elected Commodore For '52

Edward H. Morse was unanimously elected Commodore of the Winchester Boat Club for the 1952 season. He follows in the footsteps of Walter "Pete" Redding who has done a remarkably fine job during the past two seasons. In fact, Pete has been so terrific, that it is going to be pretty difficult for "Ned" to follow in his footsteps. "Ned" has all the necessary qualifications to make an excellent Commodore and we feel that he will be equal to the task of equaling or surpassing Pete's administration.

VOL. LXXI NO. 9 | THE WINCHESTER MASS., STAR, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1951 | PRICE TEN CENTS

REV. HERBERT GEZORK PH. D., D. D.

SPEAKER AT HARVEST HOME SUPPER

Dr. Herbert Gezork, president of Andover Newton Theological Seminary, the speaker at the annual Harvest Home Supper at the First Congregational Church, was born and educated in Germany. He was General Secretary of the German Baptist Youth Movement until it was dissolved under the Hitler Government, and he wrote two books in German, both of which were banned by the Nazis. In 1936 he came to this country as a voluntary exile and became an American citizen in 1943.

Since 1939 Dr. Gezork has been Professor of Social Ethics at Andover Newton Theological School and Lecturer at Wellesley College. Since the end of the last war he has gone to Europe three times on missions for the U. S. Government. From 1946 - 18 he served as Chief of Protestant Affairs in the U. S. Military Government for Germany. In the summer of 1950 he was elected President of the Andover Newton Theological School. He is President of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society and a Trustee of Wheaton College.

Dr. Gezork's subject will be, "The Failures and Triumphs of Today's Church."

IMPORTANT TAX STATEMENT

The Massachusetts General Court passed Chapter 640 of the Acts of 1951 which amended Section 5 of Chapter 59 "Persons and Property Exempt from Taxation." This amendment was approved August 28, 1951 and is entitled "An Act Providing That The Household Furniture and Effects of Every Person Shall Be Exempt From Taxation To An Amount Not Exceeding Five Thousand Dollars." Section 2 reads "This Act shall take effect on January first, nineteen hundred and fifty-two, and shall apply only to personal property taxes assessed as of, on, or after said date."

Due to the many inquiries received by this office it is indicated that it is not generally understood that the change in the law does not become effective until 1952.

Many Personal Property tax bills are still outstanding. This would seem to indicate that many people are under the impression that the revised law is effective this year, and therefore do not have to be paid. Unpaid 1951 Personal Property tax bills are now due.

SPECIAL MEETING WILLIAM PARKMAN LODGE

There will be a Special Meeting of William Parkman Lodge on Tuesday, October 23rd, 1951 (at the Masonic Apartments, 1 Mt. Vernon street.) Dinner will be at 6:30 p. m., and the Lodge will open at 7:30 p. m.

SEVEN-YEAR OLD SHOT

Mistaken by Young Hunters for Partridge

Teddy Farrell, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Farrell of Reading, formerly of Winchester, is in critical condition at the Baker Memorial Hospital with the upper and lower bones of his right leg shattered by a high-power 30-30 soft-nose rifle slug as the result of an accident in the Maine woods last Saturday.

Teddy and his father were taking a walk in the woods at Fryeburg, Maine, Saturday morning, and had sat down to rest, with their backs against a log. Two youths coming up a trail mistook them for partridges and one of them opened fire with his high-power deer rifle.

The bullet entered the thigh of Teddy's right leg and came out on the inside of the leg below the knee, tearing a gaping wound and shattering both bones, as well as injuring the knee-cap.

Teddy was rushed to the hospital at North Conway for immediate treatment, and Saturday afternoon was taken to the Baker Memorial, where his parents were told that his arrival was barely in time.

Teddy lost a lot of blood and suffered from severe shock, the immediate problem having been to build him up for bone surgery in an attempt to save his leg. His condition had improved by Wednesday and he was reported out of immediate danger. Throughout his ordeal he has been bright and very courageous, taking a keen interest in everything.

VOLPE AT SAFETY COUNCIL MEETING

John A. Volpe of Grove street, president and treasurer of the Volpe Construction Co. of Malden, attended the 39th Congress of the National Safety Council in Chicago last week, addressing the Construction Section October 10th on "Securing and retaining top management interest."

In his speech Mr. Volpe said, "Some headway is being made, but not enough. More construction people and contractors must be made to realize that safety is more than just a human problem, but has a definite dollars and cents value."

Commenting on his work with the National Safety Council over the past years, Mr. Volpe said that he feels that association with that group has increased his safety activity a hundred fold.

Mr. Volpe entered the construction business 18 years ago. The Volpe Construction Co. is located at 54 Eastern avenue, Malden. Mr. Volpe resides at 69 Grove street.

He is a director of the Malden Chamber of Commerce, a director of the Winchester National Bank and the Malden Trust Co., a director of the American Red Cross, national vice-president of the Society of American Military Engineers, and past-president of the Associated General Contractors of Massachusetts.

Mr. Volpe, accompanied by his wife, Jennie, joined more than 12,000 fellow delegates to the 5-day Congress, October 8 - 12, in attending some 200 sessions and listening to 600 speakers discuss everything from rocket engines and reckless drivers to radioisotopes and hoisting ropes.

On Thursday, October 25, John Harriman of the Boston Globe will speak at the second Winchester Morning sponsored by the Wellesley Club of Winchester. His topic will be "Current Developments in Our Defense Economy."

Mr. Harriman was educated at St. Marks' School and went directly from there to work for the New York Evening World, starting at 18 and working up from the bottom. He has combined actual business experience with his writing work in the Investment Counseling field with Scudder, Stevens and Clark in New York. He now lives in Cambridge.

He has published three novels — "Winter Term," "The Career of Philip Hazen" and "The Magnate."

LIGHTS OUT

Wednesday evening shortly after 6 o'clock electric lights in the center and elsewhere in town, in the Rangely section and at Symmes Corner and along Mt. Vernon street were out for periods varying from a few minutes to more than an hour. A wire down on upper Main street near the shop of Sten Johnson was said to have caused the trouble. The Civil Defense generator in the basement of the Police station furnished lights for the Police and Fire Station and also for a necessary meeting at the Savings Bank.

B. B.s AGAIN

The police were notified Monday that 12 windows at the George Washington School had been broken by B. B. shot over the past weekend. Shortly after this report Superintendent Stanley Malpas reported six panes of glass broken by B. B.'s at the Leonard Field Bath-house during the same period.

ROUNDEYS WON BROWN TROPHY

Club Championship to Defending Richart

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Roundey won the Maurice F. Brown Memorial Trophy last Sunday at the Winchester Country Club, beating Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Richart in the final round of the First Flight competition, 2 and 1. It was the second win for the Roundeys in recent years, they having been the winners in 1949. Mrs. Marion Clark and Doug Wilde were the winners last year.

First flight consolation honors went to Mrs. Martha Porter and Bill Speers, who won a 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. T. S. Knight and Vance Holdam in the final.

In the second flight the winners were Mrs. Allen Kimball and Lloyd Williams who won their final round match from Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Flanders, 2 and 1. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dyer beat Mr. and Mrs. John I. Lynch in the final round of the consolations.

Frank Richart, defending titlist, again won the Club Championship by defeating David W. Shean, Jr., at the 36th hole of a very close match on Sunday. Richart was dormie three, but Shean rallied to take the 16th and 17th holes, failing to take the final hole and square the match.

Richart beat Bill Eustis in the semi-final round of play for the Club Championship, with Shean rising to real heights to defeat the present Massachusetts State Amateur Champion, Eddie Martin, in the same bracket. Dave was really hot in that match, being two up on Eddie at the end of nine.

After the tournaments a big buffet supper was held at the clubhouse, the 180 who were present constituting the largest attendance yet for one of these affairs. Prizes to the winners were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher.

EDWARD ALDEN BIGELOW

Edward Alden Bigelow, formerly a well known resident of Francis Circuit, died early Wednesday morning at the Ann Lye Nursing Home in Billerica, where he had been ill for most of the past two years.

Mr. Bigelow was the eldest son of James Henry, and Harriet Elizabeth (Coleman) Bigelow, being a direct descendant of John Bigelow, whose marriage to Mary Warren in 1642 is the first of record in Watertown. He was born in Elizabeth, N. J., in 1867 and in 1891 married Hazel Seger of Swampscott, coming to Winchester in 1893.

In 1900 he organized the syndicate which acquired the business of the E. Howard Watch & Clock Co., establishing the E. Howard Clock Co., best known for the manufacture of tower clocks and chimes. For more than 25 years he was the firm's treasurer, later becoming president.

Mr. Bigelow retired from the clock business some years ago, but he was always interested in the trade, having been an active member and one-time director of the Boston Jewelers Club.

Long a member of the First Congregational Church, which he served as deacon and a member of various committees, he was a member of the committee, with James S. Allen, Jr., that selected the present minister of the church, Dr. Howard J. Chidley.

Mr. Bigelow's wife died March 1, 1934. He leaves a son, Henry Glover Bigelow of Winchester; two grandchildren, Mrs. Donald Jerrold Fritch of Arlington and Miss Lois Powers Bigelow of Arlington; a brother, Henry Coleman Bigelow and a nephew, Alden Griswold Bigelow, both of Charlottesville, Va.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The stage was gaily decorated with red geraniums with the same repeating note at the individual tables where a delectable dessert was served consisting of coffee and a wide assortment of homemade pastries.

Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds extended a word of welcome in behalf of the club. Among the guests present were Mrs. Raymond W. Wheeler, Vice Chairman of the Republican State Committee and Mrs. Joseph L. Roberts, State Committee Woman for the 6th Middlesex District.

Two door prizes were offered with Mrs. Ben Hills winning the prize cake and Mrs. Lester Goodwin the attractive flower pot.

Mrs. Henry A. Dellicker and Mrs. Hollis A. Dyer were in charge of the tickets and wish to thank all who either subscribed or sent a money donation. Mrs. Weimer is most grateful to everyone who made donations of food for the dessert.

CIVIL DEFENSE

During the coming week, Boy Scouts will distribute Civil Defense literature with the Community Fund Material.

There is an Air Raid Instruction sheet with small instruction cards to be clipped from the sheet and carried in wallet or purse. The large warning instruction should be placed in a conspicuous place in your home.

There is also a pamphlet on a Civil Defense Household First Aid Kit, which is easy to assemble and inexpensive. Those who do not yet have First Aid training will be glad to accept the invitation to enroll by contacting CD headquarters, Winchester 6-3257.

James W. Blackham, Director
Dept. of Civil Defense.

COMMITTEE WELCOMES DISCUSSION OF SCHOOL NEEDS

Willingness to consider any and all suggestions or criticisms with an open mind will be the keystone of the policy of the Building Committee for Additional Facilities for Senior and Junior High Schools. Speaking at a meeting of some 150 persons at the high school auditorium on Wednesday evening, Ralph H. Bonnell, chairman of the committee, strongly emphasized the desire of the group for the fullest canvass of public opinion on every phase of the program in the hope that the whole town may support the eventual result.

Mr. Bonnell reminded his audience that the activities of his committee were specifically restricted by the town meeting to a study of possible changes and additions to the existing buildings. No plans for a new structure may be considered. Regarding the work of previous committees, which have spent over $29,000 since 1946, he stated that the committee feels that it should cut loose from any preconceived plans and make an entirely independent study.

An equal desire for frank and open discussion was expressed by Mrs. Marion Chandler, chairman of the School Committee. She reviewed the present and proposed program for Industrial Arts.

The School Committee is asking: (1) that the Junior High have a woodworking shop and a general shop; (2) that the Senior High have one advanced woodworking shop, a general shop for radio, electrical, and metal work, and a larger print shop and drawing room.

The discussion which followed underlined the sharp difference of opinion regarding the extent and nature of the Industrial Arts program. Captain Rush expressed his disappointment with the proposal for a general shop room, and was supported by Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald and Mr. Hewis. Mrs. Sara Woodward, of the School Committee, said that they are ready to do everything possible to establish a reasonable program based on fairness to all.

Mr. Bonnell stated that it is his committee's view that the classroom situation was perhaps less urgent than had been believed last year.

Mrs. Toye, who has helped hundreds of Winchester boys find their places in the armed services, stressed the importance of training in mechanical and allied arts, especially electronics, and she paid tribute to the value of band training. She also said that the high ratings of our boys who have entered Officers' Candidate School should make us proud of them and of the Winchester schools. Fred Felmet's eloquent remarks on the need for music rooms and especially for better lighting were echoed by Mr. Bonnell.

The three year Junior High versus the four year High School was discussed, Mr. Farnsworth recommending the Junior High be enlarged to accommodate the Freshman Class. Dr. Norris stated his preference for a three year Junior High, while Captain Rush rose to differ. The Captain also revived memories of the Foster Plan when he suggested that it might still be possible to join the two buildings together.

SCHOOL OPEN HOUSE

The "Three R's" will be offered again to parents of Winchester High School's students. It's a one-night course and they won't be burdened with any home work!

The occasion is "open house" at the high school on Thursday, October 25, starting at 7:30 p. m. It will be the fall kickoff for the program of activities sponsored by the school's Parent-Faculty Association.

The Parents will follow a day's class schedule of their son's or daughter's, but the schedule will be abbreviated. They'll move from class-room to class-room, just as Junior does on a typical day. Each teacher will explain the course and how he teaches it, and will be available for open questions or private consultations.

When the mid-day lunch period is reached, an intermission will be held for the serving of free refreshments to the visiting parents. Then Junior's classroom routine will be resumed until the full curriculum is covered.

To many parents the occasion is a grand lark, recalling as it does the days they themselves trooped through the halls.

Many of the rooms will have on display the handiwork of the students, always a highlight of the program. Parents of all high school students are invited to dip again into their past on this night and at the same time get to know Junior's teachers better.

The officers of the Parent-Faculty Association are Hazen Ayer, president; Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker, vice-president; Mrs. K. Foster Cleaves, secretary, and Mrs. Edward Stacy, treasurer.

General chairman of the home room mothers is Mrs. Frank D. Hawkins. The home room chairman for the Wadleigh building is Mrs. Kern Folkers.

In a recent letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Conlon of Canal street, Captain Thomas W. Conlon, Jr., United States Marine pilot, told of meeting another Winchester boy, Bill Violante, somewhere near the battle lines north of Inje in Korea. "Bill" who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Violante of Risley road, is with a Marine infantry regiment and was hale and hearty when Captain Conlon saw him.

Captain Conlon is presently land based after five months of combat service with the USS Sicily, a small carrier, now on the way back to the States for repairs. During his tour of duty Captain Conlon was up every flying day. He is now on Forward Air Patrol (FAP) flying ahead to pick out targets for bombers.

FRIENDS OF THE WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

At the Fall meeting of the Friends of the Winchester Hospital held at the Music Hall, the President Mrs. Fulton Brown announced that the Hospital is still in need of old sheets in which to wrap instruments for sterilization. Also low flower containers and children's books and magazines. These may be left at 17 Cabot street or will be picked up at your door if you will call Mrs. James Harlow at WInchester 6-1912.

Mrs. Brown spoke of the Friends as a young but rapidly growing organization of interested, active women and will welcome anyone who wishes to join.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Soma Weiss, was the first woman to become a trustee of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. She told of the early days of the Friends of that Hospital.

The greater part of Mrs. Weiss interesting talk was her report as a delegate to the American Hospital Association's fifty-third convention at St. Louis, where she was impressed by the recognition by all Hospital personnel of the importance of the Hospital Auxiliary and the necessity of the Volunteer worker, who should know her Hospital and Community and recognize its needs and resources. Mrs. Weiss reminded her listeners that a Hospital is not a commercial project and it is not competitive. It exists for service only and is a standby agency similar to the Fire and Police departments. In spite of rising prices the actual cost of Hospital care is less now than it was in 1888, because at that time the patient spent an average of fifty-two days in the Hospital whereas now the average is eight and one half days.

Mrs. Weiss pointed out the duty and obligation of people to serve and participate in their Hospital's Auxiliary activity. She said that Mr. Albert Whitehall, assistant Director of the American Hospital Association and Director of the Washington Service Bureau spoke to the convention on Hospital needs as they look from Washington. He said "Community responsibility and leadership is the basis upon which rests the life of a Democracy." "It is the private and Volunteer groups which offset and control the tendency to think of Washington, D. C., as the Great White Father who will take care of all of society's problems."

In closing Mrs. Weiss complimented the Friends of the Winchester Hospital on their assignments to date. These include clerical help to the Blood Bank, serving in coffee and gift shop, arranging flowers, making surgical dressings, preparing supplies for sterilization, favors for patient's trays and making new curtains for all rooms in the Hospital.

TEACHERS' CLUB HARVEST HOE DOWN

The annual fall supper of the Winchester Teachers' Club was held on Wednesday, October 10, at the Girl Scout Cabin with over seventy-five persons in attendance. Present as honored guests were Superintendent and Mrs. Norris, and school committee members Mrs. Sara Woodward, and Mrs. Marion Chandler.

As always at this affair, the first order of business was food, and late arrivals found the group pleasantly occupied with a picnic supper. The hamburgers, broiled under the watchful eyes of Fred Felmet and Norton Demsey, were favorably compared with the products of such old hands as Bill Branley and Ray Dickman, while the salads were never better.

A happy innovation this year was the dancing led by Ken Pratt, Mystic School's amiable custodian, better known as Winchester's authority on square dancing, the schottische, and the polka. Informal singing with Miss Rich at the piano concluded the evening. Much credit for the success of the "Hoe Down" goes to Mrs. Janet Greeno and her committee composed of representatives from each of the schools. The Teachers' Club is grateful to the Girl Scouts for the use of their splendid cabin.

Among the 334 lawyers recommended on Monday for admission to the bar by the Massachusetts Board of Bar Examiners was Mr. James M. Burke, Jr., of 8 Fairmount street.

HIGH SCHOOL PRESENTS CAREER ASSEMBLIES

"Planning for Training Beyond High School" will be the subject of the first of a series of career assemblies to be presented next Thursday morning at the high school. Mr. Roland Darling, of the Public Relations Department at Northeastern University, is the director of the programs which will be jointly sponsored by thirty high schools in the greater Boston area. Assisting him here will be Mr. Norton E. Demsey, Jr., Director of Guidance, and a student committee composed of Bill Carleton, Ruth Peel, Dave Pratt, and Gloria Mucera.

Attendance at the meetings will be voluntary and the students will have an opportunity to ask questions of the speakers. Among the educational institutions sending speakers during the year are: Boston College, Franklin Technical Institute, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Simmons College, and Wellesley College. Among the other organizations represented are the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., New England Mutual Life Insurance Co., the Boston Y. M. C. A., The Massachusetts Federation of Labor, and the Jordan Marsh Co.

During the rest of the series, the students will hear speakers discussing such subjects as: Choosing a Career; Where High School Graduates Work; Earning Your Way Through College; Opportunities in Nursing, Engineering, Retailing, and Office Work; Preparing for Careers in the Professions; and What a Job-Seeking High School Graduate Should Know About Unions.

The V. F. W. Ladies Auxiliary is having a Cabaret dance in Waterfield Hall, Winchester, Saturday, October 20. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Music by Herb Cleary. A gala party is being planned so come one come all and help us make this party a success.

Miss Lorraine Reardon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Reardon of 20 Arthur street, who has been seriously ill, is much improved. She is in the Mass. General Hospital, Boston.

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

The first meeting of St. Mary's Holy Name Society was held Sunday, October 14th at Waterfield Hall following the eight o'clock Mass at which many of the members received Holy Communion.

The meeting opened in the usual manner by President Eric W. Johnson. After disposing of the routine business, LeRoy Kelley, former football player and coach and now a collegiate football official was introduced as principal speaker.

As most men are interested in sports, Roy was given a very warm reception and proved to be a very interesting speaker. He told of the various preparations and schooling that is held for football officials which includes an annual physical examination and an examination in officiating theory.

He also told of many comical happenings in the dressing room and on the field which amused the members immensely. After his talk, he was given a hearty round of applause and the members felt we were very fortunate in having such an interesting speaker.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

On Monday evening, October 29, the Winchester College Club will hold its Fall meeting at the Church of the Epiphany at 7:45 p. m.

A most interesting meeting is assured because the speaker will be Dr. John Edgar Park. Dr. Park is a former president of Wheaton College and is the president of the American Congregational Church. A minister who received his education at Royal University, Duhlin, and at Princeton, and the holder of honorary degrees from many colleges, he has held pastorates at Andover and at the Second Church in Newton. He is a well known author and a particularly distinguished educator and college president.

His intriguing subject is "Is It Possible to Teach Anybody Anything?"

Coffee will be served by the executive board of the club at 7:45 p. m. and the meeting will open at eight o'clock.

All members of the College Club and their guests and all graduates of Wheaton living in Winchester are cordially invited.

65 Yard Dash by Sericka Decided Hard-Fought Game

Winchester High got by Stoneham, 13 - 6, last Saturday at Recreation Park, Stoneham, maintaining its unbeaten, untied status by the margin of a touchdown and conversion. The game, viewed by a good sized crowd, was a bruising affair that at times got pretty rough and had Winchester been as emotionally keyed as Stoneham was for the fray, things very easily could have gotten out of hand.

The big Blue was really up for the game, and during the first quarter had all the better of Winchester, threatening to score right after the opening kickoff as it marched 44 yards from its 34 to the Winchester 22 before losing the ball on downs. In fairness to Stoneham it should be said that two five yard penalties, one for offside and one for backs in motion helped the Indians plenty as big Scammon, McCarthy and Malonson ripped off consistent gains through the local line.

A pass from Picano to Casey ate up a yard more than the offside penalty and was the only aerial of the advance until the last play of the sequence when an attempted touchdown heave was grounded harmlessly and Winchester took over.

The raging Stoneham line, really an eight man frontier with big Scammon and another back right behind the tackles, shackled Winchester's running game completely the first two times the Indians got the ball, forcing Griffin to kick. On the second boot Atkinson hit the Stoneham receiver hard and he bobbled the ball, Flaherty recovering for Winchester at the Stoneham 30.

Sericka was piled up for a four yard loss on the last play of the first quarter, but as the teams changed goals Griffin, who played a whale of an offensive game all day, advanced to the Stoneham 17 in two tries, and Winchester seemed on the way as Michelsen sneaked for a long three.

Here Stoneham got a break for the "White Pants" set Winchester back five yards for back in motion, the back being Johnson running laterally and going a bit off the straight. Michelsen got four of the five back but Sericka was stopped twice and a Michelsen to Flaherty pass fell incomplete out of bounds, Stoneham taking over at its 20.

Interference on this play could just as easily have been called as on the one later in the game that led to the Stoneham touchdown. In this instance the Stoneham defender actually pushed Flaherty. In neither case could the receiver have reached the ball with a long-handled net.

Winchester stopped Stoneham dead and Sericka recovered his fumble of Scammon's punt at his 45. Johnson and Griffin got only three yards and on third down, after taking a pitchout Sericka arched a beautiful long pass far down the field intended for Flaherty.

Bobby had outlegged the defense and was in the clear, but instead of running ahead he turned to see where the ball was, and couldn't quite recover in time to reach what was a scoring pass in any one's book, and a beauty at that.

Winchester rooters' hair grayed noticeably when Griffin tried to run from kick formation on fourth-and-seven, first fumbling the ball and then being stopped on the Stoneham 49, Stoneham taking over.

Winchester's line then reached the heights, stopping Scammon twice when Stoneham had a third and one, to take over at the Stoneham 42.

Then the Indians started to go, and with Griffin doing some inspired running drove deep into Stoneham territory, reaching the 10straightening out to outleg all but from the 35, only to have an offside put the ball back on the 40.

Michelsen hit Flaherty with a pass for a first down at the 25. On the next play Winchester lost five for back in motion, but Michelsen again took to the air and hit Atkinson this time for a first down at the 10. Donlon was thrown for a loss on the next play and the half ended with the Indians definitely on the march.

Starting the new half Winchester received and the Indians went all the way from their 41. Griffin picked up two and Johnson bulled through for 14 and first down at the Stoneham 43. Sericka and Griffin made it first down at the 25 and Johnson in two tries made another at the 15.

On the next play Griffin brought the crowd to its feet by slanting off tackle and on his own great running, aided by a timely block, went all the way into the end zone to break the scoreless stalemate. For the first time this year Errico's placement boot was wide of the uprights.

Winchester stopped Stoneham after the kickoff and Scammon booted a bouncing ball to Griffin, Jimmy thought quickly and as the Stoneham boys relaxed figuring the ball would be grounded, he scooped the leather up and threaded his way through the entire Blue team, going into the end zone on a sparkling bit of individual running. No flag went down on the play, but as Jimmy went into the end zone Referee Segnadelli cast a flag to the turf and called a clipping penalty against Winchester that was a real heart-breaker, or would have been, if it hadn't been for Sericka.

The fifteen yarder went all the way back to the Winchester 35, and Johnson was held for about a foot advance at the line.

On the next play Sericka took a pitchout to the left, and apparently was hemmed in five yards back by four Stoneham boys. Calling on all his strength and skill "Jocko" flung off the first two defenders, bulled by the third one and ripped away from the fourth, the safety man, whom a straight-arm took care of about the 20. This Sericka effort was one of the best this reporter has seen in 28 years of covering Winchester games and it definitely deflated Stoneham. Errico added the extra point at placement and when he intercepted a Stoneham pass midway through the final quarter, getting back to the Stoneham 32 it looked like another Winchester score.

Stoneham was pretty tired and definitely down at this point, but the Blue came to life in a hurry when Donlon fumbled after reaching the Stoneham 20, and Stoneham recovered at its 23.

With Malonson doing the key running Stoneham moved to the 34, to midfield and to the Winchester 37. Here Malonson hit Captain Casey at the 12, a pass that Jimmy Griffin might have intercepted or batted down.

With the Stoneham fans afire Picano passed to Malonson for what seemed to be a touchdown, though it looked like the Stoneham halfback caught the leather beyond the end zone.

Again Picano passed, this time out to the right. The ball went far over the head of the intended receiver, out of bounds. Jimmy Griffin and the receiver were racing toward the ball, Jimmy apparently having his back to the Stoneham boy. Both went down in a heap and the field judge, who incidentally wasn't the official on the play, called interference, giving Stoneham the ball a yard short of the Winchester goal line.

Picano sent Scammon into the line and the big fullback was stopped a yard short of scrimmage. On the next play Scammon went wide to his left, and the official who was in a poor position to see, finally ruled he went over. Co-Captains Dick Errico and Joe Donlon, defenders on the play, emphatically disagreed.

Picano's kick was no good, and Winchester really set sail. Michelsen almost barged his way into the clear on the kickoff, reaching the Winchester 44. Sericka picked up four and Johnson broke through into the clear, being brought down from behind on the Stoneham 34. Only lack of speed prevented this from being a touchdown, and lack of a key block prevented little "Moosie" Bellino from going places as he shot through a big hole to a first down at the Stoneham 25 to end the game.

Each team made nine first downs, Winchester rushing for 244 yards and Stoneham for 129. Winchester completed two of seven passes for 32 yards, Stoneham completing three of nine for 47 yards and having one intercepted. Each team lost 30 yards in penalties, Winchester fumbled twice and Stoneham once.

The summary:

FRAMINGHAM HERE TOMORROW

Winchester High plays its second home football game of the season tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on Manchester Field, meeting Framingham.

The boys from the horseshow town don't figure to be too tough this year, having had a poor season to date. They were defeated last Saturday, 12 - 0, by Hedhurn, which is reputed to be far from a strong team and ought not to be as troublesome as Winthrop and Stoneham have proved on the past two weekends.

Winchester can do with a bit of a breather before facing Reading, and if Framingham turns out to be that, it will be all right with Coach Knowlton, who will welcome a chance to give his second and third stringers an opportunity to show what they can do. Against Winthrop and Stoneham the going was too tough to really use anyone short of varsity caliber.

Prep Keyes and Don Rizzo played well at the guard slots, against both Winthrop and Stoneham, and with a greatly improved "Dyna" Lentine at center this year, Winchester's mid-frontier is much stronger than last season. "Howie" Amundsen has improved at left tackle with every game and on the other side of the line the veteran Dave Keniston, offensive tackle, is spelled by the 200 pound "Anchor" Murphy on defense. Rounding out the line, both "Bobbie" Flaherty, lightweight speedster, and the heavier Johnny Atkinson have been all right at the flanks, but the potential of the second string line hasn't really been established.

Behind the line the Winchester reserve backfield with boys like "Moosie" Bellino, George Wheaton, "Stu" Thomson and Dave Pratt can really go. Local fans are likely to see something of these boys against Framingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Small of Palo Alto, California, have been in Winchester this week visiting Mr. Small's father, Mr. Lowell R. Smith.

WINCHESTER HARRIERS CONTINUE WINNING STREAK

Last Friday the local club traveled to Concord to run Hammond and company. The result was a smashing 21 to 48 win which represented Winchester's fourth straight victory.

The race was run in a cold, driving rainstorm and these conditions proved ideal for Captain Hammond of Concord as he ran the best race of his career to smash the course record set four years ago.

The runners got away to an even start with Coon, Murphy and Hammond taking the lead. Unlike his usual race Hammond took over the lead and as they entered the woods had established a margin of 10 yards over Peter Coon and Charlie Murphy. This order continued through the next ¾ of a mile with Pete Coon finally gaining a bit on the hills to pull nearly even but as they hit the road Hammond turned on the power to win by about 40 yards in the record time of 13:45:4 a tremendous effort for the 2½ mile course. Captain Murphy followed in third place about 20 yards behind Coon. Doug Hawkins, rebounding from a below par race at Wellesley, finished 4th with Dick Rush one stride out for 5th position. The last scorer for Winchester was Les Godwin's 7th, his best effort this season.

Hammond's sensational victory resulted in Pete Coon's first defeat this season but it is interesting to note that his time was the fastest a Winchester runner has made on the Concord course.

Winchester's line balance was further increased this week as Johnny Farrell moved into the first ten as he finished 9th.

The Junior Varsity matched the record of the varsity with their 4th victory by a margin of 16 to 46. Pete Maroney was the top man for Winchester followed by John Becker. Henry Valcour and Hank Hooper as the red and black swept the first four spots.

Winchester closes its dual meet season this Friday with the visit of Revere and Essex Aggies to the local course. Tuesday, October 23 the big meet of the season will take place at Essex Aggies as seven teams run for the divisional title.

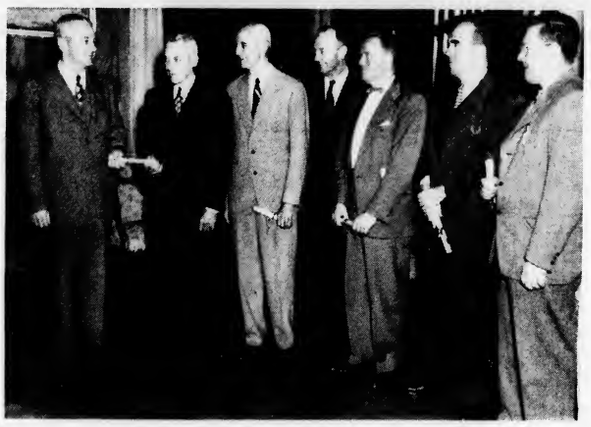

First 15 finishers:

1. Hammond (C) 13.45.4
2. Coon
3. Murphy
4. Hawkins
5. Rush
6. Woodruff (C)
7. Godwin

RED FEATHER "CLASS REUNION" AT MUSIC HALL

"We are not creating a new community effort, but are building on a firm base well established over the years by many people here at this reunion," said 1952 chairman Burton Miller as he presented Red Feather Honor Awards for past community service to: (l to r) Hal Fuller, Winchester's first Chairman in 1938; Jim Nowell, more accurately known as "Mr. Winchester", 1940; Earl Carrier, 1949; Walcott Thompson, 1947; Ralph Jope, 1946; and Charles Butler, 1951. "These awards are made out in the name of both husband and wife for reasons we all well know!" concluded Mr. Miller as he rang a stage prop door-bell symbolizing the workers of the final weeks of the campaign — the solicitors. One hundred and fifty past, present and future workers enjoyed meeting with representatives of the Red Feather agencies the campaign supports.

WINCHESTER vs CONCORD

Led by co-captains Ruthie Peel and "Moe" O'Connell, the Winchester High School's varsity field hockey team successfully opened their '51 season by swamping a weak and unimpressive Concord team 5 - 1.

This being the first game of the year for both teams, play during the first half was very sluggish. Winchester's Jan Easton scored the only goal midway through the half after a scramble in front of the net. In the last half Winchester displayed a brilliant offensive attack tallying four quick goals. "Moe" O'Connell started the fireworks with a beautiful flick which floated by the helpless goalie. Anna Florenza knocked in the third goal after a short scramble and Gretchie Daschbach scored a few minutes later on an identical play. "Moe" finished the tallying for the afternoon with a repetition of her earlier shot for goal. Concord's only score climaxed a fifty yard charge. It was a hard hit, open shot which rang the bell for Concord.

The defense had a comparatively soft afternoon, but more than filled the bill when necessary. Left-full, Lynne Stevens, was the defensive stand-out of the game.

The J. V.'s, composed of twenty-nine players, came out with a 1 - 1 stalemate. Sonny Smith scored the lone Winchester goal on a novel goalie bully. Dominating play during the second half, Winchester missed several possible tallies on costly penalties.

INSTALLS ADDRESS SYSTEM

The First Congregational Church installed during the summer a public address system in the church auditorium, which is proving a great boon to all members of the congregation, especially those who are slightly hard of hearing.

The Prudential Committee also plan to put individual earphones in certain pews of the church to accomodate those who need them.

This system has now been in use at the Sunday morning services on two recent Sundays, and the congregations on these two Sundays were delighted with the results.

Fr. John P. O'Riordan. Bronze, gold and white chrysanthemums decorated the altar for the 10 o'clock ceremony and nuptial mass which followed, the pews along the middle aisle being tied with white ribbon and the same flowers. Seated in the sanctuary was Rev. Fr. Bernard Wilmot of Sacred Heart Church in Watertown.

Miss MacPartlin was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of pure white satin and Chantilly lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, full gathered skirt and a circular train. Cridley performed the 2 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Rufus C. Clark, 62 Bacon street. Preceding the marriage William Dietz of New York sang "My Perfect Love".

Miss Dodd was given in marriage by her father, and had for her honor attendant her sister, Miss Frances Dodd of Reading. Mrs. James Clark of Waterbury, Conn., and Miss Janet Flanders of St. Johnsbury, N. Y., sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

The bride and her attendants were all gowned in white. The bride wore white satin trimmed with seed pearls and carried a white prayer-book with matching orchid. Her fingertip-length veil of tulle was trimmed with duchess lace from her grandmother's wedding gown and was caught to a cap of the same lace and seed pearls.

All the bridal attendants wore ballerina-length lace dresses with headpieces of veiling held in place with matching orchids. The honor maid wore a deep pink bandeau and veiling, matching the carnations which were combined with ivy in her bouquet. The bridesmaids headresses and carnations were light pink.

Mr. Dietz combined with his singing the duties of best man, and the ushers were Stephen Harrison Dodd, Jr., of Stoneham, brother of the bride; and Arthur Castihurti of Medford.

Mr. Flanders and his bride went on their wedding journey to their new home in Richmond, Va., where the bridegroom is associated as a chemist with the Coca Cola Company.

The bride attended the Vesper George School of Art and the University of Massachusetts. Mr. Flanders received his Master's Degree from the University of Massachusetts after graduating from Hardwick College in New York.

MAYNE — HUGHES

A marriage of Winchester interest took place at the Immaculate Conception Church in Malden on Saturday morning, October 13, when Miss Marie Therese Hughes, daughter of Mrs. Joseph E. Hughes of 154 Savin street, Malden and the late Dr. Hughes, became the bride of Thomas Edward Mayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Mayne of 18 Emerson road. Rev. John Mahoney performed the marriage ceremony and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. White gladiolas and white chrysanthemums made an attractive setting for the ceremony.

Miss Hughes was given in marriage by her uncle, Louis J. Mc-Murrer. She wore a gown of white satin and Chantilly lace fashioned with a long train of nylon tulle. Her fingertip-length veil and face veil were of tulle and were fastened to a small helmet of Chantilly lace, and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses and stephanotis, centered with an orchid.

Miss Joan B. Hughes of Malden was her sister's only attendant. She wore an apple-green dress of satin and lace with a rust headpiece and accessories and carried a rustic basket of rust chrysanthemums.

Joseph J. Mayne of Winchester was best man for his brother, and another brother, Robert J. Mayne of Philadelphia, Pa., was one of the three ushers, the others being John J. Hubert and Richard J. Caffrey, both of Malden.

A reception was held after the marriage at the home of the bride's uncle in Auburndale, and at its conclusion Mr. Mayne and his bride left on a wedding trip to Canada. Upon their return they will make their home in Everett.

The bride attended the Malden schools and is a graduate off Emmanuel College. Mr. Mayne also attended the Malden schools and is a graduate of Wentworth Institute. He is associated with his father's business, the John J. Mayne Contracting Co.

HOWARD — GOODNOUGH

Pink gladiolas decorated the altar of St. Peter's Church in Cambridge on Sunday afternoon, October 14, for the marriage of Miss Helen A. Goodnough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodnough of 788 Main street, to Ernest A. Howard of Cambridge. The ceremony took place at 1:30, and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Goodnough was given in marriage by her brother, Arthur E. Goodnough. She wore a galardine suit of hunter's green with shrimp accessories and a corsage of pink and white roses. Miss Helen Hanson of Winchester, the bride's only attendant, wore a navy blue galardine suit with winter white accessories and a corsage of white and red roses. John Daneher of Cambridge was Mr. Howard's best man.

After a wedding journey through New York State and the Middle West Mr. and Mrs. Howard will make their home in North Woburn.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School. Mr. Howard is in the employ of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conrad of 216 Highland avenue are the parents of a daughter, Susan Elizabeth, born September 29 at the Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gleason Ryerson of New Meadows road and Mr. and Mrs. Phair Conrad of Highland avenue. Sharing great grandmother honors are Mrs. Bertha Ryerson of this town and Mrs. Elizabeth Watson of Medford.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

Members and Friends! You have a great treat in store for you for the all day meeting of the Fortnightly, October 22, Monday at the Masonic Hall. It is a Double Barrel program, so to speak. The morning session begins at 11:00 a. m. with a Conservation program of particular interest.

A color film, "Recreation and Our State's Natural Resources" from the Massachusetts Department of Conservation, will be shown. Besides the film we are most fortunate to have for our speaker Mr. Egbert Hans, an artist and notable landscape architect who is as easy to look at as he is to listen to. Mr. Hans was associated with Mr. Warren H. Manning in carrying out city planning in many states for a number of years. Mr. Hans has been with the Massachusetts Conservation Department for twenty years. His exhibits at the Boston Flower Shows have won him seven Gold Medals. For the 1952 Show he has been given the honor of planning the stage of the great auditorium. The Fortnightly is privileged in having Mr. Hans as its speaker.

The ever popular Snack Bar will be open in the Hall at 12:30. Our tried and true Old Faithfuls, Mrs. Kingman P. Cass and Mrs. George W. French will be in charge.

The afternoon program will begin at 2:00 p. m. After the business meeting, we will have something quite hard to find in these days; an optimist looking at the world. Mrs. Max Robert Ulin needs no introduction to many of you. She is one of the most effective speakers now available on lecture platforms for the discussion of American foreign policy. She speaks persuasively and with great lucidity. Her educational work on the problems of the home front has been of the greatest value. She is a must for those who have not heard her, and she has much to offer those who have heard her. See you there.

UNITED NATIONS WEEK

October 21 - 27 is United Nations Week. October 24 is U. N. Day. During the week, Filene's, and possibly other stores, will have appropriate window decorations. Some stores will display U. N. posters.

Literature on the U. N. and its accomplishments will be available at the banks, at the library, and other places. The library will show the films; The Charter of the U. N., United Nations in World Disputes, and Brotherhood of Man on Friday, October 26 at 3:00 P. M. This program is for adults as well as junior and high school students.

The UNESCO film "This is Their Story" will be shown at the library on the morning of Friday, October 26 at 10:00 at the open meeting of the Women's Council. All women are invited.

Programs relevant to the U. N. will be held in the schools. A Mr. Fine representing Mrs. O. L. Hooper of the League of Women Voters will be on display at the High School.

Co-operating in this effort to observe United Nations Week are the Library, the Fortnightly, Military Man Power Commission, United World Federalists, and League of Women Voters. Assisting in the distribution of literature are the Elks, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and American Legion.

Why do we believe in the United Nations? It is the world's best hope for peace and security. In it, already 60 countries are pledged to act.

CRAIG WYLIE SPEAKS AT LIBRARY

An attentive and interested group of about 90 persons met at the Library on Wednesday evening, October 10 to hear Craig Wylie suggest measures that should be taken now toward strengthening the United Nations into an effective organ for maintaining and enforcing world peace. Mr. Wylie as a board member of Massachusetts branch of United World Federalists was introduced by Mr. Robert Williams, chairman of the Winchester Chapter of U. W. F.

Mr. Wylie was very direct and straightforward in presenting the difficulties that lie ahead toward realizing a limited world government and he gave no solace to those with a "laissez-faire" attitude — the road to peace is not an easy one; it's everyone's job and there are no short cuts along the way.

A tape recording was made of this talk including the question and answer period that followed. Anyone interested in hearing this recording is most cordially invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams at 3 Winthrop street, on Sunday evening, October 21 at eight o'clock.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

The Junior Mrs. Guild holds its annual children's entertainment on Saturday, October 27 at 2:30 p. m. in the Parish Hall. All members of the Guild and their children are invited.

Mrs. Herbert P. Clark is in charge of arrangements. Mr. Ernest Gladstone will entertain the children with his magic. Mr. Gladstone is an agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and is well known as a magician.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The fall meeting of the Winchester Women's Council will be held on Friday, October 26th at 10:00 a. m. in the Art Gallery of the library.

An interesting program has been planned for this meeting and we urge representatives of all member organizations to be present.

COMMUNITY SCHOOL NEARING CLOSE

At the fourth session of the Community School of Religious Education held last Monday evening, Dr. Edwin P. Booth of Boston University gave his second lecture on the "Life of Jesus." He again had an audience which was motionless as it listened while he told of Jesus' family, what little is known of his early life, while he interpreted Jesus' temptation, and then told the story of his ministry, and of his death. Again, as the people were leaving Rumford Hall, many were heard to say, "Oh, I wouldn't have missed this for the world."

Mrs. Ruth Richards Miller in her course on "Creative Activities" has been most helpful and interesting.

Classroom work has included the composition of a modern psalm, and a litany. Story-telling has been considered in its various aspects, the telling of the story, the use of the unfinished story, the dramatization of the story, and the illustration of the story by the use of posters and dioramas.

1. Purpose and aims
2. The teaching-learning period
3. Worship with Junior Hi's
4. Giving and serving
5. World vision for Junior Hi's

The fifth and last session of the School will be held next Monday evening. Every class has many items to crowd into this last meeting together, and a full attendance is expected.

LAYMEN'S SUNDAY FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Professor Albert Deitz will deliver the address at the regular church service on Sunday October 21 which is Laymen's Sunday. Professor Deitz who is a professor of engineering at M. I. T., is a member of the First Congregational Church. He has just returned from Japan where he with other engineers have completed a study of engineering techniques in several Japanese universities.

While in Japan he became profoundly interested in the Japanese people and in their reaction and attitudes toward the United States and about Japan's position in the world and in the turbulent and communist threatened Far East. His observations and comments on these subjects will be of timely interest.

The men of the church are invited to the Parish Hall preceding the regular service. Coffee will be served here from 10:00 to 10:30 and Professor Deitz will be there. The men of the church will then form to attend the service in a group.

EPIPHANY PARENTS TO MEET

Next Tuesday night, October 23rd, members of the Church of the Epiphany have a most unusual evening's program in store for them. Three new 20 minute films, put out in connection with the course of study used in the Church School, will be shown. These films tell the whole story of what is every church member's responsibility to know and the Christian Education of his children — the church leaders of tomorrow. These films are realistic, vital, present the facts graphically, and are a must for everyone.

The committee in charge is headed by the Rev. Dwight Hadley, Mrs. Donald Wright, Mrs. William Towner, Mrs. Burton Miller, Mrs. Kern Folkers, and Mrs. Robert Edgar.

This coming Sunday morning, October 21, at 8 a. m. the fifty-five teachers of the Church School and the members of the Board of Education will meet for a corporate communion service. This will be followed by breakfast, at which Miss Lillian Boyd of the department of Christian Education of the diocese will speak.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Elaborate plans are being made for the Hallowe'en Dance on Saturday evening, October 27 at the Legion Home. Start working on your costume now as there will be excellent prizes awarded for the most original, most beautiful, and the funniest. Remember the Christmas Gift Shop. Have all your gifts in by the next meeting and urge your friends to contribute to this worthy cause.

SMITH COLLEGE CLUB

Mrs. Geoffrey Nelley will be hostess to the Winchester Smith College Club for the Fall meeting to be held at her home, 63 Yale street, on Wednesday, October 24th, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Stanley Nevill, who will preside, promises a lively business meeting at which policy and plans for the new season will be formulated. 4,500 DOOR BELLS TO RING

Hallowe'en ? No, Sir — Sooner than that. Before the 20th of October ! be exact. Over 500 Cubs, Scouts and Explorers of the Winchester District of Felisland Council, Boy Scouts of America, under the direction of Mr. James Muncaster, District Commissioner, will start this week to make personal visits to nearly 4500 homes in the Town of Winchester. A leaflet giving important information about the 1952 United Red Feather Campaign will be left at each household.

Officials of the United Community Services are counting on the Boy Scout organization to make a 100% delivery before October 20th. Felisland Council, a member of the agency of the U.S., is fully aware of the importance of this project. All nine Boy Scout Councils in the Metropolitan Boston Area are cooperating.

This is the greatest mass civic service project the Scouts have ever been called upon to aid. There is every reason to believe the Winchester Cubs, Scouts and Explorers will handle their assignments in noteworthy fashion.

WYMAN SCHOOL ROOM TEAS

This week saw the beginning of a series of room teas for the various teachers of the Wyman School. The tea is held at the home of the room mother for each grade and is planned to honor the teacher of that particular room. It provides a very pleasant opportunity for mothers and teachers to meet informally and also for mothers to get acquainted with each other.

Two third grade room teas were held on Thursday, October 18. The tea honoring Mr. Dodge was held at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Robbins of 6 Cabot street. The pourers were Mrs. B. P. Russo and Mrs. W. Raymond Chase.

Mrs. Willem Lemmens of 48 Fletcher street was hostess to Mrs. McPeake and the mothers of the other third grade at Wyman. Mrs. Arthur Pratt and Mrs. George Gowdy poured.

On Tuesday afternoon, October 16, the mothers of one of the fourth grades gathered at the home of Mrs. Gilman Wallace of 117 Church street to meet Miss Betty Batchelder. Mrs. Stewart Cole and Mrs. Herbert T. Wadsworth presided at the tea table.

ROLLING RIDGE NIGHT AT M. Y. F.

This Sunday the Methodist Youth Fellowship will enjoy reports on the experiences of the youth who attended Rolling Ridge Methodist Conference during the summer months. The speakers will be Shirley Kinney, Nancy Wilson, Myrna Monson and Harold Quigley. There will be a festive hour of recreation led by Dottie Mingins, after which refreshments will be served.

At 4:00 p. m. there will be a meeting of all officers to decide the fall program. The regular meeting will be at the church at 6:30 p. m.

The mystery ride to Rolling Ridge was enjoyed by over twenty youths. The program, consisting of recreation, a weenie roast, and fireside sing, was a huge success.

See You Sunday!

Mrs. Edna (Crawford) White of Woburn, former well known Winchester girl, underwent a major operation last week at the Winchester Hospital. She is reported as getting along nicely.

THE WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester opened its new season on October 12, 1951 at the Music Hall with a stimulating program, an important talk by Mr. Ralph Bonnell to the women as Republicans and an explanation of civil defense by Miss Pauline Fenno.

Mr. Bonnell spoke in behalf of the coming $100-a-plate Republican dinner to be held at the Hotel Statler on November 13, 1951. According to Mr. Bonnell Republican state organization is excellent, better than ever before, but terrific expense will be involved in the election. He also commented on two dangerous attitudes among Republicans apathy and overconfidence. We must unseat the incumbent party with its extravagance and socialistic trends.

It was voted that the Women's Republican Club purchase a ticket to the dinner and that the president, Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds, represent the organization there that evening.

Because of a narrow majority in the Senate which was in session at the time, Senator Robert P. Campbell was unable to speak at the meeting, as previously announced, feeling that his place was at his post.

Mrs. Barbara Metcalf, club chairman for civil defense, introduced the speaker of the afternoon. Civil defense will become a state law in a month and will include recruitment, assignment to a job, training, manoeuvres, and functioning in actual disaster.

Eminently qualified to speak in detail on this subject was Miss Pauline Fenno of Bowley, consultant for women's voluntary participation in civil defense. Miss Fenno went to England in 1938 and stayed there throughout the war being associated with Lady Reading, head of the Women's Voluntary Service.

Miss Fenno brought with her two sound films, "Army of the People" and "Willing Hands" graphically showing the work of English women during World War II, and a third film, "Survival Under Atomic Attack," a pattern of action at such a time.

Mrs. J. Howard Macaulay and her committee were in charge of the delightful tea that followed the meeting. The pourers were Mrs. William I. Palmer, Mrs. Alonzo Woodside, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, Mrs. Theodore Elliot, and Mrs. William Cusack.

Last week, Miss Mildred Benson of Washington street, made a week-end visit via Northeast Airlines, to Passadumkeag, Maine. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Howard Razee, former Winchester residents.

Mrs. William Baracker, chairman of the church committee, and her members, Mrs. Morris Freeman, Mrs. P. Stewart Newton, Mrs. C. A. Hart, Mrs. Arthur Irving and Mrs. H. E. Shane are being assisted by Mrs. Everett Schenk, hospitality chairman for the Tuesday Group. On Mrs. Schenk's committee are Mrs. John Bledsoe, Mrs. Malcolm Bennett, Mrs. F. E. Five Winchester Girl Scouts of Troop 44, Dodie Clark, Nancy Bradley, Margy McCreery, Catherine Ayer and Cynthia Ahlfors, visited the Star pressroom on Monday afternoon. The girls, all working for their Journalist Badge, inspected the Star press, Linotypes and other machines used in the production of a newspaper.

SKI CLUB MEETS

Old friends and new were greeted by President Nault at Chamois Ski Club's first meeting of the season at Chandler's barn on October 10.

Program Chairman Greeno outlined the plans for this year's activities. The first big date to remember is Wednesday, November 7 — our big ski movie. At the Winchester High School auditorium that evening you will be thrilled by "Alpine Ski Tracks". Win Potter, A. M. C. will be the narrator.

We were delightfully entertained by a good film of skiing at Sun Valley, starring the head of the Ski School there, Friedl Pfeiffer. We learned not only a little of Pfeiffer's technique but also some do's and don'ts in choosing ski equipment and clothing. Refreshments, delicious doughnuts and the cool cider, were served by Mesdames Low and Koch. You don't have to wait for snow to fall in Winchester — come on up to Chandlers Barn and join the fun now.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS TO PRESENT "THE TWO MRS. CARROLLS"

The Unitarian Players are fortunate in having three actresses with professional experience to head up a group of enthusiastic amateurs in their coming play, Friday and Saturday evenings, November 2nd and 3rd, in Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church.

The play is "The Two Mrs. Carrolls," a mystery by Martin Vale, which has had successful runs in London and on Broadway.

Paulette Taggert, who plays the lead as the second Mrs. Carroll, has played in summer stock, done radio work and directed plays.

WINCHESTER AMONG BUILDING LEADERS

Winchester is among the ten Massachusetts cities and towns with populations of more than 10,000 having the highest rate of new home building this year, according to a study just published by the State Planning Board. Top ten are Agawam, percentage of increase, 5.64 percent; Natick, 5.11 percent; Norwood, 4.7 percent; Needham, 4.5 percent; Lexington, 4.33 percent; Peabody, 4 percent; Woburn, 3.85 percent; Shrewsbury, 3.72 percent; Winchester, 3.2 percent and South Hadley, 3.17 percent.

Reading, with a percentage of 2.69 is 14th among places of more than 10,000 population; Wellesley (2.17) is 15th; Stoneham (2.12) 16th; Wakefield (1.89), 17th; Arlington (1.75), 18th; Billerica (1.75), 19th; and Andover, (1.69), 20th.

Over all there has been less building this year than last but the value of all building is up 5.8 percent. Even in residential building where the number of units was off 25 percent, the value was off only 1.9 percent.

Winchester's new dwelling units for eight months in 1950 numbered 115; in 1951, 132. The town's dwelling units per 1,000 of population are 8.48.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION PRESENTS HAL & RUBY HOLBROOK

At 8:30 on the evening of November 8th Hal and Ruby Holbrook will make their first appearance in Winchester. This talented and versatile young couple have just completed a spectacular tour of the West Coast where they were met everywhere with great enthusiasm.

They are great artists and the fact that they have presented more than 500 engagements in over 40 states and Canada, including frequent return engagements, makes them no new comers to the stage.

As Norman S. Nadel Drama Critic of the Columbus Ohio Citizen says, "Hal and Ruby Holbrook are completely devoted to the theater — good theater. Their singleness of purpose is something amazing and admirable to watch. They do not content themselves with merely acting out the great play scenes in their extensive repertoire. Rather, they first study the characterizations, probing deep to uncover every emotional and intellectual aspect of a role. It is obvious that they love what they are doing — that the theatre, for them, means a whale of a good time. That enthusiasm carries over to the audiences, and lends an added brightness to the Holbrooks' performances."

The Holbrooks reveal by startling changes, make-up, and characterization, a handful of great personalities caught at some high point in their lives. To each of them they bring a fresh insight and vitality that seems to make them live again for a few brief moments.

For your convenience tickets will be on sale on Tuesday, October 30th all day at Mary Spaulding's Book Shop and Filene's or call Mrs. M. L. Sears, Winchester 6-2824.

HOLY YEAR PILGRIMAGE FOR PEACE SUNDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1951

Under the sponsorship of Winchester Council No. 210, Knights of Columbus, a Holy Year pilgrimage for peace, to gain a jubilee indulgence, was conducted for its members and for the parishioners of St. Mary's and the Immaculate Conception churches of Winchester, on Sunday, October 21.

The pilgrimage opened at 2:30 p. m. in St. Mary's church, when Council Chaplain, Fr. O'Riordan, gave a brief outline of the reasons for the pilgrimage and an explanation of the conditions necessary to gain the jubilee indulgence.

After reciting the Holy Year prayers in St. Mary's church, the pilgrimage traveled by motorcade, escorted by the Winchester Police Department, to the Immaculate Conception church. From the Immaculate Conception church, the pilgrimage traveled to St. Charles' church and St. Joseph's church in Woburn, escorted by the Woburn Police Department. At St. Joseph's church the Holy Year prayers were recited during benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

TWO MONTHS 'TIL CHRISTMAS

Again this year the American Red Cross is sponsoring a Christmas on the High Seas project for those of our troops who will be where they cannot receive family gifts. The gifts you provide through Chapters are placed aboard troop ships at ports of embarkation and distributed on Christmas Day. This year embarkation will occur on both coasts.

This is a program which should appeal not only to individuals but to clubs, service groups and other organizations in our community. Gifts contributed by them may be identified by cards bearing the name of the donors.

For the sake of uniformity, each package should have the same intrinsic value of approximately $2.50. You may take as few or as many as you like. Shipments must reach their destination by November 20, so we should receive the packages in the Red Cross office two weeks before that date, on November 6th.

Please call the Red Cross office for the list of items best suited for the Servicemen. Winchester 6-2300.

LESTER C. GUSTIN JR.

CIVIL DEFENSE APPOINTMENTS

Director of Civil Defense James W. Blackham announces this week the appointment of Lester C. Gustin, Jr., as Deputy Director of Civil Defense, succeeding Gerald Y. Hills; also the appointment of Angelo L. Maietta, M. D., as Assistant Director in charge of the Medical and Health Division, succeeding Milton J. Quinn, M. D.

Deputy Director Gustin is manager and vice-president of the Winchester Arms, Inc., also New England Representative of the Macomber Steel Co. He is a veteran of World War II and at present holds the rank of Lt. Col., U. S. A. R., Corps of Engineers, Division Engineer of the 94th Infantry Division and Commander of the 319th Combat Engineer Battalion. He is a past commander of Winchester Post No. 97, the American Legion. Mr. Gustin has for some time shown keen interest in, and offered such constructive help to Civil Defense planning that the Organization is fortunate to obtain his services in his new official capacity.

Assistant Director Maietta, besides maintaining his active Winchester practice and serving on the staff of the Winchester Hospital, is also Chief of the Allergy Clinic at Carney Hospital. Early in World War II, he led the First Aid Division of Winchester's Civil Defense, training a large number of First Aid Workers. Later in uniform, he was a Captain in the Medical Corps, commanding a front-line Medical Detachment from "Omaha" beach on D-Day to the Battle of the Bulge, and received the Bronze Star and numerous campaign ribbons. The Doctor is now a Major in the Honorary Reserve. He is also a former member of the board of Directors, Winchester Red Cross.

Mr. Hills continues in the Civil Defense organization, now concentrating entirely on First Aid training, to which he has generously given so much of his time in organizing and supervising classes.

Dr. Quinn's professional responsibilities have lately increased to such extent that he cannot give Civil Defense the time and attention he feels it properly requires, and has therefore relinquished his divisional responsibilities.

Other recent additions to the Civil Defense organization's staff will be included in a revised list to be published in the near future.

SULPHUR OUT OF SUNKEN FREIGHTER

Bryne Doing Difficult Job at Cape Cod Canal

Former Selectman George M. Bryne of Copley street, widely known marine contractor, is making progress on the difficult job of salvaging the big freighter, "Arizona Sword" which was sunk May 5 in the Cape Cod Canal near the Cape Cod entrance following a collision with another ship. The ship, which is heading toward Buzzard's Bay lies in a bad position, listing to port, with 35 feet of water at her stern and 61 feet at her bow. She was carrying 18,000 tons of sulphur.

At the time of the sinking the owners of the vessel and of the cargo turned the matter of salvage over to the Insurance Company, which in turn decided the hull and cargo were not worth the salvage effort, turning the whole business over to the government engineers.

The Government was chiefly interested in getting the ship out of the Canal and asked bids for the salvage, Mr. Bryne bidding in both ship and cargo for $227,000. It is now his job to remove both from the waters of the Canal.

Already he has removed the sulphur, getting the last of it out the latter part of last week. The quantity has shrunk little if any, and the sulphur is in good condition. It was removed from the sunken hull with a huge "clam-shell" bucket suspended from a big crane, mounted on a barge which was moored beside the sunken freighter. Before this could be undertaken the freighter had to be secured with wire cables to prevent capsizing.

Once out of the hull, the sulphur was dumped in another barge, freighted ashore and piled up on the bank opposite the wreck. On good days, Mr. Bryne's expert crews got out as many as 550 pounds of the valuable chemical.

Mr. Bryne's next problem is to raise the sunken boat, and this will be a difficult task, because of the water currents, tides, amount of water and the position of the hulk. In talking to the Star Mr. Bryne said he is not at all sure it will be possible to get the vessel up whole, and it may be necessary to cut it up for removal from the Canal. If this has to be done dynamite will be used to cut the steel plates of the vessel, this being a very effective way to do work of this kind.

WANTED MAN CAUGHT HERE

A man wanted by the Arlington Police for an alleged break in that town was picked up Wednesday afternoon on Cambridge street by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Police Department, not long after local Headquarters received a report from Arlington stating the wanted man was headed toward this town.

Leaving word for Officer Alfred Poole, who was on duty in the Highlands, to follow him as soon as possible to the west side of town, Sgt. Cassidy was driven to Cambridge street by Constable Joseph T. Callahan of Russell road. As they left Cambridge street they saw a man answering to the description of the party wanted by the Arlington Police leaving the grounds of the Everett Reed home at 70 Cambridge street.

Sgt. Cassidy immediately took the man into custody, questioning him upon his activities in Winchester. Apparently he had visited several houses in the vicinity of the Reed home asking for fictitious residents when his rings at the door bells were answered.

He gave his name to Sgt. Cassidy as Enclyde Joseph Bellerose, 20, of 80 Carolyn street, Lowell, and said he had formerly been in the Army. He was turned over to the Arlington Police, nine members of that force arriving on the scene with Officer Poole soon after Sgt. Cassidy's arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hrenchuk of Woburn announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Hrenchuk, to Mr. Elliot Parker Melzar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Melzar of Wilmington and "Oakwood" Boothbay Harbor, Maine.

Miss Hrenchuk attended the Choate School of Nursing and the University of Pennsylvania. She is now the Operating Room Supervisor at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. Melzar, a member of the Boothbay Harbor Yacht Club, attended Tufts College and the Massachusetts Nautical School. He served three years with the Navy, and holds the rank of lieutenant in the United Stated Naval Reserve.

HOLDUP ON GROVE STREET

Gunmen Assaulted and Robbed Man Near Home

While on his way home from Wedgemere Station last Friday evening George R. Grant, 63, of 41 Grove street, was held up by two men, assaulted and robbed of a considerable sum of money.

The holdup took place on Grove street near the entrance to Grove Place. Mr. Grant, who is now a guard at the Veterans' Hospital in West Roxbury and was formerly a chief bos'n's mate in the Navy, told the police he noticed no one when he alighted from the 6:15 P. M. train at Wedgemere and had no impression of being followed as he proceeded along Grove street.

He told the Police that the two men leaped from bushes and announced they were holding him up. The older and larger of the two men had a gun, according to Mr. Grant, and as he pulled back from the pair, the gunman struck him over the head with his weapon. Mr. Grant grasped his assailant's coat and struggled with him, the holdup man striking him about the head and arms as he tried to fight him off.

As he was struggling with the larger of the holdup men, the other slipped behind him and ripped his wallet from his trousers, tearing both his trousers and coat. Mr. Grant was beaten to the ground and his assailants took to their heels down Grove Place. Donald Pooler of Grove Place and his wife drove up in time to see Mr. Grant on the ground and the men running away, Mr. Pooler giving chase while his wife called the Police.

Meanwhile Mr. Grant staggered the hundred yards or so to his home, where a second call was made to Headquarters. He was treated by Dr. Nelson Fontneau for cuts and bruises about the head and one arm, while the Police were broadcasting an alarm and description of the two men. One of the men was said to be about 20 years old and the other between 30 and 35.

SAYS BROOKS ATKINSON

"The Devil's Disciple" is the best of the current productions — braggadocio in a comic way, and disdainfully witty in the last act." Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times wrote of the play when it appeared in New York last year. "From a technical point of view, "The Devil's Disciple" is a romantic play . . . and plunges with flamboyant theatricals. Dick Dudgeon affronts the virtuous, protects the helpless, sacrifices himself gallantly for the fair lady, and behaves like the hero of a romance. It is a romantic masterpiece. Also very fat theatre."

Played by Dr. Eugene Pollard, in the Parish Players' production November 8, 9, 10 in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire. See coming events.

"IMMACS"

On Columbus Day the Girls' Championship Drill Team journeyed to Stoneham to participate in a parade and competition sponsored by the C. Y. O. and Knights of Columbus of that town. As usual, the girls made a splendid showing in the parade. There was a competition held after the parade and the "Champs" came in on top again, beating teams from Salem, Cambridge and Quincy.

The boys Drum and Bugle Corps had made arrangements to participate in a parade held in Beverly prior to the announcement that Stoneham was to have one. The boys performed in a fine style and were given a great ovation for their wonderful performance. The boys led the field in Beverly, being the top corps at this event. The program was sponsored by the United Italian Associations of Beverly. The association dedicated a plaque at the Innocente Memorial Park in honor of twelve veterans of World War II who lost their lives in the service of our country.

On Sunday, October 15th both groups went to Braintree. This event was originally planned for September 23rd but due to the weather had to be held over.

The Boys Corps won over St. Mary's of Beverly by a good margin in the maneuvering division. These two corps are considered the best in the area and a friendly spirit of rivalry exists between them.

The girls again walked away with top honors as they have all season. There were a total of seventeen units participating at Braintree and they made a beautiful picture on the field when massed for review and presentation of awards and trophies.

On Wednesday evening the 17th the Girls and Boys were the guests of Rev. Fr. H. K. Driscoll, the pastor, at a dinner dance held at the Bear-Hill Country Club of Stoneham. The group arrived at 7 p. m. and enjoyed a fine evening with the pastor as host. After dinner, dancing was enjoyed by the group until midnight. They then all went to their respective homes, a tired but happy group of "Champs". If an award were possible, for the best appearing, and marching, pastor chaplin of a unit, we believe that Fr. Driscoll would win the top honors. He has never missed a parade or competition that the group has participated in. The corps and drill team are proud of their pastor and are grateful for all he has made possible. On to '52" "Immacs."

Miss Mary K. Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Johnston, 24 Fletcher street, has been elected secretary of the sophomore class at Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio.

BAY STATE HISTORICAL LEAGUE

The Historical Society of Old Abington (including Rockland and Whitman) was host to the Bay State Historical League on Saturday, October 20.

The wonderful autumn foliage made the trip short and pleasant. On arriving at the Dyer Memorial Library, built for the headquarters of the Historical Society, ladies in lovely old-fashioned costumes gave information concerning the furniture and unusual items in the various collections in the five rooms.

The Abolutionists met every year from 1846-65 at Island Grove, which is now a beautiful park with the Memorial Bridge and the stone arch dedicated to the memory of Abington Civil War heroes.

The meeting was held in the new Abington High School Hall, with Commissioner Thomas H. Buckley welcoming the League with some highlights of the early life in the community.

William D. Coughlan, President of the Society, read a very interesting paper on "Abington, an Outpost of Plymouth Plantation", giving its history as well as its religious, military, industrial, and educational activities with many humorous anecdotes. Andrew Ford was the first settler. Another very early settler was Aaron Hobart, a famous bell-maker, who later sent a son to teach Paul Revere that art. Hobart also cast the first cannon in North America.

At the close of the meeting delicious cider and doughnuts were served from a long Hallowe'en decked table.

The Winchester Historical Society was represented by the President, Miss Clara Russell, Mrs. P. J. Glendon, the Misses Susie Gustin, Eleanor and Louise Banerofft.

DARTMOUTH WOMEN'S CLUB FASHION SHOW

Members of the Dartmouth Women's Club are taking an active interest in the plans for a fashion show and dessert to be sponsored by the Club November 15th at 2:00 p. m. at the Copley Plaza Hotel ballroom, Boston.

Fashions for the show will be modelled by the Hart Models. The clothes featured will be those designed for street wear, afternoon and evening wear, as well as leisure hour clothes for at-home entertaining and television entertaining. Furs will also be shown including stoles, capes and full length coats.

This will be the one big project of the club for the season and it will benefit the club's scholarship fund. For the past two years the club has contributed one thousand dollars annually to it.

Make your reservations by calling Mrs. Peter F. Gregson, Winchester 6-1552, or Mrs. Harold W. England, Winchester 6-0772.

Winchester boys, who are freshmen at Dartmouth this year, include William P. Forrester of 5 Lawrence street, Elliott Horsey of 29 Woodside road, and John A. Roeray of 6 Aleswarth street. Hersey graduated from Winchester High School, Forrester from the Lenox School and Roeray from Hebron Academy.

SNELL PROMOTED

Richard G. Snell of 69 Woodside road has just been promoted to Staff Sergeant in the United States Air Force.

Richard, who is a graduate of Winchester High School is now stationed at Rapid City Air Force Base, Weaver, South Dakota. Prior to his transfer there in June, he was, for the past two years, an instructor in Radio Operations at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Mississippi. He is expected home November 15th for a fifteen day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert N. Snell.

Last Friday night's alarm from Box 32 at 10:05 was for what was believed to be a fire at the Beggs & Cobb Tannery on Swanton street. The firemen found steam leaking from the boiler room, but no fire.

PARKHURST SCHOOL TEAS

The Parkhurst fifth grade tea for Mrs. Jane Kirkpatrick was held on Thursday afternoon, October 18, at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Sibley, 2 Penn road. A corsage of yellow chrysanthemums was presented to Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

The mothers enjoyed hearing Mrs. Kirkpatrick express her plans for the year in which she emphasized the importance of reading.

A tea for Miss Nerissa Purington the first grade teacher, was given on Thursday afternoon, October 18, at the home of Mrs. David Burnham, 23 Indian Head road.

Miss Purington, who received a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums, talked informally with the mothers of her pupils discussing the aims of the first grade. She pointed out one of the main aims in teaching the first grade is self expression.

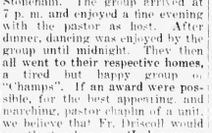

Mrs. David Burnham and her committee including Mrs. Ellsworth Nichols, Mrs. Ernest Sacsett, Mrs. Richard Swanson, Mrs. Carl Pynn and Mrs. Bertram Dube served refreshments. Mrs. Richard Swanson poured.

READING HERE TOMORROW

Once-Beaten Rockets Will Test Indians

Reading High comes to Manchester Field Saturday afternoon to threaten Winchester's unbeaten untied football record and its stand ing at the head of Class B in the Boston sportswriters football ratings.

The visitors will be up for this one, needless to say, and the Indians will need to come whooping from their wigwam on the Aberjona to turn back the Rockets, who for the past two years have beaten Winchester; being the only school in some time to defeat the locals twice in a row.

Winchester ought to be about ready to "get" this Saturday. Last week against admittedly weak Framingham the Indians showed flashes of their early-season class as they did at Stoneham during the second half of their game with a good Stoneham club. That they could win from Stoneham while below their peak is a tribute to the locals' potentialities.

How much better Reading will be than teams like Milton, Watertown, Winthrop and Stoneham is a fair question. The Rockets and Indians have played one team in common, Swampscott, Reading beating the Sculpins, 19 - 6; and Winchester setting them back, 28 - 7. The locals could have run up a bigger score, perhaps Reading could have too.

Comparing again, Reading lost to Woburn, 19 - 7, and the Tanners were beaten by Winthrop, 12 - 7. Winchester rolled over Winthrop, 21 - 0, and really trounced the Beach City boys

Comparative scores mean little in objective games, but there is nothing in their pre-game record at least to make the Rockets look like the best team Winchester has faced. Besides their Swampscott and Woburn games the visitors have beaten Wellesley, 14 - 0; Punchard, 27 - 6; and Johnson of Andover, 40 - 0. Winchester's victims, Milton, Swampscott, Watertown, Winthrop, Stoneham and Framingham make up a stronger group than Reading has faced, with the exception of Woburn.

Winchester will miss "Prep Keyes, veteran left guard, on Saturday. He is definitely out with a cracked rib, and Coach Knowlton has been trying various boys this week in an effort to find a suitable replacement. It may be that "Dave" Keniston, veteran right tackle, will move over to Keyes guard slot, at least on defence.

On the brighter side, Jimmy Griffin, speedy fullback, will be back for Reading which should help a lot since Jimmy comes pretty close to being the key man in the local offense, taking nothing away from big "Jocko" Scricka, Bob Johnson and Just Michelson.

Winchester will have to play ball to take this Reading team, but in the nature of things the Indians ought to be about ready to have their tomahawks Saturday.

WINCHESTER HARRIERS OUTLEGGED REVERE

Close Dual Meet Season Undefeated

The Winchester Cross Country team finished its dual meet schedule with a shut out victory 15 to 50 over Revere and a forfeit win from Essex Aggies as they were unable to field a team.

The closing meet was a smashing one for the locals as the red and black poured 10 runners over the finish line before DiConti of the visitors arrived in the 11th spot.

The race started with several Winchester runners taking the lead positions while only one Revere man seemed able to keep the torrid pace. As they entered the long trail toward Hillcrest Parkway the top runners began to spread out with the red shirted Winchester men in a solid front-running block. Starting back toward the finish Pete Coon and Charlie Murphy assumed command with Pete taking over the lead as Charlie developed a rib cramp. It soon became apparent that this was one of Coon's best days and the race was against the clock. He raced over the last hill and entered the last 300 yards where he really took off to break the course record by 8 seconds in 15:20. This effort was a fitting climax as Pete was only beaten once this year.

Captain Murphy finished second still troubled by the cramp. Charlie has been a capable leader this year and a most dependable performer never finishing below third place in any meet. Bob Nelson proved a pleasant surprise as he moved into the third spot for the first time. Les Godwin nosed out Doug Hawkins for 4th position as these two men completed the scoring for Winchester.

The Junior Varsity also won their sixth in a row as they shut out Revere 15 to 50. Farrell was the first man in this race.

Three big meets now face the local runners with the Pilgrim Division meet at Essex Aggies on October 23 the next objective to be followed by MCCL meet at Tufts, October 27 and the State Meet at Franklin Park, November 3rd.

First 16 finishers:

1. Coon 15:30 (New Record)
2. Murphy
3. Nelson
4. Rush
5. Godwin
6. Hawkins
7. Mayoney
8. Farrell

WINCHESTER, 32; FRAMINGHAM, 15

Winchester High added Framingham to its football victims list Saturday afternoon at Manchester Field, winning 32 - 15, for its sixth straight victory.

Statistically Winchester made nine first downs to three for Framingham, rushed for 208 yards to 126 for the Blue and Gray, and completed four of nine passes for 121 yards and two touchdowns. Framingham completed four of 12 passes for 29 yards and a touchdown and had two of its aerials intercepted, once for a touchdown that was nullified by a queer-enough double personal foul penalty and the other time for a near touchdown that missed by not more than a couple of yards. Winchester lost 45 yards in penalties, Framingham losing 20. Winchester fumbled once, recovering, while Framingham recovered one of its two bobbles.

The game was costly for Winchester as Prescott Keyes, veteran guard, sustained a cracked rib on one of the first plays of the afternoon and may be lost for the season. "Jimmy Griffin, star fullback, also missed the entire game with a rib injury, reducing both the offensive and defensive strength of the team considerably.

Winchester's first touchdown was set up when Lentine recovered a fumble midway through the first quarter on the Framingham 25. Dick Errico, who replaced Griffin at fullback, jammed through to the 13, and immediately got back a five-yard offside penalty with another smash at the line. From the 12 Scricka easily went over around his own right end. Errico kicked the goal.

Framingham kicked to Donlon at Winchester's 36 just before the second quarter and as the teams changed goals Errico, in two rushes, made first down at the Framingham 46. Three plays later Michelson circled end for 24 yards and a first down at the 20.

Errico again got back a five yard back-in-motion penalty, and from the 20 Michelsen got away around right end for the touchdown, Errico missing the placement.

Winchester's third touchdown came just before the half on two plays after Carter had kicked to Donlon at the Framingham 28. Scricka arched a long pass to Flaherty, who was hauled down on the Framingham 14, and then Michelsen passed to Atkinson who made a corking catch of a partially deflected ball in the end zone. Errico kicked in the extra point.

Framingham scored early in the third quarter after Bellino recovered a muffed punt at the Winchester two. Errico got two, but on the next play, Scricka was cut down behind the goal line for a safety as he attempted to circle the visitors left flank.

Carter ran Errico's free kick back to the 50, and on second down Dexter threw a pass out in the left flat. Scricka came up fast, intercepted the ball and easily outlegged the opposition into the end zone.

His great effort was nullified by a double personal foul called after the play had been completed when Don Rizzo finally decided he'd have to defend himself from a savage-fisticuffs attack by one of the Framingham players.

Donlon fumbled a Framingham punt, but recovered at his 11 toward the end of the third quarter and Scricka's punt reached the Framingham 45. With a 25 yard pass from Dexter to Greeley helping plenty Framingham advanced to the 10 as the teams changed goals for the final period.

Here Dexter passed out to the right to Greeley, who was tackled just about the line of scrimmage, but lateralled to Cascidilni, who sprinted into the end zone for a touchdown. Carter's kick was no good.

Winchester struck right back, Johnson ran and bulled the kickoff back to midfield where Scricka arched an actual forty yard pass down field to Flaherty. Bobby grabbed the ball at the 20, juggled it, and straightened out to go all the way. Errico failed again at placement.

With the seconds operating, a promising Winchester advance was spoiled by two penalties and finally on fourth down at midfield "Stu" Thomson faded to pass, decided to run, then decided to pass and tossed an aerial from just inside the original line of scrimmage. Ineligible receivers were down field on the play, however, and Winchester lost 15 yards as well as the ball, Framingham taking over at the Winchester 35. Carter immediately broke off Winchester's right tackle and outlegged both Wheaton and Thomson into the end zone for the easiest touchdown scored against Winchester all season. Carter kicked the goal this time, and the aroused Winchester varsity went back to work.

Scricka got the kickoff back to his 30, John on ruled through for 15 and Scricka fought his way to the Framingham 21. From here Errico ousted off his left tackle and smashed and dodged into the end zone. He couldn't add the extra point, however.

Errico's kickoff forced Framingham back to its goal line and on the final play of the game Freddy Wheaton intercepted a Dexter pass thrown from the 13, getting back to the two yard line before being knocked out of bounds by little Casciolini whom a couple of blockers couldn't put out of the play.

Congratulations to our contemporary, the Woburn Daily Times, which on Sunday, October 21, observed its 50th anniversary; and personal congratulations to the paper's esteemed editor, Mr. James D. Haggerty, who published the first edition of the "Times" and is still actively engaged as its editor and publisher. It has been largely through his vision, efforts and integrity that the paper has assumed the strong position it enjoys, not only in its home City of Woburn but in surrounding cities and towns. The "Star's" relations with the "Times" have always been of the friendliest sort and so it is especially pleasing to congratulate its editor upon his past achievement and to extend our own best wishes for his continued success. Good work, Jim! May you and the "Times" continue in health and prosperity!

WINCHESTER THE BEAUTIFUL

You Own It

Winchester has been called Boston's Finest Suburb. Beautiful at all times of year, it is now garbed in intoxicating color. When you have returned from your color ride through the country, perhaps you have exclaimed with others that you saw nothing all day so beautiful as your own home town. Its trees; its ponds and lakes; its topography upon two hills and across its charming valley; its lovely homes and well kept grounds give it the setting of a gem. Bordering on one of the most beautiful natural reservations in the United States is a feature many cities would pay millions to acquire. Drive along its Border road; drive up beautiful Wedgemere avenue; swing around the Country Club — keep going; take an hour to see your town. Pride that you are a part of it is yours for the asking.

Add to this Winchester's good government, churches, and school system and its shopping facilities; its 21 parks and playgrounds and one realizes the thought, care, and foresight our town's forefathers exercised in giving it its projected growth.

Owning part of this gem is sound investment because it is good living. Whoever comes to this town to live; to visit; or drives through it, exclaims "What a beautiful town!" But the joy of being part of it is that combined with its beauty is its functional value, for everything works together for good living and good citizenship in a democratic and sociable atmosphere. Children love it as much as do their parents, for every wholesome thing is provided for them.

Nothing is really beautiful which does not combine usefulness and comfort and adequacy with esthetics. In that sense Winchester is really beautiful; and he who owns part of it has a share in worth which exceeds material values, for Winchester indeed offers its citizens more than any other Boston suburb; and its citizens today are ever alert to keep it that way.

"FACTUAL MATERIAL" ON FLUORIDATION

Editor of the Star:

In view of the current discussion regarding fluoridation of public drinking water in Winchester, I thought you might be interested to see the enclosed clippings from the Christian Science Monitor which contribute factual material from different sources. Some of the statements may be quite controversial, but the articles are based on the appraisal of several organizations is urging wide-spread adoption of the idea. Pro and disadvantages are either not mentioned or minimized. This program is being pushed with all the vigor of a political campaign. Shortly, you may see their new movie to be released by Warner-Pathe News, Inc. To date, one hundred and five towns, more than one-half of which are in the State of Wisconsin, have accepted fluoridation. This has been done with little knowledge of the possible consequences — a very disturbing fact.

Yours, sincerely,
(Miss) Katherine W. Masters
7 Lewis road

A Natural Science correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor for October 3 quotes a Springfield dentist, Dr. Harold R. Lamb, who found as the result of independent investigation of fluoridation of water that authorities in cities which have used fluoridation the longest are quite contradictory to the claims made by the advocates of this project.

Among statements received from experts during the past year, the Michigan State Board of Health, last August said, "Hopeful as we are, we have not yet noted any significant reduction in dental decay among the children." During the same month Dr. Lamb quotes Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins University as saying, "This method of preventing, in some measure, the high incidence of dental caries, is in the experimental stage. So far as I am aware, it has not been found to be effective where it has been tried."

The essence of the expert criticism against fluoridation of water is that it is needless compulsory medication and thus an infringement of an individual's freedom of choice, that it is a potential danger due to possible poisonous effects, and finally, that there is lack of sufficient research and understanding of what is involved.

The poisonous effect of fluoridation could easily come from an upsetting of the natural biochemical balance, experts say, so that persons having sources of fluorine intake other than the drinking water, such as certain foods or occupational hazards, could exceed the "safe" limits water authorities have in mind when they fluoridate a water supply. There may also be complex interactions with other chemicals that are now completely unknown but that could be a source of trouble. At the recent meetings of the Twelfth International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry Dr. Albert E. Sobel of the biochemistry department of the Jewish Hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y., told of an interaction between the element magnesium and fluorides that could greatly reduce the purported effectiveness of the fluoride treatment and necessitate the reduction of the magnesium intake of persons being served by the fluoridated water, a difficult undertaking since people generally get magnesium from food, which in turn derives it from the soil, and the magnesium content of soil varies widely from place to place.

It is things such as this that the cities have in mind when they point out that water authorities would have to take into account complex chemical relationships, many still unknown, which vary from person to person, in order to safely regulate the fluoridation of public water. In fact they say, since this would require different fluoridation regulation for each individual they don't see how there can be any really safe regulation at all.

Out in San Francisco the voters are going to decide whether they want fluoridation of their water.

Proponents claim research shows that fluoridation shows prevention up to 60 per cent of the decay in children's teeth with no harmful effects. Opponents cite evidence of such harmful effects, especially in older persons.

Opponents quote Dr. George W. Heard, a dentist in Hereford, Texas, where unusual nutritional factors in the soil and water have attracted national attention. Dr. Heard is quoted as saying, "If fluorine in the drinking water is the responsible factor for the reduced incidence of tooth decay in Hereford, why is it, since all our people drink the same water, that any of them have decayed teeth? My investigations indicate, rather, that the difference between these two groups is in the food they use.

A report by experts drafted by the American Water Works Association and printed in the New York Times April 23, 1951, concludes, with some reservations, that fluorine is a deterrent to dental cavities. But it also points out that its use as a mass preventive has "far-reaching physiological implications and would establish a precedent for the future treatment of water supplies as a cure-all for other deficiencies."

C. L. White, city engineer and water superintendent of San Bruno, Cal., reported to his mayor and city council that "To forsake such a policy of providing only potable water and to adopt the policy of supplementation for the promotion of health is to do violence to some people's religious convictions and to some people's health convictions."

OUR DRINKING WATER

In an earlier letter I informed the readers of the Star that there was increasing concern about the possible harmful effects of fluoridation of drinking water and I urged that the benefits be weighed against possible harm. This was followed by a letter from an engineer assuring you that there were no harmful effects. Last week the Star reprinted an article before Consumers Research Bulletin which warned of some dangers in fluoridation. Throughout the nation, this has become a matter of bitter controversy, toward which we seem to be headed in Winchester. Realizing that the issue must seem confusing, I am writing once more hoping thereby to clarify the matter.

Briefly, the situation is this. There is much evidence to show that natural fluorides in drinking water seem to be associated with reducing dental decay. There is now underway in Newburg, New York, a ten-year research program of artificially fluoridating water and after five years it does show promise. Without waiting for the research to be completed and States Public Health Service with millions also according to learn as was demonstrated by Grand Rapids and according ones?

G. Toye, Chairman

FALL STUDY GROUPS ON WORLD GOVERNMENT

The great interest shown in Craig Wyllies talk at the Library a few weeks ago on suggested steps leading to world peace, has encouraged the members of the Winchester Chapter of United World Federalists in having prepared a series of three study groups on World Government. A number of people at the Library that night signed up to participate in these discussions in order to learn more about the various phases of this subject.

And in connection with this, the Robert Williams', who have done so much to spark this Winchester group, officially rang in United Nations Week by opening their house last Sunday evening to anyone interested in hearing a recording of "After Korea — what?"

The following is a list of subjects and dates of this study group series:

Tuesday, October 30 at 7:45 p. m. The Relative Value of Different Agencies Working for World Government: Facts about each one and the advantages and disadvantages of each.

Tuesday, November 13 at 7:45 p. m. The United Nations and World Government.

Tuesday, November 27 at 7:45 p. m. The Purposes and Policies of United World Federalists.

Each meeting will be under the leadership of one committee of five members of the Winchester Chapter. You are invited to enroll for this series of group studies. New names will be received until we have reached the limit of membership fixed by the committee.

Mrs. Winslow Smith, 329 Highland avenue, WInchester 6-0819-R.

Mr. John L. Lobingier, 4 Manchester road, WInchester 6-1407-W.

WORK DAYS FOR CHRIST

One hundred forty-six young people of the Senior Forum, youth group of the First Congregational Church, have pledged themselves to work and earn $200 on November 2 and 3 to be given to Missions in Mexico and islands of the South Pacific and the building of new churches in new communities of the United States. People of the community may help by giving employment to these young people on one or both of those days. They will rake yards, wash windows, wash cars, clean house, wash and wax floors, clean silver, take down screens, put on storm windows, do baby-sitting, or any other job that is asked for that is within their ability.

For over a month the young people have been looking forward to these days, planning and promoting them. Richard Fernandez and Judith Harmon have been co-chairmen of the committee and are working hard for 100% participation by Forum members.

Anyone needing work done may call Dick Fernandez, WInchester 6-0831; Judy Harmon, WInchester 6-1981 or the Church School Office WInchester 6-1056. Last year with this kind of effort the young people earned $280 which they gave to the Boston City Missionary Society.

"GREAT BOOKS" GROUP HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The first Fall meeting of the "Great Books" reading group got off to a stimulating start at the Library on Thursday evening, October 18 with a wide-open discussion of Pascal's Pensees. This eighteenth century religious philosopher was an excellent target for those with opposing views and the questioning was vigorous regarding Pascal's thoughts on this ever-controversial subject of religion and philosophy.

The "Great Books" group welcomes any and all new members. If you're not sure you would like to join but would like to visit, by all means come and sit in on a session or two and find out how stimulating an informal discussion of this kind can be.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening, November 1 at 7 o'clock in the Library. The book for discussion and to find out more about it please call Mrs. Thomas Halloran at WInchester 6-0631.

NURSE'S AIDES

How would you look in the uniform of a nurse's aide? Think now. Blue pinafore, white shirt, blue cap, red and white Red Cross sleeve insignia and pin . . . as attractive in its field of service as a Christian Dior in the field of fashion. And the service of nurse's aides is urgently needed . . . needed now. You can help. What are the requirements? Eighty hours of training by the Red Cross including supervised practice in a hospital learning to apply classroom experience to actual situations. Get complete details regarding nurse's aid training from your Red Cross chapter here in Winchester. A class is being formed. Why not call now . . . WI 6-2000? Or Mrs. William F. WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO THE A. S. M. E.

The Women's Auxiliary to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Boston Section, will meet on Thursday, November 1, at 2:00 P.M., in the Phillips Brooks House, Harvard Square, Cambridge. Mr. Leslie Browning of S. S. Pierce Co. will lecture and give a food demonstration. His subject is "Fine Foods, a Fine Art." Tea will be served after the lecture.

NOT THAT GOOD!

Editor of the Star:

I read your play by play account of the Winchester - Milton football Game and thought that it was very good. However, near the end of the paragraph about the band the writer mentioned that the base section could hardly equal "Big Joe's" playing of the huge tuba (this is, by the way, a sousaphone) in the radio performance you also said that few, amateur or professional, could approach "Big Joe", anyhow. I would like to ask the writer if he really thinks that "Big Joe" is really good enough to beat many professional sousaphone players and if so why he believes this. I grant you that he is good, but not that good.

Sincerely yours,

A former member of the Band

Ed. Note: — We are always glad to hear from former High school bandsmen, even though as in the present case, they may be giving us a bit of a razz. We do think "Big Joe" is good enough to stand out among bass players, though this is merely our opinion, just as our correspondent's opinion seems to be that he is not. We could, of course, ask "former member" why he doesn't think "Big Joe" is that good, as he has asked us why we think he is, and after all it would have to boil down to personal opinion, for so far as we know there has never been any open contest for bass players, and not likely to be. So we will just string along with "Big Joe" and his "tuba". That's what the announcer calls it, and it could be a tuba, not a sousaphone, which we know is one of those over-the-shoulder jobs with the bell up and facing forward. That type of horn used to be called a helicon, before they changed its design and named it in honor of the great John Philip Sousa. Come again, any time, "Former Member of the Band". We are told you are now doing well with your horn in the service. Congratulations and best wishes for your continued success!

WINCHESTER SCHOOL PARENTS

Editor of the Star:

On Tuesday evening the writer met with the School Committee, Dr. Forbes Norris, Mr. Wade Grindle, Mr. Raymond Dickman and Mr. Norton Densey, to lay before them certain findings, after interviewing some 300 young men about to enter the Armed Forces.

It was most encouraging to me to find the School Committee so deeply interested not only in the future of these boys, but as to whether or not they are receiving adequate instruction in the schools. I have always found the people in our School System completely cooperative, keenly aware of what lies ahead for their boys and anxious to do the best possible job with the facilities at hand.

The writer is interested in only one thing — what is best for the boy? She learns something new about this every day and thought evaluated objectively, the United our townspeople might be interested to know that our School Com-

COMMUNITY SCHOOL GREAT SUCCESS

Monday, October 22nd, the last session of the Community School of Religious Education was held. Many people expressed regret that these meetings were over, and hoped that another year would bring a school equally as fine. The total enrollment was 178, with an average of 134 present each evening.

The evening was most interesting as the various teachers gave the highlights of their particular course before a general assembly in Ripley Chapel.

Mrs. Norman Erb . . . "You Can Teach"

To be a good teacher you must know your pupils, their attitudes and abilities, your Bible and the history of the Christian Church.

Plan your lessons carefully, including activities, pictures, visual aids, telling of the story, and know how to make assignments so as to stimulate interest. Keep in close contact with your parents and working together the home can be a proving ground for your lesson material.

Mrs. Ruth Richards Miller . . . "Creative Activities"

It takes more planning and preparation to be creative but the results are far superior, and using simple materials a child can know the joy of creating, and find a new world by learning to share his creation with others.

Mrs. Norman J. Padelford . . . "Youth Work With Junior High"

In dealing with Junior High pupils one must assume a democratic attitude and recognize their search for independence. They must be guided not repressed, to be taught to share their talents and resources with the world as well as their community.

Rev. Robert A. Storer . . . "Dramatics"

Emphasis was placed on dramatic technique whether used in a worship service, a pageant, or a processional. The use of choric reading, the ability to stand still and to walk rhythmically with music, to use simple costumes with solid blocks of color, and to obtain the best music and materials available, were points stressed by Rev. Storer.

Dr. Lemuel K. Lord . . . "Parents Problems"

The problems of our children are very often the problems within ourselves. There is no short cut to being a good parent. The sooner we re-organize our own lives, the sooner we will be able to solve our children's problems. Love and enjoy your children thoroughly and their feeling of security will overcome most problems.

Many thanks should go to the Refreshment Committee, and especially to Mrs. R. C. Ashenden, Jr., of the First Congregational Church, who graciously helped each member of the committee when it was their turn to entertain. The following people made up this committee:

Mrs. R. C. Ashenden - 1st. Cong.
Mrs. Darrell Harvey - Unitarian
Mrs. Guy Livingston - Epiphany
Mrs. Ray E. Mauger - Epiphany
Mrs. Lois Thompson - Methodist
Mrs. E. H. Garrison - 1st Baptist
Miss Oida Kimbro -

New Hope Baptist
Mrs. Joseph J. Rania - 2nd Cong.
Rev. Donald B. Tarr, Dean of the school, thanked all those who had helped to make this school so successful. The fine fellowship which prevailed, and the splendid program which was presented, should have enriched the lives of all those who attended beyond all measure.

TO PRESENT JULIA

Curtain time is 8:00, Saturday night, October 27, when the Forum Dramatic Club will present "Julia", a comedy in one act. Cast of characters is as follows:

Julia, per gallery flance . . . Ronald MacKenzie
Sarah, her current boy-friend . . . Ronald Woodward
Susan, her girl friend . . . Jacqueline Sylvester
Veronica, a girl friend . . . Sarah Woodruff
Herbert, her father . . . Ronald Ayer
Mrs. Minnie . . . Ann Peter

The stage crew is under the direction of Paul Leverette, who is assisted by Judith Cunningham, John Gould, Constance Gowdy and Ann Titilah. The play is being directed by Janet Archibald.

Following the play there will be a juke-box dance under the chairmanship of Ronald MacKenzie and Judith Higgins. All High School young people of the community are welcome.

BAPTIST WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The November meeting of the Women's League of the First Baptist Church on Thursday, November 1st, will be preceded by White Cross sewing from 10 a. m. to 12, under the direction of Mrs. Frederick S. Emery. The chairman for the luncheon to be served at noon is Mrs. Edward H. Newhall.

The afternoon program will be the presentation of a playlet entitled "Mrs. Pickett's Love Gift" by Florence Carlisle Payne, wife of the minister of the Wakefield Baptist Church, Rev. H. Glenn Payne. Mrs. Payne has been active in Baptist work in Massachusetts for the past sixteen years, and is a well known soloist in both Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Miss Hulda Ekdahl will conduct the devotional period and the Love Gift offering will be taken.

TO ADDRESS THE FORUM

Sunday, October 28, will be observed by the young people of the First Congregational Church, as Forum Sunday at Church. Members of the Forum and their friends will attend the morning church service in a body sitting together in the balcony. Douglas Hawkins, Treasurer of the Forum, will be the chaplain. Robert Wiklund as Head Usher will be assisted by Roger Bainbridge, Allan Cairncross, Kendall Cleaves, William Jesdale, William Kelly, and Harry Thomas. David Keniston is in charge of the boys who will receive the offering and will be assisted by George Bedford Camp, Leverett Cleaves, Thomas Ordway, David Pratt, and Robert Traut. Dr. Chidley will speak to the young people on "Footmen and Horsemen."

At 5:00 the young people will assemble in Ripley Chapel for a movie, "The Waking Giant", describing mission work in Mexico. Refreshments will be served by a committee under the chairmanship of Carolyn Stone and Judith Swan, assisted by Mrs. Everett Stone.

A treat is in store for the young people with an address by Rev. Robert Little, pastor of the Dane Street Congregational Church in Beverly, on the subject, "Techniques of Friendship." Mr. Little is well remembered for an address last spring on the "Do's and Dont's of Dating," and the young people are eager to hear him again.

The evening will close with a brief friendship circle in which Ronald MacKenzie will focus attention on the coming Workday for Christ, in which the young people plan to earn $300 to be given to missions in Mexico and the islands of the South Pacific.

MOORE — JOHNSON

Miss Barbara Ann Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard James Johnson of Glen road, and Hardwick Bigelow Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Moore of Woodridge road, Wellesley, were married Saturday afternoon, October 20, at the First Congregational Church. Chbotium fern and white chrysanthemums, with tall candelabra, surrounded the altar for the ceremony which was performed at 4 o'clock by the minister, Dr. Howard J. Chidley. J. Albert Wilson, church organist and choirmaster, played the traditional bridal music.

Miss Johnson was given in marriage by her father. She was gowned in white, her bodice of Chantilly lace over ivory Skinner satin having a portrait neckline outlined in seed pearls and decorated with appliqued lace. Chantilly panels extended down her full satin skirt to the end of the Cathedral train and her fingertip-length veil of French illusion was caught to a matching lace cap with appliques outlined in seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet combined eucharis lilies and stephanotis with a cascade of ivy.

Mrs. John C. Cone of Hanover, N. H., was matron of honor; and the bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy K. Bigelow of West Newton, cousin of the bridegroom; Mrs. William D. Dunbar (Carolyn Reeves) of Providence, R. I.; and Miss Elizabeth B. Fenno of Winchester.

All the bridal attendants wore dresses of emerald faille taffeta with Martha collars and cord belts, matching the velvet panels of their skirts. All wore emerald faille mitts and gold tiaras with flowers in their hair matching those of their bouquets; the honor attendant carrying yellow chrysanthemums with spreugeri fern, and the bridesmaids, bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Donald J. Moore, Jr., of Wellesley was best man for his brother, and Bradford J. Johnson of Winchester, brother of the bride, was a member of the usher corps, the remaining members being Paul E. Bragdon of Portland, Me., Theodore M. Atkinson, Jr., of Winchester, William W. Lauf, Jr., of Annapolis, Md., Steven D. Pratt of Wellesley and Sheldon K. Towson, Jr., of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church Parish Hall, the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving with the bridal attendants.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of the bride, was gowned in grey crepe and wore accessories of silver-beige with a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums and highlight pom poms. The mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Moore, wore pale yellow chrysanthemums and spreugeri fern with her rose-rust sheer and brown accessories.

After a wedding journey to New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Moore will live in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1947, and of Smith College, class of 1951. Mr. Moore, who is a sales engineer, graduated from Wellesley High School and Phillips Andover Academy. After two years service in the Navy he was graduated from Amherst College where he was a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

PUPILS TESTED FOR MUSICAL APTITUDE

Testing for musical aptitude in the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades has been completed under the supervision of the Music Department of the Winchester Schools with the assistance of the Guidance Department of the high school. The tests used were the Seashore Measures of Musical Talents, produced by the Educational Department of RCA Victor, and generally considered to be among the most valid and reliable tests on the market.

Of the 624 pupils examined, 191 made scores which indicate a high degree of musical talent or aptitude. Results of the testing by grades are as follows:

Grade 4, 236 pupils tested, 37 high scores.

Letters have been sent to the parents of those children receiving high scores, indicating that the youngsters are capable of learning to play an instrument providing they are sufficiently interested to be willing to practice.

The Music Department emphasizes that it would be unwise to discourage a child from studying music simply because he failed to make a high score on these tests. Other factors, both physical and mental, may affect a score adversely. Also, "frequently a child with only average or even below average talent will succeed in music because he has a great deal of determination".

JOHN CHAPMAN SAYS

"A play by George Bernard Shaw is like one of James Melton's vintage automobiles: put it in running order, and it is as good as ever. You'd never believe it was an old 1897 job — this sturdy old thing moves like a breeze. There isn't a wasted past in her, and she's better looking than most of the new crates you see parked along Broadway."

"They just don't build plays today the way they used to. "The Devil's Disciple" is Shaw's wry glance at the American Revolution . . . based on conscientious historical research — but even when he states known facts, he does it with such a jaunty, disrespectful manner that you think the rascal made them up himself just for spite."

— From New York Daily News, January 1950, when "Devil's Disciple" played in New York.

"The Devil's Disciple" will be presented by the Parish Players in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire, November 8, 9, 10. See coming events.

UNITED CHURCH CANVASS

Enthusiasm about the United Church Canvass in Winchester is growing every week as the large committee, made up of representatives of the six cooperating churches, meets and completes its plans for the coming united fund raising appeal.

The members of the general committee and the various sub-committees are finding real enjoyment in combining their experience and individual methods into a unified and integrated campaign.

All the activity is heading up toward December 2, which is the date selected for loyalty Sunday.

Participating churches are: First Baptist, New Hope Baptist, First Congregational, Second Congregational, Crawford Memorial Methodist, and Unitarian.

The committee is stressing the fact that here, in our community of Winchester, every person benefits from the work that the churches are doing. This applies to adults, who use the churches for places of worship; to youth, which obtains guidance and friendship; and to children, who receive training in Christian character.

The work of the churches cannot be kept abreast of the growing demands, however, unless the financial support is obtained.

The purpose of the united canvass is to bring home to the whole community the need for generous support of the churches so the churches can provide support for the congregations.

The united church canvass will open officially with a direct mailing to 2,500 families on November 7. Posters and other displays have been prepared. All the efforts are directed toward Loyalty Sunday, December 2.

W. S. C. S. MEETING

The W. S. C. S. Society of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, November 8. A musical program will be given by the Winchester String Trio, Mrs. Adelaide Felmet, violin; Miss Barbara Segerstrum, cello; and Miss Katherine Lumpkin, piano.

The Executive board of the W. S. C. S. will meet at the church at 10:30 A. M. on the same day. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 by the Center Group.

The afternoon meeting will start promptly at 2 o'clock. During the wait between the luncheon and the afternoon session, bandages will be rolled for the Winchester Hospital.

A mystery sale will be held.

REPUBLICAN CLUB PREPAREDNESS DINNER

Last Sunday afternoon a group of friends of the Republican Party met at the home of Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds, President of the Winchester Women's Republican Club, to hear a description of the coming Republican Preparedness Dinner. They were told of the campaign in which they will participate that will be launched among the citizens of this town to collect funds for the widely publicized $100 plate dinner to be held at the Statler Hotel on November 12, 1951.

With James M. Joslin as chairman and Mrs. Reynolds, deputy chairman, local Republican men and women are seeking to collect enough money to pay the 10 dinners. This will amount to $1,000, the quota set for Winchester.

All contributions, however, of any amount, large or small, will be welcome, and all persons who contribute at least $100 are entitled to a ticket. All solicitors who obtain contributions adding up to $100 will also be entitled to an invitation.

The purpose of the dinner is to raise funds now to enable the Republican Party to campaign effectively; to increase the organization staff of the Republican State Committee; to put into effect a broad public relations program; and to give assistance to Republican Committees at all levels — from State to National.

The principal speakers at the dinner will be Senator Richard M. Nixon of California and Robert Montgomery, screen star and news analyst.

Also to be present will be such distinguished Republicans as Senator Leverett Saltonstall and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and Congressmen Joseph H. Martin, Jr., Christian Herter and Edith Nourse Rogers.

In their effort to collect funds toward this objective, the Winchester Committee hopes to obtain the wholehearted support of the interested people of Winchester.

KINDERGARTEN TEA

A tea for Miss Barbara Sipp was given Thursday afternoon, October 18, by the mothers of her kindergarten pupils at Mystic School. Each mother was presented with a carnation and Miss Sipp was given a corsage of gardenias.

Miss Sipp talked to the mothers about what she hopes to accomplish in kindergarten work this year and answered many questions pertaining to the children.

Coffee and refreshments were served with Mrs. Albert Farnham and Mrs. Malcolm A. Burr as hostesses, ably assisted by Mrs. Eugene Rochow and Mrs. Willard Hatch as pourers.

UNUSUAL ART EXHIBIT

Ernest Dudley Chase's original drawings, about 50 in number, covering pictorial maps, pen-and-ink drawings, pencil sketches, and water color pen drawings, are on exhibition and will remain so until November 2nd, at the Twentieth Century Association, 3 Joy street, Beacon Hill, Boston.

This is an unusual collection of art work. Hours from ten to five with the exception of Saturdays and Sundays.

YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

Attention Art Lovers

The catalog of the Karolik collection of American paintings is now available at the Public Library. This is a beautiful book with excellent descriptions of pictures now in the new wing at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston. Profusely illustrated, this book will give pleasure not only to people who have seen the collection, but to all people who are interested in art. People who have visited the Karolik collection at the Boston museum will be most interested to examine this catalog. For those who have not seen the exhibit, but intend to do so, the book is invaluable as an introduction.

The Karolik collection of more than 230 American paintings covering the period from 1815 — 1865 is important not only because this was a neglected period in the history of American art, but because the pictures themselves illustrate life and customs in that particular period.

Mr. Edgell, Director of the Museum of Fine Arts, has written the foreword for the Karolik collection catalog. Included in the catalog is a letter to the Director written by Maxim Karolik the donor of the paintings. There is also included an article Trends In American Painting, 1815 — 1865 by John I. H. Baur. The appendices include much important information. All in all your librarian recommends that you have a look at the catalog and see for yourself how magnificent it is.

The purchase of the Karolik catalog was made possible through the funds of Jere A. Downs. The catalog will be found in the Downs Memorial Room at the Library.

IF youve ever built a house...
YOU KNOW WHAT WE MEAN!
Building costs have more than doubled since 1940 . . . so you can judge the accomplishment of the electric companies in financing 72 new generating units of the most advanced design . . . to keep New England supplied with plenty of economically produced, low-priced electric power.
These new plants and equipment are big guns in the fight to hold down electric rates. It takes wise planning, skilled manpower and super-efficient machinery to help combat constantly rising costs. And that's what New England's business-managed electric companies are providing — with new construction alone running to HALF A BILLION DOLLARS. It takes strong healthy companies to swing such a gigantic program . . . companies permitted at all times to earn a fair return on plant investment.

WINCHESTER STUDENTS IN PLAY

Three Winchester students will take part in the first play of the season to be produced by Pen, Paint and Pretzels, honorary undergraduate dramatic society at Tufts College, Medford, and which will be produced October 26 and 27 and November 2 and 3, at the Tufts Arena Theater.

Nancy Nutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow A. Nutter, 3 Black Horse Terrace, a senior at Jackson, department for women at Tufts, will play the feature role of Daisy in "The Adding Machine", an expressionistic play of the early '20's by Elmer Rice. Miss Nutter has been active in dramatics at Tufts since her freshman year, and worked with the Tufts Summer Theater during its past season. She has also been active in Winchester dramatic groups, starring with the Winchester Players last Spring as Melanie in "Thunder Rock".

Joseph Kuchta of 35 Henry street, a senior at Tufts and president of Pen, Paint and Pretzels, will be stage-manager for the production.

James Quine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Quine, 14 Grayson road, will play Lieutenant Charles. Quine has taken feature roles in previous Three P's productions, and was a member of the Tufts Summer Theater company last season.

COLORFUL WEEK FOR RED FEATHER DRIVE

Band

The snappy Winchester High School Band, under Fred Felmet, will have real feathers in their caps this week - red ones - as they feature the catchy Red Feather March at the Reading game here tomorrow. In between halves, the Reading Band will form the letter G, and Winchester will complete the word-of-the-week with I V E. The cheer leaders, rehearsed by Eleanor Anifantis, will lead the stands in singing "It's a big, big, BIGGER Red Feather." These young people are real enthusiasts about the campaign and are adding a part of their earnings, allowances or savings (from economical dates), to the contributions their families are making.

Contest Winner

Harold Quigley, 30 Westley street, won the Junior Leader Speaking Contest held at the High School. Harold's forceful speech "Red Feather - Humanity in Action" and his earnest and easy manner should carry him far in the final in Boston next week. The contest was marked by keen thoughtful speeches by Douglas Hawkins, Janice Collins, Joan Moore and Arlene Weafer.

Retail Trade Day

Sixteen Girl Scout Leaders and Council Members are calling on every store in Winchester between eleven and twelve on Saturday, October 27th, Red Feather Day. These busy women have gladly taken on this extra assignment in appreciation for the continued support given the Winchester Girl Scouts through the annual Red Feather Campaign. This is a unique feature of the Winchester Campaign and may well set a pattern to be used by Scouts all over the country.

Headquarters

Headquarters at One Common street will be open all day Red Feather Day, except game time, and from 2 - 5 Sunday afternoon. All next week the office will be open mornings 10-12 and from 2-8 p.m. with no time out for dinner! If you can spare a two-hour shift call WI 6-2906 or drop in and sign up. Come in anyway and watch the temperatures rise on the six Precinct Thermometers. Harry Chefalo is erecting the outdoor thermometer on the common by the Winchester Hospital sign, and a big Red Feather will fly from the flag pole. Bill Davies of Sanborn street will feel the pulse daily and record the temperature changes. In this case the normal temperature is 100%.

ADULT GROUP SEES COLORED SLIDES

The Adult Group of the Second Congregational Church held its first meeting of the 1951-52 season, Thursday, October 18, at the church. The theme of the meeting was "God in Nature." Colored slides were shown by Frank W. McLean, 43 Brookside avenue, who took a 7000 mile trip to the West coast this summer, and by Robert Kent, Philadelphia, who showed slides of the Gaspe Peninsula and the Maine-New Hampshire foliage. The Rev. Mr. John W. Cook read appropriate poetry as the slides were shown. An informal coffee hour was held at the close of the meeting. The refreshments were served by the Merry Marthas. At the meeting next month, the movie "A Wonderful Life" will be shown.

HOME AND GARDEN CLUB MET

The program for the new season under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edward Mansfield was off to a promising start last Wednesday. Mrs. E. J. McDevitt, Jr., opened her home overlooking Mystic Lake. Mrs. Alexander E. Aitken, the club's president conducted the business meeting with two reports from the horticultural chairmen whose activities continued throughout the summer. Mrs. Frederick W. Cole told of the all-day mid-summer meeting of the Garden Club Federation held at the Kelsey Highlands Nursery. One of the features of the morning program was a practical demonstration of methods of propagating azaleas for home gardens. The afternoon program was the visit of the group to the Proctor Wildlife Sanctuary now owned by the Audubon Society. Mrs. Cole also gave a short account of the September 24th get-together at Waltham Field Station when Mrs. L. J. Eno talked on "The Flower Arranger's Garden". Mrs. Olcott Hooper covered the August horticultural activity and heard Seth Kelsey's advice on the selection of nursery stock for the home grounds.

The speaker for the afternoon was the club's own member Mrs. Norman Mitchell. Her two themes were first, what to plant now in the way of bulbs for Spring arrangements. Secondly she gave an actual demonstration of how to use these flower shop blooms for a simple house decoration. Then she showed at least six prepared arrangements carrying out various rules of color and symmetry with both dried and fresh foliage and flowers. Her clarity and thoroughness were appreciated.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The annual Hallowe'en party of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church Sunday School will be held Friday, October 26 from 6:45 p. m. to 8 p. m. Costumes or old clothes will be in order. Games, entertainment and refreshments promise the usual evening of grand fun for all who attend.

WINCHESTER SERVICEMAN ENJOYS USO

"The USO is a swell place to meet fellas from all over the country, like Bob from Pennsylvania and Charlie from Detroit. Billie, the USO hostess, is a good shot, but she doesn't take my mind off Marie" (Marie Garofullo of Somerville), says Pfc. Anthony Staffiere (extreme right). His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Staffiere of 417 Washington street, get several letters a week from Tony, who has autographed a colored, much more smiling picture, "To the Best Family in the World".

Tony was graduated from Winchester High in 1948, and was a popular member of the Engineering Dept. of the Town before he entered the Air Force in February 1951. His sisters Ida and Carol were graduated from Winchester High in 1947 and 1951.

In keeping with the spirit of the United way of giving, USO has joined the Red Feather campaign this year. For $3.42 per person the USO provides a "home away from home" in 181 towns in the US and 15 overseas bases, as well as supporting Camp Shows and related activities. USO share of the Greater Boston goal is $505,000; Winchester's share for the 350 local men and women in service is $1,450. Will you add the price of a show or dinner to your Red Feather gift when your neighbor calls?

UNITED NATIONS BAZAAR

The United Nations Bazaar — November 2nd, Church of the Epiphany — will be so full of fascinating features, it's impossible to highlight each one separately. But every taste will be satisfied, and every wish will be granted.

An expert on handwriting analysis will reveal to you your deepest secrets. Winchester artists will exhibit their paintings, and perhaps stimulate in you an urge to paint. A "professional" evening entertainment will give you a peckeful of laughs.

Luncheon, tea, and supper will be served to all comers with the best in home cooking as always. Plan a luncheon party with your friends. Meet at the Bazaar for tea. Treat your family to supper. November 2nd will be a perfect "day out" for everyone. No planning, no shopping, no cooking — and yet delectable food in delightful surroundings.

There will be a wide choice of foods to take home — home-made breads and pastries, relishes and preserves, candies and nuts. Something, surely, to make every taste bud smile.

There will be a variety of Christmas presents for all friends and relations. If the presents must be practical, or if they must be frivolous, they will be there. All Christmas problems are promised to be easily solved.

There will be amusements for children of every age — a real merry go-round — movies, pony rides, grabs. And lots of interesting things to eat — taffy apples, ice cream, cokes, candy, cookies. Fun!

Set aside the day — November 2nd, the United Nations Bazaar, Church of the Epiphany — as the Big Day. A Big Day for every member of the family from 10:00 a. m. on.

OMISSION

Due to error the name of Wor. Leon E. Leavitt was omitted from the list of newly installed officers of Mystic Valley Lodge of Masons published in last week's Star. Mr. Leavitt, long prominent in Mystic Valley Lodge activities, was installed as Marshal of the Lodge.

WALTZ EVENING

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital wish to thank all those who contributed to the success of their Waltz Evening, which was enjoyed by nearly 200 people at the Town Hall last Friday night. The "ballroom" was gaily decorated with gold, silver and green musical instruments, notes and G-clefs, and provided an appropriate background for the dancers.

The main event of the evening, the Waltz Contest, was won by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Colony. For their excellent performance, Mrs. Colony received two dozen red roses given by Cummings the Florist and Mr. Colony a bottle of champagne. Second prize went to Mr. and Mrs. William Gustin, and they were awarded a set of coasters donated by Myron Berlow and a lovely pin from Mrs. Griffith of Peck and Peck. Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes and Mr. James Cullen won the third prize of a necktie from Chitel's Mens Shop and a casserole from Winton's Hardware Store.

Mr. Russell Curry and his mother, Mrs. Grace Curry, of the Curry School of Dancing in Arlington, judged the waltzing and they later gave an exhibition consisting of a medley of numbers which included not only a fast and slow waltz but a tango and rhumba.

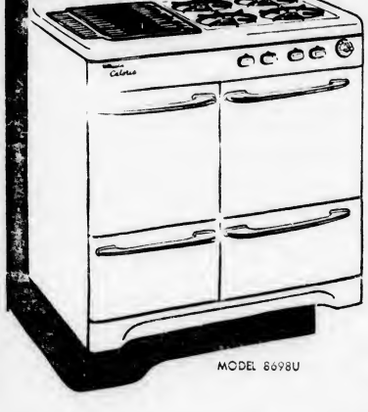

Winners of the Lucky Number Dance were Mrs. Donald F. Moss of Reading, who received two pairs of stockings from Loralane's, and Mr. Gilbert Hood, who was awarded a bottle of champagne. Second prize was won by Mrs. Wilfred MacKenzie, who was presented a set of yellow plastic place mats from Dorothy Ellis, and Dr. Gordon Winchell, who received a necktie from Chitel's Mens Shop. Numbers were drawn and prizes presented by Miss Laura B. Rogers, Superintendent of Nurses of the Winchester Hospital.

The young people of Winchester made an invaluable contribution by ushering, serving punch and selling orchid corsages, the latter donated by an interested gentleman. Cigarettes were contributed by the First National Stores; balcony decorations were supplied by Mr. John Sexton, and novelty ash trays were donated by the Union Oyster House.

WDA BOARD MEETING

The October board meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association, held last Friday morning in the General Assembly Room, Town Hall, was highlighted by the interesting report of the director, Mrs. Doris Wiklund. Mrs. Henry E. Moffette, president, presided at the meeting, with Mrs. Theodore Browne in charge of the program.

Mrs. Wiklund reported on the work of the nurses for September, explaining that at present there are 65 patients under care, 12 new cases and 2 re-admitted, making 219 new cases to date; against 359 last year, while the nurses have made far more visits to the 219 than were made last year. One new patient has been received from the Veteran's Administration, and calls to Old Age Assistance, John Hancock and Metropolitan Life Insurance cases continue. In all, 299 visits to patients were made in September. The case load was fairly light, and handled by a two-nurse staff.

Mrs. Browne asked Mrs. John C. Willis to read a statement of the board members' share in this work, followed by a report from each chairman. Board members (6 officers, 6 chairmen, 11 members) serve for 5 years, then are replaced by other active women in the town, to make Winchester one of the leaders in progressive, productive rotating visiting nursing boards. Board members are elected from the associate membership, with all sections of the town represented.

Miss Helen Monroe reported on what the finance committee does, Mrs. Wiklund following with a clear explanation of the personnel policies of the nursing staff.

Mrs. Alexander Aitken explained the duties of the nursing committee, Mrs. George E. Conner, chairman, explained her work of public relations, and Mrs. Guy Livingstone, chairman, told of her Hospitality Committee's tasks. Mrs. Willis, nominating chairman, listed her work, and Mrs. Browne, Education Chairman, told how programs are arranged for each board meeting on the second Friday of the month, as well as for the two large meeting in January and June, and about the booklets compiled each year for the members.

Mrs. Wiklund told her story of "cradle to the grave" nursing services rendered by the visiting nurse, stressing the close cooperation between the Association and other agencies in the town, through the Social Agencies Group.

"Bedside care is the bulk of our work" she stated, "and it is no longer given just to the poor. It is for everyone, in all sections, from the very rich to the most humble home. Home instruction, diet, nutrition, post natal instruction is also given. We care for patients on Doctor's orders only — with written orders required for all hypodermic injections."

Mr. A. Russell Ellis of 9 Madison avenue sailed last week Thursday, October 18, from New York on the American Export Lines' new glamor liner "Constitution" for Italy and France where he will spend several months. He is in the tin export and import business.

MID-WEEK SERVICES TO BE HELD AT SECOND CHURCH

Mid-week services will be held at the Second Congregational Church each Wednesday evening at 7:30 P. M. beginning October 31, according to an announcement received by the Rev. Mr. John W. Cook, minister of the church. "Emphasis will be on Bible reading," said Mr. Cook. "People don't read the Bible enough because they don't know how to read it. We don't need a technical knowledge of the Bible to be able to read it with understanding. We might, however, need some direction in our Bible reading."

Mr. Cook is a graduate of Boston University School of Theology, and is working now toward a Ph. D. degree in New Testament. He is assistant to the head of the department of New Testament at Boston University School of Theology. Mr. Cook will conduct the mid-week services at Second Church.

These services, the only ones of their kind in Winchester, are open to everybody. Church school teachers will be interested in them, but the services will not be geared as teacher-training courses. These services are for the average layman who wants to know more about how to read the Bible.

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL YOUTH

At the meeting of the Youth Group of the Second Congregational Church next Sunday at 6:30 P. M., a service for reception of new members will be held in the Sanctuary. Mr. Leroy Tucker of Woburn will be the guest speaker. He will speak on the theme, "Principles of Christian Endeavor." Mr. George Bragdon, cellist, will furnish special music accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Bragdon. The Rev. Mr. John W. Cook, minister of the church, will read the pledge to the new members. The public is invited to this service.

Mr. Frank O. Adams of 2 Elmwood avenue, certified public accountant, has been elected a member of the American Institute of Accountants, national professional society of CPAs. Mr. Adams, who was born in Malden, studied at Browne & Nichols School, Dartmouth College and the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance.

"PLAYERS" IN SHAW PLAY

"The Devil's Disciple", the classic by George Bernard Shaw with its American Revolutionary setting, will be presented by the Parish Players on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 8, 9, and 10, in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire, First Congregational Church. This is the first in the series of three plays for the 1951-52 season.

Funds raised through the November 8 performance will enable the Men's Club to carry on a vital project of work among the Service men and women, and will help the club continue its worthwhile work of maintaining athletics for the boys in the church.

"The Devil's Disciple" — a four act play with several splendid character roles — was written by Shaw in 1897. Mr. Harlan E. Grant of the Boston Conservatory of Music, Drama Department, will direct the play, with Mrs. Hall Gamage, chairman of production. Mr. George H. Gowdy is chairman of the stage crew, Miss Marjorie McGaw and Miss Margaret Hodgson, costume co-chairmen; Mrs. Henry Fernald, stage properties, Kendall Spencer, lighting; Mrs. Florence Grant, make-up; Mrs. John Ricker, prompter; Mrs. George E. Conner, program and publicity.

In the cast of "The Devil's Disciple" will be Mrs. Doris Stone, a talented newcomer to the Players, who has been with several notable amateur groups, and the Peanody Players; Genevieve Crovo, Robert P. Blake, Harlan Smith, Mrs. Robert P. Blake, William Hodges, Herbert Clark, George Hebb, Jr., Dr. Eugene M. Pollard, who plays the "devil's disciple"; Dr. F. Milne Blanchard, John Ricker, and Gerald Y. Hills as suave General Burgoyne.

There are no manuscripts, sides or play books available for this play, and in order to have scripts for the cast, forms had to be set up and mimeographed by the Parish Players. Few stage directions, no list of properties, and few lighting directions also pose a challenge to the cast and director.

Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Rogers of Glen road moved this week to their new home in North Hampton, N. H.

More Whistle Language

Our 5:16 was slowing down for a local station when I heard a distant engine whistle sounding the now familiar 5 long toots.

"Hey," said Bill, nudging me, "that must be some train stopped on the other track." Sure enough, as we pulled out of the station, a long freight was just starting up. At that moment our old friend the conductor paused beside us with a smile.

"Hope you got those five whistles," he remarked. "I had just finished telling you last time that five long whistles called the flagman in from the East and North."

"What difference does it make where he is?" Bill asked.

"A lot. Sometimes two trains will be stopped near each other, headed in opposite directions. And they may not be ready to go on at the same time."

"Oh, of course, I see." Bill subsided.

"Then suppose we've stopped and the engineer is going to back up. He blows three short toots as a warning."

"I've got you there," said Bill. "Three short toots is the answer to the conductor's signal meaning 'stop at the next station'."

The conductor grinned. "Right," he said, "but that's when the train's running."

"You know, of course, that two long and two short are blown when we're approaching a crossing — and the last short toot comes just as we reach it.

"There's another time we blow one long and three short, too. That's when we spot a fire or livestock on the right of way. We blow it 2 or 3 times as we go by and again when we reach the next station or section crew. They understand there's something wrong behind us, and start investigating.

"There's another signal, one you don't hear very often on a commuting train. That's one long toot, and it's given when approaching a junction, or a mail crane, where the train is going to grab a bag of mail from a rack beside the track."

"Any more?" I asked.

"Yep. One we don't like to hear. A whole string of short blasts when the engine crew spots people or livestock on the track.

"Excuse me gentlemen — we're pulling in to your station!" And the conductor hurried away.

Bill and I climbed down the steps, and started our separate ways toward home and supper.

"Well, toot-toot," said Bill.

"Toot-toot," I answered

A FEW TYPICAL ILLUSTRATIONS OF THE SPIRIT OF SERVICE EXEMPLIFIED BY TELEPHONE PEOPLE BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY

It happens every day

Telephone employees are trained to think fast, and act fast, in emergencies — to stay on the job as long as there's need — to help save lives and property. In the records of our company there are many other stirring examples of this spirit of service besides those cited here. Not all telephone people are faced with such perils and emergencies, but every one is ready always to contribute, be it heroically or humbly, to the welfare of the public and the community.

"PILGRIM VIRGIN"

"Pilgrim Virgin" was the name applied to each of the statues, replicas of the statue of Our Lady at the Fatima Basilica in Portugal. The statues which stand fifty inches high and made of carrara marble are the most exact likeness of the real apparition. These statues have been approved by Lucy, the only living child of the three to whom the Blessed Mother appeared at Fatima. The "Pilgrim Virgin" has toured the countries of Europe, Africa, India, Indonesia, Australia and Latin America. Under the maternal gaze of this heavenly pilgrim many petitions have been answered and miracles performed. The statue has visited more than a thousand parishes in the United States and Canada. At the request of Reverend William J. Desmond, Pastor of St. Raphael's Church in West Medford, a Triduum of prayers for peace will be conducted by Rt. Rev. William C. McGrath on November 5, 6, 7th. Pilgrimages are now being planned by the surrounding cities and towns to pray before the "Pilgrim Virgin."

RED FEATHER CHAIRMEN CONFIDENT OF YOUR SUPPORT IN ALL-OUT DRIVE THIS WEEK

"The facts are all clear," says Burton Miller, Red Feather Chairman, seated with, Mrs. Miller, Chairman Public Relations, as he reads copy of circular delivered to every home by Boy Scouts. "We are confident that Winchester is awake to the needs and will support our own 6 agencies, our fair share for our Boston neighbors, and our own men and women in service. Remember, USO gets 7c of every dollar collected, so we must all give more or Red Feather agencies will get less." Standing l. to r. Arthur Pratt, Advance Solicitation, reports increases all along the line; Mrs. Eugene P. Newell, invites you to work at Headquarters, The Common street; Mrs. Philip Woodward, is happy over responses from Clubs and Organizations; Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Retail Chairman, a Girl Scout Council special feature of the week; and James Coon, Residential Chairman championing the 523 doorbell ringers.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

An extremely worthwhile day was spent by all Fortnightlians who attended the all day meeting Monday. Much credit is due Mrs. Caroline Fitts, for planning such an interesting program on Conservation. She also had a wonderful display of hawks from the Audubon Society.

Mrs. Albert G. Hall, State Chairman of Conservation, was guest of honor. She gave us much food for thought on conserving our five natural resources. Do you know the Conservation Pledge? You should — and practice it. "I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully to defend from waste the natural resources of my country — it's soil and minerals, it's forests, waters and wildlife."

Mr. Egbert Hans, the speaker of the morning, certainly made us aware of the importance of conservation when he said that all the wealth of the world depends upon the land itself. Too few of us realize how fortunate we are to have such a wonderful country with abundant natural resources. However, we must practice the pledge in order to continue having them. Following his talk he showed us a very interesting color film.

Lunch hour was most enjoyable, thanks to the snack bar manned so ably by Mrs. Cass, Mrs. French and their committee. While chatting with friends we all eagerly awaited an uplifting message "An Optimist Looks at the World", from our afternoon speaker, Mrs. Max Robert Ulin. Her charming personality and convincing attitude that all things are not bad, made us sit up and listen to every word. She certainly has the fine understanding of other peoples required for the intelligent discussion of international affairs. Her work in spreading pro-democratic ideals is outstanding. After her fine speech, I'm sure all of us felt a little more optimistic.

Highway Department crews have been busy this week installing curbings and a grass-plot on School street, greatly improving its appearance.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Many Winchester leaders and Council members, as well as many of our Girl Scouts, attended the National Convention in Boston last week. Two of the men on the Winchester Council, Mr. James B. Willing and Mr. Richard Johnson attended the Men's luncheon at the Copley Plaza. Mrs. R. D. Lowry, Public Relations Chairman and Mrs. Sears Walker represented Winchester on the Public Relations Committee for the convention. They were responsible for window displays in downtown Boston.

Leaders! Please get your registration blanks and money into the office as soon as possible so your troop may be registered. Also, American Girl subscriptions should accompany your registrations, if they have not already been sent in.

ELEMENTARY TEACHERS' PROFESSIONAL MEETING

At a meeting of elementary school teachers held at the Public Library on Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Forbes H. Norris reviewed the new courses of study which had been recently adopted in the schools from Kindergarten through Grade VI. The areas of study covered include Arithmetic, Language Arts, Science, and Social Studies, and the courses were prepared by committees of teachers and principals. Dr. Norris encouraged the study, use, and adaptation of the materials provided, and he emphasized the importance of gaining familiarity with the whole program.

The teachers also heard from Miss Virginia French, Supervisor of Art in the Elementary Schools, Miss Marian E. Phipps, Reading Consultant, and Mr. Fred M. Feltner, Supervisor of Music, who outlined the program of work for their respective departments.

Another feature of the meeting was the remarks of Miss Corinne Meade, Librarian, who discussed the ways in which the public library and the schools may work together to enrich the child's educational experiences. She also introduced the members of the library staff to the teachers. A pleasant conclusion to the meeting was the tea provided by the library staff.

M. Y. F. TO PRESENT THE LIFE OF LUTHER

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will present this Sunday a program centered around the life of Luther. Miss Debby French will summarize Luther's life during the period of the Reformation. A worship program is to be given by Dale Dunivan in conjunction with the theme. There will be a period of recreation following our services.

We invite everyone who is interested to enjoy our fellowship at the church on Sunday, October 28, at 6:30.

After delicious refreshments served by Mrs. Robert Gulick, Mrs. Walter Hutchinson, Mrs. Thomas Morison, Mrs. Warren Osborne, and Mrs. George Rowe, the mothers and teachers enjoyed an informal discussion of the first grade marking system and methods of teaching.

PERKINS — CHEFALO

At a 4 o'clock candlelight ceremony in St. Mary's Church on Saturday, October 27, Miss Alice Elizabeth Chefalo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Chefalo of 2 Grayson road, became the bride of Samuel Ernest Perkins II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Perkins, of 4 Maple road and Concord, N. H.

The Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan officiated in a setting of ferns, white pom poms and chrysanthemums, and a reception followed at the Winchester Country Club.

Her sister, Mrs. Richard T. Preston of Winchester was the matron of honor. Her gown of American Beauty velveteen had a Victorian neckline, pointed basque, and a gathered bouffant skirt. With it she wore a head piece of matching veiling, which was caught to a cluster of pink carnations, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations, deep red roses and ivy.

The maid of honor was Miss Barbara Lane of Milton, who was a college classmate of the bride, and bridesmaids were Miss Kathryn Perkins of Winchester, a sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Maurice Shaughnessy of Brighton, another sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Marguerite Derro of Winchester. Their American Beauty velveteen dresses and headpieces of veiling were like that of the matron of honor and they carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations and ivy.

Mrs. Chefalo, the bride's mother was gowned in turquoise satin and chiffon with a matching hat of satin. She carried a silver beaded bag to which was attached a corsage of deep red roses. Mrs. Perkins, mother of the bridegroom, wore a toast colored crepe gown with bronze gloves and hat and her corsage was of yellow tea roses.

Mr. Ralph T. Perkins, Jr., of Winchester was his brother's best man and the ushers included Mr. Maurice Shaughnessy of Brighton; Mr. Richard Yennie of Lymington, Maine, a cousin of the groom; and Mr. Richard T. Preston of Winchester.

Miss Chefalo is a graduate of Westbrook, Junior College and Mr. Perkins was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1950. After a wedding trip through Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont they will live in Winchester.

MR. AND MRS. STANLEY N. McNEILLY HONORED

Last Saturday night when Helen and Stan McNeilly arrived at the Country Club for dinner, they were pleased to see so many of their friends in evidence. However, it was not until they entered the private dining room that they became aware of the fact that about sixty of their golf associates had gathered there to show them the respect and affection in which they are held. It was a complete surprise and both were visibly overcome.

"Reg" Hayes presented them with a silver coffee service from "the gang" to be used in their new home as a constant reminder of all their many golfing friends in Winchester who are reluctant to see them go, but wish them well in their new surroundings.

Helen and Stan are moving next month from 8 Hancock street to Taunton, Mass., where Stan has purchased a new factory for the Bacon Felt Co., of which he is Vice President.

Charles W. Forester assumed the ownership of Cummings the Florist Shop at 18 Thompson street on November 1, and will continue the business under the name of Forester's Flower Shop.

Mr. Forester, better known as "Charlie" Forester, started with John Cummings, Woburn florist, as a boy of 15, and has been in the florist's business ever since, except for two years in the Service during the war.

He has managed the Cummings Winchester shop on Thompson street since it was opened in 1941, his courtesy, knowledge of the business and pleasant manner having made many friends for the shop, not only among residents of Winchester but also among those living in surrounding cities and towns.

Mr. Forester will continue the fine stocks and proven business policies that have made his shop so popular. He is also announcing that he will have the services of Ted Langmeyer, wedding consultant, in connection with his business. Mr. Langmeyer is well known in and around Winchester through his former association with Cummings the Florist and the Winchester Conservatories. Recently he has been associated with Penn, the Florist.

In soliciting the continued business of present patrons, and inviting newcomers to Winchester to make his shop their headquarters for flowers, Mr. Forester is pleased to offer an unlimited selection of choicest flowers and plants from his own Greenhouses in Woburn, as well as the advice and assistance of experts in solving all flower problems.

MRS. MINNIE C. FLETCHER

Mrs. Minnie C. Fletcher, widow of Willard V. Fletcher and mother of Roland W. Fletcher of 112 Church street, died Friday night, October 26, at the Winchester Hospital, following a brief illness. She had lived in Winchester for 32 years and had made her home with her son following the death of her husband in January of 1935.

Mrs. Fletcher was the daughter of Charles B., and Mary J. (Davis) Wetmore. She was born December 22, 1865, in St. John, N. B., but came with her parents to the United States as a young girl, the family settling in Roxbury. She was graduated from the old Roxbury High School and was married September 15, 1892, continuing to make her home in Roxbury and Dorchester until coming to Winchester.

Mrs. Fletcher was a member of the Fortnightly Woman's Club, of the Winchester Women's Republican Club and of Middlesex Chapter No. 3, American Gold Star Mothers. Up to the time she became ill she was an active member of the sewing group of the Church of the Epiphany.

Mrs. Fletcher's son in Winchester is the only survivor, a younger son, Burton Fletcher, who was a member of the old First Corps Cadets, having been one of the first members of the 101st United States Engineers of the Yankee Division killed in France during World War I.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, officiating. Interment was in the Fletcher family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS. LATTA STILL IN HOSPITAL

It is reported that Mr. Dick Latta, seriously injured in an automobile accident while driving with his wife Joan Worthen last spring, has improved sufficiently to return to the home of his father-in-law, Mr. Joseph W. Worthen on Wedgemere avenue. At the time of the accident it was thought that Mr. Latta was the most seriously injured, but ensuing months revealed that Mrs. Latta was more seriously hurt. She is still in the hospital, and although on the road to recovery is not expected to be discharged until Christmas.

HAGGERTY — DONOVAN

At the Immaculate Conception Church on Saturday afternoon, October 20, Miss Margaret Bernadette Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Donovan of 24 Wendell street, became the bride of Arthur Joseph Haggerty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Haggerty of 1034 Main street. The pastor, Rev. Fr. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, performed the 3 o'clock ceremony in a setting of white chrysanthemums and pom poms, combined with ivy.

Miss Donovan was given in marriage by her father and attended only by her sister, Mrs. Roger Sanborn of Woburn.

The bride wore a white satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice having a net yoke bordered with seed pearls and orange blossoms, long pointed sleeves and a full skirt extending into a train. Her fingertip-length veil was caught to a tiara of orange blossoms and she carried white roses combined with white gladiolas and ivy.

Mrs. Sanborn wore gold taffeta with a fitted bodice and cape, pointed in back to match the peplum of the dress. Her bouquet was of gold and orange chrysanthemums and she wore a tiara of the same flowers.

Joseph L. Duran of Brookline was best man, and the ushers was Frederick J. Donovan of Winchester, brother of the bride, and Richard D. Lynch of Woburn, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Hunt Room of the Town House in Woburn, the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Donovan, mother of the bride, wore a purple wool suit with matching accessories and a corsage of orchids. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Haggerty, wore rubrum lilies with her wine crepe dress and matching accessories.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty will make their home in Winchester.

Both are graduates of Winchester High, and Mr. Haggerty, who is in the employ of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, attended Roberts Technical School of Boston.

UNITED CHURCH CANVASS

A key word in the Winchester United Church Canvass, being carried on here for the first time by six participating churches, is "Together."

The large committees working out the program feel that something is being added to the community by the fact they are working together, to make the town aware of the need for financial support of the churches.

Together, the churches, with adequate resources, can increase cooperation in other ways — such as the Community Church School of religion — to help build a better town.

Church needs are increasing to meet expanded activities, and this in the face of rising costs. Together, the cooperating churches hope to raise the necessary funds to meet their obligations.

Participating churches are: First Baptist, New Hope Baptist, First Congregational, Second Congregational, Crawford Memorial Methodist and Unitarian.

Sunday, December 2, has been designated Loyalty Sunday. Pledges will be asked for on or before that date.

The next general meeting of all the various committees working on the Winchester United Church Canvass will be held Monday evening, November 5, at the First Congregational Church at 8 o'clock.

MISS DYSON ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Dyson of 320 Washington street announce the engagement of their daughter, Madeline, to Mr. Lawrence S. Beecher of Hamden, Connecticut. Mr. Beecher attended the University of Illinois and is a graduate of Boston University. He recently completed his graduate work at New Haven State Teachers College and is now employed by the Connecticut School System.

Miss Dyson graduated with the class of 1947 from Winchester High School, and is a graduate of the Academic Arts Home. She is at present employed at Harvard University. A summer wedding is planned.

POLICEMEN'S BALL

The annual Concert and Ball of the Winchester Police Relief Association will be held Wednesday, November 14, in the town hall, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Several acts of vaudeville will precede the dancing, and the committee in charge of arrangements predict one of the best shows in some time. A capacity crowd is already assured, the police having been busy with ticket sales since early fall.

NEW COLOR PHOTOS BY ARTHUR GRIFFIN

Arthur Griffin of Euclid avenue, whose color photos have appeared in the leading magazines, including "Life" and "Saturday Evening Post", has now spreads in the September "Holiday" and the November "Field and Stream".

In "Holiday", Mr. Griffin has photographed a salmon fishing trip of Canada's Governor General, Viscount Harold Rupert Leofric George Alexander, including two large spreads, one of a guide helping the Viscount on with his boots in front of the lodge door and the other of the royal fisherman in rough water landing a 16 pound salmon.

Smaller photos show the Viscount in repose with a tall glass of something, being sprayed with mosquito repellant, being poled upstream in a canoe and seated with his "board of strategy" around the evening campfire, where the "whiskey is judged" and the alibis for the day's near misses are appraised.

In "Field and Stream" Mr. Griffin's pictures illustrate "My Toughest Fight" by Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion boxer. Strangely enough Gene doesn't rate his "long-count" battle with Dempsey as his toughest fight. Occupying that position in his estimation is his fight with a 60s pound bluefin tuna during a fishing trip on Soldier's Rip off Wedgeport, N. S.

Mr. Griffin illustrates the battle, from the guide's preparation of the bait to the huge fish being hauled over the vessel's side. Heading the story is an illustration of Tunney standing proudly beside his catch while it is being weighed. Sportsmen's mouths will water at both series.

ZONING TROUBLE ON CENTRAL STREET

For some time now there has been a Zoning problem on Central street, involving the use of a barn to store scenery or properties belonging to a theatrical company. Certain of the residents there have contended that such use of the premises constitutes a violation of the Zoning By-Laws, and as the result of action by the Building Commissioner to stop the storage, an appeal has been entered and a hearing on the matter is to be held by the Board of Appeal on November 13.

Meanwhile the Building Commissioner issued on August 1 an order forbidding the storage of articles belonging to the theatrical company in the barn pending the result of the hearing.

Late Saturday afternoon Police Headquarters was notified that the theatrical company was putting things in the barn in defiance of the Building Commissioner's order, the complainant requesting that the police take action.

Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy sent Officer Thomas Parsons to investigate, the latter arriving on the premises after the articles had been put into the barn. He questioned the foreman of the movers who did not know whether an order had been issued forbidding the storage in the barn, but did, according to the police, know about the hearing November 13. Police say the owner of the barn knew about the restraining order.

Building Commissioner William B. MacDonald told the Star he contemplated no action pending the hearing on November 13.

HALLOWE'EN QUIET

At both Fire and Police Headquarters yesterday morning the Star reporter was informed that Hallowe'en had been very quiet in Winchester, with an absolute minimum of what could be termed malicious mischief in evidence.

Hoodlums did break the old "Rangely" sign at the Church street entrance to Rangely, long a town landmark and one that old timers will be sorry not to see. On School street boys poured wood alcohol on a front porch and lighted it, a dangerous prank even though the front porch and steps were cement.

Clothes lines were pulled down in town and a Symmes Corner boy was picked up on the west side of town shooting off fireworks. Officer James E. Farrell escorting him to the Station. There was little evidence of Sunday smearing around the center, at least, none on the new windows of McCormack's Apothecary escaping unscathed.

There were three alarms of fire, Arlington Box 336, a mutual aid box, came in at 7:20 and this proved to be a false alarm. At 11:25 an Arlington motorist pulled in Box 62 when he saw leaves burning briskly at Highland avenue and Border road.

Not long after this alarm the police called the Central Station to send apparatus to put out more leaves burning at the same spot as the previous fire. While on the way to the fire some unknown person pulled in Box 62 once more, summoning all apparatus to the fire.

FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL MARRIED

Miss Marilyn Sias Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Campbell of Glenmont, New York, formerly of Winchester, became the bride of Mr. Richard Westley Foss of Burlington, Vermont, at Middlebury College Chapel, Middlebury, Vermont, on Saturday afternoon, October 20. The 3:30 o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles Scott, Chaplain of the college. Traditional wedding music was played by Jean Berger of Middlebury College faculty and a reception followed at Dog Team Inn.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white fantafaille gown with bouffant overskirt of white nylon tulle and chapel length train. Her French illusion fingertip veil was attached to a bonnet style headdress of heirloom Alencon lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of white pompom chrysanthemums.

Miss Edith G. Pratt of Medford, was maid of honor and Miss Margaret M. Fohring of Roosevelt, New York, was bridesmaid. The bride's cousin Miss Cynthia Bickford Ca-sidy, of Dedham, was junior bridesmaid. The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore gowns fashioned on similar lines to that of the bride of champagne fantafaille with champagne tulle overskirts. They wore bronze velvet and champagne tulle bonnet style headdresses and carried colonial bouquets of shades of bronze chrysanthemums. The junior bridesmaid wore a frock of emerald green velveteen with matching bonnet and carried a nosegay of yellow chrysanthemums.

Robert Victor Brown of Burlington was best man; and the ushers were Edmund Brown MacMahon of Burlington and Sherman Wade Medley of Burlington.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Campbell wore a plum crepe gown with turquoise hat and Mrs. Foss, the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in charcoal gray crepe with green accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and Middlebury College and did graduate work at the University of Vermont. A former instructor at Cushing Academy in Ashburnham, Massachusetts, she now is continuity writer at Station WCAX, Burlington, Vermont.

Mr. Foss attended the University of Vermont where he was a member of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. He was graduated from the Boston University School of Law and is now practising law with Latham and Peisch of Burlington.

After a wedding trip to Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Foss will make their home in Burlington, Vermont, at 103 Robinson Parkway.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Cooperation was the keynote at Mystic school's variety show "Mom and Pop" held in the school auditorium last Thursday and Friday evening. The attractively decorated foyer with its wishing well, the main hall transformed into a gay cabaret, the unusually attractive seasonal decorations which drew admiring comments from the audience, the pumpkin-headed "Mom and Pop" benevolently surveying the scene — all combined to set the stage for a festive and enjoyable evening.

The show was not only highly entertaining, but the audience discovered that Mystic Moms and Pops could really sing, act and dance like professionals. As usual the men had the last word, ending the evening with a hilarious fashion show.

More than 500 Winchester parents went "back to school" last week.

The occasion was open house at the high school October 25, the opening event in the 1951-52 program of the Parent Faculty Association.

The teachers explained their respective courses, what they're teaching and how they're teaching it. They answered many questions of the interested mothers and dads.

Both teachers and parents agreed it was a huge success. High School Principal W. L. Grindle said "It was one of the most successful of these events that we've had."

Sandwiches, cookies, cakes and coffee were served without charge in the cafeteria throughout the two and a half-hour program. The refreshments were donated by the mothers group.

Their camera caught views of the lofty peaks of the Tetons rising above the water's edge, as well as the grandeur of Glacier National Park with its glistening mountains and shimmering waterwalls and lakes. Included in the "trip" will be Lake Superior, the famed "Shores of Gitchee Gumee" made famous by Longfellow in his Song of Hiawatha.

Indians Scored All Points in First Quarter

An alert, hard-hitting Winchester High School football team struck three times in quick succession in the first period to beat Reading High, 20 - 6, before an estimated crowd of 3500 on Manchester Field last Saturday. The Indians lost their fire through the second period and did little the second half except try to "contain". as the military boys put it, the aggressive, ever-fighting visitors.

Reading made 14 first downs to Winchester's 5, but the Indians outrushed the Rockets, 203 yards to 138. In the air Reading completed nine of 15 passes for 116 yards, while Winchester threw only one pass, good for 30 yards and a touch-down. The Indians had one 15 yard penalty for illegal use of hands, Reading drawing a 15 yard er for clipping and another of five yards for some infraction of the rules not made clear by the officials. Both Winchester and Reading were hurt by the 15 yard setbacks, the Rockets' coming in the third quarter after a pass from kick formation on 4th down had advanced the ball from the Winchester 29 inside the 15.

Reading fumbled three times, two of the fumbles being converted into Winchester touchdowns. Winchester fumbled twice, its second bobble leading to the single Reading tally.

The game was fiercely fought, with Reading holding its aggressiveness throughout the game. The Rockets threatened before the half when Winchester held for downs on its four yard stripe, a Lyons to Roche pass going incomplete in the end zone.

In Ted Lyons, Reading showed one of the best quarterbacks Winchester has seen in years, a fine ball handler and field general as well as a very effective passer. His value to his club can not be overestimated. Hamilton, too, would have to rank among the best backs Winchester has faced, a very hard running ball-carrier.

Winchester received and after ripping off two first downs from its 22 to the 49, had to kick, Atkinson downing the receiver on the Reading 25. On the very first running play the Reading carrier was hit hard and fumbled, Donlon recovering for Winchester on the Reading thirty.

Reading at once went into a virtual nine man line, and Jost Michelsen took advantage of the formation nicely. Pitching out to Scrieka on what looked like a sweep, he had hig "Jocko" arch a long pass to Bobby Flaherty, away behind the drawn-in Reading defense, for a touchdown, Flaherty grabbing the ball in the end zone.

Errico couldn't even try for the extra point, as Michelsen fumbled a rather high pass back from center.

Reading ran the ensuing kickoff back to its 26, and Lyons at once sent Runge into the line. Donlon hit the ball carrier like a Mack truck, the ball squirting from his grasp and being recovered by "Stu" Thomson, defensive right halfback for Winchester.

Starting at the Reading 35 Scrieka got outside and drove to the 19 for first down. Griffin ropewalked through for five and Johnson bulled for three. From the eleven, Scrieka took a Michelsen pitchout and skirted the Reading left end, faking Captain Roche nicely, to go into the end zone standing up. This time Errico kicked in the extra point.

Reading couldn't go after receiving the kickoff and Runge kicked to Bellino who was downed on his own 28. On the next play Scrieka broke through the left side of the Reading line and cutting out legged it 62 yards into the end zone for a spectacular touchdown. Errico again kicked the goal and Winchester had a 20 - 0 lead with four plays left in the first quarter.

Reading refused to fold and returning the kickoff to their 31, the Rockets advanced to the Winchester four before giving up the ball on downs not long before half time.

The Indians seemed wholly without fire the second half and Reading, after taking the kickoff at its 31 advanced to Winchester's 15, though the final play, a fake-kick, pass, good for 16 yards, was nullified by a clipping penalty. On the third play of this sequence a Lyons pass out in the flat went squarely into Bobby Flaherty's arms for what could have been an easy touchdown interception had the eager end been able to hold the ball.

The clipping penalty forced Reading to kick and Bellino was downed on his 20. Bob Johnson fumbled on a lunge into the line, Reading recovered just outside the Indians 25, and the Rockets were away.

Hamilton picked up three and then Reading recovered a fumble for another three yard advance and a big break. Hamilton broke through to the 15, but McNabola was spilled for a three yard loss, only to have Hamilton buck for seven and Runge add three.

This left the Rockets on the eight, fourth and three, and Lyons passed over the middle to Hamilton in the end zone, the Winchester defense, in the wrong formation being out of position and unable to do anything about Lyons' low pass.

Lentine squarely blocked the try for conversion and the Reading kickoff ended the third quarter. All at once there was apprehension in the Winchester stands.

A 15 yarder for pushing prevented Winchester from getting going and Griffin kicked from his 31, getting off a superb high spiral that traveled 69 yards from the line of scrimmage, barely going into the Reading end zone.

Starting from the 20, Reading advanced to the Winchester 38, aided by a weird ruling by the referee on a pass completion, which the receiver caught cleanly and dropped when he was tackled, Winchester recovering what should have been a free ball. The official on the play ruled it Winchester's ball, but the referee, in no position to see what actually happened, over-ruled him.

The aroused Indians held for downs at this point and put on an offense of their own, ripping the Reading line to advance to the Reading 36, where Errico broke through and cut back to reach the 18. Only lack of speed stopped Dick from going all the way on this one.

On the next play Scrieka took a pitch out and went wide to the right. He too might have got into, or close to pay dirt, had he not tripped over a lax prone Reading player who had been felled by an enthusiastic Winchester block and knocked right into Scrieka's path.

Johnson got back the five Scrieka lost, and on the next play Errico again broke through the surging Reading frontier, running cleanly to the twelve, where he whirled and ripped away from a knot of Reading defenders to go into the end zone standing up.

Once again, however, the referee had dashed Winchester's hopes with practically a lightning whistle at the 12, the ball having to go back to that point for what looked like a very bad call. Errico got only two of the four yards necessary for first down from the 12, and Reading took over, completing several passes in a row against second and third string Winchester personnel to reach the Winchester 38 as time ran out.

WINCHESTER MEETS BELMONT

Winchester High School's unbeaten, untied football team, currently leading Class B in the Boston schoolboy sportswriters grid ratings, plays host to Belmont High School tomorrow afternoon at Manchester Field with the kickoff at 2 o'clock.

From its record Belmont doesn't figure to beat the Indians, being pretty well down in the Class C rating with a record of two wins and three defeats. Norwood, Tewksbury and Concord have beaten the Red and Blue, which in turn has victories over Cambridge Latin, conqueror of Stoneham last Saturday by two points, and Framingham.

Belmont is a notoriously poor easily season team that has always had the faculty of giving Winchester quite a ballgame late in the fall, several times upsetting or tying good local clubs. It is likely to be much better right now than its record indicates.

Coach Knowlton has seen Belmont this season and expects a hard game from the visitors, who boast probably the biggest club the locals will face all season with a couple of very fast backs in McNulty and Janoni. With the exception of Concord, no team has run up any sort of score against Belmont, and the Red and Blue had offense enough to score 20 points against Concord and scare the Patriots to death in the second quarter.

Mottolo will start in "Pren" Keyes guard slot against Belmont, and it is hoped that the players banged up in the hard-fought Reading game will all be ready for duty tomorrow.

H. S. CAREER ASSEMBLY

"Training Beyond High School" was the subject at the first career assembly held on October 25 with the three upper classes in attendance, Mr. Roland Darling, the director of the series, was ably assisted by Miss Tyler Robinson, assistant director of admissions at Wellesley, Mr. Paul M. Chalmers, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Miss Barbara Blackstone and Mr. Norton Dewsney, of the high school Guidance Office. A student committee led by Bill Carleton participated by asking the questions which had previously been submitted by members of the student body. Judged by a standard of audience interest and attention, this was a most successful career assembly, auguring well for the remaining programs in the series.

WINCHESTER 5th IN LEAGUE MEET

Last Saturday Winchester journeyed to Tufts College to compete in the annual league championship meet of the MCCL. This meet brings together the larger schools of the Pioneer Division and the smaller schools of the Pilgrim Division, total of 14 teams.

The local runners apparently experienced a let down after their fine effort in winning their divisional championship last week and this plus a heavy cold carried by top Winchester man Pete Coon resulted in a below par performance. The squad was not expected to upset strong Melrose and Arlington but figured to top the remaining teams. However, they had to settle for 5th spot with Belmont and Wellesley heading them as well as the big two, Melrose and Arlington. It is curious to note that both division champions were beaten by the teams they had previously defeated, Melrose by Arlington and Winchester by Wellesley.

The meet was a clear cut victory for a strong Arlington team led by one of the best runners the league has produced, Bob Squires of Arlington. Bob took the lead at the outset and was never in serious danger at any time. He finished strongly with Dave Ryan of Woburn about 75 yards back. His time of 12:12 was extremely fast for the 2½ mile course.

Pete Coon	12th
Charlie Murphy	15th
Dick Rush	27th
Bob Nelson	32nd
Doug Hawkins	33rd

The Junior Varsity race found Winchester in 3rd position one point behind Belmont with a strong Wakefield club taking the race. In this race John Becker finished in second spot only 15 yards behind the leader, Moulton of Wakefield. If John had got off to a better start he might well have taken the race, but it was a fine finish for a runner in his second year of competition. The other scorers for the local club were Hank Hooper, 4th; Pete Maroney, 7th; Phil Ives, 28th; and Tom Wilder, 30th.

In light of the result of this meet the State Meet shapes up as a fine race for the Class B title between Belmont, Wellesley, Winchester, Rockland, New Bedford Vocational, and Braintree. Barring the entry of some "dark horse" these schools appear to have nearly equal strength if all runners are in top condition.

Varsity:

1. Arlington	60
2. Melrose	81
3. Belmont	100
4. Wellesley	102
5. Winchester	119

Junior Varsity:

1. Wakefield	55
2. Belmont	71
3. Winchester	72
4. Melrose	74
5. Woburn	123

JUNIOR HIGH BRIEFS

Clothing Drive

The Junior Red Cross, under the direction of Miss Florence E. Sullivan, has completed its clothing drive for 'Save the Children Federation." Beginning on October 17, the pupils were asked to bring in articles of clean, usable clothing, and, at the weekly meeting of the Junior Red Cross on October 22, several large bags were filled.

Intramural Sports

Throughout the fall, over 100 Seventh and Eighth Grade boys have been participating in a touch football league. Two afternoons a week 14 teams of 8 players each have engaged in what Coach Alfred Meurling calls "an elimination-consolation tournament."

The girls' soccer and tennis program, supervised by Miss Gale Davenport, has been completed, and the spotlight has turned to volley-ball. Sessions are being held in the gym on Monday and Wednesday afternoons, and already there is considerable interest in this popular team sport. Teams are being organized and captains elected.

Guidance Discussion

Mr. Raymond J. Dickman, principal of the Junior High School, was a member of the panel discussion on "Guidance Programs for Boys and Girls of Junior High School Age" at the annual fall meeting of the Massachusetts Junior High School Principal's Association, held at Lynn on October 18.

Hundreds of wild ducks have been making themselves at home in the easterly section of Winter Pond recently. Old residents say that they never have seen so many wild ducks in town.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL NEWS

The fifth grade tea for the George Washington School was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Lorentzen, 81 Forest street, on Thursday, October 25. Mrs. Ralph Bennell, the room mother, made the tea arrangements assisted by Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. Donald Campbell, Mrs. Bernard Cavanaugh, Mrs. Joseph Donovan, and Mrs. George Neville. The pourer was Mrs. Morton, mothers' association president. After the pleasant tea hour, Mr. Roland Nault, the teacher, outlined the day's work in detail for the fifth grade and stressed that from this grade on children read to learn rather than learn to read; then he conducted an informal discussion of problems the mothers wished to present to the group.

On Tuesday, October 30, Mrs. Charles Crede as commentator at the children's fashion show introduced the 31 pre-school and primary-grade models and described their costumes, which included play outfits, school dresses, suits, jumpers, and skirts, party dresses, and warm outdoor clothing, both ski suits and dress coats, and even rain and slumber togs — truly a well-rounded wardrobe for the young lady or young gentleman between the ages of 3 and 12. The fashion show was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Sigel of Ronel's who managed all fittings and costuming.

The Ways and Means Committee which sponsored the fashion show has as its capable chairman Mrs. Joseph Bogue and as cooperative committee members Mrs. James Chaffe, Mrs. James deKeyere, Mrs. Roland Hanson, Mrs. Erskine Kelley, Mrs. Edward Morse, Mrs. Warren Osborne, Mrs. Francis Parsons, Mrs. Carl Segerstrom, Mrs. George Sjoholm, Mrs. James Wakefield, and Mrs. William Watkins. The auditorium was gay with Hallowe'en decorations, those on the walls and ceiling having been donated by the Dads' Club after their dance. The fourth grade Brownies spent two meetings cutting out the various silhouette figures which were attractively mounted on the orange paper covering the sides of the ramp and the screens. The rug on the ramp was loaned for the occasion by the Mouradian Oriental Rug Company. After the fashion show, refreshments were served by the committee members with six of the sixth grade girls helping.

WYMAN SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

On Friday morning, October 26, an assembly was given at the Wyman School by Miss Batchelder's fourth grade. The program was in the form of a guided tour of Switzerland by way of colored lantern slides made by the children.

At the beginning of the tour travelers from America were meeting in a travel agent's office in Switzerland's Alps. Accounts of the location, early history of Switzerland, and Switzerland as it looks today preceded the technicolor lantern slide tour. Interspersed thru the program were typical Swiss folk tunes and yodel songs, as well as the tinkling of music boxes and the call of the cuckoo clock at nine o'clock, when the agent opened his office to the tourists.

The tourists who met with the travel agent, David Bentley, were Joan Lamphier, Betsy Alt, Nancy Chambers, Madelyn Mouradian, and Patricia Brandt.

From the time the "passports" were issued until the very end of the program the study of Switzerland has given the class the urge to some day really take an actual trip to this lovely country of lakes and mountains.

COLLEGE ADMISSIONS OFFICERS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Students concerned with the problem of college admission are having numerous opportunities to meet college officials in a series of interviews arranged by the Guidance Office this fall.

On October 26, Mr. Williams, Director of Admissions at Cornell, visited the school, and on October 30, Boston University was represented by Mr. Charles Sparks.

On November 8, Mr. Richard Gummere, Director of Admissions at Harvard, will interview interested students. Mr. Herbert Shaw, of Bowdoin College, will also be here on that day.

Professor John M. Petrie, of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, will be at the high school on November 15, as will Miss Patricia R. Cass, Assistant Director of Admissions at Jackson College.

On November 16, Mr. Milton Lindholm, a representative of Bates College, will be in Winchester as the guest of Mr. Davenport Davis, who is opening his home for an evening meeting of students.

It pays to advertise in The Star.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

At a meeting of the School Committee on October 23, the resignation of Miss Anne Gallagher, 4th grade teacher at the Parkhurst School, was accepted. Miss Gallagher, who has been a teacher in the Winchester schools since 1947, is leaving to be married.

"Bundle Day" will be held in the elementary schools on Monday, November 5. In co-operation with the Junior Red Cross and the "Save the Children Federation", the youngsters are asked to bring in articles of clothing. War victims in Korea and flood victims in the United States will be aided.

Dr. W. Linwood Chase, professor at the Boston University School of Education, was a visitor at Wyman School recently. Some of the older pupils were interested to meet the author of one of their Social Studies textbooks.

"WIRRA to WIXBE: CAN SEND TEN (10) CWA WORKERS OAKDALE SQUARE. WILL LEAVE 2020." Communications Director John Blanchard, (left) and Communications Chief Bob Richmond broadcast reply to "aid request" over Winchester's own radio station, WIRRA Mobile 1, during Civil Defense communications test held on October 25, throughout CD Region 5 (greater Boston area). The CD Control Center, located in Police Station basement, also maintains telephone and teletype connections with region 5, and our local Sector 3 (northwest portion), and can sound all Winchester air raid sirens.

Virtually unknown for months to most Winchester residents, the activity of the volunteers of the Communications Section received sudden, and unexpected, publicity, last week when Edison power happened to fail for a time over part of Winchester's east side. As reported in Boston new-papers and radio reports, and the Winchester Star, our new emergency generator automatically switched on, to supply power to strategic buildings in the center. It guarantees independent operation for the Police and Fire Stations, as well as the CD radio, in any emergency.

Some one in Winchester should have been mighty thankful he didn't have on his conscience the serious injury of one or more members of the Reading and Winchester football teams playing at Manchester Field last Saturday. We refer to the misguided individual who threw some sort of explosive onto the playing field just as the teams commenced the second half of the game. Fortunately the explosive went off before any of the players got too near, but a couple of Reading boys were near enough to make everyone wonder what the result might have been had their progress toward the spot been faster.

Had the ball-carrier, for instance, been tackled and fallen face forward into that explosion he very well could have lost his sight as well as being badly burned. The same could have happened to the Winchester tackler or to any member of either team who happened to be knocked down at that spot. We do not believe any one threw the explosive onto the field intending to do any one any harm, but was probably some irresponsible person's idea of a joke. What a sorry joke it all would have been if some player who was our guest was carried from the field badly burned and sightless. How thankful we all ought to be that something like that didn't happen; and how fortunately it all turned out, especially for the author of this hair-brained act!

WACS AND WAFS MAKE WINCHESTER DEBUT

Editor of the Star:

It was a great pleasure, last Friday, to introduce Sgt. Alice Dube of the Wacs and Cpl. Rita Champagne of the Wafs to the Women's Council. Sgt. Dube is stationed at the Boston Recruiting Main Station but Cpl. Champagne and Sgt. Geraldine Kelley (Wacs) will be at the Medford Recruiting Station, City Hall (MYstic 6-5777) every Friday to answer questions from either interested applicants or parents.

As of April 30, 1951 there were 11,495 Wacs on active duty but this figure must be increased to at least 30,000 by July 1, 1952. September strength of the Wafs was 8,000 but this figure must be upped to 42,800 by July 1, 1952. Direct commissions in the Wafs are available for 2,800 qualified women.

For the convenience of Winchesterites, the writer has put information pamphlets on both Wacs and Wafs in the Armed Forces stand in the post-office. These will at least give you an idea of the great opportunities open to women in the Army and Air Force.

Sgt. Dube and Cpl. Champagne wish me to thank the President and members of the Women's Council for their friendly reception and Miss Meade for taking them on a tour of the library — with which they were deeply impressed. They both echoed the writer's feelings that this is "such a friendly town". If you see the girls in town, in their snappy new uniforms, stop them and say "hello." They are doing a great job and the writer is very proud of our women in the Services.

Cordially yours,
G. Toye, Chairman
Military Manpower Committee

CAN WINCHESTER RESIDENTS HELP!

The following communications have been received from a Star subscriber and may be of interest to older residents.

The Queen's College
Oxford, England
September 10th, 1951

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to you in the hope that you might possibly be able to help me and other scholars here and in France in the solving of a little literary mystery which concerns your house.

In the 1880's, the great French novelist Huysmans met and fell in love with an Englishwoman called Edith Huybers, who later wrote to him, sometime about 1896 or 1897, from your house. She asked him to publish a story she had written in French, and said this would help her in her work in Winchester — so perhaps she was a writer, teacher, or a journalist? She signed her name: Edith Reverdy.

I wondered if you might have any knowledge of this former occupier of your house, or what happened to her. The Town Clerk of Winchester, to whom I wrote last month, can find no trace of Edith Reverdy in his records. If you know nothing of her, you would be doing me a great service if you could pass this letter on to the leading newspaper in Winchester, in case they have some record of her in their files, or could ask about her in a gossip column. I should be very grateful indeed if you could do this for me.

With my sincere apologies for bothering you like this,

R. A. E. Baldick
Yours very truly,

The Householder,

Mr. R. A. E. Baldick
The Queen's College
Oxford, England

Dear Mr. Baldick:

Your letter of September 10th came to me as we own 5 Cottage avenue and lived there ourselves over 20 years.

I have sought out some of the older residents of that neighborhood but none of them seem able to remember the person of whom you inquire.

I have today written to the Star which is the only paper published in town (weekly) and if that doesn't bring you the information you want, I don't know what will.

If it should turn up anything, you might let the Star know because that paper is, I think, read as thoroughly as can be and I've no doubt your letter will arouse a lot of interest.

Sorry I couldn't do more.

Yours very truly,
xxxxxxx

It is suggested that anyone able to furnished Mr. Baldick with the desired information, write him direct. — (Ed.)

UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS

The Mass. Branch of the United World Federalists held its Annual Conference on Saturday, October 27th, at the Hotel Kenmore, Boston. After the opening luncheon there was an address by Thomas H. Mahony, the Chairman, on "Ways to World Order." This was followed by a discussion by representatives of eight groups. Following this meeting, "Workshops on U. W. F. Education, Publicity, and How to Meet the Opposition" were held. The response to Gordon Hall's talk on this last subject was so enthusiastic that he has been invited to speak at several meetings in Connecticut.

At 4:30 the Annual Meeting was held. Officers elected were: Pres., Carter C. Higgins, Worcester; Vice Presidents, Mrs. Richard B. Anderson, Springfield, and David B. H. Martin, Manchester, Mass.; Treas., A. H. Parker, Sherborn; Audits, Cyrad Hobbs, Boston. Robert B. Williams, Winchester, was elected to the Active Board, and Stillman Williams, Wellesley, Secretary to the State Branch and Mrs. Cutler B. Downer, Winchester, to the Advisory Committee.

At 7 o'clock a most delicious dinner, attended by about 250, was served in the Crystal Room. Norman Cousins, Editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, and Vice President of the World Federalists, spoke.

Those from Winchester who attended the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. A. Miles Holbrook, Mrs. Oscan Lane, Miss Mabelle R. Nickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Moffatt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Williams, Mrs. Frances R. Williams, Mrs. Howard J. Chidley, Mr. E. Ekman, Miss Margaret E. Newton, and Mrs. Cutler B. Downer.

HOCKEY PLAY DAY

Representing Winchester High School at the annual High School Hockey Play Day, held at Concord on October 27, the varsity team compiled a record of one win, two ties and one loss. Co-captain and right wing "Moe" O'Connell, left-inner Jan Easton, and left-full Lynne Stevens were chosen to the All-Star reserve team. Sheila Scanlon, a Jay-Vee full-back, received first prize in a poster contest held in affiliation with the Women's Field Hockey Nationals to be held in late November at Wellesley College.

Walnut Hill was Winchester's first opponent and neither team was able to score. The teams were evenly matched but because of the condition of the field and the cool weather, neither team could open up its offensive attack.

Winchester next encountered Newton, who was substituting for the Watertown team which did not make an appearance. Anna Fiorenza scored Winchester's first goal of the morning but the score was soon deadlocked as Newton broke into the scoring circle. The game ended in a 1-1 stalemate.

The third contest was against Hingham who proved to be little trouble as Winchester defeated them 2-0. Jan Easton and Anna Fiorenza accounted for Winchester's goals.

Lexington was the final game of the morning. This was a grudge contest as Lexington is the only team to have beaten Winchester this year. Both teams were up for the game and as a result it was one of the fastest and hardest fought contests of the day. Lexington scored the winning goal on a disputed play. Their center forward kicked the ball into the goal. The official did not see it and the goal was allowed.

When Tarawa Atoll in the Gilbert Islands was chosen as the opening wedge in the great U. S. push across the Central Pacific in World War II, the only chart available for the coral outcrop was one made in 1841 by a Naval exploring expedition led by Lieutenant Charles Wilkes, says the National Geographic Society.

MRS. JOHN. I. FRENCH

Mrs. Josephine Pollard French, widow of Dr. John I. French, both formerly of Winchester, died on Sunday, October 28, at Doctor's Hospital in New York City. She was born 88 years ago in Woburn, daughter of Samuel and Sarah Linnell Pollard.

Mrs. French's husband was a physician in Winchester before his death in 1905, and was prominent in the town's affairs. Their home, until Dr. French's death, was at 180 Mystic Valley Parkway, and Mrs. French lived on there until she left town about the time of World War I.

Mrs. French made her home in recent years at 130 East End Avenue in New York City with her only surviving daughter, Barbara, now Mrs. J. C. Burton. She had been seriously ill for about five weeks as the result of a broken hip.

Funeral services were held at the Chapel of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York on Tuesday, October 30. Interment was at the Woodbrook Cemetery in Woburn on November 2nd.

MATTHEW JULIEN TOBEY

Matthew Julien Tobey of 5 Francis Circuit, president of the Uno Ventilator Company of Malden, died Thursday morning, October 25, at the Winchester Hospital, after a brief illness that followed a long period of failing health.

Born in New Bedford, December 1, 1877, Mr. Tobey was graduated from Harvard in the class of 1901. As a young man he was associated with Willett-Sears Company of Boston, reorganizing for that firm the factory of the Daniel Green Felt Shoe Company in Worcester. For 25 years he was sole owner, as well as president and treasurer of the firm. He was a member of the Harvard Club of Boston.

Mr. Tobey came to Winchester in 1919. He leaves his wife, the former Alice Cutler; two sons, Gordon, of Melrose, and J. Lawrence of Marblehead; one grandchild and a sister, Miss Lilly A. Tobey of Jamaica Plain.

THE DIFFERENCE?

A SALE is a CLEANING-OUT of a few pairs of "These's" and "Those's". In other words, sizes, widths and colors are usually broken up and it is "HIT" or "MISS" if your style or size is in stock.

THE GIFTS?

$1.00 off on every pair of Children's, Boys' and Girls' shoes in the store.

$1.00, $2.00 to $3.00 off of every pair of Women's shoes.

$1.00 and $2.00 off of every pair of Men's shoes.

Our merchandise is marked at our regular prices. Regular Top Grade Brands, such as "Kalistenik", "Peter Pan", Sun-Dial Bonnie Laddie" and "Blue-Bonnet", in Children's, Boys' or Girls'.

"Queen-Quality", "Bellair", "American Girl", "Kalistenik Madamettes" or "Sandlers" in Women's shoes.

THE REASON?

Frankly just at this moment we have more shoes on hand than we have cash. So-o-o we thought that if your family needed shoes at this time, and you were presented with a gift of $1.00, $2.00 or $3.00 on each pair of well-known Brands, we would sort of be doing each other a GOOD TURN.

WATER AND OIL LIFEBLOOD OF SAUDI ARABIA KINGDOM

The answer: In an Arabian Nights land between the Red Sea and the Persian Gulf, Saudi Arabia. There, an American oil company working a vast and productive oil concession is now cooperating with King Ibn Saud for the distribution of a documentary color film that will help educate Arabs in ways of conserving their precious water supply.

Scarce water and abundant oil are the mainsprings of Saudi Arabia's life and modern economy, says the National Geographic Society. Long before the current movie project, pioneer oil men were faced with the interdependence of the two elements.

Quantities of water are needed to drill for oil and to maintain the crews and settlements that produce this machine-age lubricant, for its part, the oil industry has turned up numerous new water sources which not only meet its own purposes but aid in the development of the country as a whole.

Water to be Tapped

Except in the mountainous west and southwest rims, Saudi Arabia's annual rainfall amounts to only about three inches. There are virtually no permanent streams in a land whose more than half a million square miles are spread over largely rocky plateau and inhospitable desert. Brief and torrential downpours send occasional wild floods along the wadies, or water courses, but during most of the year these ditches and gullies are dust dry.

Yet there may be considerable water waiting to be tapped beneath the arid, forbidding crust of Saudi Arabia. Just where and how much is not yet known. Geologists from the U. S. Interior Department are now conducting a survey of Saudi Arabia's water resources as a Point Four project to assist underdeveloped nations.

Meanwhile, nature's green and fertile oases continue to serve the wandering riders of the desert, while new man-produced oases have been made possible through modern drilling equipment and skill.

It is here that oil and water meet most strikingly in the operations of Aramco, the Arabian American Oil Company which holds the exclusive concession for some 450,000 square miles of Saudi Arabian territory.

Wells Beside Pipeline

In addition to water installations at its producing oil fields in the Persian Gulf region, and the scattered water wells sunk here and there in once totally parched desert hinterlands, the company has drilled about 40 such life-giving wells along the recently completed Tapline that carries oil to the Mediterranean.

Wherever this water has gushed forth at pump stations and other points of the 1,068-mile pipeline, Arab wayfarers have gathered with their herds of sheep, goats, and camels.

Indirectly, the huge oil royalties paid to Saudi Arabia (now estimated to have reached some $90,000,000 a year) have also provided the government with funds for far-reaching national development programs, including various irrigation and other water works.

The earliest and one of the most important of these irrigation projects was the model farm at the Al Kharj oasis near the capital, Riyadh, where oil-industry engineers again dabbled in water. Using power-driven pumps, a 10-mile concrete canal, and other irrigation aids, these Americans laid the groundwork for the large-scale production of grains, fruits and vegetables that has made Al Kharj a garden spot of arid Saudi Arabia.

SPHINX HAS SEEN ABOUT EVERYTHING DURING 5,000-YEAR WATCH OVER MAN

For 5,000 years the great Sphinx of Egypt at Giza has watched the antics of mankind with an amused, slight smile on his lips.

Although said to be suffering from old age and presently undergoing plastic surgery, the human-headed, lion-bodied figure seems in good enough health for several more centuries of observing his human neighbors, notes the National Geographic Society.

That sport began about 3,000 years before the birth of Christ in the days of Egypt's Old Kingdom and its great pyramid builders. The Two Lands — as the nation was known — were then strong and wealthy. Wars were not yet the fashion, if one historian is to be believed, and farmers had time from their labors to gratify their rulers' desires for indestructible tombs.

Contemporaries of the Sphinx in the Old Kingdom already had a Book of Surgery in which it was written that a broken neck was "an ailment not to be treated." And words of wisdom were readily available in the Proverbs of Ptahhotep — "Be not arrogant because of thy knowledge, and he not puffed up for that thou art a learned man; He who giveth good counsel is an artist, for speech is more difficult than any craft."

Then, as now, such words had limited effect and the Old Kingdom dissolved into 400 years of political turmoil. In the words of writers of the time, "Yesterday is perished, and violence is come upon all men. Behold, he that possessed wealth now spendest the night athirst. Behold, noble ladies go hungry. What was prepared for them goes to sate the butchers. Verily, the children of princes are dashed against the walls."

Into the revolutions, about 2000 B. C., rode the strong man of his day, Amenemhet I, who, in the fashion of dictators counseled his son thus: "That thou mayest be king of the earth, harden thyself against all subordinates. The people give heed to him who terrorizes them; approach them not alone. Fill not thy heart with a brother; know not a friend."

Hymns to Sun

The Sphinx saw the Middle Kingdom die and the Early Empire (1580-1375 B. C.) rise and fall. Across the sky of the later Empire, which lasted until about 1000 B. C., blazed the personality of one of Egypt's most remarkable men.

King Ikhnaton wrote hymns to the sun and dreamed of a universal god, to whom he spoke, "Even createst thou men for thyself, Lord of them all, who art weary because of them. Thou art in my heart. Thou are lifetime thyself, and men live in thee."

Not long thereafter conqueror after conqueror — Persians, Greeks, Romans, Arabs, Turks, French — swept Egypt, and history indulged, time and again, in its penchant for repetition — under the inscrutable gaze of the Sphinx.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The oceans abound in tiny animal and vegetable organisms called plankton — the basic diet for all animal life in the seas.

Cowbirds, cuckoos, and a few other species lay their eggs in other birds' nests and let the foster parent hatch the eggs and rear the young, notes the National Geographic Society. Accepting this imposition often costs the foster parents their own young, which are smaller, grow more slowly, and are eventually smothered or crowded out of the nest.

Early American colonists found the Indians playing a dice-like game that became known as "hub-hub," because of the shouts of "hub-hub-huh" that accompanied it.

Spearmint, a plant resembling peppermint and now found throughout the world, has been known since Biblical days, observes the National Geographic Society.

The development of America's modern ready-to-wear clothing industry grew out of problems of military supplies, notes the National Geographic Society. World War I saw the first large-scale standardization in this field, as military authorities and the industry joined in setting up simplified classifications and standards to meet the army's huge demands.

The transparency of high-grade optical glass is 99 per cent, in comparison with 85 to 90 per cent for ordinary window glass, says the National Geographic Society.

Next to Mecca's Kaaba and Medina's Mosque of the Prophet, the Mosque of Omar (Dome of the Rock) in Jerusalem is the structure most sacred to 250 million Moslems, says the National Geographic Society.

Ancient Norsemen believed the lights of the aurora were the Valkyries riding their ghostly horses through the sky. Some Eskimo tribes of Alaska believe them to be the spirits of the dead playing a game resembling soccer, using a walrus skull for a ball. Eskimos of Point Barrow, Alaska, fearing the aurora, carry a knife when they go outside while it is shining, the National Geographic Society says.

OCEAN'S DEEPEST "DEEP" BENEATH PHILIPPINE SEA

Six and a half miles down in the Philippine Sea, locked in bitter cold, silent darkness and pressures of seven tons per square inch, is the deepest spot yet found in any ocean.

Pile 27 Empire State Buildings there, one upon the other, and the topmost would still be submerged. Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain, would go under by more than a mile. A penny dropped at the surface would take several hours to reach bottom.

Wartime Discovery

On July 14, 1945, U.S.S. "Cape Johnson", a workaday Navy transport plowing across the Pacific with a Princeton University geology professor as its wartime skipper, found 34,440 feet of water beneath its keel. Although the time was close to midnight, the ship's echo sounder was turned on, probing the bottom of a huge undersea canyon called the Mondanao Trench.

Five years later, the Navy named this spot Cape Johnson Deep and announced that it was the deepest accurately sounding yet obtained. A depth of 35,400 feet farther south in the Mindanao Trench, reported by the German Cruiser "Emden" in 1927, had been recognized as an error, a report to the American Geophysical Union said. The "Emden" early sound gear apparently founced a signal off a distant side of the trough rather than off the bottom.

Before sonic depth finders were developed, the world's great "deeps" were measured by the time-honored but inexact method of lowering a weight on a line or cable. In 1912, the German oceanographic ship "Planet" unreeled miles of piano wire into the depths off Mindanao and reported bottom at 32,112 feet. It was one of the notable discoveries of the day.

Undersea Grand Canyon

Mindanao Trench is now known to stretch some 600 miles along the eastern flank of the Philippines. Four times the size of Grand Canyon, it is but one of a series of great gases scarring the ocean floor for thousands of miles across the Pacific.

Vast holes have been measured along an arc of trenches that sweeps from Japan southward to the Caroline Islands. Midway between Tokyo and Iwo Jima is Ramapo Deep, its 34,038-foot measurement the second deepest yet verified. A hole in the sea off Guam, Mansyu Deep, is third at 32,208. Near-by is 31,614-foot Nero Deep, discovered in 1899 while a Pacific cable route was being charted.

Other depths greater than 25,000 feet include Aldrich Deep northeast of New Zealand, 30,930 feet; Milwaukee Depth north of Hispaniola in the West Indies, 30,246 feet; Planet Deep across the Equator from Christmas Island, 29,988 feet; Byrd Deep, discovered by Admiral Byrd's 1928-1930 expedition to Antarctica, 28,152 feet; Meteor Deep in the south Atlantic, 26,574 feet; and Richard's Deep off Chile, 25,050 feet.

M. S. P. C. A. NOTES

The Winchester Auxiliary of the M. S. P. C. A. met at the home of Mrs. John Clarke, 149 Highland avenue on Thursday, October 18 at 2:30 p. m. The President, Mrs. Clarke, conducted the meeting and several important matters of business were discussed.

The secretary told of sending $25.00 to the M. S. P. C. A. in Boston, for the Live Stock Fund which is used to try and prevent cruelty in the transporting of live stock. $100.00 was sent to the Angell Memorial Hospital towards a memorial animal cage. The inscription to be placed on the cage is as follows: "this cage is the gift of the Winchester Branch Auxiliary in memory of its Founder Marion Rice Taylor."

Mrs. Underwood offered her home for the next meeting on November 8th and plans for the Food Sale to be held at the home of Mrs. George Connor, 403 Main street will be discussed at that time.

Mrs. Clarke told of an interesting happening in the Fells, where she discovered four baby racoons. Feeling that the mother had deserted them or been injured, she was about to report the matter to the M. S. C. P. A. The next day, however, she found them gone, evidently cared for by the mother.

Following this interesting meeting, a delightful tea was served by Mrs. Clarke and her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Hildreth and Mrs. William Beggs poured.

MR. TARR TO ADDRESS THE FORUM

Friday and Saturday of this week are Work Days for Christ for members of the Forum, youth group of the First Congregational Church. One hundred forty-six young people have pledged themselves to work on one of those days and give their earnings to Congregational Missions in Mexico and the islands of Micronesia. The young people are earnestly trying to reach the goal of $300 which they have set for themselves as the amount to be earned on those two days.

On Sunday, the Forum will have its dedication service when the young people will present their earnings. The speaker will be Rev. Donald B. Tarr, Director of Religious Education at the First Congregational Church, and friend and counsellor to the Forum members. Mr. Tarr will bring a message, "Just for Today." George DeCamp will be the chaplain, assisted by Allen Cairncross. Ushers will be Bradford Johnson and Daniel Blanchard. The service was planned by a committee consisting of John Becker, Marjorie Dexter, Joan Moore, Judy Nanry, Dick Lowry, and Dick Rush. This will be Mr. Tarr's last appearance as speaker to the Forum before he takes up his new duties in Battle Creek, Michigan.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

Mrs. Anna Mason of Wedgemere avenue graciously opened her home to all Fortnightly members on Monday, October 29. A delightful coffee hour preceded a most interesting speaker, Miss Margaret Brayton, Principal of Massachusetts State Hospital School of Canton, Mass. In the absence of the Educational Chairman, Mrs. Paul Howard, our gracious President, Mrs. Hiscoe introduced the speaker. Miss Brayton chose for her subject, "Special Problems in the Education of Crippled Children." She was certainly qualified to speak on such a subject as she has been at the hospital twenty-three years and has had a tremendously wide scope of experiences. The hospital grounds consist of one hundred sixty-five acres. Miss Brayton extended a cordial welcome to any groups of people who wish to visit the hospital if they will first contact her.

The Literature group of the Fortnightly invite all members to their first meeting at the Public Library, Monday at 2:00 P. M., November 5.

The Preservation of Antiques committee have planned a most interesting meeting for all Fortnightly members to be held November 7, Wednesday at 2:00 P.M., at the home of Miss Mary Alice Fitch, 14 Sheffield West. Mrs. Fred C. Burdette is going to speak on "The History of American Lighting." There also will be an exhibit of many types of old lamps.

The Art Committee have really been busy. In cooperation with the Mass. Federation of Women's Clubs, the Art Committee of The Fortnightly is currently sponsoring a contest among the art students of the Winchester High School based on original compositions illustrating "The American Way of Life." Three pictures will be selected from the student entries and sent to the State Division of Art. These will be judged a second time at state level and five winning in each state will be sent to the General Federation for final judging. Those approved by the General Federation will be sent to clubs abroad to promote good will among people of the world and an understanding of each other's way of life. At the last meeting of Fortnightly a preliminary exhibition was held of W. H. S. students' work in this contest. Those who saw it know that, thanks to the cooperation of Miss Goodrich and her art classes, we shall have some fine entries to submit to the state contest. Some of the pictures will be on display in Filene's window during American Art Week, starting November 5th. The local judging committee consists of Miss Pauline F. Goodrich, Art Instructor at W. H. S., Mrs. Lillian M. Leathers, District Representative, and Mrs. Frederick W. Cole, Fortnightly Art Chairman. They have selected the entries of: Betty Lou Martensen, soph; Kent Wright, soph; Deborah Duke, soph; Joan O'Neil, senior; Sheila Scanlon, soph; and Jennifer Meigs, senior. These entries are to be submitted to the Eighth District. The Fortnightly wishes to congratulate these preliminary winners and to thank all those students who participated in the contest for their cooperation in such a worthy project.

Also in Filene's window during the week starting November 5, as part of Fortnightly's recognition of Art Week there will be a display of paintings and various types of art work done by our own Fortnightly members. Art Week is an appropriate time to make that long-promised visit to one or more of the art museums or galleries hereabouts. For a list of current exhibits and museum hours, contact your Art Chairman at WI 6-1894-M.

The Christmas Card Class sponsored by the Art Committee will start this week with a demonstration of various art techniques which may be used in the making of original cards. Any Fortnightly member interested in joining the class is most welcome to do so.

Marion Ladd Symmes has an exhibition of her oil paintings at the Sharon Art Center, Sharon, N. H. The show opened last Sunday with a tea and will remain open until November 18th. This art colony is in the heart of the Monadnocks and many of her paintings are of this region.

ROTARY NOTES

The "guest" speaker at Rotary this week was none other than "Charlie" Koch, one of our own members. Charlie not only insisted on paying for his own luncheon, contrary to custom of guest speakers, but refused to sit at the head table until his time for speaking came. His talk was on the five inch shell as used today by our armed forces. Told in Charlie's own words and well larded with homely words of philosophy, the speech was an unqualified success. Not only did Charlie explain in general the various uses of the five inch shell but he pointed a moral in the misuse of fire power which selfish men have ever sought unsuccessfully to gain their own ends. An inspiring and down-to-earth talk.

Some two weeks ago the Rotary welcomed for this first half year two new Junior Rotarians. They are Harold Quigley and Jost Michelsen. Two better boys from our high school could not have been chosen, and the club will share equally with these boys through our own contacts with them.

The music, in the absence of Jim McGrath, has been handled by Newt Farrington from the Winchester Post Office. With Milne Blanchard leading, he is doing a good job at waking up the club from their accustomed lethargy in singing.

The club bowling league is off to a somewhat shaky start, since the day and hour seem to be unsuitable to many. It is hoped as the season progresses that more men will be able to get down to make it the usual hot league it has been in the past. Even at this early stage in the game it looks like Captain Allan Wilde has his "Yankees" in prime shape to take an easy victory from the rest of the teams.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Art Study Group will meet on Friday, November 9th at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts for a visit to the exhibition of the Art Treasures from Vienna, which was opened to the public the 31st of October and will remain for 6 weeks.

There will be two talks. The one at 10 o'clock is a General Introduction to the Vienna Collection, and at 11 another on the Portraiture in the Collection. There is a small fee for admission to the exhibition, and luncheon at the Museum is optional.

This will be the last day to visit the Karl Zerbe exhibition at the Institute of Contemporary Art, 138 Newbury Street.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Schools in Winchester are closed today while faculty members attend the 97th annual convention of the Middlesex County Teachers' Association at Mechanics Hall.

The major feature of the program will be an address by Dr. Harold C. Hunt, Superintendent of Schools of Chicago and one of the nation's leaders in public education. Other speakers will be Mr. Mark Strickland, philosopher and humorist, and Mr. Arthur L. Ross, president of the association. A large exhibit of books, pamphlets, and other educational supplies is being presented by a group of educational publishers.

GOOD NEWS FOR RED FEATHER

Quigley Wins

Harold Quigley, Winchester High entry in the Union Leader Red Feather Speaking Contest, won the right to compete in the finals in Boston on Friday by winning over the keen competition of Arlington, Belmont, Waltham, and Woburn. Al Elliott and John McIntyre of Rotary Club have invited Harold to give his five minute speech to the Rotary Club meeting at the Baptist Church this week. Judges were Robert Brauner of Reading, Mrs. Helen Hines, of Stoneham, and William Carney of Melrose. They were asked to rate 40% on Composition, 30% on presentation, and 30% on interpretation. Harold scored high in all three, particularly in originality, attitude and sincerity. He points out, "through your one annual gift you are assuring our American constitutional right of equal opportunity provided by Red Feather agencies every month in the year."

Barbara Burns of Arlington dramatized what it meant to young people to know that Red Feather Family agencies help the sick in heart just as Red Feather hospitals help the sick in body. Eleanor Picariello of Belmont spoke warmly of the prompt, skillful friendliness of the Visiting Nurses. Frank Mooney of Waltham quoted Ted Williams "The Red Feather knocks a real home run in this game of life — get in there and slug for it". "Most people don't realize that the Red Feather is the backbone of youth" said John Gonsalves of Woburn in his special talk on the Boy Scout movement.

"ALPINE SKI TRACKS" TO BE SHOWN HERE

Snow is predicted and plenty of it for this coming winter so the Chamois Ski Club of Winchester is now making preparations to interest more Winchester people — young and old — in skiing so that they will really enjoy the snow when it comes and not just think of it as something to shovel. At the Winchester High School auditorium on Wednesday evening, November 7 at 7:45 p. m. Mr. Win Potter of the Appalachian Mt. Club will bring his beautiful ski movie, "Alpine Ski Tracks" for the enjoyment of all in Winchester and vicinity. Don't miss it — it's really a treat.

For all the news read The Star.

"FINE SHAVIAN EVENING"

The New York Post, Richard Watts, Jr., dramatic critic, wrote of "The Devil's Disciple" when it played in New York last fall, "It is another fine Shavian evening . . . a completely beguiling melodramatic comedy, and a thorough joy to behold. This is an event no sensible theatre-goer should miss."

The Herald Tribune's columns said of this play, "the distinguished nonagenarian (Shaw) was rarely in a more impish mood than when he imagined that a New Hampshire rebel pretended that he was an equally rebellious cleric and went to General Burgoyne's gallows with 'chin up'. The theme gave G. B. Shaw a superlative opportunity for satire."

The Parish Players are presenting "The Devil's Disciple" on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 8, 9 and 10, in Parish Hall, First Congregational Church. See Coming Events.

GILBERT & SULLIVAN

An evening of Gilbert and Sullivan favorites will be enjoyed by members of the Business and Professional Women's Guild and their guests on Wednesday, November 7, at 7:45 in the Ladies' Parlor of the First Congregational Church.

Major Joseph Hancott of the U. S. Air Force will present favorites from Gilbert and Sullivan operas. Major Hancott is well-known to Winchester audiences since he has played leading roles in The Gondoliers and all performances of The Staff and Key.

Many members of the Business and Professional Women's Guild who recall the delightful evening when Major Hancort gave a similar program two years ago will wish to recapture the pleasure of that evening. All members are urged to invite guests to share with them the pleasure of hearing Major Hancort on November 7.

George Rozhaar will show movies at our Sunday evening meeting, November 4th, at 6:30 P. M. The worship service will be conducted by Shirley Kinney.

George Rozhaar will lead the recreation, ably assisted by Debbie French.

See you Sunday?

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL DADS' CLUB

The Dads' Club of the George Washington School packed them in last Friday night for the "Hobo Dance" and Hallowe'en Party. From the beginning to the end it was a night of fun, with everybody dressed in true "hobo fashion." Prizes were won by Tom Morrison, Barbara Lamarche, Warren Osborne, and Paul Lamarche for unusual costumes.

The hall was beautifully decorated by the Dads, and even provision was made for the Louis-Marciano fight, with one room sporting a T. V. set for the evening.

Music was furnished by the Dad's Maestro Jim Chaffe, with Neal Dowe at the piano, Martin Wold at the drums, Walter Hutchinson on the trombone, and Jim on the clarinet. Pre-dance dinner parties, and post dance house parties kept the area in a very festive mood, and all hands are looking forward to the next dance.

John Wakefield, chairman of the Dads Club, is to be congratulated for the most unusual decorating, as is his excellent committee. The entire proceeds of the dance will be used for children's equipment at the school.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The first meeting of the Winchester Garden Club was held Thursday, October 25, at the home of Miss Alice Main, the spacious house providing an ideal setting for the afternoon's program. After a delicious dessert had been served by the hostess and the President, Mrs. Charles R. Main, a short business meeting was followed by a most delightful talk by Mrs. Phillip C. Davis of the Wakefield Garden Club. Her chosen subject, "Enjoy Your Flowers Indoors," was beautifully illustrated by her twelve arrangements of garden flowers, each one a picture as she placed it against the proper background.

Mrs. Davis opened her talk by saying she felt strongly that arrangements for the home should reflect the season of the year, with a few delicate blooms for spring, a greater wealth of material to reveal the generosity of summer, and an even more lavish display for the autumn season in its fruitful abundance. Her first arrangement reflected the autumn season in its yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, brilliant berries and rose hips, with some warmly colored cards at the base of the brown pottery bat, against a sunny yellow background. Another arrangement of chrysanthemums in soft rose and deep red tones in a glazed pottery container was followed by yellow roses and blue delphinium against a delicate blue background. White roses and grasses in sprays of ivy in a small brass pitcher, and tuberous begonia with its dated leaves in a small shell type effective bowl, were all specific examples of the way Mrs. Davis showed in a delightful manner the ease of the care of cut flowers. Some helpful hints for corsage made a charming floor decoration for the autumn season, and three perfect pink dahlias in a pillow type shaded blue pottery vase showed the beauty of the individual blooms most effectively, while an arrangement of rose colored chrysanthemums in a glazed in's egg blue ceramic container made by herself revealed her undoubted skill in another field of artistic endeavor.

Fruit in a small footed glass container, with sprays of ivy, was shown against a green background, and roses, ranging in tone from pink to deep coral, in a Chinese ginger jar, showed to advantage against a soft blue background. Two suggestions for the luncheon table were enthusiastically received, the first, with blue mats and rose-bordered china, showed pink roses in a small pitcher, while her last arrangement, of feathery yellow chrysanthemums with a spray of yew to add height, was placed against a background of soft chartreuse, with draperies in green, yellow and white in a modern design, with Russell Wright pottery in deep brown. Mrs. Davis said that in her opinion arrangements for the home should not follow too slavishly the rules laid down for Flower Show entries, and as we all reacted differently to color, line and the plant material used, we should develop our own particular style.

Gerald J. Gormley, 90 Canal street, a member of the Organized Submarine Division 1-7, United States Naval Reserve, Boston, has been advanced in rate from seaman recruit to seaman apprentice by the Commandant, First Naval District.

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Time to settle...

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employes and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employes Accept

Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,230,000 railroad employes—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse

But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employes. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employes are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?

They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $.34 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?

The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employes covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employes in yard service. The employes can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employes.

YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

Highschoolers!

Now that you have settled down to the routine of classes and homework why not take time to explore the resources of your high school room in the public library.

There have been some additions this year that will interest you. "Seventeen", a magazine for teenagers — now available. The current issue of this magazine is kept on a table so that you may read it while in the library. Older issues, however, circulate. A new pamphlet added during the summer is "Judy's Teen Topics", containing articles on beauty, things to make and tricks for parties. These pamphlets are kept in the Students' Room for use in the library only.

Your room will highlight many interesting exhibits this year. Why not take a look at the present exhibit which is the lives of famous people when they were teenagers? On November twelfth, there will be an exhibit on fall sports, football in particular. Remember, books which are put in exhibits are there for you to borrow from the library. They are not just for display.

New Books

Next time you are in the Students' Room look for "Doctor In Buckskin", by T. D. Allen. This is a fictionized biography of Marcus Whitman, first missionary doctor to reach Oregon. The description of friendly and hostile indians, as well as the many frontier hazards make this a vivid picture of pioneer life.

Girls, you will be interested to see Ann Heywood's book, "There Is A Right Job For Every Woman". The author discusses methods to determine in what job you will be most content, how to get that job, and finally how to hold it. There are sample interest tests if you are undecided where your interest lies.

Books in the Future

You who like science fiction watch for "Between Two Planets", by Robert Heinlein, which concerns a revolution on Venus against the Interplanetary Federation.

Are you interested in the FBI? Read "Our FBI", by John Floherty. The organization activities of the FBI, its special work, and history under J. Edgar Hoover, are integrated into an informative interesting book.

The Students' Room at the public library is yours to use to best advantage. Use it to supplement your school work, or to give you a few hours of entertainment. In any case, there is something there for every teenager. Those of you who already use the library know this, but the rest of you who are not acquainted with it — why not come in and prove it for yourselves?

Music Program

HONORABLE MENTION

Miss Jane Beggs, a senior at Mount Holyoke College, was mentioned recently in "Items", for her work with the social science research council seminar held at Tufts College last summer.

Miss Beggs, a psychology major, acted as secretary to the group conducting a research seminar in "mathematical models for behavior theory."

A Sarah Williston scholar in her sophomore year, Miss Beggs has also been active in extra curricular affairs as secretary of the Dance Club, a member of the freshman choir and Junior Show. Last year she was also president of her residence hall.

NEW MEMBERS JOIN WINCHESTER SMITH COLLEGE CLUB

Several Smith College alumnae, recently moved from other parts of the country, were welcomed as new members of the Smith College Club at the fall meeting at the home of Mrs. Geoffrey S. Smith, 20 Yale street. President Mrs. Stanley N. Hill introduced Mrs. Edward G. Barnes of Wrangler road, who was in charge for the program. Mrs. H. Oliver Eldridge of 7 Rangeley road, who came from Hamden, Connecticut; Mrs. Charles H. DuToit of 6 Perkins road, who previously lived in Andover; Mrs. Nancy L. Moorhead, formerly of Shrewsbury, now living at 3 Hillside avenue; Mrs. Stanley W. Osgood, of Palo Alto, California, who now lives at 1 Maple road.

Miss Cynthia Watson, the club's youngest member, who graduated with the class of 1951, will take part in the meetings this winter whenever her schedule at the Hebrew Secretarial School permits.

The Club, which now numbers 85 members, conducts two highly successful projects each year for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund — the Community Concerts which, in the last four years, has brought a series of outstanding artists to Winchester; and the Plant Sale and Luncheon in the spring, when year after year, several hundred garden lovers spend the day at Central Green.

At the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Neill, reports of the financial returns of last year's Plant Sale were read, and plans for next Spring's drive to renew membership in the Community Concerts were formulated.

A Coffee Hour followed the meeting, with Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth and Mrs. Melville Hughes pouring. Delicious small cakes and sandwiches were served by Mrs. Benjamin Marshall with the help of her committee: Miss Clara Allen, Mrs. Neill H. Borden, Mrs. Robert Kittredge, Mrs. Gilbert H. Tapley, Mrs. Charles H. Watson and Mrs. Raymond Wilkins.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD

There is in Winchester a branch of the Needlework Guild of America. All over this country and in far Hawaii and Alaska groups of earnest women plan for their annual ingathering, a practical charity to assist all other charities.

This is the way it operates in Winchester. The twenty directors collect two new articles (clothing or household linens) from each of eleven members, the choice of articles being left to the donor. These are then distributed at the annual meeting in the fall to welfare groups in the churches and to the welfare agencies.

Of course, everyone in Winchester is welcomed as a member, and is invited to come to the Annual Meeting. This year, this will be on November 8th at 2:30 p. m. in the Social Hall of the First Baptist Church. The meeting will be under the leadership of Mrs. Wayne B. Thompson, the president. Mr. William P. Supple, agent for the Winchester Welfare Board, will speak on the local welfare program. The articles donated will be on hand and the agencies will choose those best fitted to their work. Tea will be served.

"THE DEVIL'S DISCIPLE"

There should be in every large community, a true theatre, a people's repertory theatre, presenting at nominal prices the finest examples of international dramatic art — a place where one can find recreation and mental and spiritual stimulation". Eva LeGallenne wrote in the William College play-

With this in mind, the Parish Players are rehearsing for their next public production, "The Devil's Disciple" by G. B. Shaw, on November 8, 9 and 10 in Parish Hall, First Congregational Church. The Thursday performance will benefit the Men's Club of the Church, enabling them to undertake a regular "Newsletter" to the men and women in the Armed Forces, and to carry on a program of athletics for boys in the church. See Coming Event.

ASSISTED RED FEATHER CAMPAIGN

Both the Winchester High and Reading High Bands, cheer-leaders and the big corps of Reading girl baton wielders, assisted the Red Feather Campaign at the football game on Manchester Field last Saturday.

Between the halves the combined bands and cheer-leaders spelled out the word "Give" with the Reading baton girls forming a big Red Feather beside the "G". While in this formation the bands played the Red Feather Campaign Song, which was sung by those in the stands who happened to know it. The entire ceremony was very colorful and much enjoyed.

"AMERICA'S PILGRIM VIRGIN"

The "PilgrimVirgin", the religious statue that has been touring the world, will make its first Medford appearance on November 5, 6 and 7 at St. Raphael's Church, West Medford Square, it was announced by Rev. William J. Desmond, pastor of the church. The statue is a replica of the original Our Lady of Fatima at the Basilica in Portugal. It is reported to be the most exact likeness of the real apparition. More than five million people have assisted at Mariam Hours throughout the country in a Crusade of prayer and reparation. Countless miracles of grace have been performed and petitions answered in more than 1,000 parishes where the statue has visited, it is reported. Rt. Rev. William C. McGrath, who has toured the U. S. and Canada with the "Pilgrim Virgin", will preach the Triduum Services at 8:00 p. m. Devotions for the children will be held at 4:00 p. m.

LEWIS PARKHURST MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The fall meeting of the Lewis Parkhurst Mothers' Association met Tuesday afternoon, October 30, in the auditorium of the school. Mrs. George Herrick, the president, extended a very warm welcome to all present especially the newcomers.

Reports were then read by the secretary, Mrs. William J. O'Malley and the treasurer, Mrs. Robert Lowry. The various committees reported on the progress of their work.

Miss Constance Savard, acting principal, gave a very interesting report on the performance to be given by Hal and Ruby Holbrook, November 8th, the proceeds of which go to the Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Herrick next introduced Dr. Norris, who pointed out that it is increasingly more difficult to secure good teachers in as much as so few are going into the profession. He also remarked that teachers' salaries are not keeping pace with those in other lines of endeavor. He emphasized that there was no more important problem facing the town than the maintenance of a good school system.

After the meeting a social hour followed at which time delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Arthur Schmidt and her committee assisting Mrs. Steven Root and Mrs. Robert Orr. Mrs. Leonard Mead and Mrs. Lyndon Burnham poured. This provided an opportunity for the mothers and teachers to chat informally.

PACK 9 NEWS

Cub Pack 9, at its recent meeting in the George Washington School Auditorium, had the rare privilege of hearing Commander Robert Gulick speak and demonstrate, with model planes and landing gear, "Life on a "Flat-top." Commander Gulick is a graduate of the Naval Academy, Class of '39, and saw years of duty as a fighter pilot in the Pacific. He described in great detail, all the phases of life on a plane carrier, and demonstrated, with his model planes, the various techniques of "take-offs" and landings." The boys followed with a question period, and the only reason why they are still not asking questions was a promise by the Commander to take the entire Pack on a visit to an Aircraft Carrier sometime soon.

The George Washington Dads' Club is very proud of the six Dens, comprising forty members, now functioning. The Dens are expected to get bigger in the next few weeks. Chairman, Ben Marshall, and his able committee, and the unusually fine Den Mothers, are prepared for a most active season.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The regular fall meeting of the Winchester Women's Council was held on Friday, October 26, in the Art Gallery of the library. Representatives of the various women's organizations present were welcomed by the President Mrs. Leo V. Manoli. It being United Nations Week, Mrs. Manoli then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Austin T. Bunker, Secretary of the Council, for the showing of a most interesting film titled "This Is Their Story", dealing with the work of UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization).

Following this, Dr. Forbes Norris, Superintendent of schools in Winchester, spoke briefly on a proposed plan for Adult Education in Winchester. This plan is still in the "thinking" stage and Dr. Norris asked the ladies present to sound out their organizations on the desirability, the type of courses to be offered and how such a plan might be financed. Dr. Norris said he welcomed any constructive ideas along this line and suggested a fact finding group be formed to study the work being done in Adult Education in other towns.

Mrs. Kenneth B. Toye of the Military Manpower Commission then introduced two pretty charming young ladies, Sgt. Alice Dulby of the Women's Army Corp. and Cpl. Champagne of the Air Force, who explained the great need for women in the service, the requirements to enter and the many opportunities offered to young women in the Army today.

Mrs. George A. Dutting, Executive Director of the Red Cross, then spoke on the project "Christmas on the High Seas" sponsored by the American Red Cross, which is just what its name implies, supplying gifts to servicemen who will be at sea Christmas and unable to receive family gifts.

Miss Corinne Mead, guest speaker of the morning, gave a most interesting and informative talk on the Social Agencies Group. This group, consisting of the paid executives of all Social Service groups in town, was founded five year ago. They hold monthly meetings to discuss plans and exchange ideas and this close coordination and cooperation results in better service from all.

Calendar Chairman, Mrs. G. H. Gowdy, announced that the calendar maintained by the Council at Shreve, Spaulding's Bookshop now goes through October of next year and urged organizations to enter their dates in it.

Mrs. James B. Willing, Girl Scout Commissioner, spoke briefly on the National Girl Scout Convention held in Boston and attended by many Winchester leaders and Girl Scouts.

Last speaker of the morning was Mrs. William C. Cussek who asked the opinion of the ladies present on a plan for sending a small Christmas gift or card to all Winchester boys in the service. This plan was still in the formative stage at that time and further details will be found in The Star.

NEW SUMMER CAMP FOR GIRLS

It will be of interest to readers of the Winchester Star to learn that Mrs. Barbara H. Metcalf, Executive Director of the Winchester Girl Scouts, and Mr. Lawrence R. Palmer, Assistant Professor at Tufts College and American Red Cross aquatic instructor at Wedge Pond for the past summer, have purchased summer camp property on Bear Island, Lake Winnipesaukee, New Hampshire.

Facilities include a large lodge, a dining hall, cabins and other buildings situated on over forty acres of land with a half mile shore frontage affording a view of the White Mountains and Ossipee range.

This resident girl's camp will be called Camp Nokomis and will be under the joint direction of Mrs. Metcalf and Mr. Palmer this coming season. The program will include swimming, tennis, badminton, archery, music, dramatics, crafts, sailing, riding, primitive camping, trips activities.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION NOVEMBER EXHIBITION

The November Exhibition of the Art Association will be a collection of paintings by Winchesterites. Elizabeth Lobingier, who will herself speak at the opening evening, Tuesday, November 6th.

Unlike St. Matthew's prophet, Mrs. Lobingier is with honor in her own land and needs little introduction. She was born in Washington, D. C., with, for all practical purposes, a paint-brush in her hand, since her mother was an artist, and for all practical purposes, the paint-brush has remained in her hand during the intervening years.

She graduated from the University of Chicago, having majored in Fine Arts, later from the Academy of Fine Arts and the Art Institute of Chicago. She has both taught and studied at various summer schools in Taos, New Mexico, and Gloucester and Rockport. For eight years after her graduation she was Supervisor of Art in the School of Education, University of Chicago, and for fifteen years she has directed the Winchester Studio Guild.

Her exhibitions, which have been as far-spread as the Oberlin Art Gallery and the Mint Museum, Charlotte, North Carolina, have brought her honor and awards including the coveted Pirchard Prize award from the Mint Museum. She is an experimentalist in painting, as her Gallery Talk will show.

From her father, who was a judge, Mrs. Lobingier probably acquired the tidy mind which enables her to write as well as paint. Her latest book, published last year, is "Activities in Child Education, Art."

But perhaps Mrs. Lobingier's greatest achievement is the fact that her love of and enthusiasm for art increases as the years pass, so that one has only to talk to her to become an art enthusiast oneself. Wife, mother, artist, author—the second seasonal exhibition of the Winchester Art Association will undoubtedly be of great interest because of the personality of its speaker.

On October 30, 1951, Mr. Bruce W. Young, of 4 Birch Lane, Winchester employed at the Everett Refinery of the Esso Standard Oil Company, was presented with an emblem denoting 10 years' continuous service with that Company. Mr. Young is a Chemical Engineer who commenced his career with the Company in the Technical Service Division in New Jersey. The presentation was made by Mr. E. Murphy, General Superintendent, who congratulated Mr. Young on his faithful service.

MYSTIC SCHOOL GRADE TEAS

Miss Minetta Jurgenson and the mothers of her section of the Fourth Grade at the Mystic School met for tea on Thursday, October 18, at the home of Mrs. Stanley S. Ballard, Boom Mother. Wearing a corsage of golden chrysanthemums, Miss Jurgenson spoke of her charges, indicating the lines along which she would like to see them progress during the year. Delicious sandwiches, tea and coffee were served by the tea committee, the members of which were Mesdames Herbert Clark, Robert Eddy, W. Leslie Doten, Dana Kelly, Richard Gould, and William MacDonald.

On Wednesday afternoon, October 17, a tea was held at the home of Mrs. William Wolsey, 50 Jefferson road, for Miss Carolyn Woodell and the members of her Fourth Grade pupils at Mystic School. Miss Woodell was presented a corsage, and tea was served by cohostesses Mrs. Seth Shorey and Mrs. Charles Bond, with Mrs. Colver P. Dyer pouring.

WINCHESTER MORNINGS

The second in the series of Winchester Mornings, sponsored by the Wellesley Club of Winchester, was held at the Music Hall Thursday morning, October 25, and featured a talk on "Current Developments in our Defense Economy," by John Harriman of the Boston Globe. Following the usual coffee hour Mr. Harriman presented the group with startling facts and interesting statistics regarding the inflation situation.

The final lecture in the Winchester Mornings series will be on Thursday, November 15, at the Music Hall, and will feature John Beaufort, Arts Editor of the Christian Science Monitor, who will speak on "The Theatre from London to Broadway." Coffee will be served as usual at 10 a. m. preceding the lecture at 10:30. There are some guest tickets available which may be obtained by calling Mrs. Thomas Downes, Winchester 6-1833.

Miss Doris I. Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Casey of 18 Russell road, has been elected a member of the Student Social Committee of the Katharine Gibbs School, Boston, which she is now attending.

Box 333 was sounded late last Friday night for a slight fire in the cellar of the home of Mr. Michael A. Penta, 45 Forest street.

Another old Winchester landmark was obliterated by our Hallowe'en revelers Wednesday night when the ornamental sign marking the entrance to Rangely was wrecked. This sign, which had marked the Rangely entrance for the past hundred years, was one of the few remaining mementoes of the former Skillings estate which covered this section. For over a century it withstood storm and time before vanishing under present-day enlightenment and education.

The many Winchester friends of Mr. Edward H. Merrill, a former resident now living in Wakefield, will regret to learn that he is at the New England Sanatorium in Melrose where he recently underwent an operation. He is a former member of the Board of Selectmen.

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by Stephen Howard Darrah of Rochester, Vt., and Barbara Sherry Hevey of 484 Washington street.

An engineer from the American LaFrance Company has been in Winchester this week giving the Fire Department's big aerial ladder truck its yearly company testing. During the tests the Department's old Arbus Fox Ladder 1 was put back in commission in case of need.

WINCHESTER, 3; ARLINGTON 0

Led by center-forward Anna Fiorenza, the Winchester High School's varsity field hockey team rolled over an unimpressive Arlington aggregation 3 - 0 on October 26 at Winchester.

Winchester completely dominated play throughout the contest with Arlington making only one serious threat. The only goal of the first half was tallied by Anna Fiorenza on a clean, open shot from about ten feet in front of the goal. Gretchie Daschbach scored Winchester's second goal on a similar shot and Anna Fiorenza followed up shortly after with her second goal by knocking the ball into the net after a brief scurry with the goalie.

WINCHESTER AND MALDEN TIED

Winchester High School's varsity field hockey team fought to a scoreless deadlock with Malden on Tuesday, October 23, at Malden. The sloppy condition of the field hindered play for both teams throughout the contest.

NAVY WINGS TO EATON

Navy wings of gold now adorn the uniform of Lieutenant (jg) William T. Eaton of the United States Navy. Having successfully completed his flight training, he was designated a Naval Aviator recently by Rear Admiral F. P. Hughes, USN, Chief of Naval Air Base Training, during ceremonies held at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Florida.

Lieutenant Eaton, son of Mr. C. N. Eaton of 2 Ridgeway, graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in June of 1949 and served aboard the USS Henley and the USS Rodman before entering the Naval Aviation Flight Training Program. He began his active flight training in August of 1950 when he reported to the U. S. Naval School of Pre-Flight at NAS Pensacola, where he completed a strenuous schedule in military, academic and physical training. From Pre Flight he was advanced to basic training, which consisted of primary, acrobatics, instruments, gunnery and tactics and was climaxed by six take-offs and landings in his SNJ "Texan" trainer aboard the aircraft carrier USS Monterey.

He was then sent to advanced training at Corpus Christi, Texas, for a four month syllabus in combat type aircraft. After this, he returned Pensacola to qualify aboard the USS Monterey in his combat type aircraft before receiving his wings.

Lieutenant Eaton has been ordered to report to the Naval Air Advanced Training Command at Corpus Christi, Texas, for further training. Upon completion of this training, he will be assigned to the Commander of Air Forces, Atlantic, for duty.

UNITED CHURCH CANVASS

The first Winchester United Church Canvass really got underway this week with the mailing of a letter and folder to 2,500 families throughout the town.

The letter is signed by the ministers of the six churches cooperating in the canvass: Rev. Walter I. Bailey, First Baptist; Rev. Virgess Hill, New Hope Baptist; Rev. Howard J. Chidley, First Congregational; Rev. John W. Cook, Second Congregational; Rev. John Snook, Jr., Crawford Memorial Methodist and Rev. Robert A. Storer, Unitarian.

The letter points out that Winchester is joining in a growing movement of closer cooperation among Protestant churches, and that this movement helps fill the need for greater church activity without a loss in individuality.

The letter states that on or before Loyalty Sunday, December 2, the recipients will be asked for their pledge. It urges serious consideration of what the churches mean to the individual and to the community and asks support of this united effort.

The folder is an attractive four page pamphlet explaining what a pledge means to the church, the community and the person. The back page carries pictures of the six participating churches and a statement why the churches have united to meet a challenge.

This first mailing will be followed up by another, by posters, advertising in the Star and the formation of a committee of nearly 500 canvassers to visit homes on Loyalty Sunday, December 2.

MRS. HILDEGARDE BRANDEGEE LIVINGSTONE

Mrs. Hildegarde Brandegee Livingstone, wife of Charles S. Livingstone of 8 Brooks street, died at her home Sunday, November 4.

Mrs. Livingstone was born April 12, 1887, in Leavenworth, Kansas. With her parents she later moved to Farmington, Conn., where she attended Miss Porter's School and began her musical studies under Franz Wilcke, concert master of the Hartford Philharmonic Orchestra.

In 1909-10 she attended the Royal Conservatory of Music in Brussels, studying under Cesar Thompson and graduating with a "premier prix avec la plus grande distinction" for her solo work, as well as honors in general musicianship. After completing a concert tour of Europe she lived in St. Petersburg, Russia, now Leningrad, and studied with the famous European violin teacher, Prof. Leopold von Auer.

Later she gave concerts both in Europe and the United States, after which she returned to Dresden for further study with Prof. Auer. Concert tours, teaching engagements and study under the composer, Loeffler, followed.

In 1917 she and Mr. Livingstone were married and after several years residence in Boston came to Winchester where they made their home for 26 years. During this time Mrs. Livingstone continued her solo work and also played chamber music engagements with a trio and quartet. Her musical activities in Winchester have been well known, she having been a member of the Children's Music Group Committee and a supporter of chamber music in the town, as well as lending her talents as a violinist on countless occasions, both as a soloist and in ensemble.

Aside from her music, Mrs. Livingstone was interested in the Parent-Teacher Association and for some years was active in the Mystic School Chapter. She was also a member of the League of Women Voters and an organizer and supporter of the Neighborhood Discussion Group which functioned in the Symmes Corner section for a number of years, during and after World War II. She was also a devoted follower of her family's trotting horses and took great pride in the world's record for a mile and three-quarters held by her husband's trotter, Muriel Hanover.

Services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the late residence with Mr. Edward Simpson, reader at the First Church of Christ Scientist in Winchester, officiating. Burial will be in Red Beach, Maine.

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICES

Winchester's observance of Armistice Day will take place on Monday morning, November 12, the day proclaimed for the observance of Armistice Day instead of November 11 this year.

Members of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and all other interested veterans will meet at the Legion Home on Vine street at 10:30 A. M. and will march to a body to the War Memorial where short services will be conducted at 11 o'clock.

With the present condition of the World unsettled and with the threat of another war always present, it is very easy to forget the tribulations of our past engagements together with the joys of the Armistice in 1918, but the veterans of that War will not forget, and a large group is expected to take part in the exercises.

HARD STORM SATURDAY

Winchester had a storm of near hurricane proportions last Saturday, with high winds and torrential rain during much of the day. Damage to trees and wires was reported in many sections of the town and there was some loss of electric power in the storm.

Trees were down on Cross street at Highland View Terrace, on Chesterfield road, on Cambridge street opposite the home of Martin Swanson, with large trees down on two places along Washington street, one down on Lebanon street, on Grove street, Fernway, Skillings Path and Nelson street.

Scott Sargent of Winchester, baritone with the Bowdoin College glee club, will part cipate in next Sunday's (Nov. 11) radio concert of "Songs from New England Colleges." The concert, sponsored by Monsanto, will be broadcast directly from the college campus. Radio stations carrying the glee club series include WBZ, Boston, and eight others.

COMING EVENTS

Nov. 9, Friday evening, 7:30 to 9:00: Autographing party at Mary Spaulding's Bookshop. Dr. Henry F. Howe, author of "Salt Rivers Of The Massachusetts Shore" to be published November 15, will be present to autograph his book. Everyone welcome.

AUTHOR AT MARY SPAULDING'S

On Friday evening, November 16th, Dr. Henry F. Howe, cousin of Mrs. George A. Marks of Winchester, will be at Mary Spaulding's Bookshop to autograph copies of his new book — "Salt Rivers of the Massachusetts Shore", the 45th volume in the Rivers of America series.

Due to birth and study, Dr. Howe is eminently fitted to write such a book. On his father's side, Dr. Howe is descended from Abraham Howe one of the original 1630 Freeholders of Roxbury, and on his mother's side from Richard Pain whose marriage in 1636 was the first recorded in Taunton. Dr. Howe was educated in the Cohasset public schools, Phillips Academy, Yale, where he majored in English, and Harvard Medical School. After spending several years in Boston at the Boston City Hospital, Phillips House and in practice, Dr. Howe moved to Chatham and is happily located in the same house in which he was born.

Dr. Howe's spare time has been spent in historical study which culminated in 1942 with the completion and publication of his book "Provincetown, Cape England". Nearly four years in the service, largely as a transport surgeon, provided him some opportunity for leisurely reading. During this period, Harvey Aiken approached him and asked him to do a "Rivers of America" book on eastern Massachusetts. The idea appealed and the result "Salt Rivers of the Massachusetts Shore" will be published Thursday, November 15th.

He has woven a fascinating history of eastern Massachusetts showing that little rivers, although negligible in size, have shaped our cultural and scientific growth. The book has extra appeal for those of us living in this locale.

Already the Junior and Senior High Schools have held open house, and during the next two weeks parents will be visiting the elementary schools. A feature of the open house at Wyman School will be an address by Dr. Norris at the conclusion of the classroom visits. At Noonan School there will be a Dads' Night. At Parkhurst School an informal get-together in the auditorium will follow activities in the classrooms. Dr. Norris and other school supervisors will be present. HALLOWE'EN PLAY AT PARKHURST SCHOOL

"The Ghost Walk Tonight" was the title of the Hallowe'en play presented by the pupils of the Sixth Grade on October 31 before an audience of schoolmates and parents.

With an old, abandoned house as the setting, there were thrills, chills, and laughs aplenty as the three groups of characters prowled about, each unaware of the others.

Pupils of the First Grade, dressed in colorful costumes, entertained with two Hallowe'en songs, as did the youngsters of Grade Four. An original ghost story by Billy Sibley concluded the program.

BODMAN GETS PATENT

John W. Bodman of Winchester was the co-recipient on October 23, 1951, of U. S. patent No. 2,572,102, entitled "Centrifugal Separation of Kettle Soap."

The conventional method of making soap is to boil fats and oils with the requisite amount of caustic soda in large kettles. This results in a conversion of most of the materials into soap; and subsequently, a number of washing steps are carried out to remove undesirable substances from the soap product. In the course of each of these steps, the mass is boiled by blowing open steam through coils at the bottom of the kettle; and when the steam is shut off, a grained soap curd rises to the top of the kettle and a caustic soda composition forms in the bottom, from which it is withdrawn. As the finishing operation in the soap making procedure, a mixture of the soap curd and water is boiled with live steam, following which the mass is allowed to settle so that a neat soap of the desired composition rises to the top of the kettle and a dark colored layer, containing some soap as well as impurities, separates by gravity to the bottom.

However, according to Mr. Bodman and his co-inventors, the foregoing practice suffers from the disadvantage that the time required for the settling of the dark colored layer usually takes between forty and sixty hours. In addition, a considerable amount of the desired neat soap is left with the dark colored layer and must be reprocessed.

Mr. Bodman and his associates have discovered that these limitations may be overcome by a conditioning step involving the proper addition of water and an electrolyte to a batch of kettle soap, after which the resulting material is charged to a centrifuge or rotating mechanism that effects the desired separation. In their patent specifications, they cite two specific examples of their process in which the desired neat soap was separated out at rates of 1,845 pounds per hour and 2,088 pounds per hour, thereby representing a marked improvement over the prior procedure.

This patent has been assigned to Lever Brothers Company.

YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

During the week of November 11-17 the Boys' and Girls' Department of the Winchester Public Library and other libraries throughout the country will celebrate the thirty-third annual National Children's Book Week. This year's slogan is "New Horizons with Books."

To demonstrate the theme the best of the new fall books for children will be on display in the Boys' and Girls' Room all during the week. This display provides an excellent opportunity for parents and others who are planning to give books for Christmas to come in, look over, and handle the new books themselves before making their selections. All books on display will circulate the following week.

An added attraction for Book Week will be an exhibit of the original illustrations from Holling C. Holling's new book "Minn of the Mississippi". Winchester Library received this exhibit on loan from the publisher, Houghton Mifflin Co., through the courtesy of Mr. William Spaulding.

To climax the Book Week activities on Friday November 16, Mr. Thomas C. Curtis, the "Book Explorer", from Kinderhook, N. Y., is coming to talk about the new books. Those who remember Mr. Curtis from his previous visits here know how entertaining his talks can be. Representing twenty-two book publishers, he brings a large number of books with him and really makes the stories live through his descriptions. In the morning, Miss Russell, the Children's Librarian, will take Mr. Curtis to the elementary schools to speak at assemblies. After school in the afternoon Mr. Curtis will be at the Library to talk to children, parents, and any other interested persons about books.

BELMONT GIRLS EDGED WINCHESTER

Belmont High School's varsity field hockey team downed a scrappy Winchester eleven 2-1, on Tuesday, October 30, at Belmont.

Shirley Glayer, Belmont's star center forward, scored the only goal of the first half on a well hit diagonal shot about five feet outside the cage. The locals made many threats during the first half but did not cash in on them. "Moe" O'Connell tied up the game in the opening moments of the second half, by flicking a free ball by the goalie. Play was evenly distributed during the rest of the half, but Belmont broke the deadlock in the closing moments of the game. When the final whistle blew Winchester was breathing down the neck of Belmont's goalie.

WINCHESTER HARRIERS DOWN WAKEFIELD 18 to 40

The local cross country runners raced to their 7th straight dual meet victory as they defeated Wakefield last Wednesday, October 31st in a special meet arranged as a tune-up for the State Meet.

Winchester ran with Captain Murphy on the injured list but, despite this handicap they experienced little trouble with the visitors. Pete Coon, defeated only once this season in dual meets, raced home with a new record for the course, 15:19. Bob Nelson, a steadily improving junior, followed in second place. Schwarz of Wakefield took third but Winchester's Farrell, Rush and Hawkins followed in the next three positions to post the winning margin.

This race marked the last time that 8 of 11 varsity runners will compete on the home course, as they will be claimed by graduation. The team this year has posted a superior record and although it is an unsung sport a great deal of credit is due to a fine group of capable runners. At the start of the season the team appeared to be headed for a mediocre season but by hard work coupled with the will to win, the team swept 7 straight dual meets and captured the Pilgrim Division title.

On Saturday, November 3rd they ran in the State Meet in Class B.

WINCHESTER AT WAKEFIELD

Winchester High, with a record of eight straight victories for the season, plays its last game before the big Thanksgiving Day classic with Woburn tomorrow afternoon, journeying to Wakefield to meet a Wakefield High team which on paper should not be able to upset the Indians' fast-rolling applecart.

Wakefield has won only two games, one of them from once-powerful Melrose, and it has been beaten among others, by Stoneham, Lexington and Woburn. The Sachems, however, have been improving, and the Winchester coaching staff, at least, is refusing to take them lightly.

The Indians should win, but they may have a tougher time of it than the advance dope would indicate.

SQUARE DANCE

Michelsen's 75-yard Touchdown Dash. Great Pass Catch by Serieka

Winchester had little trouble rolling over a big, but inept Belmont High team on Manchester Field Monday afternoon, turning back the visitors, 32-6 for its eighth straight victory. The game was postponed from Saturday because of the heavy rain, and the crowd, though good for a week day was still pretty small.

Winchester made 11 first downs to 2 for Belmont, rushing for 294 yards to 141 for the visitors. The Indians completed three of eight passes for 53 yards and a touchdown, Belmont completing three of 11 aerials for 19 yards. Belmont fumbled the ball away four times; Winchester recovering one of its own two fumbles. The Indians were set back 65 yards in penalties with Belmont having one 15 yarder assessed for roughing Jimmy Griffin out of bounds.

Winchester fumbled on the first play after the opening kickoff, Belmont recovering on the Winchester 34. The Indians held for downs on the 29 and Serieka broke through the line for five to the 34.

Griffin got outside for 10 yards to the Belmont 26, Johnson added four at tackle and Serieka raced off tackle to the 10.

On the next play Michelsen on a fake handoff raced out to his left behind good interference and cutting back dingonally across the field, ripped away from Belmont's Wardwell at the 20 to go 75 long yards into the end zone for a real thriller. Errico missed his conversion try and the quarter ended after his succeeding kickoff.

Belmont had to kick and Donlon got back 15 yards to his 40. Serieka picked up six, Flaherty on an end around reached the Belmont 44 for first down and Johnson added eight off tackle.

Griffin got away off right tackle to the Belmont 17, and Johnson bucked for three. Flaherty caught a pass from Michelsen that bounced off two players for a first down at the five, and in two rushes Bob Johnson bulled over. Michelsen passed to Flaherty for the extra point, getting a break when Belmont was offside on Errico's unsuccessful conversion try at placement.

That ended the scoring for the half, though twice Winchester recovered fumbles in Belmont territory, each time losing 15 yards for illegal use of hands to prevent any material advance.

The second half had scarcely opened when Rizzo broke through to recover a Belmont fumble at the visitors' 12, and immediately big Jackie Serieka carried the Belmont right flank to score standing up. Errico missed his kick and Coach Knowlton sent in a lineup of second and third stringers. Belmont advancing the ball down the field steadily from its 24 yard line to score.

With Mayo and Rhodes doing some effective carrying the visitors moved to a first down at Winchester's 26. The parade was momentarily halted at the 22, only to have an offside penalty against Winchester advance the ball to the 17.

Here Wardwell passed out to the right to Carew who was downed on the five, and on third down Mayo went over from the two. McNulty failed to rush for the extra point.

Early in the final quarter Belmont threatened again when an Errico punt was blocked and recovered by Belmont at Winchester's 37. Aided again by an offside penalty against the Indians, Belmont made two first downs, the second at the Winchester 16.

Winchester got its regulars back in the game at this point and McNulty was stopped without gain. One pass was grounded and a second completed to McNulty, lost the visitors three yards. A final fourth down pass failed to click and Winchester took over at its 19.

Bobby Flaherty on an end around got into the clear and was finally tripped by Belmont's Mcdade on the visitors' 49. Michelsen bulled through center to the 39 and Serieka drove around right end to the Belmont 20, only to have an illegal use of hands penalty called against Winchester put the ball back on the Indians' 46 yard line.

After an incomplete pass Griffin carried to midfield and Belmont lost 15 yards for roughing up Jimmy off the field of play after the tackle, putting the ball on the visitors' 36.

Johnson broke through for first down at the Belmont 29, and then Michelsen, on what at first looked like a running play, got out to the right and arched a pass down the field, on which Serieka made a great leaping catch from a swarm of Winchester and Belmont players about the three yard line, miraculously retaining possession of the ball to hail his way into the end zone. Errico's kick for the extra point was blocked.

With time running out Belmont tried to pass after the kickoff against an "All American" lineup for Winchester, and "Dave" Pratt, reserve quarterback, grabbed a pass at his 45 yard line, getting back to the Belmont 37. Pratt immediately got off a pretty pass to right end Carroll, who was pulled down on the Belmont 13. Time ran out as Pratt recovered a fumble on the succeeding play.

The new generating units that are being built all over New England are among the most efficient in the world. They cost more money to build than ever before. But these new plants and equipment are big guns in the fight to hold down electric rates.

It takes wise planning, skilled manpower and super-efficient machinery to help combat constantly rising costs. And that's what New England's business-managed electric companies are providing . . . with new construction alone running to HALF A BILLION DOLLARS. It takes strong, healthy companies to swing such a gigantic program . . . companies permitted at all times to earn a fair return on plant investment.

BRITISH RED CROSS HEAD IN WINCHESTER

Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross had the distinction of being selected as the most interesting typical small town Chapter by the head of the British Red Cross when he arrived in the United States to study the American Red Cross.

Last Tuesday Chairmen of the various Red Cross Services met with Mr. Wilfrid James Phillips, who is also a member of the Central Directorate and Director of the International Red Cross, Geneva, Switzerland. They were: Mr. Lewis K. Moore, Chairman of the Winchester Chapter; Mrs. George Dutting, Executive Director; Mrs. James B. Coon, Chairman of the Blood Program; Miss Natalie Jewett, Chairman of Home Services; Mrs. Donald Dalrymple, Chairman of the Junior Red Cross; Mrs. S. Kennedy Tully, Publicity; Mr. Donald Hurd, General Field Representative; and Mrs. Philip H. Johnson, Secretary.

In explaining his reasons for selecting Winchester for study, Mr. Phillips said that in our town we had more volunteers per capita than almost any other town.

While discussing the International Red Cross and its problems, Mr. Phillips said this group is, in many cases, the only link between countries behind the Iron Curtain and the rest of the world. There are Russians on the Executive Committee at Geneva, as well as being represented on the Board of Governors. Thirty countries participate in the conferences of the International Red Cross, many of them Communist-controlled. While frequently many of the peace-loving countries find themselves at loggerheads with the Communists on matters of policy, it is imperative that Red Cross continue to be one friendly link with the outside world. He discussed in detail some of the points of disagreement. The Russians are anxious to turn the Red Cross into a peace propaganda machine. However, the real peace-loving countries feel this would cause governments to lose confidence in Red Cross that can best work for peace by the example of its many services. Once you go outside it, you become involved in politics.

2. Upon request from the United Nations the Committee has been working to have returned the 25,000 Greek children who were removed from their villages and taken to Communist countries. The countries who took them defend their action by saying these children were exposed to the horrors of war. As a matter of fact, they ask "Why should we return them." Some of them like our country so well their parents have followed them here." Inasmuch as they were taken by force, sometimes villages were burned while the children were swept away, or parents were even killed. Those who did survive realize they can only be with their children if they do follow them, which gives the Communist-dominated country a perfect propaganda alibi. The children are all being exposed to propaganda. The only success in getting any of them back to Greece has been in Yugoslavia.

It is of the utmost value, Mr. Phillips said, to keep them on the Committees, because eventually they may absorb some of our ideas.

Mr. Phillips is a native of London, who has been associated with Red Cross since 1940. After graduating from St. Paul's School in London, '23, he became affiliated with a New Zealand shipping company, and subsequently District Officer and later District Magistrate of British North Borneo (1927 - 31). Having completed his studies of Indian commercial and civil law in North Borneo, he qualified in Indian Penal Code, Indian Civil Procedure Code and local legislation, for admittance as Magistrate of three classes.

After serving for five years as Appeal Secretary for St. Thomas' Hospital in London, Mr. Phillips was appointed Assistant Secretary of the British Red Cross, and in 1945 he became Secretary of the Red Cross Society, the position he still holds, in addition to being Secretary to the Order of St. John Joint Committee.

At the twenty-first meeting of the Board of Governors of the League of Red Cross Societies held in Monaco, he was elected Chairman of the Junior Red Cross Advisory Committee of the League. In this capacity, Mr. Phillips made a comprehensive study of activities carried on by the Junior Red Cross in Winchester, under the direction of Mrs. Dalrymple.

In comparing the organization of the British Red Cross and the American, he said that there are no Committees in England. One person is responsible and he gets it done in his own fashion. However, the Key people are all uniformed and sternly disciplined, even though they are all volunteers.

Mr. Phillips is a Director of the Bureau of Organization and Development of National Societies of the International Red Cross. He will spend two months in the United States studying the American approach to Red Cross work.

THREE ALARMS TUESDAY

The first of three alarms of fire Tuesday morning at 8:45 was for burning leaves near a garage at the home of Mr. Raymond V. Finnegan, 191 Forest street. Sparks from an incinerator caused the trouble.

At 9:30 trouble with the heating system was reported at the home of Mr. Joseph King, 50 Dunster Lane. The firemen found a disconnected steampipe in the basement, and a cracked boiler in the heater, due to lack of water.

Early in the afternoon, after noticing dense black smoke issuing from the chimney of the Winchester Theatre, a piece of apparatus was sent there to investigate. The firemen found the heater functioning, but apparently improperly, so they shut it off. Later it was found that the trouble was caused by the wrong grade of fuel oil in the storage tank.

W. C. C. BOWLERS' LUNCHEON

The Bowlers' Luncheon for the Winchester Country Club Women's Bowling League was voted a huge success by all in attendance on Tuesday, November 6. Clever bowling songs, composed by "Bobbie" Shields, proved to be fine entertainment enjoyed by all in good voice. A beautiful door prize, given through the cooperation of the Colonial Perfumers of Winchester, was won by Georgia Farnsworth. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Frank Creelman, Mrs. John Chirardini, Mrs. C. A. Roberts, Mrs. Victor Wolff, Mrs. Harry O'Brien, Mrs. William Seberg, members of Team 14.

On Tuesday, November 13, Team 13 will be hostesses for the Bowlers' Luncheon and, from all reports, they have plenty of surprises in store for those attending.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE NOTES

At the School Committee meeting on November 5, the following elections were made:

Mrs. Margaret Donovan was elected teacher of Grade Four at the Parkhurst School, beginning on November 19.

Mrs. Alice N. Kanaly was elected to serve as teacher of Grade Two at the Lincoln School, effective November 28.

Mr. Robert Mills, of 86 Lawson road, was elected to the post of hockey coach at the High School. Bob, a former Winchester High School hockey star, is a student at the Boston University School of Physical Education.

The resignation of Miss Nancy Carroll, Kindergarten teacher at the Parkhurst School, was accepted. Miss Carroll is leaving school to be married.

On October 23, the School Committee invited Mrs. Gladys Toye to appear at the meeting. Mrs. Toye, chairman of Winchester's Military Manpower Committee has had extensive experience in counselling with Winchester boys as they entered the armed services, and the Committee was glad to receive her considered reflections as to the needs of these young men.

It was Mrs. Toye's belief that too many boys are following educational programs favored by their parents but not suited to their own abilities and interests. Reviewing the results of the military classifications tests, she stated that, in her opinion, they indicated a need for greater stress upon vocabulary study. Mrs. Toye also expressed the hope that school authorities would investigate the possibility of enriching the curriculum by providing more work in the fields of automotive mechanics, electronics, and foreign languages. Mrs. Toye's report and other relevant materials were left with the Committee, and they are being studied by members of the high school staff.

NOONAN SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

On October 30 the pupils of the First Grade at the Noonan School presented a Hallowe'en assembly. The program started with a "Hobgoblins Parade" in which each member of the class participated. This was followed by a group of Hallowe'en songs. Barbara McDevitt told about the origin of Hallowe'en, and several original poems were recited by Claire Hebert, Karen Lynch, Francis Donovan, Francis Manzie, John Collander, and John Sullivan.

The main feature of the assembly was a Hallowe'en play in three acts. The young actors were as follows: Claire Hebert, John Collander, Francis Manzie, Joanna Connolly, John McSweeney, Diane Crawford, Albert Walliser, Richard Crowley, Nicholas Harris, Robert Cheever, John Sullivan, Janet Tauro, Lorraine Dewar, Karen Lynch, Barbara McDevitt, David Mullen, and Unity Paquette. Paul Howard was the announcer.

When the program was over, it was hoped that everyone had learned the right way to celebrate Hallowe'en.

BETHANY NOTES

The Bethany Society of the Second Congregational Church is well launched on its Fall activities. The second meeting of the season was held on Tuesday, November 6, with a one o'clock dessert served by Miss Laura Tolman, Mrs. John Weber and Mrs. Peter MacDonald.

Mrs. Lochman and her Friendly Committee have been busy, as usual, making calls on both sick and well, and sending greeting and birthday cards and letters. Special thought was given to Mrs. John Robinson, who, with Mr. Robinson, is recovering from an automobile accident which occurred this summer in Nova Scotia. Sympathetic thought was also given to two of our church members, Mrs. Ralph Perkins and Mr. Frank McLean, both sojourning in the Winchester Hospital.

Mrs. MacDonald reported a good supply of aprons on hand, ready for the Christmas Sale on Friday, November 16.

Discussion of final plans for the Sale occupied an important place in this meeting. We are all looking forward to the turkey supper being prepared by Mrs. Gunnar Abrahamsson and her committee, which includes Mrs. Borge Carlson, Mrs. John Morrow, Miss Laura Tolman, Mrs. Arthur Kendrick and Mrs. Clarence Eddy. Mrs. Abrahamson has long been famous, but since the wonderful Smorgasbord supper which she and an outstanding committee put on in Second Church last June, she holds all the gold medals so far as we are concerned.

The Apron table will be in charge of Mrs. Peter MacDonald. Mrs. Amy Ewombly and Mrs. Paul B. Thompson. Miss Tolman, Mrs. Webber and Mrs. Josie Meigs will be found selling fancy articles. Food, candy and parcel post packages will be in care of Mrs. Fred Saunders, Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Hallman N. Josephson. Mrs. Lochman and Mrs. Rony Synder are gathering White Elephants for their table; Mrs. Comeau and Mrs. Grimes are in charge of plants and vegetables; and Mrs. Ronald Richberg and Mrs. Carlson will be presiding at the grab bag.

In the afternoon, tea will be served by the Finance Committee, and finally at 6:30, supper will be served. We are hoping for pleasant weather, a busy day and plenty of widespread sociability on this, the occasion for our annual Fair.

PRE-ARMISTICE DAY BANQUET

The American Legion Post 97 will hold its traditional Pre-Armistice Day Banquet on Saturday evening, November 10, at seven o'clock, at Post Headquarters. The Committee in charge is headed by John Cullen and Fred Mitchell.

Commander Arthur Collins has announced that the speaker for the evening will be Jan Hartman, former prisoner of the Nazi concentration camp at Buchenwald and refugee from Communist Czechoslovakia, now a student at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts. He came to the United States in 1949 as a displaced person under the International Refugee Organization, and graduated from Hastings College last year.

WE'VE GOT A GREAT TOWN
Fine people, pretty churches, good schools, paved streets—and a lot of other things we can brag about.

But there's a lot of things this community — like many others — could have to make it much better.

Making this town nice enough to keep our young people from moving to other towns or cities is Target No. One for the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

We've got a lot of big ideas about what we can do as a non-partisan, non-sectarian group of citizens for the welfare of our community. We can do a better job — and do it quicker — if all overseas veterans will give us their help as active members.

Once you join up and hear about our plans we know you're going to say—

"THE TWO MRS. CARROLLS"

Theatre-goers were well rewarded for their support of The Unitarian Players when they attended the performances of "The Two Mrs. Carrolls" on last Friday and Saturday nights. From the moment the curtain was parted promptly at 8:30, the audience was held in suspense until the final moment when Geoffrey Carroll, splendidly portrayed by Gordon Bennett, took his "final curtain".

The audience expressed its appreciation immediately for the outstanding accomplishments of the large production staff and stage crew even before the cast appeared. The audience applauded the labors of George W. Hayden, who designed and produced the scenery, as the elegant interior of a villa in France was visually all that could be desired. Because of its compactness, it must have been a joy to the cast, too. The lighting and sound effects were a large assignment in this play, as the weird background of half the second act was a realistic whirring wind known as a mistral. Robert L. Low and his crew must have been busy, but their efforts were thoroughly appreciated. Scouts from other local players groups expressed awe and envy at the long list of stage crew in the credits. Lucille Towneley-Tillson, who was responsible for the cast's appropriate attire, and Katherine Davies in the makeup division, deserve orchids for the professional quality of their work. The Unitarian Players are fortunate indeed in having a truly active list of members.

Any play with an element of suspense and mystery must have deft direction, and Robert A. Foster gave that and more to this production. The tempo never lagged and the audience was actually kept guessing throughout the four scenes, never sure if Geoffrey Carroll deserved sympathy or scorn. The production had a cohesiveness difficult to achieve in a group unaccustomed to working closely together over an extended period.

Gordon Bennett, as Geoffrey Carroll, had a difficult role to portray, and he played on the audience throughout, being understandably irresistable and alternately contemptible. Paulett Taggart as his frustrated and adoring wife gave a professional performance and was sincerely believed by Jacqueline Sidley as the emotionally mature and thoroughly understanding first Mrs. Carroll. She well deserved the applause at her exit, having deftly turned the action of the entire play with her presence. Ashia Bennett's interpretation of Mrs. Lovely Harden as another woman in Geoffrey's life was excellent, as she had the audience completely in her hands.

Brandoch Lovely was the "good camel" who finally won his fair Sally, and his aunt was pleasantly portrayed by Joy Woolley. Arthur Rich carried the singular role of the local doctor with apt gruffness and humor. Virginia Wallace made a noble contribution as the inevitable French maid Clemence.

Those who saw their season's first production eagerly await the second production of the Unitarian Players scheduled for next spring.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN STAGED MOCK TRIAL

The State Federation of Women's Republican Organizations of Massachusetts conducted a meeting at 10:30 A. M. Wednesday, November 7, at 3 Joy street, Boston, with District Attorney George E. Thompson of Middlesex County present to act as narrator of the mock trial, "The Commonwealth vs Jane Doe."

A number of real-life attaches of Middlesex County courthouse in East Cambridge re-enacted their courtroom roles at the trial, which had been arranged by Mrs. Muriel S. Barnes of Winchester, workshop chairman, and District Attorney Thompson, as an aid to women jurors called to serve under the new state law.

Among the panel members were Charlotte M. Greer, defendant, and Cynthia H. Reynolds, witness, both of Winchester.

SCHOLARSHIP ANNOUNCED FOR MOUNT HOLYOKE COLLEGE

A scholarship of $300 will be offered in the spring of 1952 to a Winchester High School Senior girl by the local Mount Holyoke Club. The announcement follows a vote taken at an evening meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Richard L. Emerson.

Mrs. John H. Clarke, as Treasurer of the Scholarship Committee received many generous donations to the fund.

Dessert was served by Mrs. Hazen Ayer and Mrs. William C. Ross. Coffee was poured by Mrs. William A. Kugler, President of the Club.

Entertainment in the form of games planned by Mrs. Charles E. Greene and Mrs. Sears Walker rounded out a fighthearted and successful evening.

MYSTIC NOTES

The Mystic Glee Club has continued its policy of inviting talented soloists and vocal groups to appear at their rehearsals. In the past two weeks, the club has been privileged to hear Katherine Yow Bond of Salem, soprano, and the Winchester High School Girls Octette under the direction of Miss Eleanor Anifantis. The programs presented were thoroughly enjoyed by the men.

The program for the Twelfth Annual Winter Concert to be held at the High School Auditorium on Saturday evening, December 8, is shaping up well under the competent leadership of Keith Snyder.

New members this year include three first tenors — Robert "Angus" Johnston, Dr. Laurence Roth and John Fitzpatrick and three baritones — Dr. Nelson C. Fontneau, Thomas Holleran and Hugh Brown.

MR. EARL DOUGLAS

FORUM TO HEAR MR. EARL DOUGLAS

Mr. Earl Douglas, Executive Secretary of the Boston City Missionary Society, is an old favorite with the young people of the Senior Forum, High School youth group of the First Congregational Church. He will be present in Ripley Chapel Sunday morning at 9:45 to bring a message to the young people on "Protestantism in Boston."

David Keniston will be the chaplain, assisted by Thomas Ordway. Ushers will be Stephen Dunn and Richard Lowry. The Forum choir under the direction of Sona Norian and Nancy Ross will sing. The bulletins will be prepared by Lois Bigelow and Joan McNeill. Nancy Ayer and Louise Gray will supply flowers for the altar.

The young people are looking forward to the Forum Open House on November 17, when there will be an evening of fun, with "something for everybody," 8:00—11:30. Table games and ping pong will be in evidence, there will be square dancing, Virginia Reel, and ballroom dancing with Dan Briggs officiating at the microphone. Dungarees and old clothes will be in order. Refreshments will be served at the end of the gala evening. The Social Committee has appointed several committees to carry out the plans.

RED FEATHER HEADS FOR THE TOP

Winchester, three time award winner at the Red Feather report luncheons in Boston for being ahead of schedule, has now reached 87% of its goal — a week ahead of expectations, and two weeks to go before the close of the campaign November 21st. It ranks 10th among the 48 cities and towns in the drive. This achievement was possible because of the uniformly good showing of all Divisions and sections of the town. By Moody-Industry and Banks, still leads from the lofty perch of 102%. It was the quadrupling of the donations from Beggs and Cobbs employees, and the doubling of the gifts from employees of the New England Laundries that boosted this division over the top. Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Girl Scout Head of Retail Trade, was not surprised that Winchester's own businessmen and women have reached 95% of their goal, with a few more to come for a sure 100%. Gardner Bradlee, Precinct III, leads residential solicitation with 100% with 10 solicitors still to report. John Sexton, Precinct V, is next with 89%; Frances Bogue, Precinct I, 86%; Arthur Pratt, Advance Solicitation, 82%; Austin Broadhurst, Precinct IV, and Lewis Curtis, Precinct II, both at 80%; Coleman Foley, Precinct VI, whose solicitors have three times the number of houses to call on as any other area, has turned in 50%. Additional reports from all sections are still due. It's never to late to give.

Winchester High Solicitors

Coleman Flaherty of Beggs and Cobb praised particularly the splendid job of soliciting done by Winchester High School students at this plant: "It meant a lot to the men up here to see that these students had been willing to give up their holiday (school was closed because of a teachers' convention) to work together on this drive to help Winchester's own citizens. The students had entire charge of arrangements: their enthusiasm, reliability, and courtesy showing outstanding qualities of real community leadership. I can't say enough for their spirit and help." The solicitors were: The Anderson twins — Marguerite and Marjorie, Margery Ring, Lolly Luongo, Gloria Muscera, Sonia Smith and Patricia McIntyre.

More for USO

Yesterday an unsolicited check came into the office at One Common street for $8.41. Obviously this donor had read the Star articles the past two weeks and knows that $8.41 is the cost of giving one Winchester serviceman or woman a whole year's recreation through USO. If you've gotten into the habit of giving the same amount to Red Feather each year, and were not aware of this extra need, drop into One Common street or call WI 6-2906 and your extra "price of a show for USO" will be cheerfully received.

A Pause That Refreshes

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butler, knowing full well the rigors of Red Feather campaigning, are graciously providing a breathing spell by entertaining Chairman and Mrs. Burton Miller, and all Division Chairmen and their wives, at their home at 29 Glen Green on Sunday, November 11th, from four to six.

SHEEHAN — FINN

A nuptial mass at St. Mary's Church on Saturday morning, November 3, celebrated the 10 o'clock marriage of Miss Shirley Ann Finn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Robert Finn of 26 Prince avenue, to Richard Lawrence Sheehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sheehan of 153 Mt. Vernon street. Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's, officiated at the 10 o'clock marriage ceremony and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass. Miss Mary Callahan, church organist, played the bridal music and the soloist was Miss Maureen Cullen.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Finn was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Louise Finn, as maid of honor, and by two small flower girls, Miss Amy Finn, sister of the bride, and Miss Karen Sheehan, sister of the bridegroom.

Bridesmaids, all sisters of the bride or bridegroom, were Miss Margaret Mary Finn and Miss Kathleen Finn, Miss Rita Sheehan and Miss Ruth Sheehan, all of Winchester.

The senior bridal attendants wore faille dresses with matching hats and mitts, the honor maid wearing rose-beige and carrying talisman roses. The bridesmaids dresses were periwinkle-blue and their flowers, pink chrysanthemums. The flower girls wore pale rose taffeta frocks and carried white chrysanthemums, wearing coronets of the same flowers.

J. Robert Sheehan of Winchester was his brother's best man, and the usher corps comprised James Burke of Winchester, Quinn Bersani of Waterville, Me., Stanley Sigda of Holyoke and Thomas Kenney of Boston.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Music Hall on Bacon street. The bride's mother, Mrs. Finn, wore a midnight blue faille suit with a matching velvet hat and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Sheehan, mother of the bridegroom, also wore orchids with her two-piece dress of plum crepe and matching velvet hat.

The bride is a graduate of Notre Dame Academy and of Regis College. Mr. Sheehan, who is in the industrial management department of the Cambridge Electronic Corporation, graduated from Winchester High School and from Boston University School of Business Administration, where he was a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity.

WHELAN — MOONEY

At the Immaculate Conception Church in Weymouth on Saturday morning, November 3, Miss Marjorie M. Mooney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mooney of 66 Raymond street, Weymouth, became the bride of Charles E. Whelan, son of Mrs. William Whelan of 19 Winchester place, and the late Mr. Whelan. White gladiolas and chrysanthemums made an attractive setting for the nine o'clock ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Fr. John M. Donelin, who was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. Albert A. Kelly, organist, played the bridal music.

Miss Mooney was given in marriage by her father. Miss Mary Angeley of Abington was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Gerald Kenny of Braintree, cousin of the bride; and Miss Elizabeth Ellard, Miss Alice Toomey and Mrs. Richard Grojean, all of Weymouth.

The bride wore a formal gown of white satin having a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a cathedral-length train. The princess lines of the gown were accented by a scalloped panel of imported lace extending from the collar to the hemline, and her full-length veil of imported illusion was caught to a coronet of matching lace. Her flowers were white roses and Pinoccio pom poms, arranged in a crescent bouquet.

The honor maid wore a full-skirted dress of coral satin with a Queen Anne collar and matching hat and mitts. Her gold shoes matched the leaves of her crescent bouquet of bronze-and-green mums in varying shades of bronze.

The bridesmaids wore identical dresses of moss-green satin fashioned like that of the honor maid. They too wore gold shoes, and hats and mitts to match their frocks, and they carried cascade bouquets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Christopher Whelan of Woburn was best man for his cousin, and the ushers were George Elliot and Deane Tolman of Winchester, Peter Stone of Stoneham and Warren Looney of Woburn.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Furnace Brook Country Club. Mrs. Mooney, mother of the bride, wore a gown of dubonnet crepe with matching velvet accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses. Mrs. Whelan, the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in navy blue crepe and wore a matching hat, and pink accessories to match the camellias of her corsage.

After a wedding journey to Virginia Mr. Whelan and his bride will make their home in Stoneham.

MURPHY — BARRY

There is Winchester interest in the marriage which took place at St. Agnes' Church in Arlington on Saturday morning, November 3, when Miss Barbara Mary Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett J. Barry of 150 Jason street, Arlington, became the bride of Richard Harrington Murphy, son of Mrs. E. Russell Murphy of 409 Main street and the late Dr. Murphy. Rev. Edward R. Kenealey read the 10 o'clock service and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. White chrysanthemums and pink snap-dragon made an attractive setting.

Miss Barry was given in marriage by her father, and had for her honor attendant her sister, Miss Alma Barry. Two more sisters, Miss Joan and Miss Claire Barry, both of Arlington, were bridesmaids, with Mrs. Richard S. Gorman of Arlington, sister of the bridegroom; and a fourth sister of the bride, Miss Lois Barry of Arlington, was junior bridesmaid.

The bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with a fitted lace bodice and long sleeves, a portrait neckline outlined with appliques of lace and a scalloped lace overskirt which terminated in a court train and was worn over a gown of the white tulle underskirt. Her fingertip-length veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a tiny scalloped cap of lace to match her gown and she carried a white missal with streamers of stephanotis and a matching white orchid.

All the bridal attendants wore American Beauty velvet dresses with matching headpieces and carried cascade bouquets of rose-colored carnations.

E. Russell Murphy, Jr., of Winchester was best man for his brother, and another brother, Charles P. Murphy of New York City, ushered with Richard S. Gorman of Arlington, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Newell D. Squires of Cambridge and William Hodge, Jr., of Winchester.

A reception was held after the marriage at Longwood Towers in Brookline, the parents of the bride and the bridegroom's mother assisting in receiving. Mrs. Barry, mother of the bride, was gowned in American Beauty crepe and wore a grey velour cloche and a corsage of white orchids. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Murphy, also wore orchids with her fuchsia crepe gown and matching hat.

After a wedding journey to Virginia Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will live in Edgewood, N. J.

CIVIL DEFENSE

CIVIL DEFENSE CURRENT ORGANIZATION LIST

Following is a list of the Winchester Civil Defense Department's Staff members, revised as of November 1, 1951, to include all recent changes and additions.

Most townspeople appreciate the many, and unusual, problems which face the building of an organization so broad, and with goals so comprehensive, as Civil Defense. The people required are many; the jobs many, and varied; they are not always easy. Organization must be "tight"; much equipment is necessary; co-operation from outside our town is basic, add to all this that everything must be done as rapidly as practicably possible.

The basic step is the "rounding up" of interested, capable people into the organizational scheme.

Yet Winchester citizens who have kept interested and informed on CD progress know in how many respects this is already more than a "paper" organization. Certain sections, with the benefit of longer activity, are well on the way to becoming prepared for "showdown" action. Naturally, other sections with organizing problems, equipment shortages, etc., have considerable spadework ahead.

The work to be done — and that's now being done, as this issue of the Star goes to press — falls largely on the shoulders of the people named here. They are presented for your information — and for your proper confidence in an organization which someday you may be asked, even in some small way, to help — for the sake of your family and your community.

Due to a conflict in dates the Rotary meeting was held at the Baptist Church, which kindly offered one of their halls for the meeting. Because of a rigid, almost radio-station type of program scheduled by John McIntyre, there was no singing. However, Newt favored the members with some musical selections while finishing dessert was in progress.

First introduced was ex-ditch digger of the Girl Scout Cabin, Burt Miller, now elevated to the role of chairman of the Red Feather Drive here in Winchester. He in turn introduced our now famous Junior Rotarian, Harold Quigley, who ably presented his prize winning speech on the Red Feather campaign. Harold did a bang-up job in his subject and presentation, and it was easy to see why the judges awarded him the prize in the Middlesex Valley Competition.

The "guest" speaker for the meeting was none other than charter member Billy Beggs, who spoke on his collection-hobby of ancient and antique guns. Billy has been interested in this subject for some time and has one of the finest collections in Greater Boston. His subject was limited to the projectile instrument itself; and as he briefly sketched the history of firearms from the original fire-lock up through the wheel-lock and flint-lock, he showed some fine examples of each that were of his own collection. Ironically enough the War Department of our Government has always been slow to adopt the newer refinements in this science. The long Kentucky rifle with its rifled barrel had been known to sportsmen and frontiersmen a long time before the army adopted its use. It was difficult in the allotted thirty minutes for Billy to do justice to the subject and many of the Rotarians would have liked to hear much more about the early uses of the percussion cap, the breech-loading Ferguson rifle, the earliest use of the revolver as developed by Samuel Colt, and many other fascinating stories of earlier guns. However, Billy had prepared his "brief" of the guns so well that he finished in exactly twenty-nine minutes. Another fine talk by one of our own members . . . . Hidden talent lies all about us, apparently

COLUMBUS BOYCHOIR

On Tuesday evening, October 30, at the Winchester High School Auditorium, the Community Concert Association opened its season with the Columbus Boychoir. A near-capacity audience of Association members from Winchester, and from several neighboring communities as well, by frequent spontaneous applause left no doubt of their thorough enjoyment of the program.

This first of a series of three concerts to be presented by the Community Concert Association during the current season represented a rather striking deviation from the character of previous Community Concerts. Perhaps the most significant impression revealed by the response of the audience to the entire program was one of refreshing surprise that a carefully trained group of boys of grammar school age can provide an adult audience with such polished entertainment.

The Columbus Boychoir, a group of twenty boys under the direction of Herbert Huffman, are members of the Columbus Boychoir School, an idea conceived and originated by Mr. Huffman in 1940 at Columbus, Ohio. This choir school differs from most choir schools in that it is nondenominational. Working on the assumption that "no musical boy could be a bad boy if given the opportunity to make the most of his talent", Mr. Huffman has worked constantly toward providing boys with natural talents an opportunity to secure an excellent musical education, a sound academic background, and an appreciation of character development. More than 3000 boys have been graduated from this choir school, which in 1950 moved to Princeton, New Jersey, entering into a cooperative program with the nationally known Westminster Choir College.

During concert tour the normal routine of the boys' lives is interrupted as little as possible. An especially designed bus is equipped with desks. Two full-time teachers are provided to keep them up to date with their studying schedule. The bus also boasts a piano, and the boys are assigned regular practice periods.

Through its new association with Westminster Choir College, under Mr. Huffman's inspired leadership, the school will now be training young men to organize boy choirs in hundreds of communities throughout the United States and Canada or wherever there is a boy who wants to sing.

The program was divided into four parts, the first of which consisted of the following religious numbers:

I

a. O filii et filiae — Volkmar Leisring (c. 1537-1591)
Vere languores nostros — Antonio Lotti (1667-1740)
Surely He Hath Borne Our Sorrows — Antonio Lotti (1667-1740)
Dies sanctus — Tomas de Vittoria (1540-1611)
b. Stabat Mater — Giovanni Pergolesi (1710-1736)

Parts
Stabat mater dolorosa
Eia, fit ardent cor meum
Quan die corpus morietur
Amen
Chorus

The first three of these selections, sung a cappella, were rendered in an appropriately devout manner. The ethereal tone quality proper to this type of music revealed in all the numbers of this group the influence of Mr. Huffman's Westminster Choir training. The attacks and releases were precise and the conductor's discipline and control of the group was clearly revealed.

The second part of the program consisted of three piano solos by Mr. Donald Bryant, the Boychoir accompanist. The hearty applause with which the audience responded to Mr. Bryant's playing revealed their enjoyment of his interpretation of Chopin, always a concert favorite. Delicacy of touch brought out the singing quality inherent in the melody of the E Major Etude. Mr. Bryant's encore, the E Minor Scherzo, by Mendelssohn, was enthusiastically received. The Chopin selections were as follows:

II

Three Etudes — Frederic Chopin (1831-1849)
C major
F major
Black Key Etude

Part Three of the program consisted of a comic opera in one act. The colorful costuming and the graceful dancing of the minuet added much to the delightful quality of this part of the program. The boy singers revealed an unusual ability to interpret the rather artificial 18th century humor. Their enunciation was especially good.

III

Bastien and Bastienne

Opera in One Act
(1768)

by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (1756-1791)

Cast of Characters

Bastienne, a capricious young belle
Bastien, her sweetheart
Dr. Fels, a physician and pseudo magician
Chorus of young friends of Bastien and Bastienne

The Time: Early 18th Century

After intermission, the fourth portion of the program offered several more familiar selections. The boys were dressed informally in navy blue suits with white open-collar shirts. The following numbers were sung:

IV

Ave Maria — Franz Schubert (1797-1828)
The Echo — Orlando di Lasso (1530-1594)
Lullaby — Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (1756-1791)
Medley of American Show Tunes — arr. by Lowell Riley

In this group of songs, it was a pleasure to hear the boys respond skilfully to the varying moods of the different numbers, and the boy soloists added an enjoyable variety to the program. "The Echo" was especially well-done. At the conclusion of the final number the boys were called back for five encores, each one received with increasing enthusiasm by the audience. Of the encores, perhaps the out-standing one was "Short'nin' Bread".

The concert was brought to a conclusion with a beautiful rendition of "The Lord's Prayer", by Malotte. The effect of this final number was heightened by the director's request that the audience refrain from any applause at its conclusion.

Members of the Winchester Community Concert Association will be looking forward with eager anticipation to the next concert of the current series in January, which will be a concert by the French pianist Monique De La Bruchollerie.

UNITED NATIONS BAZAAR

The United Nations Bazaar took place at the Church of the Epiphany on November 2nd. It was a busy and successful day, and those who took part can bask in the knowledge of a job well done. The church opened its doors promptly at 10 o'clock and didn't close them until 9 o'clock in the evening. There were all kinds of wonderful things for sale, entertainment for the children, luncheon and tea, an art exhibit, and supper with a "professional" show to climax the day.

The chairman of the United Nations Bazaar was Mrs. G. Van A. Graves, and her two co-chairmen were Mrs. Ronald R. Wyman and Mrs. H. Royal Browne. Co-chairman at large was Mrs. Maxwell McCreery.

The evening entertainment was a fashion show put on by the Men's Club under the direction of Mrs. Phillip Woodward. Master of Ceremonies: Mr. Henry Fitts, Jr.

PARTIES FOR HOSPITAL PERSONNEL

The Friends of the Winchester Hospital will hold the first of a series of small informal parties for all Hospital personnel at the home of the President, Mrs. Fulton Brown, November 15th from 4-6.

The parties will be held at the homes of the various Volunteer Workers and it is hoped that these informal gatherings will help to bring the volunteers of Winchester and surrounding towns in closer touch with the nurses and all other personnel at the Hospital who so untiringly and willingly serve the people of these towns.

The Friends are happy to discover that they too have friends who wish to help. These non-members who admire the worthwhile activities of the Friends of the Winchester Hospital contribute in many ways. Mr. Sidney Burr has offered to donate candy for favors whenever needed. A Reading florist recently donated flowers to the Friends for the hospital lobby. These were unusually arranged in an old felt hat, which created quite a diversion and conversation piece for all visitors to the hospital.

Among other florists who contribute flowers to decorate the lobby are The Winchester Conservatories, Cummings and Sis Foley. The Home and Garden Club of Winchester contribute for the lobby the first Friday of each month. The Garden Club of Winchester contributes for special holiday occasions throughout the year. There is no substitute for thoughtful and spontaneous generosity.

Are the Wooly Caterpillars Right?

I noticed a thin coating of ice on two ponds on the way to the station this morning. Makes me thankful I got the screens off and the storm windows on last week-end. Big discussion at the station whether we were going to have "green" winter or a lot of snow. Opinion seemed to be divided, but someone spoke up and said he'd read in Life magazine that the wooly caterpillars have wide bands this year; that means only one thing — a very warm winter. Another guy said he'd be thankful as his youngest son had gone off to college and that meant he would have to do all the snow shoveling himself.

That brought the conversation around to griping about how the town could do better at snow removal and someone said, "Look at how the Boston and Maine goes at it. They're on the job just as soon as the first flake starts falling."

"That's right," another fellow said. "When I hear the radio calling for snow shovelers for the B and M, I know we're in for at least six inches. They're better than the weather man."

Then our oldest commuter spoke up. "I guess," he said, "the B and M has an ear out for all the weather prophets — even the wooly caterpillar. But they're not taking any chances. Each year about this time you'll see a lot of B and M snow-fighting equipment lined up on sidings all over the system . . . big snow plows, bucket loaders and two or three of those ingenious locomotive snow melters like the one they designed and built for themselves several years ago. The B and M's got a pretty good on-time reputation to maintain and for my money they've been doing it darned well for a good many winters."

Just then along came the 8:08 — on time. And we all made for the platform.

STAFF & KEY AT BEDFORD

The Staff and Key Society will commence its activities again this year when it will present a musical program at the Bedford Veterans' Hospital on Thursday, November 18.

This society was formed four years ago by a group interested in bringing the appealing entertainment of operetta to the people of Winchester. Under the excellent direction of H. Hassler Kinzig they have presented the Gilbert & Sullivan favorites "Pirates of Penzance", "Trial By Jury", "The Mikado", and "Iolanthe". On next February 29th and March 1, however, they're departing temporarily from Gilbert & Sullivan to present the ever-popular music of Oscar Strauss in the colorful operetta, "A Waltz Dream". Proceeds, as always, will go to a selected charitable cause.

To all of you who can sing, dance, or carry a spear, the Staff & Key extends a cordial welcome to become an active member. It's a lot of fun and you'll meet a grand, friendly crowd (there are no prima donnas!) Just phone "Doc" Blanchard, WInchester 6-3090, or Marge McGaw, Winchester 6-2186. Rehearsals start around the first of January so be sure to join up in ample time for the fun.

Jason W. Dade, son of Assessor and Mrs. Ernest B. Dade of 104 Hillcrest Parkway, was elected sub-treasurer of the Student Government at University of Vermont at the student elections October 31. Dade, a graduate of The Manlius School, Manlius, N. Y., is active at Vermont in Student Government, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship and is assistant manager of the varsity track team.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

Attention Fortnightlians! A super program is planned for Monday, November 12, at the Masonic Hall. This is Presidents Day and dessert will be served at 1:00 p. m. Our guest of honor is Mrs. Lewis C. Stevens, President of Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, also Mrs. Harold Given, Eighth District Director, will be our guest. During the reception from 1:00 p. m. to 2:00 p. m. we will have the pleasure of listening to beautiful music from the Trudeau Trio. Simeon, the violinist — Beatrice, the cellist — and Miss Maud Littlefield, the accompanist.

After a brief business meeting at 2:00 p. m. instead of Mr. Richard Crooker, as was formerly scheduled, we will have the privilege of once again hearing the beautiful voice of Miss Eleanor Davis. She is well known in Boston and throughout New England for her work in concert, opera, and Oratorio. Miss Davis is a regular soloist at the Gardner Museum and a member of the Opera Miniatures Quartet. She has appeared in operatic performances at the Boston Opera House, the Academy of Arts in Philadelphia, and at the Berkshire Music Center. She is a graduate of New England Conservatory of Music and a member of the voice faculty. She is also a member of the National Association of singing Teachers. She has been soloist with the Vermont Symphony Orchestra, The Boston Pops Orchestra, and recording artist for Allegro. She is truly a fine artist. Come and hear for yourself. Her accompanist will be Mrs. Natalie Weidner.

The dessert and bridge on Thursday, November 1, was well attended. A scrumptious dessert of sultana roll and cup cakes were served by Mrs. Moody and her committee. Several lucky people received door prizes. The high score winners took home a bag of paper white narcissus bulbs.

The literature group had their first meeting at the Library Monday afternoon, November 5. Miss Caroline Everett gave a lengthy survey of English Literature since 1925. She compared the English and American authors and their works. She discussed History, Biography, Poetry, Drama, Fiction, and Mysteries. In the absence of Mrs. Dissel, who was ill, Miss Kimball gave a sketch of Daphne Du-Maurier, novelist and some of her books. She read portions from one of her books.

Friday morning, November 2, members of the Fortnightly were privileged to watch demonstrations in art work by four senior art students from the Massachusetts School of Art. A vote of thanks is due our art Chairman, Mrs. Frederick Cole who arranged with Miss Priscilla M. Nye, head of the educational department of the Art School to obtain these students for the demonstration in the Masonic Hall. Much credit is also due to the students who gave of their time as well as their patience answering our many questions. Miss Joan Degnan demonstrated stencilling. George Manupelli, the art of collage and montage. Albert Vachon demonstrated the silk screen process. This was most fascinating. James Warwick showed us the art of block printing. You people who were not there certainly missed a marvelous demonstration.

The Art Committee hopes that you saw the Fortnightly Window which Filene's so kindly arranged for us in honor of American Art Week. It was our desire to show as much of the diversified talent among the club members as possible and we wish to thank the following women for their fine contributions: Paintings — Miss Dorothy Allen, portrait; Mrs. Ethel Fossett, abstract design; Mrs. Dorothy Howard, landscape; Mrs. Marion Symmes, floral painting. Colored pencil — Mrs. Dorothy Wills, floral. Pastel — Mrs. Dorothy Cole, animal portrait. Hooked rugs — Mrs. Lillian Leathers, Mrs. Edna Mitchell, Mrs. Sara Wood. Crafts — Mrs. Anna Burgoyne, stenciled table and plant box; Mrs. Margaret Hintlian, tray in gold leaf; Mrs. Pauline Hudson, stenciled tray; Mrs. Ruth Kelley, tooled copper plaque; Mrs. Ethel Fossett, weaving; Miss Louise Bancroft and Mrs. Dorothy Cole, jewelry.

Also on display, in rotation, were the six High School Pictures chosen from the recent "World Friendship Through the Arts" contest, which are to be submitted to the State Federation for further judging. These were the works of Deborah Duke, Betty Lou Martensen, Jennifer Meigs, Joan O'Neill, Sheila Scanlon, and Kent Wright.

On Monday afternoon this week Mrs. Lillian Leathers was hostess to the group working on Christmas Cards.

Police say Jones was headed northeasterly on the Parkway while Manganaro was headed westerly and passing through the intersection. Both cars were disabled and Fire Alarm Box 62 was badly smashed. Four children, riding with Jones, were injured, the most seriously, according to report, sustained a fractured arm, and head and body cuts.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

Frederick Ayer, Jr., of Hamilton, a nephew of the late General George Patten and one of the outstanding and very capable younger Massachusetts Republicans, will be the speaker at the November meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club to be held in Masonic Hall on Wednesday, November 14, at 2:30 P. M.

WINCHESTER AND WOBURN AWAIT HOLIDAY WHISTLE

HAL AND RUBY HOLBROOK

Sponsored by Mothers' Association

Winchester and Woburn High Schools, football rivals since 1889, meet again this year on Thanksgiving Day morning at Manchester Field with the kickoff at 10:15.

It's hard to write about this game in advance because Woburn has been so riddled with injuries in recent weeks that not even Coach Paul Dorrington of the Tanners knows just what his lineup will be on turkey day. Several of his key players are definitely through for the season and Woburn won't field the team its supporters would like to see out there against the Indians.

Last September the Orange had what looked like its strongest team in years, and followers of both Winchester and Woburn were looking forward to a terrific ballgame when the twain met on Thanksgiving. Comparative scores up to the time of the Tanners' avalanche of injuries indicated that so far as starting lineups went the two teams were very evenly matched.

Hal and Ruby Holbrook, unknown to Winchester until November 8th, stepped onto the stage of the Winchester High School and immediately won the hearts of the audience.

Their four scenes from the lives of great personalities were "Victoria Regina", Moliere's, "School for Wives", Sherwood Anderson's, "Elizabeth the Queen", and "A Reporter's Interview with Mark Twain". These were so vividly portrayed that one was quickly transported to the era in which these characters lived.

The only criticism heard was that it was much too short and everyone wanted more from this delightfully talented couple.

We predict a brilliant future for the Holbrooks. They were sponsored by the Winchester Mothers' Association for the Benefit of the Scholarship Foundation. Through the Central Mothers and their individual chapters in the local schools over $10,000 has been raised for the foundation in the past five years. This amount they have invested in Winchester's youth and are already receiving dividends in the splendid records they are making.

CHILD STRUCK BY TRUCK

Elizabeth Melargni, 5, of 20 Crescent avenue, Woburn, was painfully injured shortly after noon last Saturday afternoon when she was struck by a truck on Main street between the Parkway and Converse place.

The driver of the truck, a Ford panel vehicle, Sidney A. Bowditge of 62 Oak street, Stoneham, told the police he was driving north on Main street when the little girl suddenly darted from between parked cars into the path of his machine.

Elizabeth was taken to the hospital by her father, Albert, in a passing auto, and treated by Dr. Charles Rooney for abrasions to the head and possible left leg. She was held at the hospital after treatment.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Pfc. WILLIAM EDWARD VIOLANTE

First Winchester Boy to Die in Action in Korea

Pfc. William Edward Violante, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Violante of 7 Bisley road, was killed in action in Korea November 2, being the first Winchester boy to die in the fighting there. Word of his death was received by his parents in an official telegram last Friday, only a week after they had a letter from their son, assuring them that he was well and getting along nicely. His older brother, James, Jr., who was discharged October 24 after service with the Air Forces, received a letter from William Tuesday of this week, four days after the arrival of the telegram announcing his death.

The telegram gave no details, but an official letter is on the way which it is expected will supply them.

Pfc. Violante was born in Winchester May 24, 1930, the son of James E. and Hilda (Antinerelli) Violante. He attended the Winchester schools and was graduated from Winchester High School in the Class of 1948, being on the football squad and a member of the yearbook staff, graduation committee and the school chorus.

After graduating Pfc. Violante went to work for his father in the latter's business, Winchester Modernizing Company, remaining with the company until he entered the United States Marine Corps December 3, 1950.

He trained at Parris Island, S. C., and had advanced training at Camp Pendleton in California before going overseas. He had been in Korea for the past five months and on combat duty during all of that time, having recently completed his longest stretch under fire, a period of thirty days. Usually the troops are in action for ten day periods with rests between. At the time of his death Pfc. Violante was 1st machine gunner attached to A Company, 1st Battalion, Seventh Regiment of the First Marine Division.

POLICEMEN'S BALL

Another full house turned out for the Policemen's Ball Wednesday evening at the town hall and saw a uniformly good show under the personal direction of Jacy Collier of the George A. Hamid Office.

Tommy Tucker was M. C. and McHarris and Dolores, a hulky colored boy and shapely colored girl got the show away to a fine start with an exceptional dancing act.

Ray Mason, recording and TV singing star, displayed a pleasing baritone voice that got several encores and Dick Hayman had a novel musical act that caught the fancy. Jay Morris and Kay Graham were good in "Double Scotch". Miss Graham contributing a pleasing performance of a Scottish sword dance.

Betty and Tommy Tucker put on one of those "read your mind" acts in which Dr. Forbes Norris, superintendent of Schools, Gerry Cagnina of the Winchester Barber Shop and Joe Gorellish of the Registry Office were more or less featured. Gerry and Joe on the "hot seat" were very funny.

Selectman Don Greer gave a very convincing exhibition of mental "sang froid" in stooging for Kay and Karol, two Indian club chuckers, who finally knocked with their whizzing clubs a lighted cigar from the tightly clenched Greer lips.

Ruby Newman's Orchestra, conducted by Al Navarro, played for the show and for the dancing that followed until midnight. Patrolman John H. Elliott was chairman of the Ball Committee with Lt. Joseph J. Derro as treasurer.

Another Milestone

In Shaw's robust play, "The Devil's Disciple", the Congregational Parish Players, with characteristic ambition, have plucked from the theatrical grab-bag one more production into which they could set their teeth!

Here is Shaw at his tricks again, transforming situations tried and true — essentially hokum — into something seemingly fresh and novel through the simple device of sprinkling them with philosophical paradox. For example, we have here the self-sacrificing hero, so common to the old melodramas, but with a characteristic Shavian twist. When the heroine asks the reason for his sacrifice, instead of saying, "My honor was at stake", or, "For your sake, my dear", he asserts, "Upon my life, I don't know. I've been asking myself that question ever since, and I can find no manner of reason for acting as I did!" And so throughout the play. The Old Master at his wizardry once more, bent on turning something old as the hills into something seemingly new. And moulding an undeniably tight, well-knit play in the process.

Having seen the superb production of this play put on by the Brattle Theatre Company in Cambridge this summer, this reviewer approached his task with a mental handicap and some reluctance. Any other production, he felt, was bound to be anti-climatic and to suffer by comparison. But the Parish Players surprised him (as is their wont). Sensing the challenge, they rose to meet it, and their version, while differing in tempo, had its own specific excellencies.

Dr. Pollard, in a wig that "did something for him", as the saying goes (in this case it practically transformed his personality) gave to the character of Dick Dudgeon the necessary fire and arrogance, at the same time making him debonair and definitely likeable, no small achievement. His was a long part, and not once did he falter.

As Judith Anderson, the minister's wife, Marian Blake's portrayal of hatred turning into love, with successive emotions of fear, grudging admiration, consternation, and despair involved in the process, was indeed superb. Her performance was, we thought, superior to that of the actress in the Cambridge version. Higher praise there is none.

Doris Stone lent a truly professional touch to her role of Mrs. Dudgeon, bitter, frustrated woman, venting her spleen on the world at large. Her training was evident in her diction, which was unusually clear and distinct. Her talents should make a valued addition to the ranks of the Parish Players.

In the early scenes, Harlan Smith imbued the character of Anderson with the necessary kindliness, tolerance, and ministerial unction. He was especially fine in the sentimental scene with his young wife at the beginning of Act II. His sudden awakening to a sense of his true destiny, and consequent turn-about, were skilfully managed.

In the difficult role of General Burgoyne, Gerald Hills, despite a rather low-pitched voice and lack of commanding stature, admirably suggested the polish, refined sophistication, and wry sense of humor of a many-sided character. His well-managed repartee and controlled facial expressions rounded out the part.

Kudos to Bob Blake for his amusing presentation of an awkward, slow-witted country bumpkin. It definitely enlivened the proceedings. One hoped he would find true happiness with his Sarah, his stuffed birds, and his china peacock!

The part of beaten, bedraggled Essie, so inherently sweet, so pitifully oppressed, unfolding like a flower in the sun to her first experience of human kindliness, was touchingly realized by Genevieve Crowe, whose talents seem to grow with each production.

As Major Swindon, good soldier, man not of thought but of action, serene in his devotion to "duty", Gordon Chandler was convincing in voice and manner, and provided sharp contrast to the general's sophistication.

"Doc" Blanchard came through with one more of his skilfully etched (and vastly entertaining) impersonations of a pompous officer. His reminiscing privates and blustering sergeants are by now almost a tradition of our local stage.

Richard Woodward, Donald Dalrymple, and R. Ashley Lewis, as Private I, Private II, and a Hessian general respectively, were effective in relatively minor parts. All credit, too, to the "mysterious" brothers Spelvin, now revealed in the persons of Messrs. Walter Hodges, Herbert Clark and George Hebb, Jr., for "doubling" in incidental characters. (Also for restoring to program use the name "Spelvin", long a theatrical camouflage for anonymity).

At a stage well along in rehearsals, it seemed almost impossible that the play could be ready for its opening date. It was! The credit, of course, is due to Harlan Grant — efficient and generally beloved director!

Special praise is also due the hard-working stage crew for four splendid sets.

The chit-chat on the back page of the program was a pleasing innovation, adding greatly to audience interest.

With "The Devil's Disciple" as an opener, and "Harvey" in the offing, the Parish Players bid fair to make this season memorable. Already, in the current production, they have realized for Frances Chidley what amounts to practically a life-time ambition!

Ralph Edward Bancroft, who died in Glendale, Cal., on November 7, was the twin brother of G. Raymond Bancroft of Highland avenue, proprietor of Bancroft's dry-goods store on Park street.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION NOVEMBER EXHIBITION

The November Exhibition, paintings by Elizabeth Lobingier, had a well-attended opening night. Professor Lamson, the President, presided and introduced the speaker, Mrs. Lobingier herself.

Four media of work were represented, oils, transparent water colours, casein water colours and black and white. While the speaker refused to countenance the division, conservative as opposed to modern, saying that art can have only two divisions, good or bad, nevertheless both schools were shown and perhaps the great interest of the evening lay in Mrs. Lobingier's exposition of abstract art, which quite literally is an abstracting, and depicting of the soul, essence and very being of a subject so that the resulting work is ageless, timeless and without geographical limitations.

Her study of the railway station at Conway, New Hampshire, began starkly in black and white, a graceless structure with gingerbread trimmings, progressed into a trim green and white painting, resolved itself into a semi-abstract study of a station conforming to no architectural or engineering requirements and evolved as a depiction of travel and railway stations the world over, — tracks, wires, spaces planes and distances intermingling in ordered confusion.

One of her non-objective abstracts, a black and white and red study of great violence with no prompting help did get its meaning across to one observer who thought, "That is exactly the devastation caused by a tornado," and later read the title, "Behind the Iron Curtain."

It is difficult to get away from the elemental appeal of water and the oil "Northeastern" and the transparent water colour, "Twin Lights," seemed especially attractive.

The exhibits in the corner display cabinets were fascinating. Two of Mr. Willard Hudson's wooden hand carvings were shown, one a "Diamond Tally-Ho Stage Coach," and the other a lovely team of oxen drawing an ox-cart. Both works show infinite patience and great skill and made an especial contribution to the November showing.

Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Winn were hostesses for the evening, assisted by the Misses Eleanor and Louise Bancroft, Miss Isabel Copeland and Miss Laura Tolman.

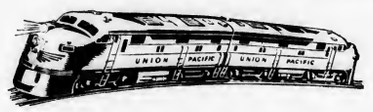

WASHINGTON SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The last two of the grade teas for the Washington School were held during the week of November 5. The first of these, for Miss Roberts of the sixth grade, was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Donovan, 7 Fells road. Mrs. Edward Small, the room mother, was in charge of the tea arrangements and was assisted by Mrs Joseph Cussen, Mrs. John O'Donnell, Mrs. James Wakefield and Mrs. John Wakefield. Pourers were Mrs. Richard Huff and Mrs. Robert Low.

After the tea hour the mothers enjoyed an informal discussion with Miss Rich and Miss Roberts concerning the curriculum for the sixth grade, with particular reference to requirements looking ahead to Junior High School.

The third grade mothers had tea with Mrs. Houghton and Mrs. Graham on Thursday, November 8, at the home of Mrs. Richard Keppler, 12 Fells road. The tea was arranged by the two room mothers, Mrs. Kezar Nichols and Mrs. George Sjoholm, and their assistants were Mrs. S. Bor, Mrs. Neil Borden, Mrs. Joseph Cussen, Mrs. James de Revere, Mrs. Roland Hanson, Mrs. Robert Low, Mrs. Herbert Thompson and Mrs. William Urmson. Mrs. Morton and Miss Rich poured. The tea hour was followed by an informal discussion which covered a range of subjects of interest to the mothers of third graders. This pattern of informal discussion among the mothers, the teachers present, and Miss Rich has been followed at all the grade teas this year and has produced a variety of interesting topics for consideration.

WINCHESTER, 21; WAKEFIELD, 0

Winchester rolled over Wakefield High last Saturday afternoon at Wakefield, 21 - 0, to enter its climatic game with Woburn on Thanksgiving unbeaten and untied.

Wakefield, big and rough and surprisingly fast for such bulky boys, gave the Indians a hard game, but never really threatened, only once getting as close as the Winchester 20 yard line, and that late in the game with the scrubs on the field.

As a matter of fact Wakefield's greatest scoring threat was on the final play of the half when Lo Presti intercepted a Michelsen forward and was hauled down by Griffin, the last man between him and pay-dirt.

On two or three other occasions potential Wakefield pass receivers got behind Winchester defenders in the clear, only to have their passer, Salvati over-throw them.

Out around midfield Wakefield gave as good as it got, but Winchester had the punch when in scoring position and deserved to win; though the Scarlet stopped the Indians' vaunted outside plays pretty well, with what amounted to a nine man line with two backers played wide.

This formation left the Sachems wide open for passes in the middle, and Winchester finally took advantage of this defense weakness to set up its final touchdown. This came about midway through the final quarter when Serieka took a Flannigan punt at his 23. "Jocko" picked up two at tackle and then Michelsen hit Flaherty in the middle with a pretty pass, the speedy end legging it to the Wakefield 45 before being downed by big Santoro.

Bob Johnson broke through to the Sachem's 29, and on the next play Jimmy Griffin whirled off his own left tackle, dodging and speeding past the close backers-up and finally driving into the end zone for a touchdown. Errico's kick was very close, but ruled no good.

Winchester drove after receiving the opening kickoff to the Wakefield 11 where the Scarlet recovered the first of six Winchester fumbles.

Wakefield had to kick and Flannigan's short boot shoved the locals back only to the Scarlet 37. Two line plays got only two yards, but a Michelsen to Flaherty pass advanced to a first down at the Wakefield 24. Michelsen sneaked for five and Griffin made first down again at the 14.

Serieka, Griffin and Michelsen made first down at the 3, and in two bucks, Johnson hulled his way over. Errico kicked the goal.

The second quarter wasn't far along when Jimmy Griffin got off a towering punt from midfield to Lo Presti who tried to catch the ball just outside the Wakefield goal line. He muffed the ball which rolled into the end zone, and as he picked up he was cut down by Serieka for a safety, the only score of the period.

"Dyna" Lentine set up Winchester's second touchdown when he recovered a Scarlet fumble at Wakefield's 31. Big Santoro, going through the middle, was jarred loose from the ball by a jolting Errico tackle, one of many turned in during the afternoon by the sturdy Winchester Co-Captain backer-up.

Immediately Michelsen passed to Atkinson who was downed at the Wakefield 18, and Griffin slid off tackle to the 13. From here big Serieka cut out to the right, and taking a pitchout from Michelsen drove and twisted along the sideline through several Wakefield defenders into the end zone, aided by some nice blocking and screening by Dave Keniston. Errico missed the try for goal.

The going got pretty rugged in the third quarter after Field Judge Lester Ayers assessed Wakefield 15 yards for its Coach O'Donnell's over-zealousness in protesting an Errico tackle, that was as clean as a whistle but so ferocious it knocked the Wakefield ball carrier out. Ayers had to pull the watch on the Wakefield coach and his assistant to get them back to the bench.

Winchester made nine first downs to 10 for Wakefield, rushing for 174 yards to 111 for the Scarlet. Winchester completed three of seven passes for 55 yards and had one intercepted. Wakefield racked up 101 yards on eight of 24 pass attempts, having two intercepted. Winchester fumbled six, recovering two; Wakefield recovering one of its two fumbles. Winchester lost 25 yards in penalties, Wakefield 15.

Jimmy Griffin played a fine all-around game for Winchester and Co-Captain Joe Donlon contributed some bruising tackles in the winning cause. The summary:

WINCHESTER, 5; MELROSE, 1

Winchester High School's varsity field hockey team swamped a weak Melrose team 5 - 1 on Tuesday, November 6, at Winchester. Jan Easton led the slaughter by scoring four of the locals' goals.

From the opening bully Winchester had complete control of play. The first goal of the game was knocked in by Jan Easton after a shot scramble in front of the net. Anna Fiorenza set up Jan's second tally and Anna scored the third goal by hitting a free ball past the Melrose goalie. Jan scored, unassisted, the final goal of the first half, after a twenty-five yard rush, on a pretty diagonal shot that completely evaded the goalie. During the second half Winchester's offensive attack bogged down, scoring only one goal. Melrose hit pay dirt in the dying moments of the contest climaxing a steady sweep of the field.

MYSTIC SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

"The Story of the Red Cross and Its Beginnings" was the title of the assembly program presented by Mrs. McLean's Grade VI on October 31.

If your telephone were valued like an Indian Prince...

Every year the people of some countries weigh their ruler on his birthday . . . then give him his weight in gold or precious gems.

If you were to weigh the value of your telephone to you and your family, you'd find it can't be measured in terms of diamonds or rubies or money.

Think of the comfort — the convenience — the friendliness of telephone service. Your telephone is your constant companion . . . saves you steps and miles . . . links you with friends, family. And its value in emergencies is very great.

Telephone service is better, faster, more efficient than ever . . . you can reach twice as many people as you could ten years ago, and twice as many people can call you . . . yet in relation to other things you buy, the cost of your telephone service actually takes a smaller portion of your family budget today than it did in 1940.

Your telephone is a bigger bargain than ever — Big in Value — Little in Cost.

"REDISTRIBUTING THE WEALTH" —SHARING THE POVERTY

Does he dig up the rich loam and scatter it over the rocks? That is "redistributing the wealth", which our social reformers demand. Something as Marx's idea: "From each according to his abilities; to each according to his needs."

But only a fool for a farmer would do that, because then he'd have two poor fields, and no good one.

The wise farmer (and wise reformer and labor leader and Government official) lets the rich field grow and prosper and produce; and he plows and fertilizes and limes and works the poor field until it produces, too.

Then the farmer has two good fields from which everyone benefits —instead of two poor fields, with which everyone starves.

Some of our "tax experts" might take a look at Nature. She seems to have the answers and in Nature they work.

—(From an advertisement by Warner & Swasey in Newsweek).

In another column of the Star you will read of the formation of the "Homefronters" in Winchester, an organization of women who are planning to greet all men and women of the town in the armed forces on Christmas. No one needs any argument in favor of such a greeting, or its value. However, the "Homefronters" will need the cooperation of parents or other relatives to secure the correct addresses of men and women in the service if they are to get the town's Christmas greeting to our service personnel. Mrs. Toye, the town's "than whomer" when it comes to boys in the service has pointed out in her letter in this week's Star the procedure to be followed in getting service addresses into the hands of the "Homefronters". Each name has been cleared with the military and naval authorities, and it is quite all right to list the wanted addresses in the way that she suggests. The "Homefronters" want to reach every boy and girl from Winchester in the service at Christmas. They will be only as successful in carrying out their home front mission as those having the necessary addresses permit them to be. Cooperation is the watchword. This newly formed group wants to do a big job for the town. We all ought to help them.

In another column of the Star there appears a communication from Professor Sawyer of the Sanitary Chemistry Department of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in which he discusses the fluoridation of public water supplies as an advocate and takes issue with articles bearing upon this question which have appeared in the Christian Science Monitor. Since, at the request of a reader, we published excerpts from two articles which appeared in the Monitor on the subject of fluoridation, we think it only fair to print also Professor Sawyer's views since he seems to feel that the Star opposes fluoridation because of its quotes from the Monitor. This is not so. The Star has taken no position on the matter of fluoridation of public water supplies. It has printed several letters on the subject, both for and against, but they do not express our views, for the very good reason that we have no views, not knowing anywhere near enough about fluoridation of public water supplies to take a stand either way. We did edit the two articles which were sent us for publication by a reader of the Star, to reduce them to suitable length for available space in our paper, but the source of the articles was made clear, and the name of the person sending them to us was published with them. So the Professor has the wrong understanding of the Star's position when he says we have expressed our views editorially and have substantiated our arguments with quotations from the Monitor. We have not argued about fluoridation at all. Nor is Winchester "considering" fluoridation as a town at this time. The Water Board is, and has been accustomed with the question and is presently working on a study of fluoridation in cooperation with the State Department of Health and the Metropolitan Water Commission.

CHARLES T. MAIN

The Newcomen Society of England honored itself by honoring the memory of Charles T. Main in a great meeting at the Hotel Somerset in Boston on November first. There were three hundred and fifty guests, among them college presidents, presidents of banks, railroads and many industries, a distinguished assembly. Dr. Leonard Carmichael, President of Tufts College, presided and William F. Uhl, President of Charles T. Main, Inc., delivered the address. In introducing Dr. Uhl, President Carmichael said of him, "One of the world's greatest living hydraulic engineers and a great industrial leader. One of the giants of modern creative engineering."

"The American Newcomen, through the years, has honored the memories of many leaders in many fields, both in the United States of America and in Canada; and has been a vehicle to record what these men have accomplished in their efforts to advance material civilization."

Dr. Uhl's pain-taking and complete biography of Mr. Main was enlivened by interesting anecdotes of his long and distinguished career. Altogether, he said, about 50 hydroelectric plants, large and small, were designed by Mr. Main and his organization during the past forty-five years. "About a month before his death in 1943, he gave a dinner to his associates, at which he read a message entitled, 'Seeds that are Sown; Crops that are Gathered'." It was a resume of his life. I quote these excerpts:

"Integrity and perseverence in work and business, fairness and justice to all will, in the long run, count for more than brilliancy in attainments. The true success of a man is not measured by the accumulation of money, but by the success of accomplishment of work which adds something to the general good for mankind and for the advancement of the profession."

"To an unusual degree Mr. Main served his fellowman. He gave much to engineering and was happy in the awards he received. Probably his greatest contribution was his own character, with his high sense of honor, responsibility and of professional ethics."

The distinguished men assembled on this occasion knew Mr. Main's sincerity, honesty, and outstanding achievements. I knew his heart and the clouds that sometimes briefly obscured the light of happiness. I was his family physician for more than thirty years. He was my friend and I was his. This country's return to its former prestige, from its present misrule, corruption, lack of diplomacy and incompetence in administrative circles, depends upon more men like Charles T. Main at the head of its affairs — patriots true and tried, exponents of American liberty and freedom that our Constitution promulgated.

By his deeds, Mr. Main won "divine contentment from work well done. There's a humble glory of Godlihood when you look on your work and you find it good." All his time and energy given to useful, scientific work and his modesty, made him little known, save by his intimate associates who held him in highest esteem. Sincere respect is mingled with love in the hearts of those whose good fortune it may be to know such a man and who feel the inspiration of his character.

"He was a man, take him for all and all, I shall not look upon his like again."

THE TIME IS NOW

Editor of the Star:

The town of Winchester is increasing its yearly expenditures faster than its income is rising from increased valuation and it needs no Cassandra to predict where the local tax rate is going if the trend is not halted.

This is the time of year when the officers, committees and boards of the Town are engaged in establishing their budgets for the coming year and the Finance Committee will soon be about its task of solemnly poking fingers into leaky cracks of the fiscal barrel while the torrents roar through the bunghole.

The place to stop the torrents is not in the Finance Committee for all its earnest, overtime efforts; not is it apparently on the floor of Town Meeting where budgets of hundreds of thousands of dollars are weakly passed without question while the fire of debate is reserved for small items that can be visualized and readily evaluated by the Meeting Members.

The proper place for careful economy that will work no harm upon personnel or reduce the efficiency of town services is exactly where each departmental budget is first put together and the spirit with which the job is done is what counts. If those responsible approve large increases on the lame basis that "everything is going up" or, for example, that a few more children in the school system should automatically raise the school budget, then the Town will indeed be aboard the fiscal toboggan.

The time is NOW!

November 6, 1951

Editor of the Star:

I have been enjoying the "Winchester Star" for quite some time now especially since I have been in the service, first at Camp Lejeune, and now here in San Diego.

I have just finished reading your "Star" of 26 October and I enjoyed tremendously the short article on "Winchester the Beautiful". It really makes one appreciate the small things that one so easily forgets.

Please explain exactly who you are referring to when you mention "Big Joe" in one of your articles. I am also a former band-man and during the time I was with the high school band we also had a "Joe". Could the two be one?

I'll be looking forward to the next four editions that I will receive out here. After that I'll do all my reading back in Winchester the Beautiful.

Sincerely,
Dom Rotondi

Ed. Note: The "Big Joe" to whom we referred in a football write-up last fall is the tuba player in "Band of America", a radio feature Monday nights at 9:30 over WBZ. Listen to him some time.

ATTENTION MEN OF SELECTIVE SERVICE AGE

Editor of the Star:

To clear up a present misunderstanding as to how it happened that a young man, recently inducted under the Selective Service Act, was assigned to the Marines on arrival at the Boston Army Base, we would again call to your attention the fact that during the first 10 days of December, 50% of all men inducted will go to the Marines and during the last 20 days of December 100% of all men inducted under Selective Service will be assigned to the U. S. Marine Corps.

We would also call to you attention the fact that of present writing that all men liable for the December draft may still enlist in the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force up to December 1st. If the period for enlistment is again extended, we will so advise you, but it would be to your advantage to check with the writer or the Medford Army — Air Force Recruiting Station, City Hall, Medford, Mass.

Cordially yours,
G. Toye, Chairman

WINCHESTER CLUB PRESIDENTS

During the past five years the American Legion Auxiliary conducted Christmas Gift Shops in the six Veterans Hospitals of Massachusetts. Many outside organizations joined in this huge project and derived great pleasure and satisfaction in serving these hospitalized veterans who sacrificed so much for all of us.

Gifts for fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters and babies are acceptable. They must be new and fresh and should not cost over $1.00. They will be displayed in a festively decorated showroom, assigned by the hospital management. Orchid ladies, volunteer hospital workers of the American Legion Auxiliary, will assist the veterans in choosing suitable articles and also wrap the gifts in gay Christmas paper, and when requested mail them to their homes. A complete assortment of gifts will be placed on carts and taken to the bedsides of those who cannot go to the showroom.

If your organization and some of its members would like to contribute articles for this project, they will be gladly received. This year, shops will be set up in Bedford, Cushing, Northampton, Rutland Heights and West Roxbury Veterans Hospitals and John Adams Hospital. The gifts should not be wrapped, but wrapping paper and ribbon should accompany them. Christmas Gift Shops were considered an out-standing accomplishment and prove of great therapeutic value to the patients.

We thank you for your interest and kindness in the past and hope your organization may help in this good work. Not only were the hospitalized veterans made very happy, but there were instances where families heard from their sons for the first time in years.

Sincerely yours,
Frances Burr

WYMAN OPEN HOUSE

Dr. Forbes Norris was the speaker when the parents attending Open House at the Wyman School on Tuesday, November 13, gathered in the auditorium after visiting in the classrooms and greeting the teachers.

"The School Principal" was the subject of Dr. Norris's talk. He paid tribute to Wyman's principal, Miss Lowry, and then explained the six chief functions of a school principal, the key figure in a school whose stamp is felt throughout the school. He said the good school principal exercises instructional leadership and provides the professional staff and program with the degree of stability necessary for efficient operation. Setting the pace as a student of education is another duty served as well as, keeping in touch with the results of all the research in progress today and helping to sift the valuable from the worthless.

Supplying the needed discipline in the school is also one of the principal's duties though Dr. Norris feels that this is not so big a part of the principal's job as it once was because children have improved over the years.

The principal must act as a buffer sometimes in defense of the child and sometimes in defense of the parent but always thinking of what is best for the child. The last function mentioned was as a public relations agent between the home and the school, both working for the best possible development of the child. As the coordinator of a team working for the good of a child, principals set the pace and leave their mark on the school — staff and children.

Mrs. Ronald Wyman, president of the Wyman Mothers' Association, welcomed the parents and introduced Dr. Norris and Miss Lowry.

Miss Lowry warmly welcomed the new and old parents to the friendliness of the Wyman School, and reminded parents that they have the greatest of all gifts to give to children — themselves. They must take time and make time for their children.

ST MARY'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY

On Sunday, November 11th, St. Mary's Holy Name Society of Winchester held its regular meeting at Waterfield Hall, following the eight o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Church.

After the regular order of business, the guest speaker, Rev. Matthew Vestor was introduced by Fr. Walsh the Spiritual Director of the Society. Fr. Vestor was a Lt. Col. in World War II and at present is Retreat Master at St. Gabriel's Monastery in Brighton. His topic for the morning was "The Retreat Movement". He stated that the purpose of a retreat was not to take a person from his parish, but to strengthen him spiritually, so that when he returned to his parish, he would take a more active part in the religious functions of the parish church. He dwelled considerably on the "Happy Home" which he compared to a structural home; the foundation represented by Faith, the four walls by Hope, Charity, Obedience and Mutual Respect, the roof by Prayer and light by Divine Current.

His talk was a real message to the members of the Society, and they were pleased that St. Mary's was able to procure such an able speaker.

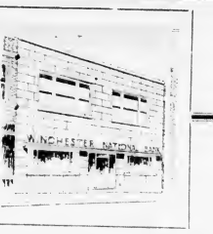

FAMILY SUNDAY

Members of the Upper School of the Unitarian Church will attend church with their parents next Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock service. Regular Church School classes will be omitted. Classes for the younger children, Nursery through the Third Grade, will be held as usual.

The morning music will be featured by the Junior and Senior choirs under the direction of Mary Banton Witham.

Rev. Robert A. Stow will tell the story of the First Thanksgiving included in the service which will be followed by the annual Church Hand of Fellowship to the newly elected to new members. A coffee hour and informal reception to new members will be given by the Ladies' Alliance. Mrs. W. I. P. Badger is in charge of arrangements.

The young people of the Unitarian Church will bring cans of food, clothing, and warm clothing to be sent to the Service Committee's homes for children in Germany.

The Youth Activities Committee will meet Tuesday, November 20th, at 7:45 p. m., in the Church Parlor. This meeting is Most Important as we hope to iron out several difficulties which have arisen.

Men of First Baptist

HUTCHINS BOWDOIN FROSH LEADER

Dave Hutchins, former Winchester High School football and tennis star, has been elected captain of the Bowdoin freshman football team. Hutchins, son of Mayor and Mrs. J. Q. Adams of Cape Neddick, Me., formerly lived on Lewis road, and played tackle on the high school eleven of 1948 and 49, graduating in 1950. He graduated from Hebron Academy in 1951, entering Bowdoin that fall. He is pledged to the Zeta Psi fraternity.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

With a large turnout of members and friends our meeting on Tuesday was a most enjoyable one. Following a short business meeting the president turned the program over to Mrs. John M. Ryan, chairman of the day, who, in turn, introduced our guest speaker the Reverend Walter L. Flaherty.

Father Flaherty, a very able and entertaining speaker, kept his large audience fascinated with a behind-the-scenes description of a television program from rehearsal to actual production. Few of us sitting in our living rooms watching television realized the vast outlay of time, work and money that goes into each and every program and from Father Flaherty's fine explanation we have gained a new respect and appreciation for this new medium of entertainment.

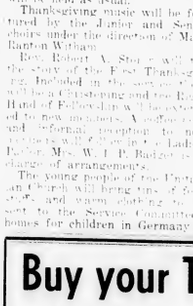

Tea was served by Mrs. Jack C. Douglas Wheeler and Mrs. Joseph Burgatti, Hospitality Co-Chairmen, and hostesses for the day were Mrs. Harold J. Brown, Mrs. James M. Burke, Mrs. Daniel J. Doherty, Mrs. Martin P. Higgins, Mrs. Benjamin J. Mullen, Mrs. Peter A. Murphy, Mrs. Vincent J. Murphy, Mrs. William J. Murray, Mrs. Chester A. Powers and Mrs. Frank White.

Our Christmas Bazaar will be held on Tuesday, November 27th. More news about this next week-end for the present reserve that day, Tuesday the 27th. Plan to come along and have lunch with us and get a head start on your Christmas shopping.

8 O'CLOCK CLUB ENJOYS SUPPER AT BAPTIST CLUB

Twelve young married couples enjoyed a covered dish supper last Friday evening in the Social Hall of the First Baptist Church for the season's first get-together of the church's popular "8 O'clock Club".

Impromptu entertainment included a "Dish-Washing Marathon" which the husbands naturally won!) and a session of very mellow (in fact, pretty sour!) harmony around the piano.

The serious side of the evening was devoted to planning an interesting and varied program of monthly get-togethers for the rest of the season. Mrs. Mildred Aron son was enthusiastically elected Chairman of the group, and she promptly appointed Mr. and Mrs. Walter Josephson, Mr. and Mrs. William Sorenson, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Butterworth to plan next month's get-together.

Whenever possible, this group of young married people plans to meet on the second Friday of each month for a purely social evening of fun and fellowship. The next get-together is scheduled for December 14th, and a sizeable group of young couples is expected to attend.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The Annual Turkey Bridge and Whist Party of the Auxiliary will be held on next Monday evening, November 19, at the Legion Home. All members are urged to attend and bring their friends. There will be many excellent prizes and refreshments in addition to the turkeys.

Many more gifts for the Veterans' Christmas Gift Shop are needed as our quota is larger than ever this year. If you have not donated yours or have friends who wish to contribute a gift, make an effort to have them in this week. The Veterans in the hospitals depend on us for this Gift Shop, and it is such a small effort and means so much to them. Gifts may be left at the Yarn Shop on Main Street or with any Auxiliary member.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

The next regular meeting of the Council will be held at Waterfield Hall on Monday, November 19th at 8:30 p. m. An exemplification of the First Degree will be conferred on a new class of candidates.

A Turkey Bridge and Whist Party will be held at the Noonan School tonight. Because of the mission being conducted at the Immaculate Conception Church this week, the party will not start until approximately 9:00 p. m. Prizes which will be awarded have been donated by council members.

A memorial mass for our deceased members was held last Monday, November 12, at St. Mary's Church at 9:00 a. m.

THANKSGIVING SUNDAY AT METHODIST CHURCH

This Sunday morning at 10:45 a. m., Rev. John Snook, Jr., pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will preach on the subject, "Thankful, Even In Adversity."

Those attending may bring a non-perishable article for the New England Home for Little Wanderers, if they desire. Any kind of canned goods would fit the need.

D. A. R.

The November meeting of the D. A. R. will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Robert W. MacArthur, 42 Cabot street.

Mrs. Arthur T. Rodge will give a soliloquy, "A Pilgrim Maid's Thanksgiving", with true November atmosphere. The guest speaker will be Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, who, by request, will speak on the subject, "Our Southwest, a Land of Enchantment."

UNITED CHURCH CANVASS

The second letter of the Winchester United Church Canvass bringing home to the entire community the need of financial support in order to have strong, vigorant churches has been mailed to 2,500 families throughout the town.

The letter, signed by the entire membership of the United Church Canvass, asks respectfully that each recipient give serious consideration to the answer he will give to his own church when his support is solicited on or before Loyalty Sunday, December 2.

It points out that stronger and more energetic churches are the most hopeful solution to many of the difficulties facing all of us today.

Enclosed with the letter is a small pamphlet called "If Your Church Envelope Could Speak." Its contents warrants attention.

Other activities before Loyalty Sunday will include a Loyalty Party, directed by each individual church and directed to its own members. In most cases, these letters will be accompanied by church budgets and other data.

Some churches will make preliminary appeals before Loyalty Sunday on a return-by-mail basis, with follow up visits by canvassers on Loyalty Sunday, December 2. Other churches will make their major collection effort on Sunday, December 2.

In either event, nearly 500 canvassers will be busy on the Sundny afternoon of December 2 making house-to-house visits.

The next meeting of the full membership of the United Church Canvass is Monday at 8 p. m. in the Congregational Church office.

Smith will appoint committeemen in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho and Montana to serve for the coming year. The five-state district committee is responsible for the industry's public relations program in the area. The program, part of a national setup, is sponsored by the American Petroleum institute and represents all phases of the industry.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

The International Student Association has opened its beautiful new House at 32 Garden street, Cambridge, this fall, and is growing in its efficiency and scope in its important function of providing a center to which the many Nationality Students in Greater Boston may meet with each other and other American students. One of the functions of the Association is to introduce every foreign student to the American family, so that he or she may have a real glimpse and contact with American home life.

One way the private citizen can help in today's vital need for better international understanding is to call the Center, and speak with the Hospitality Secretary, Miss Dorothy Norval — and offer home hospitality to these young people from distant lands.

If this can be done before the new year it is doubly valuable. If there is anyone who is longing to have an extra place filled at his table for Thanksgiving, some students are still available. Call the Center — UNiversity 4-1600.

SCHOOL EXHIBITS FOR EDUCATION WEEK

As part of the celebration of American Education Week, several local stores are co-operating with the Winchester schools in presenting displays of work done by pupils in art, arts and crafts, woodworking, printing and drafting. Interested citizens will not want to miss these exhibits.

Examples of elementary school art will be found at the Winchester Drug Company, while junior high school art classes are represented in the window at Filene's.

An exhibit of high school arts and crafts is in the window of Puffer's Insurance, while Hevey's Drug is showing samples of junior and senior high school woodworking. Across the street Foley's Real Estate shows products of high school drafting and printing.

Eddy spoke about the church school, Maxwell McCreery on the church property and Albert S. Crockett on the budget and the financial condition of the parish.

Both teams, even their first four games handily enough, but from there on the Tanners with an injury list that grew each week, slid from the victory trail while the Winchester Indians, sound in wind and limb, continued to roar ahead, winning each week until they will enter the holiday classic with a clean slate that boasts nine straight victories.

Woburn, at full strength, would be a good even choice against Winchester this year, despite the fact the Indians have had since the days when Coach Hennie Knowlton thinks is the best team he has had since he came to town 11 years ago.

The Tanners however will be without such stars on the holiday as "Butch" McLaughlin, s ar halfback, out with an Achilles tendon strain and chipped bone in his heel; Joe Soave, hard running fullback, who has a severe leg injury, at first believed to be a broken bone; Harold Kerrigan, one of the best ends hereabouts, who is in a cast with three ribs pulled away from his spine; "Pudd" McKee, big tackle, out with a broken leg; and Bob Morgan, a capable defensive back, nursing a broken jaw.

Beside these first string performers, Dunnigan, a reserve back, has a broken arm; Holland, also a halfback, has some broken ribs; and Johnson, another back, has a broken collar bone. Inglese, star center, and Cotter, rugged guard, have both been out with injuries off and on, and whether they will be at their peak for Winchester is a question.

On the bright side of the Tanner picture is the fact that Danny Rosa, a good back who has been out with a glandular infection in his neck, will be ready to go against Winchester, though he is not expected to start. The improvement in the play of William Burch and Bob Mathews, reserve backs, has also pleased Coach Dorington.

The popular ex-Holy Cross and Arlington High center expects to give Winchester a ballgame, but naturally regrets the fact that he cannot throw his best team against the Indians. He faces a situation akin to Winchester without Sericka, Griffin, Amundsen, Flaherty and Errico or Donlon. Just how well the Indians would do without these boys is a question. They did well enough against Woburn even without Errico and Donlon, and Griffin didn't play against Framingham, but to take the field without all these key players wouldn't be good! It just wouldn't!

Aside from the personnel slant Winchester has the edge in the comparative scores angle. Both teams faced Reading, Winthrop, Stoneham and Wakefield, and both beat Wakefield and Reading by about the same margins. Winchester, however beat Winthrop, 21-0, and Stoneham, 13-6, while Woburn lost to these clubs, being defeated by Winthrop, 12-7, and by Stoneham, 24-0. It should be remembered that both McLaughlin and Soave were out of most of the Winthrop game with injuries and didn't face Stoneham. Comparative scores are never too accurate a yardstick.

We can't see Winchester anything but the favorite this year, unless some of Coach Knowlton's stalwarts fall by the scholastic wayside when the marks come out this week-end.

If the Woburn weights are correct, and they came from Coach Dorrington, himself, Winchester will have quite a weight advantage, averaging 171 with Errico and Donlon in the starting lineup and 170 if Griffin and Sericka start. The defensive average will go above the 171 slot with Murphy instead of right tackle Keniston, since the big "Anchor" tips the beam at 200 to Keniston's 160.

Woburn's starting lineup will average about 150, slightly higher with Rosa in the lineup. The Tanners, however, generally look lots bigger than their published weights.

So Winchester would seem to have everything necessary to win on the holiday. There is, however, one little item in which the Indians are not likely to outclass their crippled rivals. That would be fight, team spirit, aggressiveness, call it what you will.

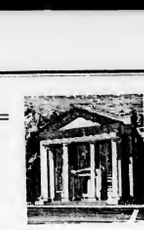

It's that ingredient that lets a weaker club triumph over a superior but sparkless rival; that has enabled potentially weaker Tanner teams to tie or beat strong Winchester elevens. Woburn seems to have this spark to a greater degree than Winchester, and come Thanksgiving, the Orange will be in there swinging; at least it always has!

Since 1891 Winchester has won 20 games, Woburn, 16; and eight have been ties. Over the past five years each team has won two, and last year's game was a tie. That's close enough for anyone, and let's all hope this year's game won't have to be decided by an official's decision. You can never make Winchester believe it didn't win that battle of the mud at Woburn last year, especially after studying the movies of the game.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING

A timely and challenging report on two recent meetings which she attended was brought into the November meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association last Friday morning at the monthly meeting held in the General Assembly Room, Town Hall, by the Director, Mrs. Doris Wiklund. A report on the Narcotic Bill by Dr. John F. Pepi, Medical Director of the House of Correction, Suffolk, and a review of a talk by Dean Judson R. Butler, School of Education at Boston University on the need for education for more students who are not "brains"—these two reports provided stimulating material for board members. Mrs. Henry E. Moffette presided.

Late in October, Mrs. Wiklund attended the Nursing Conference at the Hotel Bradford, and at the Saturday session heard Dr. Pepi, who spoke of his work among prisoners, and the drug addicts there. Unless drug addiction is stamped out, it will demoralize this nation, Dr. Pepi warned his public health-minded audience. He told of the devastation drugs were causing in New York city schools — Massachusetts is not as badly off, but the number of cases is growing.

First the young people try marihuana — then heroin and opium. What can a thinking parent or citizen do to protect these teen-agers? Dr. Pepi warned that these youngsters must be kept from bad company, and from alcohol. The evils of drugs cannot be brought home to them too strongly.

Yet today, there is no law strong enough to put the dope peddler out of circulation. Mr. Myer Pressman spoke on the legislative action, passed August 21, 1951, to curb these peddlers and give the judge and local police the right to lay hands on both seller and user of narcotics. Anyone convicted of selling narcotics to a person under 21 can be convicted of felony.

Yet today in this vast nation, with the drug problem so acute, Mr. Pressman pointed out that there are only 200 narcotics agents, operating on a tiny budget, to carry out a staggering job.

Dean Butler, as the next speaker, pointed out that I. Q. tests are good in showing "verbal intelligence" of students, but could not measure "social or mechanical intelligence"—something which may get a man or woman much farther in a job or in life. A "brain" may never get as far as the man with social charm!

Fairly Busy October

October was a fairly busy month for the two nurses (with Mrs. Dunn on her vacation) but some part-time nursing help was brought in by supply nurses. The nurses made 373 visits.

The Nurses plan weekly staff meetings, and Mrs. Wiklund has placed them into "districts", each taking two precincts to save time in travelling.

Several members who had attended other sessions at the General meeting of the nursing groups in Boston October 25-27 brought in their reports, under Mrs. Theodore Browne's guidance, to share material gleaned at these sessions with all the members. These reports, with those from Mrs. Wiklund and Miss Alice Peterson, made the meeting a most interesting one.

DARTMOUTH FOOTBALL SPECIAL

A deluxe special football train will be operated by the Boston and Maine Railroad on Saturday, November 17, from Boston to Norwich-Hanover for the Dartmouth-Cornell football game, it was announced last night by the road.

The train consisting of all air-conditioned cars, a diner, and refreshment car will leave Boston at 9:20 A. M., stopping at Winchester at 9:30 A. M., Lowell at 9:50 A. M., and arrive at Norwich-Hanover at 12:40 P. M.

On the return trip, the football special will leave Norwich-Hanover at 6:00 P. M. and arrive at Lowell 8:40 P. M., Winchester 9:00 P.M., and Boston 9:10 P. M.

R. F. Cowan, Passenger Traffic Manager of the road, said, "This deluxe train should provide a definite answer to the highway traffic problem always encountered on this game and the low round-trip fare on this football special should meet with immediate approval of those planning to attend the game."

Tickets are now on sale at Boston, Wedgemere, Winchester and Lowell.

NICHOLAS FILMS PLEASED

Gorgeous color films of "Old Faithful" gushing forth in full force, "Devil's Punch Bowl" and other Yellowstone National Park geysers — all in breath-taking hues and aspects, were presented last Thursday evening, November 8, by Mr. Alonzo D. Nicholas of Arlington, before an appreciative audience at the fall meeting of the Winchester Historical Society. Miss Clara R. Russell, president, was the presiding officer and welcomed the many guests and members that evening.

Miss Laura Tolman presented the treasurer's report, and Mrs. George E. Connor read the secretary's report, while Miss Jean MacLellan, serving in her new capacity as curator, told of current gifts to the Society. These gifts include pictures of the Shattuck stable on Church street, the old Stanton House (now occupied by Dr. Sheehy) school group pictures, and an old primer.

Mr. Nicholas, assisted by Mrs. Nicholas, was the speaker of the evening, and his long-awaited colored films taken on his recent trip to the West, Lake Superior, and Yellowstone National Park were sufficient to spell-bind his audience. His first film took his audience to the land of Hiawatha (Gitchee Gumee), and using lines from the Longfellow poem to title his pictures, Mr. Nicholas showed delightful waterfalls and flowers, magnificent trees and blue-green waters, and Fort Wilkins with its picturesque palisades. Miles and miles of daisies growing by the roadside made another unforgetable picture.

Glacier National Park — rightfully called by the Indians the "land of shining mountains" with majestic snow-capped peaks, and then Yellowstone were depicted on the screen by Mr. Nicholas. The geysers, or dying volcanic actions; pools with steam slowly rising into rainbow colors; hot springs with water in constant activity — these all came to life on the screen last Thursday evening. And those who sat in the peaceful Art Gallery of the Winchester Public Library and who watched the screen, could half-believe they stood in Yellowstone, and actually backed faway as "Old Faithful" gave forth its 63-minute geyser. It was an evening of keen enjoyment to all ages, all interests, present in the room.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

On Monday afternoon of this week the Masonic Hall took on a very festive air with all the beautiful flowers and music. This was Presidents Day at the Fortnightly. The stage was picturesquely decorated with ferns, palms and lovely bouquets of chrysanthemums from the Winchester Conservatories. Our president, Mrs. Hiscoe, and the guests wore various corsages. The hostesses wore dainty corsages of bitter sweet and greens arranged by Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Hiscoe. During the reception the Trudeau Trio entertained with appropriate music. Mrs. Ralph Meigs and Mrs. Edward Bartlett with the social committee were busy serving dessert and coffee from 1:00 p. m. to 2:00 p. m. Mrs. William Priest and Mrs. Robert Perkins graciously presided at the coffee table.

At 2:00 p. m. Mrs. Hiscoe called the meeting to order. After the usual opening she extended a warm welcome to all the members and guests. Mrs. Lewis C. Stevens, President of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, and the eighth district director Mrs. Harold Given as well as a number of presidents from other clubs were there. Mrs. Given extended greetings and gave a short summary of the good deeds, such as sending Care packages and making and filling Christmas bags for servicemen, the clubs in the district are performing. Mrs. Stevens brought greetings from the Federation and told of the many plans they have for the mid winter and spring conventions. Mrs. Hiscoe brought to a close the business part of the meeting with a "Thanksgiving Menu."

Mrs. Hiscoe then presented Miss Eleanor Davis the volcalist and her accompanist, Mrs. Natalie Weidner. Miss Davis thrilled her audience with many selections including, "I Love Life", "Think On Me", "At The Parting", "He Stole My Tender Heart Away", a novelty number, "The Green Dog", "Yours Is My Heart Alone", the "Italian Street Song", and "Deep In My Heart". Mrs. Weidner was most entertaining with a waltz for her piano solo, and also her troubles with the piano stool. All in all it was a most enjoyable afternoon.

On Wednesday afternoon, November 7, all those who braved the terrific storm to attend the meeting at the home of Miss Mary Fitch, were well repaid. Mrs. Fred Burdett of Woburn chose an intriguing subject in "Early American Lighting". She had on display many early lamps and candle holders of all kinds and explained in detail how these were used. At the close of her talk a delicious tea was served with Mrs. George M. Bryne pouring. Our thanks to Miss Clara Russell, Preservation of Antiques Chairman, for planning such an interesting as well as instructive program.

Attention all chairmen! Please get all information you wish published to your Press Chairman by Tuesday of each week. Remember any meeting taking place after Tuesday will not be written up until the following week.

Remote Control

Raking leaves is like lots of week end activities — good exercise, if you don't overdo it. Tom and I were discussing the hidden perils of even occasional week end exertion in the smoker of the morning train. He was suffering from the heavy sport of window washing.

"Just wait," he said. "With all these time-saving devices they're cooking up now, we'll soon be able to sit in the easy chair and cut the grass, wash the car, or rake the leaves by simply pressing a button. No stopping and starting — just sitting."

"That'll be the day," I replied, "but it sounds like the stuff the brakeman was talking about last week — CTC."

"Sure you don't mean CMP, CPS, or NPA?" asked Tom sarcastically.

"Don't be ignorant," I continued "It means Centralized Traffic Control. It's a system of handing railroad switches and signals from a long way off."

"How far off?" Bill cut in.

"Well," I said, "I think one railroad can throw a switch 94 miles away. Such long distances are unusual, of course, but the point is that by throwing main line switches and giving the proper signal indication to the engineer, the Traffic Control center doesn't have to stop a train just to tell the engineer to pull in at the next siding. Sometimes these control points can even get a train overtake and pass another train, using the opposite track to do it — all on signal indication and without either train stopping."

"I suppose there must be lots of wires and electrical gadgets in it," I agreed, "but they tell me the operation is simple and I dare avoid lots of delays to trains. It's one more example of what the railroad is doing to improve its freight and passenger service."

TROOP No. 1 CHATTER

Thursday November 1 after school the girls of Troop No. 1 set out for New Boston, N. H., and a weekend of camping.

Arriving at the farm of Mrs. Hersey, our troop leader, about six, we changed into warmer clothes (there was about an inch of snow on the ground) and after supper some played games while others went tobogganing near by.

On Friday morning while waiting for the "Cooks" to get breakfast some of us went riding and after a hearty meal the "clean ups" did the dishes. Afterwards we set out for Mt. Monadnock which we hoped to climb.

Climbing the mountain was hard work, for aside from other difficulties it was covered with ice and snow.

Upon reaching the top we had a "mountain lunch" consisting of crackers, raisins, cheese, oranges, cookies and a chocolate bar.

The descent was harder because supreme caution had to be used climbing down icy and snowy rocks, but true to Girl Scout training no one was hurt.

Reaching home wet, tired and foot-sore, we changed our clothes and went to a dinner given by the Junior Class of New Boston.

That night everyone went to bed early and slept like "logs". Saturday morning we left for home, our muscles aching but happy.

On the trip certain little "gems of information" were learned. Sheila Scanlon learned that if you slide down snowy rocks in blue dungarees you're bound to leave a blue trail plainly visible on white snow.

Peggy McNally and Mary Cullen learned that a can of diced clams for clam chowder, normally enough for 25 people is not much good without the clam chowder or the other 23 people and Nancy Morse found out that "even in the sticks" they have Hallowe'en.

The girls that went on the trip were:

Mary Cullen
Andy Erskine
Babs Hammett
Alison Hersey
Althea Hersey
Ann Hooper
Betty Lou Mortenson
Peggy McNally
Nancy Morse
Sheila Scanlon

COUPLES CLUB

Tuesday evening the Couples Club of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church held their monthly meeting, with fifty in attendance. A delicious supper of baked macaroni, boiled ham, cole slaw, with apple pie and cheese for dessert was served under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bergquist.

After the supper the business meeting was held and a grand evening of fellowship followed, with fun and frolic for all under the capable leadership of Reverend Snook. Everybody attending took part in the games. This was one of our most successful evenings which was quite evident by the enthusiasm of all.

All single and married couples are cordially invited to join us in the meetings to follow which are held the first Tuesday of every month. Entertainment has been lined up which will be of interest to all. Come and join us.

Miss Joan Wolsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. C. Wolsey, 52 Jefferson road, has been appointed literary editor of the 1952 Vermont Junior College Yearbook, it was announced at the college this week. Miss Wolsey, a fine arts major, is a member of the women's athletic association, is social director, vice-president of her dormitory and a cheerleader.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The November meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters, planned by the Economic Policies Committee, was held on November 7th at Mrs. Philip Woodward's home. The speaker was Professor H. H. Chapman, who was for 33 years a member of the state Park and Forest Commission of Connecticut, and for many years a member of the faculty of the Yale School of Forestry; his topic the "Administration of Conservation Resources". Professor Chapman said that the three principal problems for the states to solve are (1) the requirement for a stable policy and efficient personnel — the two-party system is a handicap because of political appointments; (2) the need to simplify the organization by combining so far as wise the various categories into one department; (3) the policy-forming body and administrative body should comprise the same members. As in a business firm, the administrator appointed by the Commission should be solely responsible for carrying out the directives, and policies once adopted should not be changed without good reason. Professor Chapman recommended that Massachusetts should abolish its present plan and substitute an unpaid Commission with overlapping 6-year terms; protect the technicnl men by putting them under Civil Service; have Fire Wardens appointed by the state instead of the towns, and make it a lifetime appointment.

The orientation meeting at Mrs. Thomas M. Hennessey's, 37 Cabot street, on November 19th at 8 p. m. is especially planned for new members, but all are welcome. Mrs Edgar J. Driscoll, president of the Massachusetts League, will speak.

State Study Workshop meetings will be held on the 20th at Mrs. Rodney Long's and on the 28th at Mrs. Lawrence Hawkins'.

JR. MRS. GUILD

The Jr. Mrs. Guild of the First Congregational Church will hold its meeting on Tuesday, November 20, at 7:45 p. m. in the Kindergarten Room. Mr. Leslie C. Browning of S. S. Pierce Co., will give a demonstration on preparing hors d'oeuvres and other foods. All women of the church are invited.

Winchester anticipated by ten years the frontal attack on communism now advocated by leading Americans. To prepare its children for what General Eisenhower calls the battle of the "big truth" against the "big lie," Winchester ten years ago introduced in its public schools the "Democracy Series" which tomorrow becomes available (grades 1 through 6) in its first revised edition. The "Democracy Series," published by The Macmillan Company, pioneered in presenting a positive teaching of democracy for elementary schools.

COMMUNICATIONS

MORE ON FLUORIDATION

November 5, 1951

It has come to my attention that the town of Winchester is currently considering the matter of fluoridation of its public water supply. I understand that your paper has served as the medium by which several people have expressed their personal views on this matter, also that you have exercised your prerogative of expressing your views editorially and have substantiated your arguments by quotations from the Christian Science Monitor.

Under the circumstances, I am sure you will be interested in the following copy of a letter and communication which the undersigned felt impelled to write to The Monitor. In any situation of this kind, there is bound to be a considerable voicing of half-truths and, also, some cases of untruths. As Editor you know the responsibilities of your job better than I do. It would seem to me that if you would explore the reasons why The American Dental Association, The American Water Works Association, The American Public Health Association, The U. S. Public Health Service, The Conference of State Sanitary Engineers and many state departments of health have gone on record as favoring fluoridation of those public water supplies deficient in fluorides, you would be in a position to really advise the people of your town.

Respectfully yours,
Clair N. Sawyer
Professor of
Sanitary Chemistry

November 1, 1951

The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway Street
Boston 15, Massachusetts

Gentlemen:

Enclosed is a communication addressed to your paper relative to the subject of fluoridation of public water supplies, which I hope you will have the courage to publish.

A number of my friends have read this article as well as your recent editorial. Some of them happen to live in communities where the subject of fluoridation is being debated, and quotations from The Monitor have been expressed in the local papers. I have been urged to send copies of this communication to such papers so that they might get a little of the other side of the story. I think it is ethically correct for me to do this, for, if you publish it, you should have no objections and, if you don't, well, who will know except a few of my friends and the editors of a couple of local weekly papers. In the interests of my children, your children, in fact all children, living and unborn, I must do this.

Sincerely yours,
Clair N. Sawyer
Professor of
Sanitary Chemistry
Mass. Institute of Technology

P. S. It is my considered opinion that within 10 years fluoridation of public water supplies will be considered as one of the great advances in Public Health practice, second only to chlorination. I am happy to be a proponent.

C. N. S.

November 1, 1951

To The Christian Science Monitor:

I have felt the urge on several occasions to write in protest to the biased nature of various articles written by your Science Correspondent in regard to the question of fluoridation of public water supplies. I feel that I know the published literature relative to this question well enough to offer sound criticism. I do not recall one instance where an article appearing in the Monitor has ever said one favorable thing regarding fluoridation. This shows an ignorance on the part of the Correspondent or a desire to sort and choose according to his personal feelings. This gives rise to the very valid question of whether other articles may not be so written.

After reading your editorial, "Fluoridation: What Next?", all the pencils on my desk seemed to point at me as if to shame me for not having written you before.

I take issue with you for trying to hide "behind the skirts" of Individual Freedom. Forty years ago in Jersey City, N. J., a great battle was waged in court over the then new practice of chlorination of public water supplies. The flag of Individual Freedom was freely flown at that time. Thanks to a very wise judge, the practice of chlorination was upheld as a boon to public health. Today practically no one will argue the point. It may be honestly stated that the practice of chlorination has never cured a case of typhoid fever or of Asiatic cholera. On the other hand, we know it has prevented the occurrence of untold numbers of cases of these diseases as well as others of a more subtle nature. Would you today say that chlorination of public water supplies infringes upon your Individual Freedom?

You state that doctors disagree as to the effects of fluorides in public water supplies. This is not a strange situation. It is hard to find any question on which all people are agreed. Not many medical men have concerned themselves with the subject of fluorides and dental health, consequently few of them will commit themselves, in a positive manner on this question.

However, I am sure that most of them would consider the 2 to 3 mg. of fluoride that would be ingested per day by users of a fluoridated water supply as far below the toxic level. Medical men are normally not interested in the care of teeth and gladly pass that responsibility on to those in the Dental Profession.

Now when we turn our attention to Doctors of Dentistry we find that practically all of them are quite well informed on the subject of fluorides and dental health. In fact, so well informed that the American Dental Association, as well as most associations on the state level, have gone on record as favoring the addition of fluorides to fluoride deficient waters to help prevent the formation of dental caries.

Your editorial refers to the practice of fluoridation as medication and in another place states that the other therapeutics or prophylactic value. These statements show that even Editors get confused at times and "know not where of they speak." Your reference to fluorides as being "foreign substances" is in error since all water supplies contain at least a trace of fluorides and many contain even more than the so-called optimum level of 1.0 part per million. The second error relates to your use of the terms medicines and therapeutic values. By definition medicines are taken for their therapeutic value, i. e. ability to cure disease. No informed person in the field of Public Health has ever claimed that the addition of fluorides to drinking water would cure a dental cavity. Fluorides are added strictly for their preventive ability.

Vegetable fats from which oleomargarine is made are notoriously deficient in Vitamin A, so Vitamin A is added to prevent those of us who can't afford butter from getting "night blindness" or becoming sterile. All of our white flour today is enriched with Thiamine, Riboflavin and Niacin, which are added to prevent beriberi, loss of muscle tone, and pellagra, respectively. Would you say that incorporation of these substances into these food products, which for years were consumed without them, constituted an infringement of our Individual Freedom? Would you go out of your way to purchase these food products in an unenriched form. Certainly not!

It may be news to you that there are about one million people in the United States who have been raised on natural waters with from 1.0-1.5 ppm. of fluorides, about 900,000 on waters with 1.6-2.0 ppm. of fluorides and, according to medical and dental records, without the development of any peculiar symptoms other than abnormally sound teeth. Furthermore studies have been conducted over the past five years by competent medical and dental men at Newburgh, N. Y., and Grand Rapids, Michigan, on the influence of adjusting the fluoride level in the municipal supplies in those cities at the level of 1.0 ppm. Reports issued from both cities during the past year have been most gratifying. Marked reductions of dental caries have been noted in both cases and no untoward effects have been observed.

The cost per capita ranges from 5-15 cents per year. With an average life expectancy of 65 years, the average cost per person per lifetime would be $6.50. Does this seem too big a price to pay for an expected 60 per cent reduction in dental caries? How can it be done more cheaply and uniformly and without regard to race, color or financial standing? Even the poor shall be blessed. Let's not procrastinate any longer.

"THE WINCHESTER HOME-FRONTERS" IS BORN

The time has come when the women of Winchester have taken a most constructive step to set up an organization for the benefit of our men and women in the Armed Forces, said organization to be called "The Winchester Home-fronters." The organization came into being in the following manner. At the last meeting of the Women's Council, Mrs. William Cusack broached the subject of remembering our boys and girls in the Services at Xmas time. This received such an enthusiastic response that Mrs. Cusack, Mrs. J. W. Shoemaker and Mrs. W. E. Underwood got on the telephone and contacted every organization listed in the "Women's Organizations of Winchester", asking that a representative attend a meeting to be held November 5th at the home of Mrs. Cusack. The attendance was large and represented every precinct in town.

After thorough discussion it was decided that there would not be time to compile a list of Service people, obtain funds and mail packages for this Xmas, but that we could, and would, compile the list and send a card to every Winchester man or woman in the Armed Forces. To be able to do this we must have the cooperation of all families having anyone in the Services When the list has been compiled you will be called, and, after proper identification, you will be asked to give the current address of the member of your family in the Services. Or, you may go into the Winchester Library, where Miss Corinne Mead will be in charge of the Services file, and register the member of your family there. Inasmuch as a service man is constantly having a change of address, we earnestly ask that you keep the service file up-to-date by notifying Miss Meade, or her assistant Miss Doris Maxwell, as the changes may come along. This file will eventually be the Town record of our people in the Services.

MILITARY SECURITY: In order to meet with all military requirements and to protect the service man, and his family, the list at the Library may not be copied, nor can there be duplicates of the list made. Any church organization or bona fide town organization wishing to do something for our service people will receive full cooperation. But under no circumstances, as long as the writer has anything to do with it, can the file leave the library until it is finally turned over to the Town at the conclusion of the emergency.

At the November 5th meeting it was decided that the Homefronters be set up on a temporary basis to meet the Xmas emergency, and that the first of the year a permanent organization would follow. The following votes were then passed:

1. That the Chairman of the Winchester Board of Selectmen be elected Honorary Chairman.
2. That Mrs. William Cusack act as temporary working Chairman.
3. That Mr. Ralph Hatch act as Treasurer and that an account be opened at the Winchester Savings Bank where public donations may be made.
4. That the organization be named "The Winchester Homefronters."
5. That Mrs. Martin S. Swanson act as temporary Secretary.
6. That Mrs. K. B. Toye act as temporary Public Relations Chairman.
7. That Mrs. Cusack appoint representatives from each precinct as a temporary Committee to work on the Xmas project.
8. That a roster of names of people in the Services be kept at the Winchester Library.

At the request of Mrs. Toye, Miss Corinne Mead will act as Asst. Public Relations Chairman and Mrs. Dorothy Lord of the Winchester Star as press representative.

Temporary Precinct Chairmen

Precinct 1. Mrs. Carl Morton, Miss Ouida Kimbro
Precinct 2. Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, Mrs. George Saltmarsh
Precinct 3. Mrs. Stanley Barnes Mrs. V. L. Scanlon
Precinct 4. Mrs. W. Underwood, Mrs. Mabelle Long
Precinct 5. Mrs. Paul Leverett, Mrs. Sydney Burr
Precinct 6. Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. William Haggerty

A list of people volunteering to help is too long to print in this issue, so watch the indispensable Winchester Star for further developments. However, Mrs. Cusack is deeply indebted to Mrs. Theodore Elliott, Mrs. Paul Howard and Mrs. George Manoli

Everyone in Winchester is automatically a Homefronter. This is your organization and we welcome your suggestions and advice.

Cordially yours,
G. Toye

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT!

Editor of the Star:

Friday morning, November 2, fifteen persons from the Highlands lost the 8:12 train to Boston. That was a repetition of Thursday morning, when a similar bus load of people lost the 8:12 train to Boston. It was not that the bus did not reach the square in time. It reached there in plenty of season, and waited for several minutes for the red light to be changed so it could cross the tracks, circle the common, and discharge its passengers.

The red light did not change, and finally the railroad gates came down, and the passengers had to remain locked in the bus while they watched their train pull out.

It is a serious matter when fifteen persons are obliged to miss their train, and be late for work, late for school, and late for appointments.

This is not an isolated instance, but is practically a daily occurrence in missing trains. Under the orders of the Selectmen, the bus drivers are forbidden to release a passenger until the bus has crossed the track and circled the common. Under the old system, it was a rare event to miss a train. If the present system is to be retained, and the drivers cannot pick up passengers where they formerly did, at least they ought to be permitted to release passengers rather than keep them imprisoned to watch their train pull in and out of the station. The service should be operated at least to some extent for the benefit of the riders who use it. The present system is of no benefit to those persons.

According to last week's Star, a shelter is contemplated. Some sort of shelter is sorely needed to protect against the rain, the snow and the cold, when persons must wait from 20 minutes to 40 minutes for a bus. There is the prospect that such a shelter on the common, if not properly policed, could become a nuisance. On Monday mornings, the parking space along the railroad platform is fairly well strewn with empty half pints and empty beer cans. Late at night, I doubt that many lone women would care to wait in such a shelter, and I would want no younger sister of mine waiting in such a place unless I knew a policeman was constantly on duty there.

"AWKWARD AND DELAYING"

Editor of the Star:

Sentiment so far expressed seems to favor continuing the use of the Common street bus stop. As many of those displeased are not Winchester residents, I feel their side should be given voice. This letter expresses the view of many dissatisfied bus riders, and I'm sure, of many bus drivers to whom the plan is awkward and delaying. There is also considerable loss of parking space.

Lack of shelter obviously cannot be tolerated through the winter. The bus company feels no compulsion to provide shelter because the plan stems from the request of the Town.

Bus connections are more difficult for some because they cannot be let off before the long circle is made around the Common.

Coordination of the bus stops in one area seems to be an excellent idea. Cannot a new location be tried which will (1) give the bus patrons at least a wall shelter; (2) hasten bus connections; (3) cause the loss of only 5 parking places instead of 25, an important consideration come Christmas shopping days.

The suggestion has been made that the area in front of McCormack's could accomodate the Woburn - Medford busses, requiring a circle around the tower for the Woburn Bound bus only. The Arlington bus could park as before Beside McCormack's and the Stoneham bus across the street along the Common. Shopkeepers willing, this plan might end much of the present complaint.

WINCHESTER ENLISTEES

Editor of the Star:

Seven men from Winchester volunteered for enlistment in the Regular Army or Air Force during the month of October 1951, according to an announcement from Army and Air Force Recruiting Headquarters, Medford City Hall. These men enlisted for varying periods ranging from twenty-four months to four years. The names and addresses of those enlisted are:

Frederick Combes, 157 Highland avenue.

Henry W. Harris, 2 Curtis street.

Dominick Marabella, 55 Oak street.

William Phinney, 69 Yale street.

Anthony Maiullari, 19 Holland street.

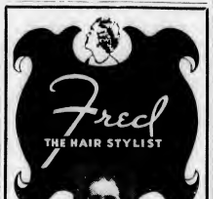

Frank Corby, 44 Irving street.

Dominic Suppa, 72 Harvard street.

For information concerning enlistment opportunities available in the Regular Army or Air Force, young men are urged to visit Medford City Hall any week-day. At the present time, there is no waiting list for either the Army or Air Force. Interested young men who are qualified may be enlisted immediately. Men of draft age who have received a notice to report for a preinduction physical examination from their draft board are eligible to volunteer for enlistment in either the Army or Air Force until November 30, 1951. This is contrary to past procedures whereby a man became ineligible to volunteer once he received a notice to report for a preinduction physical examination.

All But Impossible to Believe!

Standard equipment, accessories, and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

It is very difficult to believe—but, each month, there are literally thousands of people who pay as much for their motor cars as it would cost them to buy Cadillacs . . . and, yet, they don't get Cadillacs.

As we said, this is very hard to believe—but the reasons for it make it more or less understandable.

In the first place, a great many people simply don't know what a Cadillac costs. They don't understand that the lowest-priced Cadillac actually costs less than certain models produced by numerous other manufacturers.

They only know that Cadillac is the world's most renowned motor car—and they assume, from this, that it must also be exclusively priced.

Too, some people get discouraged because they can't walk in and order a Cadillac and get immediate delivery—as they can with so many other makes of cars.

This, too, is largely due to a failure to get all the facts and think them through to the inevitable conclusion.

You have to wait a while for a Cadillac because so many people want one—and want it so badly that they are willing to wait for it. And that, in turn, is because Cadillac is recognized everywhere as the Standard of the World.

So if you want a Cadillac—and research indicates that a vast percentage of motorists do—come in and talk with us about it.

We'll give you the facts concerning comparative costs. And we will also talk frankly with you about delivery dates, so you may know about what to anticipate.

You really owe it to yourself to do this. For, surely, you don't want to pay the price of a Cadillac—and still not get one!

* * *

If we already have your order for a Cadillac—stand firm in your conviction—for each day brings you closer to your heart's desire.

It is true, of course, that you can get quicker delivery on other makes of cars. But, in all the world, there is no other car like Cadillac.

So be patient—and you will have your reward!

Middlesex, ss.
To the Honorable the Judges of the Land Court for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Respectfully represents JOHN F. KINTON and BARBARA KINTON, both of Winchester, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, that we are owners of a certain lot of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Winchester, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, bounded and described as follows:
A parcel of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester, and bounded and described as follows:
SOUTHERLY by Salem Street, one hundred two and 5 10/100(102.5) feet;
EASTERLY by Lots 22 and 21, as shown on plan hereinafter mentioned, seventy-six (76) feet and one hundred ten and 90 100 (110.90) feet;
NORTHERLY by Richardson Street, twenty-five (25) feet;
WESTERLY by land now or formerly of Beattie, fifty (50) feet;
NORTHERLY by land now or formerly of Beattie, seventy-five (75) feet;
WESTERLY by Lot 10 on said plan, one hundred eight and 5 10 (108.5) feet;
Being parts of Lots 11 and 22 on plan of CALEB and JOSHUA RICHARDSON Estate, David Gould, Surveyor, dated May 1841.
Containing 13,478 square feet, more or less, be any or all of said measurements, more or less.
That the record title to said lot of land is clouded by a mortgage given by JAMES W. CAMERON, to O. R. CLARK and S. H. CUTTER, dated October 1, 1866, and duly recorded in Book 995, Page 319, purporting to secure a note for $150.00, payable in three years, from October 1st, 1866, with interest 6% annually, which mortgage appears to be undischarged, unassigned and unforeclosed on and by the record.
That for more than twenty years after the expiration of the time limited for the full performance of said condition no payment has been made and no other act done in recognition of said mortgage.
That the mortgagor named in said mortgage and those claiming under him have been in uninterrupted possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of time limited in said mortgage for the full performance of the condition thereof.
WHEREFORE your petitioner pray that after appropriate notices a decree may be entered on the foregoing allegations as authorized by Section 15, Chapter 240 of the General Laws as amended by Chapter 20, of the Acts of 1924.

CIVIL DEFENSE

CO-ORDINATION IS KEY TO DECEMBER CD TEST

A meeting of interest and considerable significance to Civil Defense was held Tuesday, November 13, at 7:30 in the General Committee Room, Town Hall.

Assistant Director in charge of Communications, Allan Blanchard, outlined the radio, telephone, and teletype facilities for the operation of the Control Center, and outlined standard message procedure all communicating Divisions will use. Transportation officer James Wakefield briefed the meeting on his Division's work in organizing two motor pools, of light private vehicles and heavy specialized wrecking and construction-type vehicles, for the use of all Divisions with transportation needs.

Although the Utilities Division under James Halwartz, and the Plant Protection Division under Harry Damon are more self-sufficient and independent in nature, recognition of their reports was made at the meeting, and initial discussions were begun on ways in which their plants, and CD facilities, might mutually exchange aid if ever required.

Dr. Angelo Maietta, Assistant Director in charge of the Medical and Health Division, described steps taken to plan for enlargement of the Winchester Hospital's emergency bed facilities, the establishment of emergency surgical operating teams, the enlistment of all registered Winchester nurses into a CD operating plan, the development of increased blood-bank facilities (plus problems faced in providing for transporting blood and plasma), the integration of the hospital laboratory in the CD picture, eventual establishment and staffing of two emergency hospitals, and mobile First Aid units, and the requisitioning of essential medical supplies.

Police Chief Harrold and Fire Chief Callahan outlined the co-ordination between their regular staffs and their CD volunteer auxiliaries. Chief Callahan frankly stated he is anxious to increase the active volunteer participation in his training program.

In the absence of Civilian War Aid Division Leader William P. Supple, his report was read by Deputy Director Gustin.

Newly appointed Co-ordinating Officer Stephen Root was introduced to the other CD leaders.

The keynote of the recent CD meeting, as expressed by Director James W. Blackham and Deputy Director Lester Gustin, is the "phase I" development of the entire group into preparedness for a "CPX" — or Command Post exercise — to be held on December 15. Commencing with the usual Saturday noon test siren, the test will be a test for the Staff and Command levels only, lasting for about an hour and a half, and ending with a cards-on-the-table critique in an assembly of all concerned. Clearly stated by CD Staff Planning Officer Theodore Boecker, in outlining the nature and schedule of the test, many mistakes will be made — and the purpose of the test is to drive them into the open in actual practice, and see that they don't happen again.

Thought this is a test which does not involve the general public, it is of considerable interest — and importance — to all Winchester that this new forward step is being taken to ensure the eventual safety of the community in any future disaster or war emergency.

SCOUT HALLOWE'EN PARTY

On Monday, October 29th, a Hallowe'en and Presentation Party was held in St. Mary's School. Participating in the party were the Boy Scouts of Troop 12, Winchester, who had as their guests the St. Mary's Cadets CYO, Middlesex League, Baseball Champions for the year 1951.

During the course of the evening various games were played, and an exhibition was given by Scouts Warren Bryan and Edward Bowler in the art of using a yo-yo.

After the games were played Father Charles Anadore presented an award in the form of a gold baseball to the following members of this championship team: Catcher, Ralph Kerrigan; Pitcher, Joe Bellino; 1st Base, Lon Farrell; 2nd Base, Joe Keating; 3rd Base, Tom Ledger; Shortstop, Paul McManus; Left Field, Dick Maron; Center Field, Al Magliocci and Jr. Quill; Right Field, O. Reardon and Moe Russo; and Coaches Fred Keith and Rennie Goodrow.

Along with the presentation of a gold baseball to each member of the team, a special award in the form of a trophy was given to Joe Bellino as the Most Valuable Player on the Team. This award was voted on by the team itself, and the vote was unanimous. In making the award for the most valuable player, Father Anadore was assisted by Scout Anthony Juliano, who read a rhyme apropos to the presentation. Along with this particular award a special award was given to Coach Rennie Goodrow for his excellent work during the year. A rhyme apropos to this presentation was read by Scout Warren Bryan.

After the presentation of the awards all joined in a sumptuous repast of cider, doughnuts, crullers, apples, candy, marshmallows, pop corn and cookies.

Arrangements for this party were handled by Troop 12 Committee consisting of Scout Master Bob Fiore, Committeemen Russo, Vangel, Thorne, Doherty and McCarthy, assisted immeasurably by Father Anadore.

NEEDLE WORK GUILD OF AMERICA

The 42nd annual meeting of this organization was held on Thursday, November 8th. The group were grateful to the First Baptist Church for its hospitality. The meeting was in the Social Hall.

There were about fifty members and friends present. Mrs. Wayne B. Thompson presided. The meeting was glad to hear her announce that Mrs. William B. Sache had been elected an honorary director. In addition to the regular business of the meeting the president introduced Mrs. George A. Clapp, New England Chairman for Massachusetts and Mr. William P. Supple, the Welfare Agent for the town of Winchester. Mrs. Clapp spoke about N. G. A. on the national and state level. Mr. Supple spoke about national and local welfare programs, budgets and family responsibility.

The generous donations of members made the ingathering of new garments and household linens numerous and attractive. The final count was over 750 articles and the various welfare agency and church representatives were happy to take their share for distribution on their work.

A friendly tea time followed the meeting.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Thanksgiving vacation includes an interesting Sight-Seeing trip for Intermediate and Senior Scouts. On Friday, November 23 they will meet at the Scout Office at 10 a. m. and leave by bus for a day of fun and instruction. All leaders must have reservations in by November 16 — these are made with Mrs. S. Laird at 2 Lincolnshire Way. Leaders are reminded that no last minute reservations can be honored. Each troop must bring permission slips and be adequately chaperoned.

The Girl Scouts responded with enthusiasm to the Red Cross request to help prepare 23 overseas gift boxes. Mrs. Richard A. Smith Service Chairman wants to thank the many who helped with this project.

The Cabin Maintenance Committee will meet Tuesday, November 20 at 7:30 p. m. at the office.

A REMINDER

Don't forget that the seventeenth is the date of the Y. P. I.'s square dance at the Episcopal Church. The decoration and refreshment committees, headed by Janet Graves and Cynny Hill, respectively, have plans to make this a real shindig. So drag out your dungarees, flannel shirts, and polka-dot handkerchiefs to be there at eight o'clock Saturday. (Sorry — six-shooters will have to be collected at the door).

RED FEATHER NEAR THE TOP. NEEDS MORE FOR USO.

Winchester people have responded promptly and thoughtfully to the needs of our own Red Feather agencies. 92% of the goal has already been reached with many divisions reporting more money than last year. We are now in 8th place among Metropolitan towns, topped by such 100% as Lexington, Wellesley and Stoneham.

We are still short of the money needed for USO to furnish Winchester's own servicemen and women with the kind of recreation we all want them to have. USO provides this service all through the year — all over the world. Your extra gift to USO will go farther and last longer than any other gift you could choose for a serviceman. Send it today to the Red Feather-USO Drive, One Common Street.

M. S. P. C. A.

On Tuesday, November 6th, the Winchester Auxiliary of the M. S. P. C. A. met at the home of Mrs. Wilbert Underwood, 9 Ravenscroft road. The group was interested and enthusiastic in hearing of matters of business brought up by the president, Mrs. John Clarke. It was decided to hold the Annual Sale in the spring, the date to be announced later. Other matters were discussed, the most important being that with the closing of the Animal Shelter in Winchester, the Auxiliary has not stopped its vital work. A cage is supported at the Angell Memorial Hospital and funds are needed to carry out this project. Members and friends are urged to continue to support this work and to send their financial aid and membership dues to Mrs. Wilbert Underwood, Treasurer, 9 Ravenscroft road, Winchester.

At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Clarke introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. P. A. Adams, well known veterinarian, whose clinic is located on Cambridge road, Woburn, near the "Four Corners". Dr. Adams spoke informally of his work, which is mostly surgical and hospital at the present time. Stray dogs may be reported to him at any time, but the problem of space prevents him from taking many stray cats. This problem was discussed with the members. They felt there was something very definite to work toward in helping Dr. Adams secure more cages and space to place stray cats. Care for cats is badly needed for temporary refuge, as the nearest point for help is the Boston Angell Memorial Hospital. Again the need for financial aid from interested friends is emphasized.

MRS. BERTHA LENA RAYNOR

Mrs. Bertha Lena Raynor, widow of Clinton L. Raynor and a former resident of Winchester, died Thursday, November 15, in Missoula, Montana, following a six months illness. She left Winchester in 1925 and after residences in Cambridge and Boston had been living for the past ten years in Missoula with her daughter, Mrs. Milo A. Ellis (Helen Raynor).

Mrs. Raynor was born in Lee, June 16, 1870, but spent her early life in Easthampton. She was married in New York in 1893, she and her late husband, who was for many years associated with the Walter M. Lowney Company, living in New York and at several places in Massachusetts before coming to Winchester from Philadelphia in 1913. They lived first at 8 Ridgeway and later on Highland avenue, their last address being at 15 Maxwell road, where Mr. Raynor died February 22, 1925.

While in Winchester Mrs. Raynor was well known, especially by young people, for whom she had a great liking and with whom she in turn was very popular. She was a member of the Fortnightly Women's Club and of the First Baptist Church.

Besides her daughter in Missoula, she leaves two sons, Leicester S., of New York City and Clinton S. Raynor of Washington, D. C., also five grandchildren.

A TRIBUTE TO THE LATE MRS. ADDISON PIKE

In recognition of the long and faithful services of Mrs. Addison Pike the members of the Winchester Council of Girl Scouts at its meeting on September 19 wish to express their profound sorrow at the death of Mrs. Pike and their deep appreciation of her untiring efforts as the first Commissioner of Winchester Girl Scouts.

Her tact, magnetic personality and knowledge of Girl Scouting made her an ideal Commissioner. Through her inspiring leadership the work of the Council has been so successfully and intelligently carried on that its many activities have gained the grateful recognition of the townspeople, as well as of the members themselves.

Be it therefore resolved, that this expression be sent to the family of Mrs. Pike and that it be spread upon the minutes of this meeting.

Following the meeting, the Selectmen decided to hold a public hearing on the matter of the bus stop at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, November 27, at the Town Hall.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Badger wore a gown of Chantilly lace with an illusion veil and carried baby orchids with lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids, all gowned like the honor attendant and carrying the same flowers, were Mrs. Herrick A. Drake of Cambridge, Mrs. Edward Kelley of New Haven, Conn., Miss Nancy Flagg of Florence, Alabama; Miss Jane Munsill of Oyster Harbors, Miss Sheila McAlleenan of Guilford, Conn., Miss Patricia Dempsey of Newton Center, Miss Catherine Butler of Minneapolis, Minn, and Miss Denise Wolff of Winchester.

BOWERY REUNION BIG SUCCESS

The Bowery, the Bowery.
We'll never go there any more!

So sang between four and five hundred men, women and children, past and present residents of "The Bowery", that colorful neighborhood that includes Middlesex street, Linden and Hale streets, at the long awaited "Bowery Reunion" last Saturday evening at the Town Hall.

It was an exclusive affair, and we mean exclusive. If you hadn't lived in the Bowery or married a Bowery girl or boy, you didn't get in. Even the Star reporter had to be vouched for by "Mack" McKenzie and his daughter, Mary, who was one of the "screening committee" at the door.

Few more heart-warming parties have been held in the town hall. Old neighbors greeted each other and exclaimed over the sons and daughters of long time friends who had left town and come back for the reunion. Delightfully informal, it was nearly ten o'clock before the greeting, hand shaking and reminiscing was over and a grand march was formed to the supper tables spread in the small town hall.

CARLSON — MOSZKA

A marriage of Winchester interest took place at the Trinitarian Congregational Church in Concord on Saturday afternoon, November 17, when Miss Constance Helen Moszka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Moszka, of North Great road, Lincoln, became the bride of Carl Alfred Carlson, son of Mrs. Alfred N. Carlson of 61 Brookside avenue, and the late Mr. Carlson. The Rev. Robert Barber officiated at the 3 o'clock ceremony which took place in a setting of white and yellow chrysanthemums, white gladiolus and candelabra. Pews along the middle aisle were decorated with greens and white ribbon bows. Keith Hatfield sang "Because" and Malotte's arrangement of "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Moszka was attended by Mrs. Stuart A. Bemis of Woburn, sister of the bridegroom. Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Davidson of Concord and Miss Carolyn Parker of Rutland.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, fashioned with a high round neckline and a sheer marquisette yoke. Her skirt extended into a long train and was decorated with a panel of tiered lace, and her fingertip-length veil was caught to a headpiece of orange blossoms. Her flowers were white chrysanthemums and ivy arranged in a cascade bouquet.

The matron of honor wore a maroon velvet dress with matching mitts and maroon-colored orange blossoms in her hair. Her cascade bouquet was formed of bronze chrysanthemums and ivy. The bridesmaids' costumes were similar to that of the honor attendant except that their color was blue. Their bouquets were of ivy and yellow chrysanthemums.

John Stanley Fudge, Jr., of Winchester was Mr. Carlson's best man, and the ushers were Henry N. Carlson of Arlington, brother of the bridegroom; Stanley J. Moszka of Lincoln, brother of the bride, on leave from service with the United States Air Force; and Arthur Bemis of Dedham.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Metropolitan Ballroom in Brighton, the parents of the bride and the mother of the bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Moszka, mother of the bride, wore a light blue silk crepe gown with a navy hat and an orchid corsage.

Mr. Carlson and his bride flew to New York for a brief honeymoon before the bridegroom entered the Army on November 19.

The bride is a graduate of Concord High School and is presently attending Chamberlayne College in Boston. Mr. Carlson is a graduate of Winchester High School and is employed at the First National Bank in Boston.

PRE-SCHOOL CENSUS

Soon after the Thanksgiving holidays the Winchester Mothers' Association will conduct a town-wide census of pre-school children for the School Department. In the past, the Mothers' Associations at the Mystic and the Washington Schools have been of great assistance in conducting surveys of their respective districts. In the forthcoming town-wide census it is hoped that accurate figures will be secured as to the number of children, aged one to six, who are not now attending the Winchester Public Schools.

© ROSS THOMAS OF INDIA

SPEAKER AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SUNDAY AT 10:45 A. M.

Mr. G. Ross Thomas, who has served under the American Board and as representative of the First Congregational Church in Winchester for several years in India, will occupy the pulpit at the First Congregational Church Sunday morning at the usual time of service.

The Marathi Mission, where Mr. Thomas has been serving, is the oldest American Board Mission in the world, and was founded by New Englanders early in 1813.

Mr. Thomas's subject will be "Report from India." In a news release he says, "Both the people of India and its present government believe in peace, as Americans understand peace, but with her newly achieved freedom and independence she is in no mood to be 'used' by any nation or power-block, and quite rightly insists on following an independent policy in foreign affairs. We should do our best to understand and sympathize with Indian desires and aspirations. Concrete evidence of such understanding on our part is found in the Point Four Program and the loan for purchase of grain to relieve famine conditions."

TOLMAN — BLAKE

Miss Nancy Montfort Blake, daughter of Mrs. Tim Johnson Sanders of Nashville, Tennessee, and Mr. Wyatt E. Blake of Burgaw, North Carolina, became the bride of Deane Franklin Tolman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Milton Tolman of Winchester, and Chesham, New Hampshire, at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the chapel of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Albert P. Shirkey, pastor, performed the ceremony. A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Edith Gottwals, organist, and James E. Faust, soloist.

Quantities of greenery decorated the chancel and arrangements of white chrysanthemums ornamented the altar. White tapers burned in branched holders.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a demi-length gown of champagne colored lace and taffeta, featuring a bodice of lace with a deep-point line and a full skirt of net posed over taffeta. Complimenting the gown was a long brown velvet sash. She wore a small brimmed net hat to match her dress and carried a colonial bouquet of Brandy-a-nne roses.

Mr. Tolman was his son's best man.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Sanders entertained at a reception in the French room of the Raleigh Hotel for the wedding party and the out of town guests, among whom were Harvey Tolman of Chesham, N. H., brother of the bridegroom, and Scottie Conner, Bill Twombly, Grant Burnett and Frank Livingstone of Winchester. The bride's table was centered with a wedding cake surrounded with blossoms, and the room was decorated with autumn leaves. Mr. and Mrs. Tolman left for a bridal trip to the New England coast and New York City. After November 18, they will be at home at 296 Washington street, Winchester. For traveling, the bride changed to a brown costume suit, matching cloche with short veil and a beige top coat.

TROPHY WINNERS

Co-Captain "Dick" Errico was voted the outstanding back in the Winchester-Woburn game Thanksgiving morning, receiving the McCormack's Apothecary Trophy. Don Rizzo, guard, won the Hevey's Pharmacy Trophy for best lineman.

The trophies for best back and lineman on the Woburn team, donated by B. F. Callahan's and the Town Line went to Louis Corio and Neil Cotter.

Announcements were made at the big Victory Dance at the town hall Thanksgiving night with members of both squads in attendance.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Boyle (Virginia Danforth) of Stoneham, formerly of Winchester, are the parents of a daughter, Patricia Ellen, born at the Malden Hospital, November 16. Grandmother, Mrs. Bernice H. Danforth of this town.

WINCHESTER BLANKED WOBURN

31-0 Victory Kept Indians Perfect Record and Tied Them for B Crown

Winchester maintained its all-season unified record for the season as it blanked a game but outmanned Woburn High team on Manchester Field Thanksgiving Day morning, 31-0. The win gave the Indians a tie for the Class B title as Gloucester finally beat Wakefield after being tied at the half.

Possibly the biggest crowd to see a Winchester-Woburn game crowded around the gridiron, filling every one of the 6,000 seats and being rows deep along the sidelines and in the end zones, as well as on the hillside near the Junior High School. We would think 7,500 would be a conservative estimate of the crowd, which probably exceeded that figure by perhaps 500.

SUMNER G. WHITTIER

TO SPEAK AT CRAWFORD MEMORIAL CHURCH

Senator Whittier will be the guest speaker at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Sunday morning, November 25 at 10:45. He is a Methodist Layman, former Sunday School teacher and classmate of Rev. John Snook, Jr.

Now completing his fifth term as state senator and his first as Assistant Majority Floor Leader of the Massachusetts State Senate, Sumner G. Whittier is typical of many young American leaders who have risen through the ranks of public life.

Whittier has been described by the Boston Traveler as "a fiery legislator". Executive Director Norman MacDonald of the Mass. Federation of Taxpayers said in a recent letter to him: "Of your courage and integrity countless interested citizens, mostly unknown to you, have indisputable proof".

MRS. JANE AYER MARDEN

Mrs. Jane Ayer Marden of 41 Foxcroft road, one of Winchester's oldest residents, died at her home Tues., Nov. 20. She was the widow of Frank Webster Marden.

Mrs. Ayer was in her 95th year. She was born January 21, 1857, in Freedom, Maine, the daughter of Peter Wells, and Hattie (March) Ayer. She grew up in Freedom and was educated in the public schools there, teaching in one of the "little red schoolhouses" of the town until her marriage in 1882.

After her marriage she and her husband moved to Somerville and resided there until Mr. Marden's death in 1924. At that time Mrs. Marden came to Winchester and had since made her home here, winning for herself a wide circle of friends, especially among young people, with whom she was always a great favorite.

Possessed of a vocabulary that would have shamed many a college graduate, Mrs. Marden was widely read and very well informed, being particularly interested in politics at the International and National levels. She retained her keen mind to the end and was always a stimulating hostess.

She was an active member of the First Universalist Church of Somerville, a former president of the Boston Daughters of Maine, and a member of the Hepteronan and other women's clubs in Somerville.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Clarence M. Myer of Wolfeboro, N. H., and Mrs. Prescott F. Wild of Winchester; two brothers, Rufus Ayer of Bangor, Me., and John Ayer of Portland, Me.; two sisters, Lucy and Mary Ayer, both of Portland, ten grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Friday afternoon, November 23, at 2 o'clock at Bigelow Chapel in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge. Rev. Robert A. Storer, minister of the Unitarian Church, will officiate. Interment will be in Mt. Auburn.

CORRECTION

Due to an error the name of Richard Violante, 17 year old brother of the late Pfc. William E. Violante, was omitted from the survivors in the obituary notice of the young soldier printed in last week's Star.

The name was given the Star and the error is ours. We regret it, especially under the circumstances.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Winchester Women's Republican Club met Wednesday afternoon, November 14, in Masonic Hall to hear Frederick Ayer, Jr., prominent Massachusetts Republican leader. Mr. Ayer prefaced his remarks with some timely comments on the Republican Preparedness Dinner which had taken place the night before at the Hotel Statler. He paid tribute to Winchester Republicans as a very powerful group in the state and expressed satisfaction over the wide Republican representation present at the dinner and the large sum realized for the Republican treasury in an off year. Commenting on Senator Richard Nixon's great ability and achievement even now as a younger man, he said the American people are yearning to be guided by the right leaders, men of ideals, and the greatest chance the Republican party has ever had lies immediately ahead.

Mr. Ayer spoke on "Why I am a Republican". The Democratic party is becoming a totalitarian party whose main interest is to perpetuate itself in power at any expense, even at the ultimate security of our country. The Republican party, of which Mr. Ayer is the exponent, stands for the curbing of inflation, the cutting of political spending, complete rearmament, and an effective foreign policy. Men whom the world has faith in must lead us in these dangerous days. The talk gave us a great deal to think about and to work for and made us realize how important being a Republican really is.

Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds, president of the club, thanked the group graciously for the generosity of the members in sending her to the Republican dinner as their representative.

At the end of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. J. Howard Macauley and her committee. Mrs. William W. Goodhue and Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke poured.

ATTENDED CAMP CONFERENCE

Mr. Bradford Bentley of Sheffield road, director of Camp Wyanoke, with Mrs. Bentley and William Wilde were among the residents of Winchester attending the annual Fall Conference of the New England Camping Association at the Hotel Statler in Boston last Saturday. Mr. George Curtis of the Winchester High School faculty who has his own camp in Maine was also at the conference.

Mr. Dana M. Cotton of this town, director of Placement and Public Relations at Harvard, was the speaker at the luncheon meeting, his subject being "Camping in the field of Education."

BOWLERS' LUNCHEON

The Winchester Women's Bowling League broke all records for attendance at their weekly Bowlers' Luncheon at the Winchester Country Club on November 13 when Team 13 came through with their promise for something different and exciting. Mrs. John Ghirardini, winner of the 'hat box' found that she had truly won the prize, for it proved to be a Prize Winning Champion Bantam Rooster, presented by Team 13 through the courtesy of Mrs. George Twombly, and something worth 'crowing about'.

Mrs. Ray Holdsworth won the door prize, a lovely basket of fruit donated by the Converse Market. A most delightful luncheon was enjoyed by all and thanks went to the hostesses Mrs. John Graves, Mrs. Paul Collins, Mrs. Fred Lynch, Mrs. Ed Garrity, Mrs. John Wallace and Mrs. George Twombly.

Mrs. Joseph T. McCauley is among the Winchester women, who are mothers of non-resident daughters at the Garland School, receiving invitations to the annual Mother-Daughter Day to be held at the school on November 27.

ROTARY NOTES

Last week Rotary uncovered more hidden talent in a lively presentation of a musical progtamme by Jim Cullen on his harmonica, ending up with an Irish jig danced to the tune of the Armenian National Anthem.

Vice President Allan Wilde announced that tickets were available to the club for Crosscup-Pishon Post Legion Dinner given in honor of Herbert Philbrick, the undercover man of the F. B. I. These tickets were bought by a public spirited citizen to be awarded to worthy boys and girls by each Rotary Club. Our club has picked our two Junior Rotarians Jost Michelsen and Harold Quigley, as well as four young people of the high school, namely; Douglas Hawkins, Diane Greer, Caroline Buracker and William Carlson. These last four named gave an inspirational Armistice Day symposium to the Rotary Club a week ago, each one of them having prepared and delivered a speech on some phase of Armistice Day, including its meaning, historical background, future possibilities and values so far to mankind.

Our speaker for this meeting was "Mr. Rotary" himself — Charles Dasey — the present secretary of the Boston club. He spoke on "Rotary Information" and for old and new members alike it was a real soul searching talk. After a brief history of the founding of Rotary and, more in particular, the starting of the "Rotary Foundation" for youth exchange education, Charlie led us into the deeper meanings of the true interpretation of fellowship and its necessarily true counterpart, "Service". Every club needs such a talk, and no one was more qualified to do it than Charlie Dasey.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Art Group will be interested in the current exhibitions at the Fogg Art Museum of Harvard College. Until mid-December there are, first, Masterpieces of Paintings from the Museum of Fine Arts of Boston; and second, Masterpieces of Chinese Bird and Flower Painting. This exhibition is designed to cover the history of bird and flower painting in China from the Sung Period through the Ch'ing Period (960 to 1912). Also, there is an indefinite loan of a choice selection of ancient glass, by Mr. Ray Winfield Smith of Washington, D. C. These objects, chosen with special view to rare and unusual techniques, range in date from early Egypt to the early Middle Ages.

The next meeting of the Art Group will be at the Museum of Fine Arts on Friday, December 7, to see the M. and M. Karolik Collection of American Paintings. In preparation for this trip you may be interested in an especially fine book in our Winchester Library. This book is for library use only, "The M. and M. Karolik collection of American Paintings, 1815-1865."

EXPLORING

Exploring new book trails is an exciting experience as many children discovered when they listened to Mr. Thomas C. Curtis, "The Book Explorer", who spoke in four of the elementary schools of Winchester last Friday under the auspices of the Winchester Public Library. The children of the Noonan, Mystic, Lincoln and Parkhurst schools found they could travel far from New England with Minn of the Mississippi, or explore distant Alaska in "Hidden Harbor", or learn about an amazing custom of Norway in the pages of "Peter the Stork." Some youngsters became such interested followers of the Book Explorer that they appeared at the Public Library in the afternoon to hear Mr. Curtis a second time when he spoke to a group of both adults and children.

Since 1940 Mr. Curtis has been "book exploring" with children and their parents in schools and libraries in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania as well as New England. His title "The Book Explorer" he borrowed from the New York Public Library's beloved story-teller, Mary Gould Davis, who encouraged him to become an oral book reviewer. Not only does Mr. Curtis appeal to the "bookworm", but he also has the gift of luring the problem reader with his informal talks which give brief, provocative glimpses of a wide variety of outstanding books. He successfully stimulates children's interest in choosing their own reading rather than just trying to tell them a story. The Winchester Public Library is looking forward to the time when Mr. Curtis will visit Winchester again.

Another event of the Book Week celebration was the classes which were held in the Boy's and Girls' Room of the Public Library under the direction of the Children's Librarian, Miss Elizabeth Russell. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday a class each from the Wyman, Noonan and Lincoln schools made a trip to the library to learn about the kinds of books the library has, how they are arranged on the shelves, and how to use the card catalog so that the children themselves may know how to find books they want to read or use for reference purposes. Fourth, fifth and sixth grade classes visited the library.

Book Week activities have helped to stimulate children's interests in "New Horizons with Books." Now the nearly 150 new books added to the Children's Department are in circulation ready to lure new "book explorers" to great adventures.

Robert C. Bates of 16 Euclid avenue was the only Winchester boy inducted into the armed services Tuesday morning at Selective Service district headquarters in Medford.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Career Assembly

"Planning for the Future" is the subject of the second career assembly to be presented at the high school on November 29. The meeting will be under the direction of Mr. Roland Darling, of Northeastern, with Mr. Karl Roehrig, Director of Occupational Service at the Boston Y.M.C.A., assisting. Miss Barbara Blackstone and Mr. Norton Demsey, high school guidance officers, and a student committee will also participate in the discussion.

Some of the questions to be discussed include the following:

1. Why bother to plan? Isn't the government going to do it for us?
2. Why start now? There's plenty of time after graduation.
3. How do I find out what I should do for a living?
4. Are some fields, for which college prepares, overcrowded?
5. What sort of jobs do high school graduates secure?

Octette at Symphony Hall

The popular girls' Octette presented a program of songs at the concert preceding the Metropolitan District Police Biennial Grand Ball at Symphony Hall on November 14. Baron Hugo's orchestra provided the musical background. Baron Hugo introduced Janet Archibald, who in turn announced the selections. During the rest of the concert the girls remained on the stage. Miss Eleanor Anifantis was pleased to receive several favorable comments both as to the girls' singing and their appearance.

The girls of the octette are grateful to Mrs. Herbert Ross and Mr. Gerald Curtis for providing them with transportation.

TOWN BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Richard Halverson of 72 Irving street has been appointed director of the Town Basketball League for the coming season, he having served in this capacity a year ago.

Continuance of the league will depend upon the advance interest shown. All individuals who wish to play, and particularly all managers planning to enter teams in competition are urged to contact Mr. Halverson at once. Tel. WInchester 6-2422-M.

ALL AMERICAN SWIM HONORS TO "DILL"

Peter Dillingham, former three-sport star at Winchester High School, has been named to the All-American swimming team of 1951. Membership on the honorary squad is generally awarded to the ten men in the country who are tops in each event, choices being made primarily on performances in the NCAA Championships.

Dillingham, a junior at Harvard, was the only Crimson representative in the Nationals, placing fourth in the low board diving competition and ninth in the three meter event. He was also Eastern intercollegiate high board champion last year as a sophomore and second to Frank Hadlich of Yale in the low board. Hadlich was the only man to beat "Pete" in dual competition, but "Dill" was able to get a split with the Yale star, dropping the low board competition, but winning the high board event.

"Dill" was a football star at Winchester and he was an outstanding back on his Harvard freshman team, scoring a touchdown against the Yale frosh on a 40 yard inside tackle dash and setting up the Crimson pups' other touchdown with a spectacular pass reception.

Swimming Coach Hal Ulen, however, persuaded "Dill" to give up football for swimming, in which as a freshman he was bettering the performances of varsity competitors, and subsequent events have proved the Crimsom coach right.

"Pete's" parents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Paul W. Dillingham, former Winchester residents, are now living in the military housing unit at Fort Hamilton in New York, Col. Dillingham having been reassigned from the Army's General Depot at Columbus, Ohio, to the Middle East Engineering District, which has the mission of constructing airfields in Libya, Saudi Arabia and other critical areas around the Mediterranean and in the Middle East. He is in charge of the New York office which is supporting construction activities overseas.

During the summer Col. Dillingham made a trip through Libya, Cyprus and down through the Trans-Jordan Valley to Saudi Arabia, spending some time in London and visiting the ARAMCO plant at Dhahran.

The Dillinghams' daughter, Ann, former well known Winchester Girl and member of the old Winchester Swimming Club, is a freshman at Colby College, living in Chaplin Hall on Mayflower Hill. A younger daughter, Deborah, is in the 7th grade of PS 104 in Brooklyn.

WELL! WELL!

Leo Garvey and Roger McTighe finally teamed up in a golf match, and as a result of pooling their respective talents on the links, won themselves 20 pound turkeys in the recent annual turkey golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club. The Garvey-McTighe golf feud is of long standing, going away back to the halcyon days of the "long knockers". To have Leo and Roger aiding and abetting each other, and golfing team-mates, of all things, must have been a terrific surprise to the competing field. We wouldn't, however, say that the boys' trophies were assured when their union was announced, though of course surprised golfers are seldom at their best. Maybe Leo and Roger were surprised enough to be playing together to make it all even. Anyway they will be eating turkey come Thanksgiving at the Club's expense, and that, after all, is what really counts, in dollars and cents wo mean!

JOSLINS SEND GREETINGS

Dear Friends in Winchester,

Leaving Winchester on the morning of November 12, we flew from Logan Airport to New York in an American Airline DC-3. We boarded a Constellation at the Trans World Airline Terminal in New York at 10 a. m. and flew to Los Angeles, stopping only at Chicago. The Constellation, a four-motor ship, has a speed of 250 to 300 miles per hour and seats 39 passengers and a crew of four. We ran into a snow squall at Gary, Indiana, which caused the plane to bounce a bit, to the discomfort of our Master Tommy, who had, however, a wonderful hour with Pilot Miller as compensation and received his TWA Junior Pilot's Wings.

We left Chicago at 2:30 p. m. on a half hour late because of increased traffic at the airport due to the storms northwest of Chicago, storms that caused the terrific City of Los Angeles and San Francisco train wreck in Wyoming. We flew over Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Texas, New Mexico and California, crossing the Mississippi at Burlington, Iowa, and the Missouri River near Kansas City.

It was night when we crossed Albuquerque, N. M., and the beautiful lights of that city were a wonderful sight, though they were exceeded by those of Hollywood and Los Angeles as we flew into the International Airport in Los Angeles at 11:25 p. m., E. S. T., or 8:25, P. S. T., two hours late because of bucking terrific head winds.

This letter is being written November 13 in flight over the Pacific on the Rainbow Clipper, a P. A. A. strato-cruiser, en route to Honolulu.

Good Night!
Jim, Caroline and Tommy Joslin

WINCHESTER HOMEFRONTERS REPORT

Editor of the Star:

The temporary committee of the Homefronters is receiving splendid cooperation in carrying through the projects before it — the sending of Christmas cards to our men and women on active duty, and the setting up of a Service file in the library. Any further projects will be the business of a permanent committee to be set up probably in January, but we would like to receive suggestions.

The Christmas card chosen for our Service people is the brainchild of Mr. Ernest Dudley Chase who has been kind enough to donate his drawings which appear on the card. A copy of the card will be on display at the Library when this notice goes to press, and we are sure you will all join us in hearty thanks to Mr. Chase. The printing and postage costs will come from funds contributed to the Homefronters and in the hands of Mr. Ralph Hatch, Winchester Savings Bank. By the way, have you gone into the bank and made a contribution? The work of addressing the cards comes under Mrs. M. M. Long, who with her eager assistants are hard at work. Through the courtesy of the Library Trustees, the work is being done in the Library. Enclosed in the Christmas card will be a reprint from the Winchester Star explaining the set-up of the Homefronters.

The setting up of a correct and up-to-date Service file entails a great deal of work. Mrs. Wilbert Underwood has her telephoners hot on the job plus a group making personal calls on those who do not have phones. If, by some slip-up, you have a member of your family on Active Duty and are not contacted, please register such member with Miss Mead at the Library.

When this war is over, the Town will really have a complete military record of its citizens. If there is a question in your mind as to whether or not your son or husband should appear in an Active Duty file, please contact the writer. WInchester 6-1895.

Cordially yours,
Mrs. K. B. Toye.

NAME USED WITHOUT PERMISSION

Editor of the Star:

If you can spare the space in the columns of your newspaper I would greatly appreciate the opportunity to express the following opinion.

Despite the fact that my name appears on a petition, now circulating, to abolish the present bus terminal in Winchester Square, I am not in sympathy with the views expressed by the petition. My name was used by a person other than myself and without my consent or permission. As a matter of fact, I cannot understand why an attempt to route large buses through a small square in a rotary manner should meet with such opposition and grumbling. The creation of a bus terminal to replace four different stops in one square seems logical and sensible. If those who must walk the few added steps between Hevey's drug store and the present bus stop will stop to consider the convenience afforded transfer passengers at a regular transfer point, they may be able to walk these few added steps more cheerfully.

Sincerely,
Dora White

"BRAVELY GAVE HIS LIFE"

Editor of the Star:

The Winchester Military Manpower Committee wishes to express deep sorrow over the loss of Pfc William Edward Violante who so bravely gave his life in Korea for his country. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to his family.

The writer knew "Billy" from the time he was a wee shaver at the Washington School and has known the family well for many years. There are no more civic-minded people in Town than Hilda and "Jimmie" Violante — Hilda had signed in for work on the Serviemen's file when the sad news came.

Does any one in this Town still wish to refer to "police action" in Korea?

Very truly yours,
Mrs. K. B. Toye, Chairman
Winchester Military
Manpower Committee

THANKS FROM RED CROSS

Editor of the Star:

On behalf of the Salvation Army, I should like to thank publicly, all of our workers and contributors in the Town who made our recent campaign a great success.

Winchester's quota was $7,500 and the quota was reached several day ago. May I remind all of our friends that 20% of this amount is allotted for work here in Winchester.

I wish I could express my thanks to each and all of you individually. It was an important job and you have carried it out very well.

Most Sincerely,
Forbes, Norris, Chairman
Salvation Army
Winchester Division

THE OLD LOCOMOTIVES!

How dear to my heart are the old locomotives, the steam locomotives that never broke down; the coal-burning belchers that never were welchers, but right on the minute would get us to town. The sturdy old toilers, the iron-bound boilers, the engines decrepit, so far past their prime; oh, I dream of them nightly, those noisy, unsightly, egregious old wheezers that got there on time! Yes, I think of them sadly, I yearn for them madly, when I leave Newtonville on the oil-burning train, for one never can know if the darned thing will go, or will come to a standstill agane and agane. The Diesel's efficient, it's clean and proticient, but it halts for an hour—and no one knows why; so I crave one more ride with the old locomotive, to get to my office on time ere I die.

TO THE FIREMEN OF WINCHESTER

I wish to thank you all for your efficient handling of the fire in my home last Thursday. Due to your fast work, we still have our home and many invaluable items we could never have been able to replace. Pictures and momentos of loved ones departed; also antiques passed down for generations that are priceless to our family. We all thank you very much.

While the "good old days" were being relived Ellis Orchestra played on the stage and "Steve" Toland, who acted as master of ceremonies called on Dorothy Piggott of Arlington and the inimitable "Wicky" Carroll, old Bowery favorite, for vocal solos, and on Danny Noonan for songs and selections on his accordian.

Just before the grand march formed the master of ceremonies had Lucia McKenzie and Bobby Foley of the committee in charge of arrangements escort the especially honored guests to the front of the hall to receive gifts.

Those honored were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McKeering, oldest married couple in the Bowery; "Mack" McKenzie and "Neddo" O'Connell, oldest resident and oldest ex-resident, both in the eighties and spry as kittens. Dr. Richard W. Sweeney was also called to the "mike" as the doctor who delivered the most babies in the Bowery, those present whom he assisted into the world showing their hands as the big crowd applauded. "Doc" got a laugh when he denied having assisted at "Mack's" birth, saying he was "not that old!"

After the presentations and brief remarks by those honored, the grand march formed, led by Mr. and Mrs. McKeering. After supper there were Irish songs by Peter McGaffigan and vocal solos by boy soprano, Francis Cochran of Marlboro, a youngster, whose radio singing and recordings have been very popular.

Another musical hit was the piano duos of Lucia McKenzie and her brother-in-law, Bill Durant of Medford, assisted by Terry Cullen on the drums. The crowd couldn't seem to get enough of their playing.

Throughout the evening there was general dancing with many of the old timers showing how the "glide waltz" was done in the good old days. The younger idea did the more modern steps and the dancing closed with a big square dance, for which Danny Noonan called.

No account of the party would be complete without a word of appreciation for the efforts of Mark Kelly, former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who volunteered his services and those of his sister, Mary Lou, during the entire evening in the check-room.

Those coming from the greatest distance to attend the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Capone from Pittsburg, and Anthony Cullen from Detroit, the latter accompanied by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cullen.

A largely attended mass was held Saturday morning at St. Mary's Church for all deceased residents, of whatever faith, who lived on Lake, Linden or Middlesex streets.

Heading the committee in charge of arrangements were Lucia McKenzie and Bobby Foley as co-chairmen. Other committee members were Paul Capone, Eddie Cullen, Mary and Katherine Kennedy, Mary Dailey, Mary Serieka, Jack O'Connell, Mary McKenzie, Ruth Foley, Ann Durant, George Foley and Mabel Foley.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The name "turnpike" for toll highways is as old as America's roads, the National Geographic Society says. It arose from the type of gate used on early toll roads, a long pole studded with pikes. This barred the way until travelers paid the required fee, then was turned aside.

El Salvador is the smallest and most densely populated of the Central American republics.

Diamond cutting requires long study of the rough gem as well as steady nerves and hands, notes the National Geographic Society. A slight mistake in drawing the precise lines of cleavage may cause the stone to fly apart at the final tap of the mallet. An unsuspected flaw is another hazard that may bring about the same disaster.

The Congo River, with only a few transfers required by waterfalls and rapids, is navigable by river steamer for nearly 4,000 miles.

Science knows more than 1,500 species of fireflies, says the National Geographic Society.

To beat off a siege of Syracuse by the Roman general Marcellus two centuries before Christ, Archimedes designed a spectacular crane which could grapple attacking galleys, hoist them into the air and then plunge them beneath the sea.

Among the few Tibetan concessions to Western medicine is vaccination. Entire villages were once wiped out by smallpox, says the National Geographic Society. Now even the Dalai Lama, regarded by his subjects as a divinity incarnate, submits to vaccination.

The American Civil War provided the first large-scale military theater for the use of free balloons in aerial reconnaissance.

Northern Hemisphere residents think of the aurora as the "northern lights," or aurora borealis (literally, "dawn of the north"). There is also an aurora australis, or "southern lights," says the National Geographic Society. Collectively, the two are known as the aurora polaris. There is little inhabited land within the region where the "southern lights" are visible.

Sea anemones, which resemble delicate and beautifully colored flowers, are actually animals, says the National Geographic Society. Their dainty "petals" are tentacles reaching out to trap unwary shrimps or other small marine prey.

Winchester made nine first downs and 393 yards by rushing, and completed one of four passes for 27 yards and a touchdown. Woburn made six first downs and also moved the ball well at times, running up 141 yards on the ground. In the air the tanners completed 1 of five passes for 18 yards and had three forwards intercepted. Rosa of Woburn outkicked Griffin and Bellino, averaging 41 yards to 29, and the Tanners also fumbled less than Winchester, three times to five, each team recovering once.

In the penalty department the visitors had a big edge, losing but one 15 yard penalty, while Winchester lost 75 yards to the white pants, who were really the best defense Woburn had all morning. If they missed any Winchester infractions they are probably still brooding over their carelessness, and it's fortunate a lightning fast whistle that nullified a 19 yard gallop by Griffin to the Woburn one yard line in the third quarter didn't prevent an ultimate score, for Jimmy definitely hadn't been stopped on the play.

Winchester had two additional touchdowns taken away by rules infractions. Serieka made a brilliant runback of a Rosa punt in the first quarter from his own 45, only to have a demon white pants detect a horderline clip on the play. In the third quarter little "Moosie" Bellino rifled off the best pass of the game from midfield to Carroll at the Woburn 20, "Skitchie" being out there all alone and easily scoring, only to have a back-in-motion penalty spoil it all. As the game wore on whenever Winchester did anything much its supporters looked fearfully for a flag on the grass, and they were generally not disappointed. At least no one could say the officials were at all lax.

Woburn had a great chance soon after the opening kickoff. Winchester had to kick after Johnson ran the kickoff out to the 38 and Jimmy Griffin got off about the only poor punt he's footed all year, his short high kick going only to the Winchester 41.

Day picked up six on a reverse and then Rosa passed to Lundquist for a first down at Winchester's 17. Keniston broke up a play for a 6 yard loss, and after Corio picked up seven on a fullback trap Woburn fumbled, "Dyna" Lentine recovering at Winchester's 11.

Johnson plowed over tackle to the 20, and then "Jocko" Serieka, broke through inside Woburn's right end and just ran past the close backers-up, going 80 long yards for a touchdown, aided by some nice screening and a block at the Woburn five by Bobby Flaherty.

Errico kicked the goal and also kicked off, "Anchor" Murphy diving over two blockers to bring down Rosa at the Woburn 14. The Orange couldn't go and Rosa kicked, Serieka catching the ball at his own 45, dodging, twisting and bulling his way into the open to score standing up for a great individual effort. This was the one the clipping penalty nullified, and this penalty probably kept Winchester's score within bounds. Had that touchdown counted, Woburn would have been a super team to keep its dunbers perpendicular.

The clipping penalty put the ball back on Winchester's 46 and the Indians fumbled it away to Day of Woburn at their 40. F. Catania made a first down in two tries, but then on third down Griffin intercepted a Rosa forward at his five and Winchester gave a really impressive offensive exhibition.

Johnson hit Jacobs for 4 and Griffin broke off tackle for a first down at the 15. Serieka was stopped once, but on second down advanced to the 31, with Michelsen breaking through center to first down at the 46.

Here Griffin found a hole inside his own left end and was through it like a shot, pulling away from two tacklers and faking a third to leg it into the end zone. Errico kicked the goal from placement as the first quarter ended.

Midway through the second quarter Russo recovered a Winchester fumble at the Indians' 49. Rosa, in two rushes, and Corio made it first down at Winchester's 35, and from there after two short gains, Corio got through again to the Indians' 20.

Here the Tanners' running game bogged down and Thomson intercepted a Rosa pass in the end zone to end the threat, the half ending with Winchester in possession at its 37.

Errico opened the second half with a booming kickoff into the end zone, Rosa getting out to his 18. The Tanners had a yard to go on third down and failed to make it, then elected to run, from regular formation, on fourth down, Flaherty breaking up a sweep by Corio with the Indians taking over at their 25.

Serieka picked up five through the line, and Griffin broke off tackle to the one, his fine effort being spoiled by that quick whistle we told about earlier.

The ball went back to the 16 for a four yard gain, and Serieka quickly made it first down at the 13. Griffin picked up three to the six, and big Jost Michelsen on an option play elected to keep the ball and swept behind nice interference around the Woburn right flank, going over standing up. Once again Errico kicked the goal.

With a 21-0 lead Coach Knowlton began getting his scrubs into the game, and the Tanners started to look up. Winchester fumbled the ball away at its 38, but Woburn's only penalty, a 15 yarder for clipping, person pitched out to from capitalizing, and a moment later Thomson again intercepted a Woburn forward getting to the Woburn 30.

After a five yard penalty and two disasterous attempts to advance the ball, Thomson pitched out to Bellino, who arched a pretty pass down field to Carroll, away behind the tight Woburn defense. Skitchie seored standing up but that old man-in-motion penalty nullified the touchdown and put the ball back on the Tanners' 48. Thomson recovered his own fumble, but Winchester had 34 yards to go on fourth down and Bellino kicked into the end zone.

The Tanners, starting from their 20, fumbled the ball away to "Harpo" Taylor at their 25. Bellino was spilled for a two yard loss and a Thomson jump pass was no good. On third down, however, "Stu" faded and Griffin made a pass over to the left to Carleton, who pulled away from a couple of sloppy tackle attempts and went into the end zone on his feet.

Thomson, holding for Errico, got a high pass back from center, and tossed the ball to Dick, who drove into the end zone. Thomson's knee of course had touched on the kick attempt, and the conversion didn't go.

Midway through the final quarter Winchester fumbled again, and the Tanners recovered at the Indian's 18. The first stringers went back into action, and with only inches to go for a first down at the eight, Atkinson knifed through to drop Rosa on the nine, and Winchester took over.

Errico broke through to the 26 and Donlon and Johnson made it first down at the 41. A pass went incomplete and a guard around lost five yards. Johnson broke through for a first down, but an illegal use of hands penalty set the locals back to their 26.

Big Joe Donlon bulled his way to the Winchester 42, and then on fourth down from kick formation, with a bit of fancy handing off behind the line, Errico, on a fullback trap, went up the middle like a Mack truck, bulling and ripping his way into the open.

Two key blocks aided him beyond the line of scrimmage and once in the clear the squat, burly defense star actually outran two Woburn boys all the way into the end zone, to the uncontrolled delight of the entire Winchester crowd, some of whom broke from the end zone barrier to hug and pound the back of the happy Errico.

To make it perfect, Dick added the extra point, and nothing much happened in the closing minutes of play. As a matter of fact, many had left before Errico's thrilling run, easily the feature of the entire ballgame. The summary:

TURKEY BURNED

The alarm from Box 21 at 11:03 Thanksgiving eve was for a turkey afire in the oven of the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donlon, 35 Park avenue, parents of big "Joe" Donlon, co-captain of Winchester High School's championship football team. The firemen responded and extinguished the fire without damage, except to the bird in the oven, which they admit was a total loss. Knowing "Joe's" capacity as a trencherman we personally can think of few after-noon meals that could cause him greater sorrow.

In addition to the turkey fry there were two fires on the holiday, the first burning leaves at 9:47 on Girard road, and the second a brush fire off Dunster Lane at 4:44.

BREAK ON HILLSIDE AVENUE

Wednesday forenoon between 10:20 and 11:45, while the house was empty, a home on Hillside avenue was broken into, access being gained by breaking a pane of glass and slipping a window catch.

Police characterize the job as a very neat job, and thus far the family has found nothing missing.

MEXICO TO MODERNIZE THE ANCIENT TORTILLA

Science has caught up with the Indians and found a new way to make tortillas, one of the oldest forms of food in the world.

Nutrition experts in Illinois, at the request of Mexican Government, have successfully milled an inexpensive, dry and stable tortilla flour from which Mexico's ancient unsalted, unleavened corn flapjacks can be made with greater ease.

Tortillas are the staff of life today for millions of people, the National Geographic Society says. From the southwest United States through the Isthmus of Panama, corn-dough cakes have been the basic food of Indian civilizations as far back as history records. Tortillas and beans are to many Latin-Americans what dates are to desert dwellers, bread to Europeans and rice to the ancient peoples of the Orient.

Corn Sacred Crop

When explorers reached the New World they found Indians cultivating corn and worshipping it as a sacred crop. Later investigations proved that pre-history cliff-dwellers occupying caves in sheer-walled canyons of the Colorado watershed used corn much as it is used today by descendants of Pueblo Indians of the United States, and by the heirs of Aztecs and Mayas in Mexico.

Women in remote sections still grind corn meal on flat slabs of rock called "metates." With a second stone shaped somewhat like a rolling pin, they crush the corn and roll it into a moist paste from which tortilla dough, called "masa" is kneaded.

The corn must first be boiled in lime water and then again in fresh water. Since the soapy-tasting dough will spoil in less than six hours without refrigeration, women's work is never done. The entire process has to be repeated for each day's meals. Either the housewife does it, or as is more common in much of Mexico today, she buys it in the most state from a local "masa" shop, or even ready-baked in small "tortillerias."

One of Mexico's most familiar sounds is that made by women patting "masa" into tortillas, fattening them to exquisite shape. The cakes when baked can be eaten as they are, rolled around various meat stuffings, or used as spoons for other food. After one dries out and toughens during a long trip, it can be used to patch a worn sandal. Mexicans say wryly.

Better Nutrition

Since World War II, research has been carried on in Mexico to boost corn production by use of new hybrid strains.

To provide a more stable, storable form of the basic tortilla, which could be enriched by vitamins, minerals or protein to fortify the national diet on a wholesale basis, the Bank of Mexico asked the Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology to develop a new way of processing and marketing tortilla mix.

The desired product would have to satisfy modern distribution systems, make tortillas indistinguishable from the masa-made variety, and be cheap enough to compete with perishable masa for the centavos of the lowest income groups.

Such a product, a dry flour, has now been developed by a new dehydration process. A pilot plant has been in operation for a year. More than 500 tons of the new flour has been used by Mexicans without complaints. Now a factory is being built outside Mexico City to boost production of the flour to a commercial level. New tortillas are coming to an ancient land.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Since the turn of the century, when oil drillers discovered sulphur beneath the Gulf Coast in Texas and Louisiana, America has become the world's major producer of this indispensable mineral, says the National Geographic Society. That man lives in God — Soul — and is not in reality fettered by a material body will be emphasized at Christian Science services next Sunday. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Soul and Body".

The Golden Text is as follows: "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" (1 Corinthians 3:16).

Selections from the Holy Bible will include the following: "God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands." (Acts 17:24). "Blessed are they that dwell in thy house." (Psalm 84:4).

The following will be read from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in Matter instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit" (p. 223).

GAVE RECORDS TO COLLEGE

It is of interest to the many Winchester friends of the late Alice Newman, formerly of this town, that her husband, L. L. Cayvan of Grand Rapids, Mich., has given to Calvin College there his collection of more than 8,000 phonograph records, reportedly worth between $20,000 and $30,000. With few exceptions the collection includes every important symphony, oratorio, opera, cantata, concerto, string quartet and song that has been recorded here or abroad. Known as the Cayvan Collection of Recordings, the records will be housed in the new fine arts room of the expanded Calvin College library. Cataloguing the collection will take at least six months according to college authorities.

Both Mr. Cayvan and his late wife have been fine musicians, and both played in the orchestra in the first performance of the "Messiah" in the Calvin College auditorium 32 years ago, continuing to play in the Grand Rapids Symphony Orchestra for more than 20 years. Superintendent of the Hekman Biscuit Company, Mr. Cayvan was a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra while a student at M. I. T., and for many years played in the Grand Rapids Symphony, also teaching hundreds to play stringed instruments.

His wife, the former Alice Newman, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Newman, formerly of Winchester, and sister of Mr. James A. Newman of Meadowcroft road, played for some years in the Fadettes, first women's touring concert orchestra, and later had her own orchestra. Her father was well known as a florist and the family home was on Central street.

TRUCK OVERTURNED

Last Friday afternoon shortly before 12:30 a Ford dump truck, owned by the Bay State Tallow Company of Allston, got out of control on Washington street and tipped over near the entrance to Calvary Cemetery.

The driver, Andrew Johnson of Pinehurst, was trapped in the cab of the truck, and managed to free himself by kicking out the windshield. He escaped with shoulder injuries and a severe shaking up.

Engine 4 of the Fire Department was sent to the scene and stood by in the event of fire until a wrecker righted the truck and towed it away.

YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

I Introduce to you . . .

During these fall and winter months, many of us will be called upon to speak or in some capacity to find ourselves before a listening audience. There are many books available at your Public Library which can make speaking easier and more enjoyable.

"How to Write a Speech" gives suggestions not only for writing a speech but also helpful hints on the delivery. "Better Speeches for All Occasions" contains examples of every type of speech. There are a number of similar books as the above two mentioned, all of which are written to aid the speaker to prepare and deliver his speech.

Special aids are: "The Toastmaster's Handbook" which is full of original ideas and practical suggestions. "The Thesaurus of Humor" also might be used by a toastmaster for appropriate jokes. "The Public Speaker's Treasure Chest" is bursting with quotable items which will liven up any speech.

The Reference collection of the library also offers many helpful tools for the speaker. "The NBC Handbook of Pronunciation" gives pronunciations of up-to-date words, especially names featured in recent news items. "The Dictionary of English Synonyms" can help one find just the right words to express his thoughts. There are numerous quotation books, arranged under subject so that one can see what has already been said on a particular subject. In introducing a speaker, it is necessary to know a little something about his life — such information might be found in "Who's Who in America" or "Current Biography."

The above mentioned books are just a sampling of the wealth of material available. If you are going to do any public speaking, be sure to benefit from these helpful and timely books.

Mrs. John B. Wills gave an interesting soliloquoy, "A Pilgrim Maid's Thanksgiving". The guest speaker was Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, who shared her experiences of a three months' trip through the south to the great "Southwest, a Land of Enchantment", showing samples of the artistry of the natives of New Mexico and Arizona to a fascinated audience.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club met on Thursday, November 15 at the charming modern home of Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood on Swan road, the beautiful outlook from the many windows, with the terrace and distant view of the lake, bringing the outdoors into the spacious living room most effectively. Delicious dessert was served by the hostess, the former President, Mrs. William Goodhue, serving coffee at the dining table, where great interest was aroused by the arrangement of coral in the center of the table, with further interest in the fascinating wicker horn of plenty on a table nearby, the wealth of fruit bearing colorful witness to the abundance of autumn.

After a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Charles R. Main, the President, the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Roy Lincoln of Amherst, New Hampshire, gave a delightful and informative talk on Flower Arrangements, illustrating her skill during her talk. One question, she said, has been asked her many times — why so many one-sided flower arrangements? They were brought about, she said, by Flower Show requirements, which provided so little space for exhibits, but these same one-sided arrangements have proved useful for the home, as a smaller amount of plant material may be satisfactorily used. In speaking of design she urged her audience to use the materials on hand and let the plants themselves inspire the design.

WELLESLEY CLUB PRESENTED JOHN BEAUFORT

On Thursday, November 15, The Wellesley Club of Winchester presented their last Winchester Morning at the Music Hall with John Beaufort, Arts Editor of The Christian Science Monitor, as their guest speaker.

Mr. Beaufort's talk on "The Theatre from Broadway to London" was most entertaining and informative. He feels that for the last ten years the English theatre has been going through a great period of acting (though not of play-writing) while the American Theatre has lost out to Hollywood and Television. Mr. Beaufort spent this summer in England and saw an unbelievable number of plays. He feels that the hope of the American legitimate stage lies in better audiences and better pay for actors, most of whom can barely subsist unless they are top-flight stars. There is a lack of real importance on Brondway at present besides "Top Banana", "Point of No Return" and "St. Joan" but Mr. Beaufort has hopes for the future.

THE HISTORY OF CHILDREN'S TOYS

When your little daughter cuddles her dolls and brother races his toy automobiles, have you ever wondered about the history of children's toys?

F. A. O. Schwarz, the world's largest merchant of fine quality toys says that all playthings are symbols of real life in miniature form.

Away back in the prehistoric days of the cave man and cliff dweller, Little Boy Caveman probably had a small pronged club that was just like Dad's. And Little Sister no doubt had a small stone cooking pot no more crude than the one her mother used to prepare the family meals.

For down through the pages of history we find that the important tools of play — toys — have taken an active part.

In the civilization of ancient China we find indication of the first toys in history. They included lanterns, musical carts, rattles, cloth animals, jumping jacks and whistles. Among the oldest favorites still popular with modern children are such early Chinese playthings as toy drums, tops, whistles, kites, dolls, and even paper dolls (called "the little people").

And did you know that one of the best liked and perhaps the silliest novelty, the yo-yo is an old Chinese invention?

Historians say that the Chinese invented what they called the Kung-Chung or double Yo-Yo hundreds of years before Columbus set sail to discover America!

The first mechanical toys on record were also created by the masterful Oriental mind. They were miniature dogs and hens with air bellows inside so that when the children squeezed them they made barking and crowing sounds to their delight.

And from the ruins of Egypt, archeologists have dug up the remains of children's toys. Toy crocodiles and hippopotami carved from wood were among the toys of the child of Egypt. These were the animals they knew in the fabled land along the Nile. Little Egyptian girls delighted in dolls and dolls' furniture made of wood and clay. Some of the dolls uncovered in the ruins have glass eyes and wigs of strings or beads.

In the glorious civilizations of later Greece and Rome we can also trace the history of toys. The girls of old Greece had many playthings made mostly of wax, wood or clay. Dolls with pointed arms, tiny cups, platters, lamps, and urns, made of glazed pottery in classic design. Toy doves, (a favorite Grecian motif) were fashioned from heavy bronze or carved from the knuckle bone of a sheep, or from precious onyx or vari-colored marble.

If a child in ancient Greece died it was the custom to bury with him his entire collection of toys. In a girl's tomb near Athens a large collection of miniature clay objects was found, all copies of objects or utensils used by adults. This of course is further proof of the Schwarz store's contention that toys are really symbols of life in miniature.

The Greeks of course were famed athletes. And their children at an early age were encouraged to enjoy and participate in outdoor pastimes with such playthings as swings and see-saws, just as Twentieth Century kids do. Grecian children of olden days also enjoyed the Yo-Yo.

But the most familiar form of amusement handed down to us is probably the toy they called "astragals". This was the mathematical name for what we know as jackstones. Early paintings on marble show Grecian children playing this game.

And in Rome, although a girl child was of little more account than to the Chinese or Greeks, she still had her share of toys. Research shows us that dolls and tiny bronze or ivory animals were made for the girls of ancient Rome. And the boys proudly played with little chariots, models of Roman gladiators and figures of wild beasts.

So, down through the pages of history, mirrored in the toys of children have been the latest scientific and political developments and fashions.

It was an accurate model of its original counterpart which was busy chopping off the heads of French aristocrats through the bloody months of the Revolution. And the ironic part is that not only the children of the peasants played with the little head chopper. Old diaries and letters show than even the young sons and daughters of the royalty imprisoned in the Bastille with their parents enjoyed the interesting toy — little realizing the import it had on their own lives.

Here in America, progress was recorded through toys. When Benjamin Franklin invented the still efficient Franklin stove, toy models of the stove were popular with children. Fulton's steamboat, the sewing machine, the telephone, all the new inventions of scientific progress were repeated in children's toys.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NEWS

One hundred and twenty pounds of turkey will be prepared on Thanksgiving Day for the patients at the Winchester Hospital. This is the last holiday meal to be prepared in the present kitchen, which was built in 1928. During these years the many hundreds of thousands of meals which were prepared in this kitchen earned for the Hospital a reputation for fine food. Starting on November 29th, meals will be prepared in the new kitchen. It is expected that the new kitchen, with its latest equipment, will enable the Hospital to maintain its fine food service with even greater efficiency.

This week the Hospital donates its own special orchids to the Red Cross Gray Ladies and the Winchester Boy Scouts for their services rendered. The Gray Ladies, who in addition to staffing the visitors desk at the Hospital, have, when needed, contributed their efforts in the care of patients. We are grateful to the Boy Scouts for their labors last Saturday in raking leaves on the Hospital grounds.

The Winchester Hospital Blood Bank, which was organized in September of 1948, received its two thousandth donation of blood this past week — two hundred and fifty gallons of life-saving blood.

HOLIDAY CRUISE BAZAAR

Everything is in ship-shape order for the Holiday Cruise Bazaar to be held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on November 30th from 10:00 A.M. to 9:00 P.M. Everyone has his job to do, from Mrs. Reva Haney, fair chairman, and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, W.S.C.S. president, right on to Rev. John Snook, the pastor and captain of the able-bodied crew and craft.

The decoration committee has been very fortunate in securing the loan of a valuable collection of colored photographic reproductions from the American Export Lines. This is truly a fascinating set of scenes from the world over, executed exclusively for the American Export Lines by the famed photographer, Mr. Ivan Dimitri. All art lovers should not miss this opportunity to view some truly fine specimens of modern photography.

WINCHESTER HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

Preparing for Christmas

This is the timely title of the talk Mrs. Robert Richards is going to give to the members and friends of the Winchester Home and Garden Club next Tuesday, November 27. The meeting will be in the Art Room of the Winchester Public Library at the regular time, 2 p. m. (Please note, however, the change from the usual day of the week — Tuesday, this time.) Mrs. Richards is a well-known speaker and will give practical yet original ideas for carrying out Christmas favors and home decorations.

Another date for the members to note in the already busy November holiday season is Friday, November 30, when Mrs. John Wills is generously opening her home at 238 Highland avenue for an all day workshop. This plan is in preparation for the big Christmas Greens Sale on December 1 at the Baptist Church. Everyone who can is invited to come at 10 a. m. with her own box luncheon and stay to help make decorations for this annual fund-raising project. More about this later.

The Winchester Home and Garden Club has a fine program planned and prospective members are welcome to attend this second meeting of the year next Tuesday.

PARKHURST SCHOOL OPEN HOUSE

In observance of American Education Week, Parkhurst School held open house Wednesday evening, November 14. The parents had an opportunity to look over their children's work and the facilities of the school.

Following informal classroom talks, parents and teachers gathered in the assembly hall for light refreshments served by Mrs. Arthur Schmidt and Mrs. Robert Orr.

The president, Mrs. George Herrick then introduced Miss Natalie A. Fitch, who explained, her methods of teaching violin and Miss Virginia French gave a detailed talk on the modern methods of art instruction. Mr. Alfred Meurling closed the meeting with a very amusing talk on physical education.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

On November 13, fourteen of our members attended a most worthwhile conference on Inter Group Understanding at The Hampshire House. They had the pleasure of hearing outstanding speakers from Wellesley College, Boston University, Northeastern University, Harvard College, the National Association Advancement of Colored People, and the American Friends Society. Those members from Fortnightly who attended were: Mrs. Hiscoe, Mrs. Burr, Mrs. Rhodes, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Emery, Misses Bancroft, Mrs. Winship, Mrs. Brayley, Mrs. Priest, Mrs. Given, Miss Russell, Mrs. Priest, and Mrs. Budd.

Winchester should be very proud of its High School Art Students. Of the recent six art pictures displayed in Filene's window, Deborah Duke's was one out of the five chosen from the state. The other five Winchester entries were highly praised and all won Honorable mention. It was requested that these be held over to exhibit at the annual meeting at Swampscott in May. Deborah's picture will be among the final national judging at a later date.

The next meeting of the Fortnightly will be held Monday November 26, at 2:00 p. m. in the Masonic Hall. Miss Sybil Daniels will show movies of "From Sea to Shining Sea." Miss Daniels platform poise and charming personality together with the unusual beauty of her pictures provide most delightful entertainment. We will also get "A Woman's Impression of the State Legislature" from Miss Martha Ware, Fourth Plymouth District House of Representatives. Be sure to come and help swell our philanthropy fund by supporting the food sale.

The Literature group will hold the next meeting on Monday, December 3, at 2:00 p. m. at the Public Library. Miss Gertrude Hall will talk on "Virginia Wolfe". All members are invited.

UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS STUDY GROUPS

The Winchester Chapter of United World Federalists has held two in its series of three study group meetings on World Government. The first of these took place on Tuesday evening, October 31 at the home of Miss Alice Main and was under the very able leadership of Mrs. Winslow Smith. On her panel committee were Mrs. Mildred Lawton, Mrs. Charles Greene and Mr. Robert Williams each of whom spoke briefly on the different agencies working toward World Government, the facts about each and the advantages and disadvantages of their respective programs. Following this excellent presentation, there was an interesting discussion period until the cider and doughnut phase of the evening (without which no meeting could be a complete success).

On Tuesday evening November 13, the second group in this series held a panel discussion on "The United Nations and World Government" at the home of the Robinson Whittens. Mr. Robert Lowry, another able chairman, had on his committee Mrs. Cutler Downer, Mrs. Robinson Whitten, Mrs. Robert Lowry and Mrs. Wallis Moulding. Very capable papers were presented explaining the structure of the U. N. and the great work being done by its many agencies. The panel agreed, however, that the U. N. needed strengthening in order to more effectively meet the growing problems of the world.

The third and final series in this group will again meet on Tuesday evening, this time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lobingier, 4 Manchester road on November 27 at 7:45 p. m. The topic under discussion that night will be "The Purposes and Policies of United World Federalists", and their suggested steps toward world peace through a limited World Government.

Anyone not having attended the previous meetings but interested in coming to the final one in this series is most welcome if he contacts one of the above members.

THANKSGIVING BLESSING

It has long been a custom in Winchester Churches for the ministers to read the Governor's Thanksgiving Proclamation on the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving Day.

This year the minister of one of the churches, having received no proclamation toward the end of last week, called the State House, and is reported to have been told that some one had apparently "slipped up".

Unwilling to take no notice of the missing proclamation, the minister, on last Sunday, told of his intention to read the usual Governor's message and of his failure to get one to read.

He could, however, recall the closing phrase of all previous proclamations, he said, and would quote it then as especially apropos. "God Save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts", said the minister, "and now let's all sing 'America'!"

GUEST SOLOIST FOR MYSTIC GLEE CLUB

The Mystic Glee Club is pleased to present Miss Harriet Hayes, soprano as guest soloist at its winter concert to be held on Saturday evening, December 8, 1951 at the Winchester High School auditorium.. Miss Hayes is a graduate of Boston University School of Music and also holds a Masters Degree from that University. She has given recitals in and around Boston and has been soloist with several choral groups as well as being a church soloist. In 1950, she was chosen as the Atlantic Coast representative to the National Convention of Musical Groups in Seattle, Washington. Although not as well known as some of its former guest soloists, the Glee Club is confident that Miss Hayes will be well received in Winchester as she appeared as soloist in one of its out of town concerts last year and made a fine impression on both the audience and the Glee Club. Her accompanist will be I. Kenneth Manzer.

WINCHESTER UNITARIAN CHOIR

During the month of December the Winchester Unitarian Choir, under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, will present on each Sunday Christmas music.

This outstanding choir, metropolitan in calibre, will sing from the Christmas section of "The Messiah" by Handel; the Christmas oratorio by Saint-Saens, anthems by Pergolesi and Randall Thompson in addition to unusual and little known Christmas Carols of extraordinary beauty.

During this period the Unitarian Male Choir, a distinguished choral group will be heard as a separate entity, as will the Winchester Unitarian quartette, Dolores Baldyga, soprano; Muriel Thorley, contralto; Edgar Isherwood, tenor; George Fortune, bassbaritone.

On Christmas Sunday, December 23rd, the Unitarian choir and the Junior choir will present a program of Carols at 10:45 and later at 5:30 will introduce the Christmas Masque, given under the direction of the minister of the Winchester Unitarian church, Mr. Robert A. Storer, with a programme selected from its extensive and choice repertoire of Christmas music.

BUS TERMINAL HEARING

No Sentiment for New One-Stop Plan

[illegible] expressed to the [illegible] established [illegible] Common street at [illegible] by the Board in the Town Hall Friday evening. The actual vote against the terminal by Winchester residents present was 103 to none, with six non residents at the hearing recording themselves in opposition. Perhaps 125 in all attended the hearing, since several had left the hall before the vote was taken.

Nicholas H. Fitzgerald, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, presided, and the other Selectmen present were Harrison Lyman, Jr., Harry Chefalo and Don Greer. In opening the hearing Mr. Fitzgerald explained to those present that it was not the Selectmen's purpose to debate the bus stop question and any decision arrived at by those attending the hearing, while it would be carefully considered by the Selectmen, would not necessarily bind them to act in accordance with that decision. The hearing had been called, he explained, so that all who wished to be heard could express their opinion.

TROOP 6 PARENTS' NIGHT

On Monday night, November 19th, Troop 6, B. S. A. held the first Parents' Night of the current season. After Scoutmaster O. L. Hooper greeted the parents and friends of the Scouts, he introduced Commissioner Muncaster, Assistant Scoutmaster Emmons Ellis, Committee Chairman Elliott who, in turn introduced the members of the Troop Committee. They are Charles A. Myers, Secretary, James F. Canning, Treasurer, Nelson K. Brown, Addison J. Becker, Charles O. Nichols and Herbert F. Ross.

The high point of the evening was the presentation by Mr. George C. Patten of Stoneham and Vice-President of Fellsland Council of three Eagle Scout awards to Explorer Scouts Teddy Elliott, Henry Hooper and Earl Carrier. This is the highest rank a scout can attain and it is not often that a troop has an Eagle Scout award presented one of it's members, to say nothing of three. In addition, Teddy Elliott received a perfect attendance award for the fourth consecutive year, which represents his entire membership in Scouting. Henry Hooper received his third perfect attendance award.

Life Scout awards were presented to Scouts Craig Muncaster and Robert A. Becker and several Scouts received perfect attendance awards for from one to three years of service. Several Scouts were presented their Second Class pins and an equally large group received their First Class badges.

In presenting the Eagle Scout Awards, Mr. Patten stressed the trying times these boys are about to enter and how valuable the training they had gone through, largely on their own iniative, would help to fit them just that much more for later life in this upset world in which we are now living.

After deciding on the date of Wednesday, December 5, at 7:45 at the Unitarian Church for the next Troop Committee meeting, Mr. Hooper closed one of the most outstanding Parents' Nights Troop 6 has ever had.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Honorable Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., United States Senator from Massachusetts, will be the distinguished speaker at the Christmas meeting of the Winchester Women's Republican Club, to be held in the Church of the Epiphany on Monday, December 3 at 2:30, dessert at 1:30 to precede the program.

MRS. CHARLES F. HOWARD

Ever commanding the confidence and enthusiasm of the Republican party and challenging the opposition, Senator Lodge is now nearing the end of his third term in the Senate to which Massachusetts returned him after he became the first Senator since the Civil War to resign his seat to enter military service, serving during World War II with the 1st American tank detachment in Libya and later in Italy, Southern France the Rhineland, and Germany.

AN INVITATION TO THE COMMUNITY

The Parish of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, Rev. John Snook, Jr., minister, cordially invites the community to attend its service of Christmas music to be presented at 7:45 p. m., December 16, by the Mary Witham Singers, assisted by Marian T. Blake, reader.

This choral group is notable for its carefully arranged programs beautifully rendered under the leadership of its director, Mary Ranton Witham, with Grace Nolan, accompanist. Mrs. Blake has been with the Singers before and her readings are delightful; with the carols they will bring impressive emphasis to the inspirational message of this opening of the Christmas season.

FIRST WOMAN JUROR DRAWN

Constance K. Marshall of 9 Brookside avenue has the distinction of being the first Winchester woman to be drawn for jury duty.

Ever since the act of Legislature providing for women jurors the Selectmen have been wondering how soon a woman's name would be drawn, and Monday it finally happened, and in triplicate, the three names drawn being all of women.

Besides Mrs. Marshall, Esther H. Holdsworth of 43 Lawson road, and Gladys W. Porter of 247 Washington street, were drawn. All three will report at Superior Court in Cambridge, January 7, 1952.

THIS SUNDAY IS LOYALTY SUNDAY

[illegible] 2 p. m. as the signal [illegible] vassing to start.

The slogan of the United Church Canvass is "We're Giving our Church the Lift it Needs — Pledging More this Year."

[illegible] on giving more arises from the fact that increased costs [illegible] increased activities make it essential to obtain greater revenue.

Winchester churches are vital, alive, aware of their responsibilities in a busy and growing community.. They are helping to provide the religious life that is increasingly needed in these times of moral and material strain.

A large committee of active workers has been busy all Fall trying to bring the need of the churches to the attention of the community. This committee hopes that in some small way it has succeeded.

Sunday is the day toward which the United Church Canvass group has been working.

The success or failure of its efforts depends on the response. But far more important than that is the fact that it is the activities of the churches, themselves, that is at stake. The work of the churches cannot be kept abreast of the growing demands without sufficient financial support.

This is Winchester's first Loyalty Sunday and its first effort at co-operation among the churches in a fund raising canvass.

It is hoped that it will prove as successful as it has in other communities.

The participating churches are: First Baptist, New Hope Baptist, First Congregational, Second Congregational, Crawford Memorial Methodist and Unitarian.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

Whatever the weather, White Christmas comes to the Winchester Town Hall on December 15, when the members of the Winchester Junior Circle of the Florence Crittenton League have their annual Christmas Holiday Dance, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

Under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Butler and Mrs. David Walton, co-chairmen, the various committees have been working hard to make this another exciting and different occasion.

This time the town hall is to become the scene of a quiet, but beautiful snowstorm with gleaming silver stars and white snowbanks as a background for the "star-dust music of Bartholomew".

A soloist will be featured with the orchestra, and since Christmas is never festive without Santa Claus, he will be there with a twinkle in his eye, a pack on his back and his eight tiny reindeer.

In charge of decorations is Mrs. John F. Sexton, assisted by Mrs. Nelson Fontneau and Mrs. Robert Armstrong. Mrs. Bradford Darling and Mrs. Richard Chase are reservations chairmen. Other chairmen include Mrs. Charles L. Moore, chairman of sales, assisted by Mrs. Louis Yeager, flowers; Mrs. John K. Colony, bar; Mrs. Philip G. Downes, services; Mrs. Frank O. Dr. Banks is the renowned author, lecturer, psychologist and humorist who has been aptly called "a little bit of Barrymore . . . . a little of Will Rogers . . . . a wee bit of G. B. Shaw, mixed with a smattering of Bob Hope [illegible] a Will Durant delivery and an O' Henry finish."

Because he blends psychology and humor so expertly, Dr. Banks' reputation as a humorist equals his reputation as a psychologist. He dramatizes the various ways in which people react to their problems in living. He proceeds to induce hilarious laughter, but he gives his hearers bits of wisdom, philosophy and psychology. His dramatic quality, expert showmanship and great humor provide an exciting experience for young and old.

CIVIL DEFENSE AND THE RED CROSS

One of the more important aspects of Civil Defense planning is its relationship with the one other great disaster preparedness organization, the Red Cross. This significant relationship has been made clear by national directives. In all natural disasters, the Red Cross is the official agency, acting as in the past in cooperation with governmental agencies. Depending on the nature and severity of the natural disaster, Civil Defense might or might not be one of these other agencies.

Under Chapter 639 of the Acts of 1950, Civil Defense is responsible for dealing with war-caused disaster. Since the Red Cross is not expected to function as such during a war caused disaster, the Red Cross requests and encourages its personnel to join Civil Defense now, so they may be available to function as Civil Defense workers in time of war emergency.

In the pre-emergency period — such as the present time — the Red Cross is actively an active and important part of civil defense preparations. It is the Red Cross which trains Civil Defense workers, and the general public in First Aid — including special preparation for atomic warfare. Courses in home nursing are also offered for the general public. While the results of the First Aid program have been gratifying, the Red Cross is anxious for more men and women to enroll in the brief eight-hour home nursing course. Valuable in peacetime, this course is actually of particular importance during a war emergency when the shortage of trained nurses and doctors will be acute. All Winchester citizens are urged to take note of this invitation.

Since Civil Defense was organized in Winchester, one class of 13 nurses aides has already completed the 80-hour training course, with Miss Mary Loftus of the Winchester Hospital as instructor, and another class of 20 is scheduled to begin on December 3rd. Present nurses aide courses are composed of 16 hours of instruction, 40 hours of floor duty in the hospital, in 2½ hour meetings every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, they also include specialized instruction in atomic and biological warfare.

Listing of Red Cross contributions to war emergency preparedness should also include the large number of Motor Corps drivers who might be utilized by various divisions of Civil Defense with its extensive transportation requirements.

The Red Cross is also responsible for the blood donor program, supplying whole blood to the armed forces and to Civil Defense blood banks. With both these objectives in mind, Winchester should turn out to donate freely when the Red Cross "Bloodmobile" next visits here, on January 4th. With a town quota of only 150 pints (150 people) Winchester has seldom subscribed even a hundred donors. Present conditions make it imperative that our quota be filled several times over.

OFFERS 10-DAY FREE TRIAL OF DRYERS

The solution to the New England housewife's perennial problem, "How to get the clothes dry in spite of rain, snow, blizzard or 90% humidity" is being offered by the Arlington Gas Company with a ten day free trial of the Bendix Automatic Gas Dryer or the Hamilton Gas Dryer.

The dryer is installed in the customer's own home without obligation on the theory that after ten days use the Arlington housewife will never again be willing to lift and hang basket after basket of cold wet washing, and the man of the house having once felt bath towels that have been fluffed super soft by the dryer's gentle action will feel the moderate price can well be fitted into the family budget.

Everything that goes into the washing machine can be dried in the automatic gas dryer, from fine rayons to the softest wool blankets. Temperatures and time are regulated to fit the fabric.

Let the blizzards blow. Inside the automatic dryers, soft air currents float gently through the clothes. In a matter of minutes garments come out soft and free enough from wrinkles to cut ironing time by one-third. Washing and ironing can be done in one morning. Try it for ten days — at no obligation to buy!

Nabnasset, won titular honors at last week-end's meeting of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association, which came to life three weeks ago after a long long layoff.

President Royal P. Teele piped the members to quarters, but pro tem- had to be made to replace Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner, the Dix Street dignate, who was forced to sit up with a sick lodge member and couldn't be present.

J. Douglas Edwards, ex-Wedge Pond lifeguard, filled in for Mr. Gardner and did rather better than you would reasonably expect of any lifeguard, with the possible exception of Mr. Joseph Eugene Flaherty, whose vocal game more than makes up for any possible lack of ability in throwing the shoes.

Mr. Teele and the Secretary were the other members present and voting, and neither covered himself with glory, though both tried hard. A "Charley-horse" in the elbow of his throwing arm handicapped Mr. Teele and the Secretary had any number of good excuses for his elementary showing, no one of which made any hit with his unfortunate partners.

Mr. McLaughlin, swathed in sweaters, with a natty ski-cap and briar-root pipe went along easily, getting the ringers and double-headers when he needed them, and even carrying the Secretary and President on his back in a couple of matches.

ORANGE PEELS

Memories of the Woburn Game

Weather conditions were all but ideal. It was cold out of the sun, but not too cold, and those who used some sense in dressing for the game were very comfortable. The field was in fine condition, reminding everyone of that sea of mud on which the teams were asked to play last year at Woburn.

It was our opinion the crowd was as big as any to witness a Woburn-Winchester game, but G. Hartley Curtis, demon faculty manager of Winchester High, says there weren't as many this year as four years ago when Bob Garvey's team won from Sammy Bellino's Indians. He goes of course by the "take", which is a fairly good, but not entirely accurate yardstick.

Both bands were out and added much to the festivities. The Woburn bandsters were brave in their spandy new uniforms, and made a fine appearance, their suits being black with orange trimmings. As usual they were accompanied by a bevy of drum-majorettes. Their playing, under the baton of Edson Kimball, was all right too.

Drum-Major George Johnson was back to lead the Winchester band, after several weeks on the sidelines nursing a leg he broke practicing tumbling early in the fall. The Winchester band did its usual fine job and between the halves formed in front of the Woburn stands to serenade the visiting rooters with a vocal chorus of "How Do You Do, Woburn High School, How Do You Do!", ending by doffing their caps to the Orange stands. Both the varsity and freshman cheer-leaders assisted with the singing, which sounded good and seemed to meet with popular approval. As usual Freddy Felmet's musicians gave a splendid performance of "The Star Spangled Banner".

Pre-game activities included the circling of the field by Gene Rotundi, old Stoneham High athlete, now a resident of Winchester, leading a goat, decked out in Orange and Black, the Woburn colors, and labelled Woburn. Preceding Gene three boys led greyhounds, labelled "Knowlton", "Donlon", and "Errico", the idea being, we suppose, that Winchester had got Woburn's "goat".

Did you notice how free from gatecrashing youngsters the hillside was this year? Brother Farrell of the local Gendarmes was on duty at the press-box, and after a futile look or two through the fence, the boys gave it up as hopeless.

And speaking of gatecrashing! Our sympathies are with any one who tried to work his way past the keepers of the portals last Thursday! For the first time in nearly 30 years of covering Winchester football, the Star reporter was refused admission on his press-badge and had to have the assistance of good old "Otto" Leamy to get into his home field to report the game. The whole business was very amusing, to our friends and neighbors who saw us held up, if not to us, and after all, we suppose being stopped only once in thirty years is a fairly low average. Isn't it the Bible that says something about the prophet doing all right, except in his own home town!

Mayor Murray and the newly appointed Police Chief, Tom Maguire of Woburn, sat right behind the Woburn bench, and unless they had X-ray eyes must have seen little of the festivities except backs of standees.

It was a great day for "Mack" McKenzie Winchester reporter for the Woburn Times, who occupied a special chair on the sidelines beside the Winchester bench. The dean of all sports writers in this vicinity predicted a Winchester win without reservations, and between the halves took a special trip across the field to remind his doubting Woburn friends he can still pick them!

Jerry Nason, sports editor of the Boston Globe and a Winchester resident, was in the press box, personally covering the game and making the local scribes envious with stories of steam-heated press boxes in the big time.

Woburn's Mayor was in the stands, but Winchester's Mayor, "Nick" Fitzgerald, was selling hotdogs at the stand run by handparents for the benefit of the high school musical organizations. "Nick" didn't see much of the game, which was especially tough on a rabid fan like "Hizzoner".

Though you could never get every one to agree on the outstanding players in the game for both teams, Errico as the Winchester back and Rizzo as the Winchester linemen, who were chosen for this honor, are easily justified. Rizzo, who has played well all year, broke through several times to nail Woburn ball carriers for losses, while Errico played a bang-up defensive game in addition to doing some really outstanding place kicking.

Errico, Winchester's co-captain converted four times out of four for a perfect average at placement, and it wasn't his fault that the other point-after try was no good. Thomson, who was to hold for him on this attempt got such a high pass back from center he couldn't ground the ball, so he passed to Errico, and the burly battering-ram easily drove into the end zone, only to have the effort go for nothing because Thomson's knee was touching the ground when he passed him the pigskin.

In addition to his points after Errico did some great kicking off, three times out of five booting the ball high into the end zone, and the other times getting the ball to the 15 and the five yard stripes. Few college kickers can do better.

Good as his kicking was, it will be Errico's hot-hoisting touchdown drive that will be longest remembered. On fourth down, from kick formation, Dick took a flossy handoff on a trap play and bulled through the middle of the Woburn line like a bulldozer, turning and twisting and dodging and just plain bulling his way into the open to outlay two lightweight Woburn defensemen to the end zone. There has been nothing more spectacular on the Winchester gridiron for a long time, much of the thrill from the play coming because it was wholly unexpected.

Errico, himself, was tickled pink, and the Errico Chowder-and-Marching Club in the end zone, consisting his brothers and a rabid bunch of admirers, broke through the Police lines to hug "Dick" and belabor his heaving broad back. "Dick" himself jumped gleefully on the back of one of his delighted team-mates, so happy was he to wind up his career with a touchdown against Woburn.

While congratulating Errico, let's not forget his Co-Captain, big "Joe" Donlon. This hasn't been a happy year for "Joe", Winchester's offensive ment ticket a year ago, who has been prevented by a bad knee from playing much of any offensive football, his sterling defensive playing making Coach Knowlton unwilling to risk him as a ball carrier. All year long "Joe" has performed ably on defense, and even in this role has had to forego his preference to play close up for the less satisfying but vastly more important safety position.

Time and again Donlon has made last ditch tackles and batted down potential scoring passes, and his defensive play has in large measure been responsible for Winchester's unbeaten status. Yes, Joe has done his part, less spectacularly than some of this team-mates, and best of all he has finished the season with a much sounder knee than any one could have expected.

In this connection permit us to doff our battered fedora to Trainer Lou Goddu, who performed little short of a miracle with Donlon, whom the Coach, it didn't expect to see much of any action, offensive or defensive, after his injury before the Milton game. Lou's work with all the members of the team has been a tremendous factor in the Indians' unbeaten season and the way he returned to action all the boys suffering with "hip-pointers" after the Reading game is proof positive of his genius. How fortunate the team is to have "Lou" only those close to his work can know.

It was heart-warming to see the boys carry Coach Knowlton off the field after the game, a fine tribute to a deservedly popular and capable teacher of the right kind of football. In his twelve seasons at Winchester he has produced three unbeaten teams; this year's, the team captained by Bill West in 1942 and the 1946 team, captained by Bill's "little brother", John. John's team was tied once by Belmont, but the '42 club, thanks to the individual brilliance of its captain, got through with a perfect record.

Strangely enough it was Stoneham that nearly upset the applecart in 1942, just as it was Stoneham that held Winchester to its lowest score this season. In '42, however, Stoneham was ahead with only a few minutes left, only to have West miraculously complete a pass from Franny Poirier for the winning touchdown.

Getting back to the game, wasn't that first touchdown drive of "Jocko" Serieka's a thriller? Once he got out in the open he moved past the Woburn boys like a speedboat going by a tug. He had to work harder for his nullified punt-return touchdown, a really brilliant bit of individual cleverness, and it is a shame that a very close call on a clipping penalty spoiled the effort.

Griffin, too did some classy running on his touchdown jaunt, a 51 yarder, and that 29 yard dash to the Woburn one, starting the second half was a corker. A very fast whistle recalled the ball, but Winchester scored on the same sequence when Michelsen swept easily from the eight.

It's a good job there was no flag down on that scoring rush by Errico. The Winchester rooters would really have blown up if that had been called back.

Incidentally, Coach Knowlton thought the game was well officiated, even though his team suffered from the zealousness of the whistle-tooters. At least the white pants called them quickly and decisively. There was nothing like that slow-motion goal-line jelloer at Woburn a year ago.

We thought Johnny Atkinson played a bang-up good game at end for Winchester the holiday, his best of the year. "Howie" Amundsen, was steadily good, also, as he has been all year. This big boy has been outstly effective at his left tackle slot, and has meant much to Winchester's line.

Too bad "Prep" Keyes couldn't have been in there against Woburn. "Prep", who was on the scouting tower Thanksgiving, was headed for his best season when he was injured in the Framingham game. He had been Winchester's best lineman to then.

It's too bad the Woburn rooters booed Murphy for tackling Rosa high. Two Orange blockers gave him "Anchor" no option and he really made that particular play well. He was not to blame for an unsound Rosa!

And as for rubbing it in! Nothing like it! Winchester could have run up a lot higher total had Coach Knowlton cared to keep his first stringers in action. He did get his seniors back in during the second half when Woburn threatened, and what coach wouldn't. Those kids were playing their last game for Winchester and naturally didn't want to see Woburn score. Would the Orange have kept their good boys on the bench and given Winchester a touchdown had conditions been reversed? Hah!

Well, it's over for another season, but the arguments will long rage over what the outcome would have been if Woburn could have fielded its best team on Thanksgiving. Woburn rooters, of course, believe Woburn would have won with McLaughlin and Soave and Kerrigan in there, and point to the yardage rolled up against Winchester with a makeshift Orange backfield.

Woburn did make 141 yards, but practically every team that has played Winchester has moved the ball well against the Indians, particularly between the 20 yard markers. This year's club has been an offensive, not a defensive club, yet only Framingham, a weak team that was not taken seriously, could score more than once against Winchester, and this against second string opposition. The Indians blanked four teams this season and over the first five games had yielded 19 points to 26 for Woburn.

Commuters' Column

Midnight is Pay Day

My seat mate on the 7:58 was chiding me for carrying an umbrella on such a clear picy Fall day. I explained I was merely returning a loan, even though it had been kicking around our closet for at least four months. This brought up the subject o- general lending and borrowing, but after a few minutes of getting nowhere, my friend pointed out the window and remarked: "Look we're talking small stuff. How about that Santa Fe box car on the siding? Is that ent to the B and M, borrowed, appropriated, or what?" That was too deep for me, so we called in Jack the conductor, to set us stra ght.

Jack grinned knowingly. "A good question," he said, "tha car's not borrowed — it's rented. We pay the owner $1.75 for the use of every car of his that's on our line at midnight, loaded or empty. Of course if it comes to us after midnight and we can get it of. our lines before the next midnight, we don't pay anything. Midnight is pay day, so to speak, and having a definite time like that makes bookkeeping much easier."

"That sounds simple enough," spoke up my friend, "but how do the railroads know just where their cars are every midnight?" "They don't" Jack replied. "All they have to know is what railroad their car is on. You see, every time a freight car is delivered to another railroad, the delivering railroad reports the delivery to the owner, whereupon the owner looks to the receiving road for payment until that line in turn reports delivery to another road. This report is called an interchange report made by the agent at the interchange point to the Accounting Department and settlement is made to the car owner accordingly."

"The way you explain it, that sounds simple enough," I said, "but as a matter of curiosity, how many freight cars are there in the United States?"

Jack laughed. "About 2,000,000. Anyway, there's a lot of bookkeeping in keeping track of all those cars."

"Probably another system you people have worked out," said I.

"It really works, too," the conductor nodded.

The response to our appeal was heart-warming, and we appreciate it.

Mr. Fitzgerald outlined some of the reasons which had prompted the Selectmen to establish the bus terminal on Common street, citing the danger to pedestrians under the old multiple stop system, the difficulty of parking buses in the old stops at Hevey's and Foley's, the congestion and possible danger caused by buses projecting from partially blocked stops into Mt. Vernon street and the complaints of merchants that their doorways were being blocked by bus commuters. In addition he said under the old multiple stop plan less parking space for cars was available on the crowded east side of the railroad crossing.

Under the new system the Selectmen believe danger to pedestrians is lessened by eliminating their need to cross busy traffic lanes. They also feel the new system eliminates the old traffic bottle neck on Mt. Vernon street at the entrance to the square, which often could prevent the passing of fire apparatus; and provided needed additional parking space on the easterly side of the tracks. There are 1,700 commuters estimated to use the bus terminal each day, according to Eastern Massachusetts Railway figures.

The Selectmen, Mr. Fitzgerald explained, after a trial of the new arrangement voted to make the Common street terminal permanent October 29 and it wasn't until after their decision that the expressed opposition occurred.

No one spoke in support of the Common street terminal idea. Heard in opposition were Mr. Keelin, Mr. Parker, Mrs. Smith, Miss Smith, Mrs. Turner, Mr. Cronin, Mr. Forbes Smith, and Mrs. Woodside. Others heard who expressed sentiment neither way were Mr. Corey, Mr. Hewis, Mr. Gallagher and Mr. P. T. Foley.

Mr. Foley attempted vainly to convince the meeting that when he had asked the Selectmen for relief from commuters making a nuisance of themselves in the doorway of his office and Lyceum Building he did not mention buses in any way, and cared not at all where the bus stops might be. In this he was corroborated by Mr. Fitzgerald who denied that the Board changed the bus stops solely because of Mr. Foley's complaint.

Among the arguments of those opposed to the new bus terminal were: that the convenience of those using buses for round-trip fare should not be subordinated to all other considerations, that waiting for buses on the open common is a menace to health and safety, that making every one of the 1,700 daily bus-users cross the tracks is more dangerous than allowing only a part of the bus-users were obliged to do so, that there should be better coordination of the traffic lights and buses, that pedestrian nuisance to shop-keepers is a police problem and no good reason to disrupt a bus system.

It was also argued that people are being locked in buses crossing the center while trains to Boston speed away, resulting in commuters being late to work, altogether too often; that if people can not get to trains on time, they will find other means of getting to the station than the buses, resulting in a substantial loss of revenue to the bus company and poorer service; that the Selectmen haven't observed the operation of the new system during the busy hours between 5:15 and 6:15 p. m., and that bus riders should not be inconvenienced for the relief of one man, who knew what conditions were when he bought his property in the square.

Mr. Keelin voiced the belief that the bus companies have lost business since the inauguration of the new system and this was corroborated by a representative of the Eastern Mass. Mrs. Woodside prophesied that commuters will go to Arlington, Stoneham, Medford and Woburn to shop if the Common street terminal is continued.

UNITED TO MEET A CHALLENGE

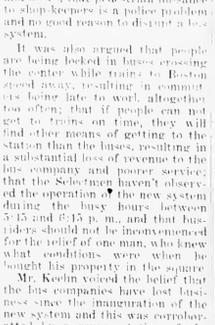

OPPORTUNISM and gross selfishness are fast leading us to a complete demoralization of national morale. This can be stemmed only by a rebirth of Christian principles.

Our churches are the vehicles through which those principles can be made to live.

But lip service alone will not give them the strength and virility needed to meet this challenge.

Believing that the local community is the place at which the beginning must be made — and that a union of effort and talents must be productive of better results — we are banded together to make known to our fellow churchmen their responsibility in providing the means by which the church can meet its responsibility to our civilization and to you.

YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

Although Thanksgiving dinner is now just a pleasant memory, Christmas and New Year's will soon be here. Are you looking for some new recipes this year? You will find a large collection of cookbooks on display at the Public Library. Let's look at some of the titles — "The Country Cookbook", "Flavor's The Thing", "The Christmas Cookie Book", "For Men Only", and "Martha Washington's Cookbook".

If you are giving a formal dinner, read "Formal Dinners" by Julia Gooding. Or if you plan a buffet supper, look at "Serve It Buffet", by Florence Richards Broebeck.

For something different there is a collection of books on foreign cookery, such as "Recipes Of All Nations", by Countess Morphy.

You can see that your taste in foods will be met by the many cookbooks at the library.

Are you giving a party this holiday season? Your Public Library is featuring an exhibit on parties. It contains books and pamphlets on every type of social function. Looking over the exhibit, you will find "Entertaining Is Fun", by Dorothy Draper, in which the author discusses how to be a successful hostess. You will also find ideas for parties, and party decorations in pamphlets published by Dennison. For an informal gathering, there are books and pamphlets of games and stunts. When planning a party we have many ideas to help you. That's the library's way of saying "Have fun!"

ART ASSOCIATION DECEMBER EXHIBITION

The December Exhibition will be a collection of oils, water colors and prints, including lithographs both black and white and colored by Turq Bengtz an artist and instructor at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

Mr. Bengtz will open the Exhibition himself on Tuesday, December 4, at 8:00 p. m. in the Art Gallery at the Winchester Public Library and talk on the work of Contemporary Artists, with coloured slides to illustrate his subject.

With Mr. Pescheret's talk on Colour Etchings so recently behind us, it will be interesting to see how, if at all, coloured lithographs compare with the etchings, always provided that Mr. Bengtz intends to deal with them in his talk.

PRICELESS CONVENIENCE . . . for pennies

"Each local call you make . . . to the drugstore, cleaner's, grocery store or friends . . . costs but a few cents. Yet each one saves you time, saves you trips in the car, makes living easier."

Today your telephone is a bigger value than ever although rates have naturally been increased. In relation to the soaring cost of most things you buy, telephone service now takes a smaller part of your family budget than it did ten years ago.

Telephone service is truly a "bargain" — an outstanding exception to today's high prices.

Since his return to the Senate, his legislative interests have been many and diversified. Opposing waste and inefficiency he became the originator of the law which has set up the present Hoover Commission. Fighting for a rapid increase in military strength and advocating an Air Force of 143 groups instead of the 95 proposed by the Administration, he has succeeded in getting a substantial increase in funds for the Air Force. He is the leader in the whole movement to free stateless young artists, musicians to carry part of the load of combat in any future war and is the author of the Lodge Act to enlist aliens in the United States Army. As a member of the vital Senate Foreign Relations Committee he is recognized as the successor to the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg in the field of foreign relations. Of Senator Lodge's importance to the Republican party today we have only to consult the recent Gallup Poll published by Look Magazine which asked voters for their choice for President in case Eisenhower was not available. Lodge ranked first among Republican voters, second among independents, and third among Democrats.
The Winchester Republican Club feels privileged to have Senator Lodge as its guest on this occasion and to hear his timely remarks on "America's Position in the World".
Also brought to the meeting will be a Yuletide message by Mrs. Charles P. Howard of Boston. Outstanding leader among Massachusetts Republican women, Mrs. Howard has served as president of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts and has been a member of the Republican National Committee for Massachusetts since 1945. She organized the Women's Division of the Massachusetts Finance Committee, being the first woman on this committee, and most recently instituted a movement which led to inclusion of women as members of the National Republican Finance Committee.
The afternoon will be pleasantly concluded with a musical program of piano selections by Vietta Jonas of Winchester, brilliant 14 year old boy pianist.
Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds, president of the club, extends a cordial invitation to all members and their friends to attend this unusually interesting meeting.

PARENT—TEACHERS GATHERING AT FIRST BAPTIST

The Officers, Teachers and Parents of First Baptist Church School will gather this evening at 7:30 for a period of conference and discussion on ways and means by which First Baptist can make its rapidly growing Sunday School an even greater success.
Dr. Sargis Matson, newly appointed director of Christian Education for the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, will be the speaker. The evening will close with a period of fellowship and refreshments.

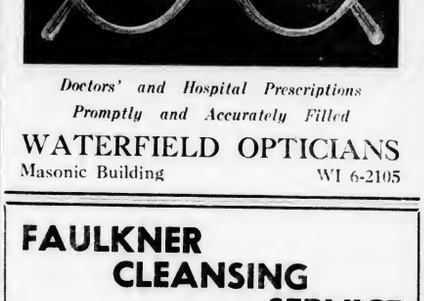

IT'S A SKIER'S WINTER

[illegible] cool [illegible] ready! There'll be skiing at Stowe this week-end, we hear, the practice slope at Cannon will be in operation and up at Cranmore the Weasel is at work on the South Slope getting ready for Saturday. They are ready for us — are we ready for them? What about equipment — any problems? Then, come and consult an expert. At the regular meeting of the Chamois Ski Club next week, Wednesday, December 5 at 7:30 p. m. at Chandler's Barn, 130 Forest street, "Alexis" from Sillans, France of Le Trappeur, Inc., will give a talk on ski equipment and he is bringing along samples to show us. Don't miss him if you want to feel right and look right on the slopes. Following this talk will be a short movie of the ski movie, "Nation of Skiers" and then — refreshments.
Last Wednesday evening the Chamois Ski Director met at Rolly's newly decorated Ski Hut. The beautiful ski wallpaper put us right in the mood for a movie evening. Guests arrived from Penn [illegible] the snow they left behind there and of an up-to-the minute modern ski lodge now ready to supply us with comfortable lodging and good food any weekend we trek to Cannon. Plans were made for an active Junior Program under the direction of Bill Davies. As soon as snow conditions are favorable instruction will be given every Saturday afternoon. A special Saturday meeting on equipment will be held soon for Juniors and their parents. Watch for announcements.
Roll Low. Windjammer 4-0726 is ready to receive any more used skis, bindings, poles, boots, etc., which you would like to donate to the equipment pool. If you have grown out of your own equipment or if you are just going to begin to ski and need a smaller size which someone else has grown out of consult Bob and find out what is now available in the Chamois Pool.
After the business of the evening was completed coffee and doughnuts were served and Bill Davies showed a short film on the winter Olympics followed by Ski Chase.

CHRISTMAS MAILING

With the advent of the holiday season, Postmaster Gilgun has again this year increased the service at the local post office.

Starting on next Monday and continuing until December 24, the post office will open for stamps and parcel post at 7 o'clock. This will enable those trying to catch trains to get their packages started before they go to work. Mr. Gilgun feels that this will enable many to mail early who would otherwise be unable to do so. The office will close as usual at 6 o'clock.

It is well to also remember the stamp machine which has been in the post office lobby the last few years. This machine dispenses stamps in lots of five. You may get five one-cent stamps, five two-cent or five three-cent stamps here at no extra cost. All you need is the correct change. You may use this machine at any time the lobby is open, which means all year from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and on Sundays from 3 to 5 p. m. Many people have never realized this.

Speaking of stamps, the rate of first class mail is still three cents. There has been no change. This means your Christmas card will receive the same service as usual, either being delivered at the address given or forwarded as many times as is necessary to reach the addressee. If you are uncertain of an address, be sure to put your return address on the back. In this way you will be sure that it either reaches it's destination or is returned to you. Be sure to put a street address on as no directory can be given.

If you are certain of an address, you may still use a two-cent stamp for your Christmas card if you do not seal it. This must be delivered at the address given and cannot be forwarded.

Packages for the west coast should now be sent Special Handling to reach their destination for Christmas. Others should be sent as soon as possible to avoid the rush. They may be marked "Do not open until Christmas" if you wish. It is just as easy for the addressee to keep them until Christmas day as for you to. This will help you, the addressee, and the package will arrive in time and in good condition.

So please mail early.

BROAD TESTING PROGRAM FOR HIGH SCHOOL SOPHOMORES

Guidance Directors at the High School last week sent letters to the parents of each member of the Sophomore class informing them of the comprehensive testing program now in use and enclosing a record of the pupil's scores.

In an attempt to secure all the information possible regarding the individual student, the guidance directors give a series of standardized tests to each sophomore. These tests are widely used and recognized throughout the entire country, and, though not infallible, they form a basis of comparison between students of the same age.

The tests given include the Science Research Associates Primary Mental Abilities Test, the SRA Reading Test, and the Kuder Preference Record. Other tests relating to specific subjects are used in individual cases.

The Primary Mental Abilities Test is designed to find out whether a student tends to do better in languages, reading, and similar areas or whether courses in mathematical, computational, or mechanical areas are easier for him.

The Reading Test is a test of reading speed and understanding, and, through its use, it is hoped to discover pupils with reading difficulties.

The Kuder Preference Record is aimed at discovering pupil interests in such areas as mechanics, art, music, and social services. Though a pupil's interest may not coincide with his abilities, it is recognized that people tend to do better in fields in which they are definitely interested.

During the next few weeks, Miss Barbara A. Blackstone and Mr. Norton E. Demsey, the guidance directors, will talk with each sophomore, discussing the test results and counseling with them regarding course and occupational choices. Interested parents are also cordially invited to visit the guidance office to discuss these tests.

GOOD HEALTH ASSEMBLY AT WYMAN SCHOOL

Good health was the important subject of a play presented by the pupils of Miss Patricia Doherty's Grade II on November 20. As one of their classroom activities the children have been studying about good health habits, and the play was an outgrowth of that study. All the pupils in the class participated.

Presented in rhyme and song, the play depicted a contest between the good-health fairies and the ill-health imps. Each fairy carried a poster bearing the title of the health habit about which he talked, while the trouble-making imps bore their unhappy messages. It wasn't long, however, before the troublemakers were routed by the champions of good health.

Recent Reference Books

The Encyclopedia Britannica World Atlas is a large atlas containing a tremendous amount of up-to-date information. It not only has maps of various countries of the world, but also has pages of statistical information. Just for an idea, from this atlas one can find out what the national population of a particular country is, what is the principal industry, what is the capital city, and what is the population of that city. Besides that, it has a section which gives a comparison of forty rivers, but it does not include the Mystic River Bridge. It is not possible to describe all the possibilities of this useful reference book. Come in and really spend some time at your leisure with this atlas.

"The Handbook of Denominations" by Frank Mead is an alphabetically arranged handbook. It includes over two hundred denominations in the United States giving their history, doctrines, characteristics, and present status.

"American Novelists Today" by Harry R. Warfel is a good book to refer to when one wants to know something about the author of a recent book.

"The Oxford Companion to the Theatre" covers the theater rather thoroughly including all countries and all periods.

"The Dictionary of the Arts" by Martin Wolf contains terms used in all aspects of art, past and present and includes many words which don't appear in the ordinary dictionary.

"Handbook of Literary Terms" covers the chances of literature and is a useful addition for students of literature.

The Reference Room is always at your service to help you locate the information you want. Or if it is more convenient, phone the library and ask for the Reference Librarian.

CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR CHILDREN'S HAVEN

A Christmas Party for twenty-five youngsters from Children's Haven — a party with a real Christmas tree, gifts, candy canes, carols, and a roast turkey dinner — will be given on Wednesday evening, December 12, at 6:30 at Parish Hall, First Congregational Church, by the Professional Women's Guild.

Last year the Guild undertook as one of its "philanthropy projects" a Christmas party for children who might otherwise be without much Christmas cheer. With the assistance of Mr. Walter Hodges of Children's Haven, twenty-five little boys and girls were invited to come to the Guild's party. Candy, toys, mittens or clothing for each child, and a nourishing supper were provided by the members, and while the children had a wonderful time, it was the members who had a far better time! So much so, that they wanted to have the party again this year.

Under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth McWha, a turkey dinner will be provided for the children (for members too, but the members will have to pay for theirs) and gifts will be given to each child. Mrs. Ruth Hilton is in charge. Children from four to 12 years of age. The members dinner, and reservations will be guests that evening, cations must be made by the with some of the teachers from members before December 9. This Children's Haven. THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

On Monday afternoon the Literature Group of the Fortnightly met at 2:00 p. m. at the Public Library. In the absence of Miss Kimball, the Chairman, Mrs. Blanche Barnard opened the meeting and introduced Mrs. J. E. Downes. Mrs. Downes gave a five minute review of "Turn West Turn East" by Henry S. Canby. She talked briefly about the author and some of his other books before she reviewed the current one.

Miss Gertrude M. Hall gave a lengthy but interesting paper on Virginia Woolf — Novelist. She fairly clearly followed summary first told something of Virginia of Virginia Woolf's "Her work is Woolf's life and her environment, evidence of her search for the. She helped in many ways during the war. In the London papers April 2, 1941 she was reported as missing and be- lieved to be drowned. On April 5, her body was found. Miss Hall reviewed some of her books very well. Some of them were Jacob's Room", "To the Lighthouse", "Mrs. Dalloway", "In the Waves", "Be- tween the Acts", and others. Miss Hall's presentation and reading of descriptive passages held her au- ditorium spellbound.

ARTHRITIS AND RHEUMATISM FOUNDATION

Few people realize that in Massachusetts, annually, over 40,000 persons are completely disabled and over 110,000 people are suffering to a lesser degree from rheumatoid diseases. Apart from the suffering involved, the loss of manpower is an important economic problem, particularly at the present time.

Arthritis is the most frequent cause of chronic disability. Rheumatism is more common than tuberculosis, diabetes, cancer and heart disease combined.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation was organized in 1948 to combat this situation. Great progress has been made in the use of the new hormones, ACTH and cortisone and the Foundation's annual quest for funds has just opened with a goal of $75,000. Massachusetts' share is $2,850.00.

The objectives of the Foundation are threefold: to promote research, to support and sponsor clinics, and to train established physicians in new methods of treatment.

Contributions, payable to the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, may be sent to Raymond Holdsworth, Winchester Chairman, 13 Lawson road, Winchester.

S. & F. 50th ANNIVERSARY

The firm of Stone & Forsyth, of which the late Edward H. Stone of this town was one of the two founders, is observing its 50th anniversary this month. Founded in 1881 with modest offices at 60 Federal street, the firm has grown and prospered. Mr. Robert M. Stone, a lifetime resident of Winchester is Board Treasurer of the firm, holding the post formerly occupied by his father.

MISS BALDACCI IN OVERSEAS CALL TO FAMILY

On Sunday, December 2, at 6:30 p. m. (12:30 a. m. Italian time) Mrs. Anna Baldacci received a short, but happy telephone call from her daughter Elmira who is attending art school in Florence, Italy. For the first time in 27 years Mrs. Baldacci also spoke to one of her brothers Nando Romagnoli in whose house her daughter is a guest. In these few moments Mrs. Baldacci got a thrill never to be forgotten.

Time wouldn't permit much more than salutations and best wishes for the coming holiday season.

Miss Baldacci also spoke brief words with her father Gaetano, her brother Gus, Jr., and a friend Miss Theresa Cocuzzi. Miss Baldacci who left for Italy October 1, is kept quite busy between her school studies, her relatives, and her letter writing to family and friends. Miss Baldacci receives the Winchester Star and writes of feeling right at home after reading an issue of her home town paper.

The Belmont Citizen for Friday, November 23, in a discussion of parking conditions in that town, published a picture of Winchester's parking lot along the river below Winchester Station and cited the local community as a good example of what a community can accomplish in the way of bettering parking conditions, both for shoppers and those who have to park all day.

LEGION OFFICIALS TO GATHER IN WINCHESTER

In what is expected to be a history making event in Legion circles is scheduled to take place at Winchester Post No. 67, The American Legion, on Sunday, December 16, 1951 at three p. m. On this occasion Winchester Post will play host to the entire executive committee of the department headed by the Department Commander J. Leo Ash of Fall River.

This meeting is being held in Winchester under the sponsorship of Middlesex County Council and largely through the efforts of Robert F. Murphy, Past Commander of Winchester Post, and presently serving on a County level as Senior Vice Commander.

The entire Legion program of the future will be discussed by the Executive Committee and plans made for the further development of the many committees both on a Post, County, State and National level. One of the major programs now before the American Legion is the Rehabilitation of the Korean veterans which will be discussed at this time.

Plans are being made by Winchester Post No. 67 to entertain between three and four hundred Legionnaires at this meeting with many of the local members also in attendance.

APPOINTED ON TUFTONIAN

Nancy Nutter and James Quine of 3 Black Horse Terrace and 14 Grayson road, Winchester, respectively have been appointed Staff Associates of the undergraduate literary magazine of Tufts College in Medford, the Tuftonian.

Miss Nutter is a senior at Jackson, the department for women in Tufts. She is a member of the Dramatic Honor Society, 3P's and is active in theater work. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Nutter, she was graduated from Winchester High School in 1948.

THE TARRS HONORED

The Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church staged a special party last Friday evening to honor Rev. and Mrs. Donald Tarr, who have been so successful in directing the Forum for the past three years, and who left this week for wider fields in Battle Creek, Michigan.

Under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Tarr the Forum has increased its membership to 170 enthusiastic young people whose activities and spiritual development have won nationwide recognition as a youth group. The departure of the Tarrs is a grievous loss to the Forum and the members did their best at the party to express their gratitude and admiration.

The social hall of the church had been handsomely decorated by the Decorations and Social Committees under the leadership of Jenny Meigs and Judy Higgins, and Jackie Chapman's Poster Committee displayed on all walls pictorial and graphic records of Forum's accomplishments under the Tarrs. Mementoes of the trips to New York, Philadelphia and Washington and the Spring Conference at Lake Mohonk, N. Y., were also featured.

The entertainment program got off to a good start with group singing directed by Forum's magnetic, old-time friend, Rev. "Bill" Valentine. Dotty Brandt, Forum alumna, with Janet Macaulay at the piano, charmed the audience with her clear soprano and pleasant ingenuousness. Sona Norian and her Forum Glee Club followed with two happily apropos numbers and brought down the house with their rendition of "We Can't Give You Anything But Love, Mr. Tarr." Sally Cunningham demonstrated her smooth skill at the keyboard with numbers dedicated to the guests of the evening, and Bob Burnham had the place jumping with his lively tunes on the harmonica to which he gave the full treatment.

Short speeches were made by Brad Johnson, Judy Higgins, Dan Blanchard, Midge Dexter and Leon Fernandez. They represented the freshmen, sophs, juniors, seniors and alumni, expressing the thanks and good wishes of their groups. An enjoyable contribution was made by Doug Hawkins with his droll presentation of his findings for the future of the Tarrs and for members of the senior class in his "red, hot crystal ball." Swami Hawkins really rang the bell with his unmistakable description of how Mr. and Mrs. Tarr would organize the young Indians of the Michigan frontier into a Forum!

The Tarrs were then called up to receive a "small token" from the Forumites and it proved to be a $50 Bond, but before they were allowed to express themselves Forum officers brought in a large, beribboned package which proved to contain a very beautiful mahogany Seth Thomas mantle clock, equipped with Westminster chimes and suitably inscribed: "To the Tarrs, in remembrance of all you have done for us. The Forum, November 1951." Hardly had the Tarrs recovered from this evidence of the Forum's affection when Mr. Leon Fernandez, Chairman of the Forum Advisers, claimed the floor to express the gratitude of past and present advisers and friends of the Forum. Mrs. Fernandez and Mrs. Ralph Swan then brought in beautifully packaged gifts, found to be a large mirror Lady Susan and a beautiful silver service complete with large tray, coffee pot, tea pot, cream pitcher and sugar bowl.

After all this it was a wonder that the Tarrs could find their voices as they did in such heartwarming fashion to express their devotion to the Forum and their appreciation of their opportunity to work with the group. They extended to Forumites, one and all, a warm invitation to visit them in Michigan.

Everyone present agreed with Dick Rush, President of the Forum and emcee of the party when he closed with the remark, "We sure are going to miss you, Lucky Bet-the Greek." Refreshments of cider and doughnuts and jukebox dancing closed the occasion.

Forum Notes

Sunday, November 25, at 5 o'clock, the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church gathered for their regular monthly supper and meeting in the Church Social Hall. Mr. Quentin Leisher's talk was very enlightening and instructive. At the close of the business session all members joined with the Tarrs for a worship service in Ripley Chapel. A most impressive candlelight service was written and presented by the Forum. As each one left the service he carried with him the light of Forum which has burned brighter because of the touch of Ruth and Donald Tarr.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL DADS' NIGHT

On Tuesday, November 20, at 7 P.M., the George Washington School opened its doors for Dads' Night and from then until 8:15 the classrooms were humming with activity as the room mothers greeted parents who had an opportunity to talk to the teachers and to see the pupils' work folders and the attractive wall and board arrangements featuring language, writing, arithmetic, social studies and art projects. Each teacher wore an attractive corsage of yellow pompom chrysanthemums presented by the mothers' association.

At 8:15 the dads and mothers assembled in the auditorium and enjoyed the unusually fine speaker of the evening, who was introduced by Mrs. James de Revere, program chairman. Dr. John Furbay, director of TWA's global air world education, spoke on the educational implications of the air age and drew on his own varied experiences in education and in government and world organizations to point out that the world is changing, whether we want it to or not, and that our children will look to us for help in understanding this smaller world. The air age is opening up vast areas of the so-called backward countries in central Africa, central South America and the Orient; our children will have to live in this smaller world which is absorbing these newly emerging peoples (estimated at two-thirds of the world's population) and they will look over the whole world as one territory.

Because of the president's illness, the first vice-president of the mothers' association, Mrs. Robert Low, presided at the well-attended meeting. After Dr. Furbay's speech, refreshments were served in the kindergarten room by Mrs. John Coakley and her social committee.

GEORGE WASHINGTON DADS' CLUB PACK 9 NEWS

Earl Haney, local resident and one time real Western Cowboy, was the highlight of the last Pack Meeting, held in the school auditorium. His interesting demonstration of roping, and his accounts of riding experiences and techniques delighted the Cubs, and the parents, who packed the hall. In a more serious vein he gave some very valuable lessons in the proper use of firearms. A question period followed, and boys and parents alike asked him many questions on his various experiences.

A new note was added to the Pack Meeting. A gold Loving Cup, for the Den having the best parent attendance at Pack Meetings, was presented to Den Four (4). Col. Ralph Richards made the presentation. The new Attendance Prize will be kept in the Den Headquarters for this month, and the boys are determined to keep it permanently there.

In keeping with the theme of the month, Den 6 gave a very interesting puppet skit, and Den 3, in honor of Earl Haney, put on a Cowboy skit.

Cubmaster, Louis Bravaccos, welcomed into the Pack four new boys, using the effective and impressive Candle-Light Ceremony. The new Cubs are Richard deRevere, Robert Gillotte, Peter Ives, and William Johnson.

LINCOLN SCHOOL ASSEMBLY

A television story entitled Thanksgiving Eve was the assembly program presented by the pupils of Mrs. Helen Corcoran's Grade VI on November 30.

Scene I, a family setting, brought Thomas Reynolds, Carol Monsen, Edwin Carter, and Henry Hansen to the stage.

Scene II, in the radio-television station, introduced Gregg Wood, as the announcer; Gordon Lavelle and Dominic Serratore, as two spies; David Gavostes, as William Bradford; and Phyllis Russo, Carolyn Hutchings and Kathryn Eden, as the singing congregation.

In Scenes III and IV, the historical figures of Myles Standish, Samoset, Massasoit, Squanto, William Brewster, and other Pilgrims were presented by Peter Gowing, Peter Rainey, Gordon Lavelle, Cosimo Passonessa, Dominic Serratore, Martha Fish, and Timmy Amundsen.

An interesting part of the program was the Indian dance, coached by Mary Baker, and performed by Kathryn Eden, Clara Hewis, Phyllis Russo, and James Lindsey. The producer and program announcer was James Falzano and the stage manager was Joseph Flaherty.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following list of Contagious Diseases was reported for week ending Thursday, November 29.

WINCHESTER IS A GENEROUS TOWN

Once again Winchester has proudly and generously upheld its reputation by giving $55,000 to the United Red Feather 1952 campaign. Advance Solicitation, Industry and Banks, Retail Trade, and Precincts I, II and III, all followed the pattern of the overall campaign in raising more money than last year, an excellent achievement in the face of the usual bugbears of higher taxes, higher costs, and other drives.

Good spirit and good fellowship are more important than names in any all-out community effort. This was shown especially in the delegation of thirteen which attended the final beans and fish cakes dinner at the Copley Plaza on the 21st — the largest group from any town in Greater Boston. However, one name was particularly important on that occasion, that of Miss Helen Monroe, who was given a seldom-awarded Red Feather pin by the Winchester chairman, as a symbol of the hard work and good spirit so essential in continuous community service.

This keynote of community spirit was sounded all over town: the Girl Scouts, in addition to spearheading the Retail Division, lent furnishings from the cabin for the campaign office, local merchants hauled it back and forth, the District Nursing Board helped man the office, the Boy Scouts delivered fliers, a Cub Den sorted all unused material for return to Boston, the high school solicitors, speakers, singers, and band have all worked together to make it a big, Big, BIGGER Red Feather.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

On Monday, November 26, The Fortnightly held the regular meeting at 2:00 p. m. in the Masonic Hall. Our President, Mrs. Kenneth Hiscoe called the meeting to order by asking the members to rise and sing the first verse of "America The Beautiful" followed by the Pledge to our Flag. Mrs. Lora Rhodes read the invocation. The order of business followed.

We were very fortunate to get a real first hand Woman's Impression of the State Legislature from Miss Martha Ware. Our speaker was graciously introduced by Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes. She told how Miss Ware carried on her campaign, to win her place in politics, from her bedside in Childrens Hospital while stricken with polio-myelitis. Much praise is due Miss Ware to have had so much courage to undertake such a fight under these difficulties. Miss Ware's talk was really an eye opener to many of us, when she told of the politics involved in the passing of some bills. She gave high praise to Mr. Harrison Chadwick.

At the conclusion of her talk Mrs. Hiscoe introduced Miss Sybil Daniels who showed us pictures "From Sea to Shining Sea." Miss Daniels had on display her tent and all her camping equipment used while taking these pictures this summer during the nine weeks of her cross country tour with three other ladies. Her beautiful pictures from the Atlantic to the Pacific made us appreciate even more our own United States and the wonderful opportunities it holds for us all. Naturally her pictures inspired us to take just such a trip as she had taken, and I wish we all could.

In addition to Miss Gertrude Hall's talk on "Virginia Woolf" at the Literature Meeting to be held at the Library Monday, December 3, Mrs. J. E. Downes will give a five minute book review of some current book.

LOBINGIER EXHIBITION POPULAR

The pictures by Elizabeth M. Lobingier shown the past month at the Library under the auspices of the Winchester Art Association have attracted many persons to the Art Gallery and aroused much favorable comment. Some of the attendance could of course stem from the fact that Mrs. Lobingier is a resident of Winchester, living on Manchester road, and is the wife of Rev. John L. Lobingier, who is also well known in town. The popularity of her pictures, however, rests squarely upon their solid worth. They constitute a good show by any standard you care to apply.

One's first reaction upon entering the gallery is, here is a group of pictures that would be easy to live with. The colors are restful, natural and skillfully chosen as a means to an end, not as a sine qua non, while the versatility of the artist is apparent in the various mediums she handles so well.

Mrs. Lobingier paints with equal authority in oils or watercolors, and in this show she has two or three subjects in the new casein medium. There is also a most interesting group of pictures done with ink, using a brush in place of a pen.

Outstanding in this group are "Rockport Roofs" and the prize-winning "Windblown — Maine Coast", a study of twisted trees that is full of atmosphere; and there is a nostalgic charm in the study of the railway station at North Conway.

The casein studies, "Connecticut River Farm" and "Rocks and Sea", a semi-abstract, are models of this new art medium, while the latter and its true abstract namesake have proven very popular with abstract enthusiasts, and those who are feeling their way in this relatively new field.

Mrs. Lobingier's abstracts, and there are several in the show, are beautiful examples of color and design and even a scoffer has to admit he can follow the idiom the artist is using as a means of expressing her feeling for her subject. There is for instance real beauty in that "Sunset on Rockport Harbor" with its boat prows and furled sails.

The gem of the conventional studies is "Twin Lights" a watercolor of a foggy day along shore with sleek flat water and spectral shapes looming through the mist.

Mt. Washington from Intervale is still another arresting study with its snow-clad peak and distinguishing skeletal tree, and the blue sky artfully caught in the small pools of the marshy foreground.

"Rockport in July" shows a characteristic huddle of small houses shouldering up from the water and surmounted by a church spire. Still another church spire, stark white, is beautifully etched against evergreens in "Sharon, Vermont".

"Northeaster", a nice marine, is wholly without exaggeration and the ducks on the little pool add a homely touch to "Evening, Rockport". Another "long shore" study that is full of appeal is "Rockport Harbor" with its well done boats.

Yes, it's a rewarding show. Hope you didn't miss it!

EASTON ON ALL-MAINE

Harry Easton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Easton, 9 Seneca road, has been named right end in the All-Maine Football Team — as announced by the States Football coaches. The former Winchester High athlete has just completed his third year as a regular on the University of Maine Eleven, which had its first undefeated season in sixty years of football competition, and won the Yankee Conference and State of Maine Championships. Harry is President of the Maine Chapter of Beta Theta Pi and President of the Interfraternity Council.

TO DISCUSS MANAGER PLAN

The manager plan of town administration recently adopted in several of our neighboring communities and the object of study in Winchester at the present time, will be the subject of a Public Discussion, Monday evening at the High School Auditorium at eight p. m.

This thought provoking, informative meeting sponsored jointly by the League of Women Voters and the Winchester Kiwanis Club, brings to town two able speakers, qualified by experience in their respective fields to present the case for and against the manager plan.

Proponent of Town Management will be Mr. Robert E. Leighton, Town Manager of Danvers. Mr. Leighton, former Research Director of the Chamber of Commerce, Zanesville, Ohio and Manager of the towns of Barre and Randolph, Vermont, is a graduate of the University of Syracuse with a masters degree in Public Administration, and is presently serving his second year in the Town of Danvers.

Advocating continuation of the present system of town administration is Senator Philip A. Graham of Hamilton, Chairman of the Committee on Towns and members of the Committee on State Administration. Mr. Graham, a former town official, has recently debated the above in Dedham, ...

Following ... the two ... questions ...

Each of ... sponsoring this ... as Public Service and ... minded groups to ... interest and knowledge of Town affairs for the good of the community and it is with this thought that they invite everyone to come and hear.

BLOODMOBILE DAY CHANGED

A change in plans will bring the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Winchester on Friday, January 11, 1952, it was announced today by Mrs. James B. Coon, Chairman of the Winchester Chapter, Red Cross Blood Program.

Previously announced dates have been cancelled and the Bloodmobile Unit will be at the First Congregational Church from one to seven p. m. on the eleventh of next month.

Two hundred appointments must be made in the next month. Now that the Defense Department is aiding the Red Cross by backing a nationwide blood information program, it is hoped that this stepped-up publicity will prompt many new donors to call our local Chapter office at WInchester 6-2300.

Volunteers who wish to give blood in memory of those, or any particular person, who have given their lives in Korea for us may do so. However, this blood cannot be earmarked as such. The paper work to keep track of such donations through the laboratory processing and shipping would be impossible.

GLEE CLUB FEATURES CHRISTMAS MUSIC

The 12th Annual Winter Concert of the Mystic Glee Club to be held at the Winchester High School Auditorium on Saturday evening, December 8, will herald the approaching holiday season by featuring Christmas music. Among the selections programmed are the rousing carol "Deck the Hall", the lovely "How Far Is It to Bethlehem?" and the popular Waring arrangement of "Twas the Night Before Christmas". In addition, the Glee Club has added a new spiritual to its repertoire entitled "See That Babe In A Lowly Manger" which it is expected will take its place with the other spirituals which have been so well received in the past.

Keith D. Snyder will again conduct the club with the talented Mary Louise Middleton as accompanist.

Miss Harriet Hayes will be the guest soloist and she will be accompanied by L. Kenneth Manzer. Miss Hayes will also assist the Glee Club by singing the solo part in another Christmas selection "Go Tell It On The Mountain."

Indications point to another full house. A limited number of tickets is available.

AND THEY FOUND SNOW —

Rumors get around and it was rumored there was snow up in the North Country and Chamois Ski Club members have just been waiting to hear such tall tales. So last week-end Jim Greene woke up his Buick bright and early, unloosened the ski rack from its chains and with Rolly Naault, Doris Maxwell and Dana Philbrook set out for North Conway. The sun was out, the thermometer was rising—it was a beautiful day to wash the car, put on the storm windows, walk to church or take baby for a stroll. People on the streets stared at the car loaded with skis, shook their heads and muttered, "Queer lot, these skiers."

The ride from Winchester to Rochester was very disheartening. No signs of snow — nothing to break the monotony but those red plaid jackets and a few too many of them to be able to sit back, relax, and enjoy the ride. The Chamois Skiers wished, like the farmer who painted his cows this year so they wouldn't be mistaken for deer, that they too, had painted C A R on the Buick. Cheer up — they made it and at the end of the trail — snow — the real white stuff all over Cranmore Mt. — that is, almost all over — there were patches of grass, a little mud, and a few rocks here and there which put in rapid appearances as the day progressed. However, the Skimobile was running, there were lots of other "tetched skiers" to keep them company and the treks started up and down the North and South slopes — good practice work to get in condition for the long snowy winter ahead. Another Chamois-ite put in an appearance, Al Burkhardt. A few stem turns, started to unbend ze knees, a few bones cracked and groaned and the christies began to swing into action, here and there a stizmark — the season has begun.

(More next week on the Chamois Ski Club's December meeting).

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Despite this busy Christmas season you won't want to miss our next meeting on Tuesday, December 11th, when we will hold our annual Reception to New Members at 2 p. m. at Masonic Hall.

Following this we will have as guest speaker Helena Maxwell Dardis, prominent lecturer, who will speak on the subject dear to every woman's heart "Hats to Halos".

Mrs. Edward J. Gallacher is chairman of the day and tea will be served by Mrs. Joseph Burgatti and Mrs. C. Douglas Wheeler and their hospitality committee.

Now, remember, that's Tuesday the 11th at 2 p. m. at Masonic Hall.

Jottings from the Bazaar: The foyer of Masonic Hall was like a breath of spring with the Florist Shop set up by Mrs. Daniel Doherty and her committee and judging by the flourishing business they did all day there are many "green thumbs" among our members. Did you visit with gypsy Madam Know-It-All in the person of Mrs. William H. Perkins to find out if there is a tall, dark and handsome in your future? What fun to sort through the parcels in the Post Office and finally choose one to your liking! Reminded us of the grab bag days of our childhood. As usual the Pantry Shelf was laden with homemade delicacies and it's a testimonial to the good cooks among us the way everything sold out so early. Who could resist those exquisite dolls on the Doll Table and those nylon stocking bags were the cleverest things we've seen this year. The Apron Table did it's usual brisk business and we trust you are now the proud possessor of one of our beautiful Guild aprons. That fascinating place, The White Elephant Table, presided over by Mrs. McGaragle just had to be visited over and over again for who knew what new treasure had been brought in during the day. The many hours of work represented by the beautiful hand-painted ware and pictures in the Art Department were not in vain for this was one of the busiest spots all day. We hope you bought one of the well chosen books from the Book Department to give as a gift or to curl up and read yourself some rainy or snowy afternoon. What can we say to those overlooked members of the Snack Bar except once again our hats are off to you for the delicious luncheons served on all days to so many, many people.

And now to all workers, donors, buyers, everyone who contributed in any way to the success of our Bazaar a heartfelt "Thank you".

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

A capacity audience filled the hall of the Church of the Epiphany on Monday afternoon to greet Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Senator from Massachusetts. Mrs. Robert Wood Reynolds presided over the meeting and Mrs. J. Stanley Barker, program chairman, introduced Senator Lodge. A large number of distinguished Republicans were present at the audience including Representative Harrison Chadwick, Senator Robert P. Campbell, Ralph H. Bonnell, State Committeeman for the 6th Middlesex District, Mrs. Joseph L. Roberts, State Committeewoman for the 6th Middlesex District, Mrs. Charles P. Howard, Secretary of the National Committee, Mrs. William Kirlin, cochairman of the Massachusetts State Finance Committee, Mrs. Lyman H. B. Olmstead, President of the Massachusetts Women's Republican Club, and presidents from nearby Republican Clubs.

Speaking on "America's Position in the World Today", we find ourselves, Senator Lodge said, in an unstable world dominated by the machinations of the Soviet and in a country beset with corruption, scandal, and misdeeds in government. This deplorable condition within our nation has resulted from lack of intelligent foresight and competent leadership, from such disastrous blunders as demobilization in 1945, the partition of Germany and the Berlin debacle at the end of the war giving military and industrial advantages to the Russians, and our change of policy in Korea opening the way for communistic aggression which has resulted so far in approximately 100,000 American casualties.

Now again in the midst of one war and the threat of more to come, our country is woefully unprepared. We lack the man power to produce the materials necessary for immediate victory. Perhaps our greatest handicap is our inability to get into mass production more quickly the latest improved developments in aviation, especially the production of jet planes. Russia is said to be outproducing us three to one, we are outnumbered in Korea, and only our heroic and superior pilots are stabilizing the situation there.

A colossal failure of intelligent leadership has caused this condition. The remedy, Senator Lodge recommends, is to attain as quickly as possible military strength especially in an air force second to none; to take such action as necessary to reestablish confidence in the state department; and to build economic strength by controlling inflation and putting an end to waste in government.

We as Republicans must act immediately, doing what we can every day. We must fight the ideology of Communism with the philosophy of our Constitution that all men are created equal. "Only the Republican party can save America and at the same time save the future of liberty loving people everywhere," concluded the speaker.

Following Senator Lodge, Mrs. Charles P. Howard of Reading, Secretary of the National Committee, brought her annual Christmas message to the club. We must ever think of the season as a time of love and kindness, always remembering the lines from 13th Corinthians, "Faith, hope and charity, these three — the greatest of these is charity." In the world of today there are two ideologies; love against hate. We must rededicate ourselves to practising what Christ stood for — peace on earth, good will towards men.

The program was pleasantly concluded with a brief and charming recital by Victor Jonas of Winchester, talented young boy pianist.

At the social hour which preceded the meeting, Mrs. William Kirlin and Mrs. Lyman Olmstead poured, while Mrs. J. Howard Macaulay and her committee served a wide assortment of delicious desserts.

Mr. John D. West of Winchester has been appointed to the committee of local alumni of Lafayette College which will select a secondary school student in the greater Boston-Worcester area to receive a four-year full tuition scholarship to Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., it was announced today by Eugene H. Clapp, president of the New England Alumni Association of Lafayette College.

RIZZO ALL SCHOLASTIC CHOICE

Don Rizzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Rizzo of 37 Swanton street, was selected this year by Boston Globe schoolboy sports writers for one of the guard positions on the Globe's All Scholastic Football team, the first Winchester boy to make an all scholastic football team since "Bill" West was chosen by the Globe in 1942.

For Rizzo, being chosen for "all" honors was a much tougher hurdle than for West, who as a backfield star had been brought to the attention of sports writers for two years. Don had no such buildup, this being his first season of varsity play, and he had to show plenty to catch the writers' eye.

As a freshman Rizzo was a quarterback. He was switched to guard as a sophomore when his teammate, Jost Michelsen, was converted from guard to quarterback. Rizzo, however, didn't land with the varsity at the time of the change. As a matter of fact he was not especially out-standing during the two years he toiled as a middle lineman with the Jay-Vees under Ted Bartlett.

Plugging along steadily and absorbing the Bartlett teaching, Rizzo played when he could and listened when he was given the opportunity, to the end that when the big chance came last fall he was ready for it.

"Don", a senior, 5 ft. 9 in. tall and weighing 170, was chosen by Coach Knowlton as his starting left guard before the Milton game. There was never any doubt about who would fill that guard slot thereafter.

For the first few games "Don" was a bit over-shadowed by "Prep" Keyes, veteran right guard, who was playing great football, but in the Winthrop game Rizzo's great tackle of big Steve M[illegible] in the midst of a jump pass behind the line [illegible] The fan [illegible] interest was [illegible] by the great game Rizzo played at Stoneham, and from then on "Don" was continually breaking through to stop threatening enemy drives, his great play at Wakefield being repeated against Woburn and culminated by his selection as best Winchester lineman in the Thanksgiving Day game. His name will always be among those Coach Knowlton mentions when he's enumerating those he'll miss most next year.

Jimmy Griffin was chosen by the Globe as a reserve back on its "All" team, and both he and Rizzo were named to the Class B Honorary Team, Rizzo as guard and Griffin as fullback. Griffin's honor is also richly deserved, and there are few "T" fullbacks with much on this sturdy speedboy.

Other Winchester boys given honorable mention are Griffin's running mate in the Indians starry backfield, big "Jocko" Serieka, a loping greyhound who's as good as any, both breaking away from tacklers and in the clear, and some one by the name of "Baker" who was picked as a tackle. Whether the writers mean "Howie" Amundsen, dependable left tackle; Dave Keniston, veteran offensive right tackle; or big "Anchor" Murphy, Keniston's relief, only they know!

"THE DEAC" TO UMPIRE!

Captain R. Sheldon Hamilton of this town, now serving with the United States Air Force at Wright-Patterson Air Base in Dayton, Ohio, has been assigned to temporary duty for 90 days as a unit umpire in a joint Army-Air Force maneuver called "Snowfall", to be held at Pine Camp, N. Y., during January, February and March. He reports to Headquarters, First Army, Governor's Island, N. Y., January 10.

"The Deac" hopes to be in Winchester over Christmas. He saw the recent Ohio State-Illinois football game and reports for a scoreless tie it sure was a "rugged exciting" game. Incidentally "Shellie" believes Big Ten football is head and shoulders over the brand played in the Ivy League and by independent Eastern college football teams.

WINCHESTER HAD GREAT GRID SEASON

Indians Made First Perfect Record Since '12

Winchester High completed its first unbeaten untied football season [illegible] 1912 [illegible] Fells [illegible] Field [illegible] Coach Knowlton's charges [illegible] Winchester have to come from behind, and only at Stoneham did the Indians leave the field at half time scoreless.

Many believe this year's team is the best Winchester has had. Coach Knowlton has several times called it the best he has produced here. It surely had the most speed on one team we have seen in Winchester, and was far and away the most explosive. At any time any place this year's club was likely to get Serieka or Griffin into the clear, and when they did these two galloping gazelles either went all the way or so close to it the touchdowns were routine. Winchester, in the memory of this writer, has never had two backs on any one club to equal Griffin and Serieka. "Bill" West would be the nearest approach to "Jocko" and Jimmy past the line of scrimmage, but even the great "Bill", as a schoolboy, at least, never quite matched either their natural speed or shiftiness.

Right behind Jimmy and "Jocko" was Jost Michelsen who for a barrel-chested boy of 190 pounds could run like the devil. Bobby Flaherty could really fly from his right end slot, while little "Moosie" Bellino and Freddy Wheaton were real speed boys among the second stringers. Few varsity performers in past years have been faster.

We believe no club in Winchester's history could match the backfield strength of this '51 team, backs like Michelsen, Serieka, Griffin, Bob Johnson, the two Co-Captains, Joe Donlon and Dick Errico, among Winchester's finest defensive stars; Bellino, Wheaton and "Stu" Thomson. When you stop to think that boys like Donlon and Errico, who would have been offensive stars on many other teams, were limited for the most part to defensive roles, you begin to appreciate the offensive resources this year's team possessed.

This '51 team has been always an offensive-minded club, its theory being to score more than the opposition rather than break a leg trying to hold down the opponents' score. Many have remarked the ease with which opponents have moved the ball against Winchester this year. That has been true. The local line has been no wall of granite, but no opponent could move the ball well enough to beat Winchester, which is what counts, and only weak Framingham, a team the local boys simply refused to take seriously, could score more than once on the Indians.

As a matter of fact several of the touchdowns scored against Winchester could have been avoided had Coach Knowlton cared to use his first stringers more of the time.

As it is Winchester scored 246 points this year while limiting the opponents to 46. For ten games that's averaging better than 24 points while holding all opponents to an average of less than a single touchdown a game. That's good enough going.

[illegible] statistics [illegible] Winchester [illegible] downs [illegible] rushing [illegible] yards [illegible] In the [illegible] Indians did more damage than the enemy, completing 26 of [illegible] passes for 506 yards, while their opponents made 15 of 129 passes good for 1[illegible] yards. That's a completion average of about 41 percent for Winchester and not quite 12 percent for the opposition. This for a team that seldom passed because it didn't have to isn't a bad record at all, and shouts the lie to those who have claimed the Indians were suckers for passes.

Winchester drew a thundering lot of penalties being set back 3[illegible] yards to 135 for its opponents. If the whistle-tooters missed any of the Indians' infractions it wasn't by design, and at least five Winchester touchdowns were called back, in some cases by violations that were borderline to take the most charitable view.

Winchester played its best game of the year against Winthrop. On that day it would have taken a pretty good club to have beaten the Indians, who captured that peak only once again, during the first quarter against Reading.

Except for that flash, which netted three touchdowns and salted the Reading game away, the Indians were as good as they had to be. They scored with what looked like ridiculous ease, when they had to, and had they played against their opponents as they did against Winthrop they would have routed most of them.

Winchester was fortunate in losing only one key player with injuries. "Prep" Keyes, veteran guard and until his injury the outstanding lineman on the team, sustained side and lung injuries in the Framingham game that sidelined him for the season. His loss was very noticeable on plays up the middle.

Co-Captain Joe Donlon aggravated a basketball injury just before the Milton game and came up with a loose knee that pretty much limited him to defensive duty until late in the season. His Co-Captain Dick Errico was bothered with a leg bruise off and on, but lost little time, and Jimmy Griffin missed the Framingham game with an obscure shoulder injury. For the most part, however, the Indians were generally fit and ready, a tribute to the conditioning genius of their Coach and the skilled handling of Trainer Lou Goddu.

Coach Knowlton was assisted with this year's team by three new coaches, Frank Provinzano, former Winchester all-around athlete, Frank Finnegan and Edward Burns. Jack Mills was manager of the team.

Ends were John Atkinson and Bobby Flaherty; tackles, Howie Amundsen, Dave Keniston and Paul Murphy; guards, Don Rizzo, Fred Mottolo and "Prep" Keyes; and center, Frank Lentine. In the backfield were Jost Michelsen, quarterback; Co-Captain Joe Donlon and Ed Serieka, [illegible] Bob Johnson [illegible] and Co-Captain [illegible] Griffin [illegible] son, Flaherty, Amundsen [illegible] and Griffin [illegible] next year [illegible] McGowan and [illegible] Rooney and [illegible] Carter, Taylor [illegible] and [illegible] ner, Hai[illegible] and [illegible] backs, Thomson, Pratt, [illegible] Wheaton, Perkins, Biggs, Lindsey and Mahoney, [illegible] these, will be around next fall.

Following is the season's record:

Winchester	2[illegible]	Milton	0
Winchester	[illegible]	Swampscott	[illegible]

BANE HONORED AT TUFTS

Hills Heads Jumbo Tennis Team

T. Richard Bane of Glengarry, world's record holder in the 35 pound weight event, was awarded the Tufts Weekly "Athlete of the Year" trophy last Saturday evening at the annual Tufts Varsity Club Fall Sports Dance in Cousens Gym on the Tufts Campus.

Bane, now in the United States Navy, had a distinguished record as a weight-thrower while in college, breaking the college record in the 16 pound hammer-throw as well as the world record in the 35 pound weight. He also scored many points for Tufts in the shotput, and played on the football team.

Bane, a big two hundred pounder, was able to be present to receive his trophy from William Burns, president of the Varsity Club.

Besides Bane, another Winchester boy was honored at the dance, Richard Hills of Mason street being voted the most valuable member of the Tufts tennis team. Hills, a junior, was also elected Captain of the 1952 varsity tennis team.

FOOTBALL AWARDS AT BOWDOIN

Alvin G. Litchfield of Winchester, was one of 38 members of the Bowdoin College Football Team to be awarded Varsity letters for the 1951 season. A Guard for the Polar Bears, he is a member of the sophomore class and Psi Upsilon fraternity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin M. Litchfield of 8 Niles Lane, and is a graduate of the Middlesex School.

Also receiving football awards for the season were C. Russell Herrmann and Robert C. Burr, both of Winchester, who were awarded Freshmen Numerals. Burr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Burr of 50 Glen road and is a graduate of [illegible] Academy. Herrmann, a graduate of the Hackley School, is [illegible] son of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] of [illegible] Wildwood street. Both are members of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Winchester sport followers learned with interest that Bob Garvey, former Woburn High all around athlete, was recently elected co-captain of the Tufts football team for next year. Garvey, a 195 pound fullback, has been a varsity standout at Tufts for the past two seasons. His high school football team beat Sammy Bellino's [illegible] years ago on Manchester Field.

LEST WE FORGET

Editor of the Star

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

That is the oath tendered by the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court to Mr. Truman upon his induction into the presidency. How faithfully has he kept his promise? It is the duty of the President to enforce the laws whether he likes them or not.

James Michael Curley of Boston was sent to prison for violating a federal law. President Truman released and pardoned him, thus thwarting the Judicial Department of the government which he pledged to defend. He smeared himself in doing it.

When Representative Slaughter was defeated for re-election from the President's home district by the Pendergast machine, in an election "as crooked as a ram's horn," and when an enraged electorate demanded an investigation, the ballots were stolen one night from the county court house where they had been deposited for safekeeping, thus preventing a recount. Mr. Truman was sleeping five blocks away at the time; the police and sheriff were near. He was obligated by his oath of office to investigate the crime, and he should have done it swiftly and vigorously, but he refused to do his duty. "The frauds concealed by the ballot theft were perpetrated to carry out Mr. Truman's request for the purging of Representative Roger C. Slaughter," said an editorial in the Boston Herald, and "will forever go unpunished because the statute of limitations has run out." Again the President has smeared himself.

The New York politician Mr. Truman made ambassador to Mexico was accused of [illegible] by an [illegible] to be dishonest [illegible] should have been investigated because the character of any member of the diplomatic service should be above suspicion, but the President made no attempt to clear the reputation of his appointee.

Mr. Truman sent our armed forces to Korea without the advice or consent of Congress. "The United States is not at war," he said, "it is just police duty." Our boys were ill-equipped, unsuitably clothed, and when the frigid blasts of winter came, they were compelled to march into the freezing mud and sleet and snow. Their shoes wore out; their feet and hands froze, and the weaker ones froze to death. Bob Smith, a boy from Middleburg, Pa., lost both arms and both legs. While these splendid boys were freezing, Mr. Truman and his favorite cronies were basking on the sunny sands of Florida. "We are not at war," he reiterated; no war has been declared and he directed the military to inscribe the work "Korea" on the headstones of those killed in the conflict and buried in national cemeteries. There will be no notation of service on the markers as was made for the dead of World Wars I and II because there has been no "formal declaration" of war in Korea! Well, war is war and murder is murder by any other name.

General MacArthur, scholar, soldier, administrator, was fired without a hearing, conference or stated reason; without giving him time to bid his soldiers farewell. The announcement was made public before he knew of it; Mrs. MacArthur, subjected to the cruel shock of it, informed her husband.

The instances here recorded are but a few illustrating how Mr. Truman has [illegible] himself [illegible] demonstrated [illegible] [illegible] He [illegible]

[illegible] B [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] Eugene [illegible] Dailey Street [illegible] to have [illegible] again [illegible] the office of the presidency of the United States by a remark which the [illegible] leaders of America and [illegible] people [illegible]

Mr. William Bradford Huie of Silver Spring, Md., author and lecturer, said in an address at Portland, Me., sponsored by the Y.M.C.A.: "Truman is a wonderful man to go on a clambake with and some of the least incompetent men ever to be elected President of the United States." Mr. Huie visited Mr. Truman's home town and investigated him. His record revealed him to be a common, small town, good fellow on one side, and a Tom Pendergast politician on the other. His deeds since he became President show how closely he has followed his early training; a genial companion among his friends, a Pendergast-Curley type politician in his political career.

MORE FROM THE JOSLINS

This is being written Thanksgiving Day while we are flying from Tokyo to Okinawa and all cameras have been taken from us as no pictures may be taken on Okinawa.

We left Honolulu at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, November 18, and had an uneventful trip in a strato-cruiser to Wake Island, except for losing a day out of lives when we crossed the International Date-line near the Canton Islands and skipped from Sunday to Tuesday. Passing this imaginary line is like crossing the equator and upon passing each one is given an inscribed certificate for his moral courage in giving up a day of his life.

At Wake we saw the American Army Airlift in action, comprising hundreds of airplanes contributed by all the airlines of the United States to take troops and supplies, personnel and materials to Korea and Japan, returning with troops who have been injured or have completed their service. One plane was loaded with blood plasma. In talking to the service men we found those coming back from Korea were very happy while those on there way there had little to say.

Wake has an area of four square miles, without trees, grass or drinking water, all drinking water having to be distilled from sea water. The only growing green is the scabiosa which grows to the size of bushes and small trees. The weather is very humid, day and night, and the permanent residents are the traffic and operational crews who spend about six months on the island and then are relieved.

On the trip to Tokyo, a resident of Chestnut Hill was among the passengers and there were many Army wives and children going to join their husbands in Japan. The youngest passenger was a 13 months-old girl named Heather Heath, daughter of an Army doctor who had never seen her. What a meeting that was!

Arriving in Tokyo at 6:30 a. m. November 20, we found the chief beauty spot, after a hot dry summer, was the Imperial Gardens, where grew many beautiful chrysanthemums, some unlike any we ever saw in the States.

Tokyo's war damage is practically all repaired with new, but not tall buildings. The people generally are small, poorly clothed and seem improperly nourished. The yen which used to be 28 to the dollar now is 358.50 to the dollar. Stores appear to be full of goods with but few people buying. Food and accommodations at our hotel are good, but not fancy, though the hotel is supposed to be among the best.

We are closing this as we are about to land on Okinawa. Mr. Harry Worcester, Sr., will be interested to know all Pan American Clippers are equipped with Aladdin Knife Sharpeners. Tommy has acquired a Japanese copy of "Bambi" for Mrs. Dodge to read to the Wyman School third graders.

Sincerely,
Jane Caroline and Tommy Joslin

OF VITAL INTEREST

Editor of the Star

The undersigned would appreciate your publishing the enclosed letter. It tells of a project which is of vital interest to every citizen of Winchester.

The success of the United Nations depends upon the understanding and support of the people. We must learn about it, have faith in it, and support it, for our best hope for world peace rests in the United Nations.

Very truly yours,
Margaret P. Bunker

League of Women Voters of Winchester
Winchester, Massachusetts

Dear Citizens of Winchester:

The League of Women Voters is eager that Winchester join the growing list of cities and towns throughout the world which have a permanent "Town Committee for the United Nations." The primary purpose of such a committee would be a proper townwide celebration of United Nations Week in October, but in addition it might develop citizen knowledge of the United Nations the rest of the year.

This project of the League has been brought to the attention of the Selectmen and has received their blessing. At their suggestion, a group representing a number of Winchester's organizations met [illegible] and [illegible]

[illegible] meeting, December 6, is being [illegible] all [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] The meeting will [illegible] at 7:30 P. M. [illegible]

The League is pleased to announce that Mr. Harrison Lyman, Jr., has agreed to be moderator and that Mr. Dan H. Fenn, Jr., of the United Council of World Affairs will speak on the United Nations. Mrs. Henry Kidder of Concord will explain briefly the U. N. organization which has been set up in Concord.

If there is agreement at this meeting that such an organization is desirable for Winchester, it is suggested that a Temporary Steering Committee be voted which would then have the responsibility for contacting such organizations as find they are interested, and [illegible] plans for a permanent set up. The League is aware that each organization representative will need to return for consultation to his or her Board before making any commitments.

Here is a very practical step Winchester can take to join with people all over the world in strengthening the United Nations. Its aims are surely our aims. An active townwide committee can help to make them "more than a dream."

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Austin Bunker
International Relations Chairman
Mrs. Rodney Long

PUBLIC RESPONSE DISAPPOINTING

Editor of the Star.

A recent article concerning the spread of Rabies by dogs should be of interest to your readers.

For a number of years the Board of Health of the Town of Winchester has held six clinics to immunize dogs each year. Each year the public response has been most disappointing. Approximately only half of the dogs licensed in town have been brought to the clinic and some forty odd immunized by outside veterinaries.

The Board feels that there exists just as great liability due to this sorry showing as there would exist without any dogs being immunized. Consequently in the interest of economy, the Board is considering curtailing their activities in this respect. The present plan calls for three clinics in the Spring. Any further clinic will depend on public response.

Chandler W. Symmes,
Chairman Board of Health
Town of Winchester.

Ed. Note. The U. S. Public Health Service would very much like to have all dogs vaccinated against rabies, which is the only way to stop the disease. Rabies is a year-round disease which last year killed nine humans and 7,901 animals. The fact is rabies is spreading in the U. S., and getting the disease is more alarming than many think; because it may not strike down a victim quickly, but may come on many months after the bite and kill the victim. About 30,000 Americans annually are vaccinated because of rabies or suspected rabies, and the cost of humans and animals runs about five million dollars yearly.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS' COOPERATION

Editor of the Star:

May I, through the columns of the Star, express my appreciation of the cheerful cooperation of the Winchester Telephone operators in compiling the list of military addresses of Winchester Service men and women.

To complete this list has, to date, entailed well over five hundred telephone calls. It required twelve in one case to get the birthday and address of a single boy. These calls are over and above the load normally carried by our local switch boards and has meant much extra work for the girls, but the "Voice with the smile" never failed us.

Our telephone operators are valuable members of the Winchester Homefronters and the Telephone Committee is grateful for their help in making a time-consuming task pleasant and easy.

Cordially yours,
Edith L. Underwood,
Temp. Chairman
Telephone Committee,
Winchester Homefronters

FROM UNITED CHURCH CANVASS

Editor of the Star:

As a member of the publicity committee of the United Church Canvass I want to thank you for your cooperation in providing us generous space in your valuable news columns.

The spirit of cooperation promoted by the United Church canvass represents a valuable gain in inter-church understanding and fellowship as well as means of promoting financial support of the churches concerned.

The news space you gave us helped greatly in bringing home to the community the need of supporting the churches so they can increase their work.

Very sincerely yours,
Herbert Black.

Although auroras, or "northern lights," sometimes give the illusion of touching the ground, none has been measured at a height of less than 35 miles above the earth's surface, says the National Geographic Society. The highest, as measured by a Norwegian scientist, extended more than 600 miles above the earth.

CAR RAMMED BRIDGE

Three Medford [illegible] had a narrow escape from serious injury Tuesday evening when the automobile [illegible] they were riding struck the railway bridge that arches the Boston and Maine tracks over the road of sort that leads from [illegible] place out onto the Parkway [illegible] the old Bacon Felt Mill. There is nowhere near enough clearance for motor vehicles under the bridge.

According to the Police the automobile was owned and operated by Donald G. Proctoppas, 16, of 268 Boston avenue, Medford, who told the police he did not see the bridge until his car struck it, due to the foggy conditions.

Riding with him were Francis H. McCarthy, 15, of 219 Boston avenue, and Donald Richards, 17, of 94 North street, both of Medford. Proctoppas was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Officers Noonan and Boyle and treated by Dr. Arthur Jackson, who had to take several stitches in bad cuts in his hands.

McCarthy sustained a laceration over his right eye and Richards, a lacerated left hand. The car, a 1936 Ford was demolished and had to be towed away.

Railroad officials stated the tracks on the bridge had been slightly raised by the impact of the collision.

ARMY USING TENTS FOR SHELTER IN KOREA

The U. S. Army is using ideas developed by the American Indians, the Mongols and the Eskimos in its effort to provide troops sufficient shelter against severe Korean winter weather.

More than 30,000 five-man "hex tents" have been shipped to Korea and more are on the way. The tent is six-sided, with a lining and a special gasoline stove. It is designed to keep troops warm when the temperature is as low as 58 below zero.

The hex tent is shaped somewhat like an Indian tepee. It incorporates features of utility and comfort found not only in the tepee, but in Eskimo igloos and in the yurts, or felt tents of the Mongol tribes of Asia, says the National Geographic Society.

Wind Resistant

Both the tepee and the yurt are built to withstand strong winds. The yurt, with its round shape and dome top, actually is anchored, or driven toward the ground by wind. The conical shape of the tepee serves the same purpose.

The hex tent is also designed for windy areas. It is peaked at the top, like the tepee. But it resembles the yurt in its greater circumference in relation to height.

A compact gasoline stove is a decidedly better method of heating than the open fires of the Mongols and Indians, and the side vent for stove fumes is considerably more efficient than the smoke hole of primitive tents. The Indians had an arrangement of flaps at the smoke hole that could be adjusted to the wind by use of poles to control interior smoke.

Keep Out Drafts

The hex tent has a ground cloth to keep out cold winds and seal in warm air. The Mongols use rugs for the same purpose. The Indians stuffed dried grasses and sometimes buffalo hides around the bottom edges of their tepees.

The Army describes as an "outstanding feature" of the hex tent an inner lining which provides insulation and prevents frost from falling on inhabitants.

Many Eskimo igloos have animal skin linings that do the same thing. They provide an air space for insulation and they prevent drip on the occupants. The skin linings have still another use. They keep the snow of the igloo from melting too rapidly on the inside.

In construction, however, the army tent and the shelters of the Indians and the Mongols differ widely. The hex tent is, like the familiar army pyramidal tent, suspended from a center pole and held in shape by take guy lines. Its material is cotton twill.

The tepee was covered with buffalo hides, sewn together and stretched over a framework of poles [illegible] together [illegible] [illegible]

The yurt is built up [illegible] [illegible] made [illegible] [illegible] cord that attached to a [illegible] the center. Over this framework is placed wool felt, held in place by slings.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The Goddess of Liberty was dedicated by Grover Cleveland 65 years ago on October 28, says the National Geographic Society. The statue in New York harbor was a birthday present to the United States from France commemorating American independence.

Simon Patino, "tin king" of Bolivia and one of the wealthiest men in South America, was once a store clerk who was fired from his job and was given a "worthless" tin claim in lieu of back pay.

More than seven centuries ago, Korea was compelled by Mongol conquerors to provide a fleet of ships for an invasion of Japan, the National Geographic Society notes. After two disastrous defeats, the Mongolian "Golden Horde" gave up and turned westward toward Europe.

Roaring down from Ethiopia's Lake Tana comes the Blue Nile River, carrying millions of tons of silt for the rich flood plains of Egypt and the Sudan. Lacking this topsoil and moisture, ancient Egypt might have been as lonely as the Sahara, without Pharaohs' courts or Cleopatra, Sphinx or pyramids.

Issuance of the southpaw checkbooks is just another step in the bankers' already successful campaign to teach the public to "pay by check." The program was slow in starting, but for the last 30 years it has progressed so rapidly that now 90 per cent of all trade transactions are settled by written check.

Some six billion checks — most of them tastefully tinted in pastel colors — are printed annually to supply the need for the handy substitute for cash.

Bank checks or cheques, as the British write the word, are an old story, says the National Geographic Society. They were used by ancient Romans, and the even more ancient Assyrians were writing checks on mud tablets as far back as the 9 century B. C.

Britain's King Edward I wrote a check for 40 pounds payable to a Florence merchant 670 years ago. Medieval Venice used the check system but both payer and payee were required to appear in person at the bank for the transfer of funds.

Oldest Checks

The oldest checks in the United States are now in the Chase National Bank collection. They were signed by a Dutch merchant and dated March and September 1664, the year New Amsterdam became New York.

Checks came into more general use in the United States in the latter part of the 19th century. Abraham Lincoln was one of the first to recognize their convenience in making small payments. He bought a pair of glasses with a check for $2.50. His checks for charity were descriptive — such as one drawn to "man with one leg" or "Mr. Johns the sick man," to aid identification.

While the United States cannot claim the oldest checks, the fattest checks are cashed in this country. One for $7,500,000,000 tops them all. It transferred government funds from one account to another to balance the U. S. Treasury's books at the end of the 1948 fiscal year.

A check in the small change class, by comparison, was one drawn for $1,000,000 — United Nations payment on a $65,000,000 loan from the United States.

Tax Check: $0.00

Small checks are rare but legal in most places. In England the Mayor of Southampton once received a check for one penny for over-payment on a railway ticket. A business man out of change at a London tube station wrote a check for twopence — his fare home.

The smallest check was received by the U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue. It was for $0.00, from a taxpayer who managed to break even.

Checks properly worded can be written on anything. They have been drawn on a postage stamp, a cookie, an egg, on cigaret paper and even written with chalk on a block of wood. The most formidable was on sheet steel with the draft written in electric welding and the cancellation in machine gun bullet holes.

When George Washington lived as a lad of 19 on the Rappahannock River opposite Fredericksburg, Va., he often went for a swim in the stream, says the National Geographic Society. Whether the clothes themselves or valuables they contained were stolen, Spotsylvania County court records do not say.

UNITED WORLD FEDERALISTS HOLDS FINAL FALL MEETING

The final meeting [illegible] of three [illegible] sponsored by the Winchester Chapter of United World Federalists was held on Tuesday evening, November 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lobingier. The four panel members participating in this program were Mr. and Mrs. Lobingier, Mrs. George H. Reed and Mrs. Robert Williams.

The panel, chaired by Mr. Lobingier, presented a very provocative picture of the evolution of the UWF movement, its present structure, and finally the meaning of limited World Federalism. Mouth watering refreshments completed the evening program.

The Winchester Chapter has no immediate plans for further group discussions, but has under consideration a talk by Gordon Hall, editor of Countertide, dealing with subversive elements that are attempting to slander UWF and other organizations. This talk is tentatively planned for sometime in January and should arouse a great deal of interest.

The following were present at this last meeting:

Mrs. Cutler Downer
Mrs. Charles Greene
Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Hatch
Mr. and Mrs. A. Miles Holbrook

COUNCIL No. 210 KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

On Monday evening, December 3rd, following the regular council meeting, Attorney William N. Beggs gave a very interesting talk on "The Origin and Development of Firearms". Mr. Beggs brought with him several of the guns from his collection to demonstrate some of the developments mentioned in his talk. Many interesting points about guns were covered by the question and answer period which followed. It was a most interesting and educational subject well given by an expert on guns.

The next meeting of the council will be held on Monday, December 17th at Waterfield Hall. A special collation will be served by the house committee following the meeting, at 753 Main street.

A childrens Christmas Party, for children 10 years of age and under will be held on Sunday afternoon, December 23rd, at the Noonan School at 2:00 p. m. John W. Lane, Jr., is chairman of the party assisted by an enthusiastic committee who are making an all out effort to give the kiddies a pleasant afternoon.

MILLET HARVARD MANAGER

Francis Millet, Jr., Harvard sophomore formerly of Winchester and now of Chappaqua, N. Y., has been appointed varsity football manager for 1952 at the nation's oldest university.

Millet, who earned the post as a result of rigorous managerial competitions which begin in the freshman year, will assume responsibility for the smooth administration of the Crimson gridiron varsity during both practice and games.

Millet entered Harvard from Winchester High School, where he was graduated in 1950. At Winchester he managed the cross-country and baseball teams. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Millet, formerly of Winchester and now of Chappaqua, N. Y.

CHRISTMAS TEA

On Tuesday afternoon, December 11th, at three o'clock the Women's Alliance of the Unitarian church will present a program in Meyer Chapel. Entrance will be through the side door on Mystic Valley Parkway.

Rev. Robert A. Storer will give a play reading and Grace Norman will present a program of little known Christmas carols from many countries.

Tea will be served afterward in the Ladies' Parlor.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

Basketball occupies the spotlight at Winchester High as Coach Ted Bartlett drills his hustling band of hoopmen in preparation for their opening game with Danvers High [illegible] tonight. Last year the Indians [illegible] fondest hopes of their most ardent followers as they [illegible] a tie with Lexington High for the Middlesex League championship, defeated the [illegible] to the championship of the Small School's Tournament, and were invited to the [illegible] Tournament as a result [illegible]. Their overall record for the season was 22 victories [illegible].

[illegible] squad that compiled that great record. Tony Caruso [illegible] veterans form a nucleus for another great team this year. Heading the list of returning lettermen is Captain John DiIorio, high scorer of the team a year ago. Other stars who are back for another season on the court are Stowell Symmes, Doug Hawkins, Rod Long, Charlie Murphy, Johnny Farrell, Joe Donlon, Pete Coon and Bob Forester. With this wealth of material available Coach Bartlett has revamped his offense to better capitalize on this manpower, and the Indian promise to be an even more interesting team to watch as they have speeded up their attack.

Up [illegible] last year's Second Team that won 19 out of 20 games played are Stu [illegible], Bob Flaherty, N[illegible], Kit Carleton and John At[illegible]. These boys have improved [illegible] over a year ago and [illegible] the [illegible] letter[illegible], as they are capable of taking over at the slightest sign of a letdown by any of the regulars. Other members of the junior [illegible] are Fran Murphy, Neal Muncaster and Max McCreery. Sophomore squad members are Dave Pratt, "Moose" Bellino, Joe DiIorio, Pete Perkins, John Riordan, Boddy McKinley, Al Lindsey, Tom Ordway and Paul O'Brien.

Scrimmages are scheduled this coming week with Arlington High, Matignon High and Medford High, which will help to determine the starting five and which will prepare the Indians for their opener next Friday night. The Bartlett-men are well aware that every team in the League will be pointing for them this year and scrimmaging such strong opposition will condition the Indiasn for the rugged schedule ahead of them.

WOMEN'S BOWLING AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

What's new with the Winchester Country Club Women's Bowling League — well, it is news! The lively league spirit has created enough news for the printing of the first edition of the W. C. C. Bowling Highlights. However, this one page newspaper has assured the Winchester Star that they would not be competitive in any manner and would contine their reading list to the present 84 members.

Team 10 comprised of Mrs. Ralph Bonnell, Mrs. Donald Belcher, Mrs. Chadwick Barrington, Mrs. Shepard Pond, Mrs. Ralph Wilde and Mrs. Leonard Trager were hostesses for the luncheon on Tuesday. Mrs. L. F. Hannigan won the door prize, a beautiful teapot, donated by Filene's of Winchester.

December 11 all members are invited to attend the big Christmas party at the weekly luncheon and after bowling for the day, recess will be called until January 8.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY

St. Mary's Holy Name Society will have its regular meeting Sunday, December 9th, at Waterfield Hall, after the eight o'clock Mass at St. Mary's Church.

The Reverend Francis L. Archdeacon, S. J., will be the guest speaker.

The Misses Cynthia Ann and Barbara Ellen Brooks, daughters of Mrs. Agnes K. Brooks of 284 Cross street, will receive their diplomas from the Academie Moderne in a Fashion Extravaganza to be held at the New England Mutual Hall at 8:00 p. m. on Sunday, December 9th.

SWISS ASSEMBLY AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL

Having concluded their study of a unit on Switzerland, the pupils of Mrs. Louise Mathews's Grade IV last week presented an interesting assembly to their schoolmates.

Announced by Ronalee Fairfield, the assembly began with an acrostic in which the word Switzerland was spelled out by Elizabeth Osborn, Carl Segerstrom, Suzanne F[illegible], Marguerite Magi[illegible], David Leslie, and Nancy Gallat[illegible].

Next the location, climate, languages and leading cities of Switzerland were described by Spencer Roberts, Billy Johnson and Charles Carr.

The main feature of the program was a play entitled "A Store in Switzerland". To the store came Americans in search of articles of Swiss manufacture. As each article was examined, stories were told about Swiss painting, music boxes, wood carving, mountain climbing, and watchmaking. When the program was over, the pupils in the audience had learned a lot about the country and the people of Switzerland.

Portraying the roles of clerks or tourists were the following pupils, in addition to those already mentioned: Carol Gilberto, Janet Rotondi, Jeanne Richards, Susan Mucera, Janet Turpin, Steve Cochran, Marion Clogston, Patty Cutter, June VanDyke, Richard McLately, Geoffrey Johnson, James Reynolds, Billy Ereco, Richard Watkins, Robert Korwatch, Paul Francis, Alice Morse, and Ann Abbott.

The assembly closed with the Swiss song, "Up the Hill and Down the Way".

SMITH COLLEGE CLUB CONCERT SERIES

Already looking forward to the Community Concert spring membership drive which will be conducted during the week of March 16th, a group of Smith College Club members met at the home of the President, Mrs. Stanley H Neill on Overlook Way. Enjoying coffee together while discussing publicity and committees for the drive were: Mrs. Melville Hughes, Secretary of the organization; Mrs. William Price, Mrs. Robert Kittredge, Mrs. Henry K. Spencer, Mrs. D. Reid Weedon, Mrs. Frederick Walsh, and Mrs. Clarence Whorf. Again this year, the Club plans an intensive week of membership signing and hopes that the popularity of this year's program: the Columbus Boys' Choir, heard on October 30th; the pianist Monique de la Bruchollerie scheduled for January 15th; and the requested repeat performance of Todd Duncan will once again assure a capacity enrollment.

TO SHOW FOOTBALL PICTURES

Coach Henry Knowlton of Winchester High School's Class B Championship Football Team, will show motion pictures of his team's 1951 unbeaten, untied season at the high school auditorium next Tuesday evening, December 11. The public is invited to attend the showing of the pictures, which commences at 7:30. There is no admission charge. Come on down and see how well you actually remember what took place at those controversial spots about which you may have been puzzled or argumentative.

The pictures, as usual, were taken by those Allen road experts, Reggie and "Jake" Wentworth.

His Fifteenth Cadillac!

Many and many a man is driving his fifteenth Cadillac—and it is not unusual to encounter an owner who goes far by all that figure.

Naturally, a car must offer many things in order to have such an enduring hold on the affections of those who own and drive it.

It must be as faithful and dependable as a mechanical creation of its type can be.

It must be so pleasant to drive and so easy to handle that the hours at its wheel bring rest and relaxation.

It must be so beautiful and so highly respected that it is a compliment to its owner wherever he drives.

And it must be economical, both to operate and to maintain—for luxury brings a real pleasure when it comes with no extra penalty in cost.

In short, if a car is to have such a hold on the regard of its owners, it must be a Cadillac!

If you have already ordered this distinguished car, and are awaiting its delivery, hold firm to your purpose—for each day brings you closer to your heart's desire.

But if we don't yet have your order, better come in and see us today. The sooner you place your order, the sooner you'll have those many wonderful things which only a Cadillac provides.

"THE STEAK STORY"

It's an old axiom that you [illegible] a [illegible] car, and it follows like night and day that anything LESS than "U. S. PRIME" steer beef will not give you THE BEST [illegible] tender [illegible] steak.

Let's examine that [illegible] [illegible] Andover [illegible] "U. S. PRIME" [illegible]

[illegible] PRIME.

[illegible] each dinner is a "special" occasion when you want the BEST STEAK and the BEST DINNER that gracious, leisurely living in the greatest nation on earth can provide.

That's why so many people of moderate means and discriminating taste choose Allenhurst, especially when celebrating an anniversary, entertaining dear friends, or as a treat for the Only Girl.

Time was [illegible] [illegible] "Adams of Allenhurst" (Mine Host Seth [illegible] Adams), explain why "U. S. PRIME" steak is expensive.

To begin with, he says, the OPS fixed price for top steer beef on the hoof now averages about 57 cents a pound. You can see the quotation in the paper any day. Steak is only about four per cent of the whole critter, so when he gets through paying at the rate of 57 cents per pound for all the tremendous waste represented by the head, hide, hooves, bones and what-not, the restaurateur finds that his "U. S. PRIME" steak stands him from $2.75 to $3.00 a pound. Yes, that is the wholesale price of steak, devoid of bone with that thick white fat on top, all neatly trimmed so that only enough of it remains to broil to the delicious brown crispy covering that so many diners enjoy. Incidentally, that thick snowy cover is what makes beef good and it's the infallible sign of PRIME, grain fattened steer. But it's mighty expensive stuff to trim off before the steak goes into the broiler.

Steak can be cheaper, of course. For instance, the grade below "U. S. PRIME" [illegible] at [illegible] 28 cents less per pound of steak—and the [illegible] waste [illegible] because it hasn't had the same amount of corn feeding to build that snowy cover. The pattern of lower cost for lower quality and progressively less waste runs all the way down the [illegible] the sixth and cheapest grade of beef, which has a steak price that is $1.75 LESS PER POUND than "U. S. PRIME."

WIN HOT POINT CONTEST

The John A. Rutherfords were enthusiastic rooters at the BC-Holy Cross game last Saturday, having won the opportunity to go through their outstanding record in dishwasher sales from their store at 2A Mt. Vernon street.

The Hot Point Company has just completed an interesting sales contest among its dealers — the Touchdown Sales Drive. There were five separate games — the Range, the Refrigerator, the Clothes Washer, the Water Heater and the Dishwasher games. The winners and their wives were entertained royally by the General Electric Supply Corporation, distributor for Hot Point in this area. A luncheon was served at the Somerset Hotel. Then all went to the BC-Holy Cross game to enjoy that exciting contest. Afterwards the group met again out at the Meadows for a cocktail party and steak dinner. With the dancing, refreshments and good fellowship, the hours slipped away fast, and the Rutherfords were very thankful Highway 128 makes such an easy way home to Winchester.

Now they are waiting anxiously to hear the results on the national awards given by the Hot Point Co. The top winner nationally in each district and his wife are awarded a trip to Havana to the Pineapple Bowl game. The second and third [illegible] the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena. As in the past the second team will play the preliminary game, starting at 7:30 p. m. Their record a year ago was as good as the varsity's as they won 19 out of 20 games. An all-veteran five will make up this quintet as Frank Carleton and John Atkinson open at the forward positions, Norm Howard at center, and Stu Thomson and Bobby Flaherty at the guard berths. Others who show considerable promise and will see a great deal of action are Dave Pratt at forward, Neil Muncaster at center, and Fran Murphy at guard.

An innovation this year will be the sale at the door of season tickets to adults for the six home Friday night games of the season. The purchase of these season tickets at regular prices will assure the adult of admission to all home Friday night games, thus assuring them of not being shut out of some of the crucial Middlesex League games later in the season.

HOW TO CHOOSE THE RIGHT TOYS FOR YOUR CHILD

The toys you choose for your child to play with represent effort on your part. They are the first

From the time that the infant plays with its first rattle, on through the magic days of childhood, toys help to develop character and personality as well as physical and mental health.

Famous authorities in the modern study of child psychology say that the playthings you select for your child are as much a part of his education as any school book or math table.

Scientists call toys the "tools of play".

For, through his toys, as he learns to play, your child also learns the qualities necessary to make him happy and successful in later life as an adult. Such lessons as obedience, discipline, unselfishness, neatness, may be gained from

Given the opportunity, a child will instantly pick the toys that are right for him. Often it is the parents who are in error because they don't know why and how proper toys may be selected.

Helping such parents with their problems and keeping the youngsters of America happy and satisfied with their toys has created one of the most interesting businesses in the nation.

The most common question heard every day in the stores is: "What kind of a toy would you suggest?"

Well-meaning parents and friends often try to force the paced interest of children beyond their years. It's better to wait until little Susan or Johnny is about

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

December Exhibition

At the opening of the December Exhibition, Professor Lamson the President, announced with regret the sudden passing of last year's president, Mr. Charles William [illegible]. He then introduced the speaker for the evening, Mr. Ture Bengtz.

The speaker had announced his intention of speaking on contemporary artists who, however, actually played a very brief part in the talk which was devoted chiefly to the artists, separated chronologically and successively by about one hundred years, one from another, — Durer, Prud'hon, Rembrandt, Delacroix and Renoir. [illegible]

The artist's ind[illegible] shows [illegible] most clearly perhaps in his paintings of children [illegible] somewhat stylized so that they have a [illegible] quality which sets them apart from ordinary adolescents. They do arrest one's attention, whether they attract depends on the individual observer. In the painting "Playmates" two boys and a girl are stretched out in idle conference on the grass, and as with his painting "Wintertime" it doesn't require much imagination to turn the children into leprechauns rather than little mortals. The player in Evening Melodies revives memories of Peter Pan. Wendy must have resembled the little girl of the painting. And so on with most of his children.

This exhibition is entirely different from the two preceding collections but undoubtedly carries on the same stimulating and rewarding quality which characterizes the exhibition committee's choice of [illegible].

Mrs. Underwood and Mrs. Mar[illegible] [illegible] for the evening and [illegible] table [illegible] its huge red dripping [illegible] artistically, candles and the traditional and seasonal [illegible] reminded the Association that Christmas is just around the corner.

WINCHESTER GIRLS TO SING

Miss Barrett and Miss Townley-T[illegible], seniors, were both elected to the freshman choir in 1949 and have been active in choir work since that time.

The Mount Holyoke Glee Club is composed of carefully selected juniors and seniors from the class [illegible]. The director is Miss Ruth Douglass, professor of music and a graduate of the college.

The concert will begin with the "signature" of the Glee Club, "Sing We Noel" [illegible] French carol. Other carols listed [illegible] Russian, Czech, English, and German origin. [illegible] Spanish [illegible] include [illegible] H[illegible] K[illegible] [illegible]

CHRISTMAS WARNINGS

While Christmas is the happiest time of the year for most people, for many, annually, it is the time of tragedy, warns Herbert L. McNary, Executive Manager of the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters. The Fire Underwriters urge the greatest of caution over the holidays and offer several helpful suggestions.

Ten years ago, reminds Mr. McNary, a tragedy occurred in Pennsylvania's Laurel Highlands when [illegible] a Christmas tree fire. In an Oklahoma town dozens of children and parents were lost in a fire at a school Christmas party when [illegible] flashed into [illegible] years there have been many similar disasters.

[illegible] in course of Christmas [illegible] the use of cotton [illegible] Wash-proved cotton [illegible] and [illegible] common acid [illegible] several years ago. [illegible] small piece of cotton [illegible] and [illegible] a match [illegible]

[illegible] suggestions [illegible] Boston Board [illegible]

1. [illegible] Christmas [illegible] as [illegible] and [illegible] decorations.
2. Avoid [illegible] and [illegible] flammable curtains or drapes.
3. Avoid defect [illegible] or [illegible] ing.
4. Avoid [illegible] loading wires by [illegible] plugs and [illegible] cording.
5. Dispose of paper wrappings [illegible] quickly.
6. Take extra precautions with smoking hazards.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The December meeting of the League of Women Voters, in charge of the Committee on Social Welfare, was held at the home of Mrs. Henry E. Worcester. After a short business meeting, those present divided into three groups under the leadership of Mrs. Rodney Long, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols and Mrs. Rowland Patrick to discuss the state and local public welfare departments. The 351 cities and towns of Massachusetts carry the responsibility of caring for the needy, and are reimbursed in part by the state and federal governments. In 1950, Massachusetts spent $111,000,000 for public welfare — the largest amount of any department except that of Public Works; Winchester spent $31,450 in 1950. The Youth Service Board has been organized to try to rehabilitate the delinquent children who previously were automatically sent to training schools where hardened juvenile criminals were supposed. The Commissioner of Public Welfare is appointed by the governor for a 5-year term. The Advisory Board consists of 4, 2 of whom must be women, for 5-year terms. It is hoped that the passage of a "Poor law" will diminish the costs of welfare as it has in other states.

LEGIONNAIRES GATHERING IN WINCHESTER NEXT SUNDAY

There is at present much interest amongst members of the American Legion and all veterans as well, in the meeting scheduled to be held at Winchester Post No. 97 on Sunday afternoon at three p. m. At that time the entire Executive committee of the Department of Massachusetts, The American Legion, will meet to discuss all phases of the organizations policies and programs for the future. This meeting which is being sponsored by Middlesex County Council of the Legion has created wide-spread interest amongst the membership as it is the first time a program of this nature has ever been attempted before such a large gathering. Chairman of the program is Robert F. "Sam" Murphy, Past Commander of Winchester Post who anticipates between three and four hundred members seeing in attendance at this time.

The Star acknowledges with thanks the gift of a handsome 1952 calendar from the Winchester Trust Company. Illustrated with handsome drypoints by R. H. Pattenson of out-of-door scenes, the calendar has both artistic as well as practical value, and will appeal especially to the sportsman.

Mrs. Coffey was the daughter of Dennis, and Mary O'Connor Griffin. She was born January 22, 1857, in Boston, but spent most of her life in Somerville, where she was a resident for many years. She had lived with her daughter in Winchester since 1948.

Besides Mrs. Davenport, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Edmund L. Brown of Boston; five grandchildren, among whom are three living in Winchester, Mrs. G. Moulton Herrick, Richard L. Cotter and Joseph T. Cotter, the latter a professor at John Carroll University in Cleveland; and 15 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the Davenport home with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

ST. MARY'S SODALITY

The monthly Holy Communion day for December will be next Sunday, December 16. Our regular meeting will be Tuesday, December 18, at 7:45 P.M. Remember our goal, one hundred per cent attendance for our Blessed Mother.

TOWN MANAGER DISCUSSION HELD

If the size of the attendance at Monday evening's public discussion of the town manager system proved anything, it is that there is little real interest in the system as a possibility for Winchester. Between 75 and 100 attended the discussion which was sponsored by the Winchester League of Women Voters and the Winchester Kiwanis Club, and held at the High School Auditorium.

Mr. Robert E. Leighton, town manager in Danvers, spoke for the town manager system, pointing out its good points and explaining just how it operates. It was significant that he stated the town manager system is hard to justify for cities and towns already being well governed. In the course of his remarks he ably dealt with a heckler who had followed him to Winchester from Danvers.

Senator Philip A. Graham of Hamilton spoke against the town manager system, voicing many of the arguments already heard here against the plan, such as taking from the electorate its prerogative of self-government and placing the power to direct its affairs in the hands of a single man. He also reminded his hearers that under most charters town managers, if they prove incompetent, can only be removed by court action.

After the speakers a question-box was held, those present showing an interest in the town manager system without expressing themselves either for or against the plan. Miss Clara C. Gooch, manager of the Winchester Town Manager Committee, ably presided over the discussion.

The police were notified Tuesday evening that eight light bulbs had been stolen from the Christmas lighting display at the First Baptist Church. The electrician completed the display late that same afternoon. In addition to the missing lights twelve bulbs were found loosened in their sockets as if the thief or thieves had been frightened away before taking all the lights.

POST OFFICE INCREASES OFFICE HOURS

Now that the Christmas season is upon us, the thing uppermost in our mind after we have made our usual Christmas purchases, is how to get the packages to their destination. Unless you can take them yourself, the chances are you will mail them at your local post office.

To make it easier for the patrons, Postmaster Gilgun has increased the hours of mailing at the local post office. Beginning today (Friday) the hours will be:

Friday 7 a. m. — 7 p. m.
Saturday 7 a. m. — 6 p. m.
Sunday 12 noon — 4 p. m.

Monday through Friday
7 a. m. — 8 p. m.

Saturday 7 a. m. — 6 p. m.
Sunday 12 noon — 4 p. m.

Postmaster Gilgun feels that these hours will allow everyone plenty of time to take care of his needs.

If you have not already mailed your distant packages, be sure to mail them Special Handling or Special Delivery. Christmas is but two weeks away. Do not disappoint your friends.

LEONARD NOTEMYER

The funeral of Leonard Notemyer of Medford, a former resident of this town, was held last Friday morning from the Gately Funeral Home in Medford, with requiem high mass celebrated at St. Joseph's Church in that city.

Mr. Notemyer was the son of Walter H. and Anna M. Notemyer of Winchester, and was 38 years old. He was born in St. Albans, Vermont, and came to Winchester in 1925, living here until his marriage, when he moved to Medford.

He leaves his wife, the former Catherine DeRocher; two daughters, Ann and Carol; a son, Leonard, Jr.; his parents; a brother, Andrew, and a sister, Pearl Notemyer, both of Winchester.

MRS. IRMA LORD BELL

Mrs. Irma Lord Bell, wife of Clyde W. Bell of 6 Highland terrace, died Saturday morning, December 8, at the Winchester Hospital, following several months illness.

Mrs. Bell was the daughter of William Parker and Edith Alice Kendrick Lord. She was born in East Boston January 19, 1887, and spent her girlhood in Winchester, being educated in the Winchester schools and at Winchester High School.

In 1907 she was twice married. In 1907 she married Milan Graves of Malden, Winchester Conference, and Church, and they spent several years in Greater Boston and around Winchester. Later they were for some time residents of Laconia, N. H.

In more recent years until Mr. Lord's death in May, 1950, he and his wife lived in Winchester, spending their winters in St. Petersburg, Fla., as did Mr. Bell, a long-time Winchester resident. He and the Lords were friends of long standing, and after Mr. Lord's death Mr. Bell and Mrs. Lord were married on Thanksgiving Day, November 23, 1950, by the Rev. Earl B. Edington at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell returned to town after the winter season in St. Petersburg and had been making their home on Highland terrace. Though not affiliated with any church organization, Mrs. Bell took an active interest in the affairs of both the Odd Fellows and the Masons, her husband being a member of both fraternities. She was a member of the Massachusetts Society of Florida.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Bell leaves two daughters, Mrs. Edith I. Keane of Laconia, N. H., and Mrs. Clifford Bowers of Saugus; two sons, Wesley Lincoln Lord of Laconia, N. H., and William Milan Lord of Samoa, California; seven grandchildren and three sisters, Mrs. Ethel Sanborn of Beverly, Mrs. Clara W. Lane of Wakefield and Mrs. Blanche Barber of Melrose.

Christian Science funeral services were conducted at the Bennett Chapel Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Alice M. Leach, reader. Interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

CRONIN — ELLIOTT

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Elliott of 11 Herrick street, Winchester, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Barbara May Elliott, to Mr. John Drummond Cronin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cronin of Andover, Massachusetts. The wedding was in Jackson Heights, N. Y., on Friday, November 30th at 8:00 p. m.

The bride graduated from Winchester High School with the class of 1947 and majored in music at Skidmore College. At the time of her marriage she was with the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers of New York City.

Mr. Cronin attended Andover Academy and then Brooklyn College where he graduated with the class of 1951. He was one of the Skidmore-Yale Glee Club that toured Europe in 1948 and he also sang with them when they came over to Winchester. He is a member of Theta Chi Fraternity and president of the [illegible] year.

After a wedding trip [illegible] the couple will reside in Englewood, New Jersey.

DOUB — GLOVER

At a [illegible] wedding in the Bethany Presbyterian Church in Trenton, N. J., Miss Clara Elizabeth Glover daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer T. Glover was married Saturday afternoon, December 8, to William Scott Doub, 2nd, USA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Doub of 23 Sargent road. The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Russell Ames in a setting of white chrysanthemums and holly. Miss Barbara Wills of Boston was the soloist. A reception and wedding luncheon followed at the Hotel Hildebrecht, where Christmas greens formed a background for the bride's table.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin with a full train. Her finger tip veil of nylon net was held in place by a lace bonnet trimmed with seed pearls and she carried white roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Peggy Tobill of Trenton, wore a gown of green nylon net over taffeta with Duchess lace bodice, net mitts and stole. The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Ann Glover sister of the bride, Miss Doris Ewers, Miss Isabelle Walsh all of Trenton, Miss Janet Doub sister of the bridegroom, of Winchester, Miss Jacqueline Regent of Maplewood, N. J., and Mrs. Lawrence Doyle of Brooklyn, N. Y., wore similar gowns in pastel colors. All of the attendants wore matching satin bands in their hair and their bouquets of roses and small chrysanthemums matched their gowns. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Glover wore a light green wool with matching hat and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Doub, mother of the groom, wore a Bermuda rose crepe gown with black velvet hat and a corsage of red and white carnations.

CIVIL DEFENSE STAFF SET FOR TOMORROW'S TEST ALERT

Although the general public will not take part, Winchester people will be interested — and vitally concerned — in the important action to be conducted for their civil defense leaders only tomorrow afternoon, Saturday, December 15. While most townspeople will go on about their usual business after the regular Saturday noon test sounding of the air raid sirens, that will be the signal for members of our local Civil Defense organization to begin their alert drill.

Just as in an actual emergency, the sounding of the sirens will find most civil defense workers "unprepared" and in their homes or offices. Theoretically, information from the Staff level will have been radioed first to Police Headquarters, causing the sirens to be blown. As rapidly as possible, all Division heads will then alert their own section leaders. Everyone concerned will proceed to his respective place of operation. Members of the Operations Staff and other liaison and messenger personnel immediately will gather in the Control Center, prepared to direct the operation of the various Winchester Divisions, on orders from civil defense authorities above.

Massachusetts is divided into 9 Regions for civil defense purposes, with the greater Boston area known as Region 5. Of the 6 pie-shaped Sectors in this region, converging toward Boston, Winchester is in Sector 2 — with Arlington, Cambridge, Belmont, Woburn, Lexington, Lincoln and Bedford — and receives orders from sector headquarters in Cambridge.

Since tomorrow's practice is a Winchester activity alone, a hypothetical "Sector 3 Hq" will feed instructions and requests to the Winchester Control Center via radio and telephone. Though the complete "emergency" requirements are now drawn up, they are known only to the planners in the hypothetical sector headquarters. Our local organization will enter the test "cold", to be prepared for any eventuality that might test them.

For a memory refresher to the public, the various elements of our CD operation — separated into Divisions — are: Medical and Health, under Angelo L. Balletto, M. D.; Rescue, Transportation and Evacuation, under James A. Wakefield, Jr.; Police Service (regular and auxiliary) under Chief Charles J. Barrold; Fire Service (regular and auxiliary) under Chief James E. Golding; Communications, under John T. Blanchard; Utilities, under James D. Halvartz; Civilian War Aid, under William P. Supple; and Plant Management, under Harry E. Damon, Jr.

Members of the Operations Staff, including the Control Center, will be Director James W. Blackburn, Deputy Director [illegible] Planning and Operations Officer, Theodore J. Lowe; Coordinating Officer Stephen H. [illegible]

The test will run for a scheduled hour and a half, approximately, and be followed by a critique with all participating personnel present. As pointed out in the previous "briefing" meeting held on December 5, at the American Legion home, the critique will [illegible] and [illegible] that are expected [illegible] and [illegible] Director [illegible] Deputy Director [illegible] Operations Officer [illegible] Coordinating Officer [illegible] Division Chiefs [illegible] Sector Headquarters [illegible] Wednesday evening at [illegible] Sector [illegible] set. WINCHESTER RESIDENTS

Your Board of Selectmen and Chief of Police request every resident of Winchester to join with the National Safety Council in the nationwide campaign to postpone the millionth traffic death.

This tragedy, the death of some father, mother, sister or brother will occur during our Christmas holiday, unless every pedestrian and motorist uses the utmost care and caution while walking and driving.

It would indeed be ironic if the Christmas season, that time of good will to all men, became the time when grief should strike, because through your carelessness or inattention, you or some other unfortunate became the victims of the automobile.

Your Board and Chief extend their sincere hope that everyone in Winchester will be especially careful over the holidays and that not even a minor accident will mar any family's happiness at this joyous season.

A CHANCE TO HELP

Many elderly and infirm persons as well as those with small children and limited incomes need help at Christmas if this holiday is not to be a mockery instead of a day of good cheer in accordance with the American tradition.

To help our less fortunate Winchester friends during the holiday season gifts of money, coal, food and clothing are earnestly solicited.

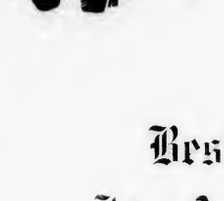

Gifts may be sent to the Winchester Community Relief Committee.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

On Monday, December 17, The Fortnightly hold their Christmas program in the Masonic Hall. Our president, Mrs. Hixon, called the meeting to order at 2:00 P. M. by asking the members to rise and sing the verse of "O Come All Ye Faithful" with Mrs. McCullough at the piano. After we pledge to our Flag Mrs. Rhodes read the invocation. As a surprise to most of the including Mrs. Hixon, Mrs. McCullough asked us to remain standing and sang "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Hixon.

She welcomed the members and guests in her usual gracious manner and acknowledged many greetings she had received. She then thanked Miss Louise Bancroft for the lovely arrangements and Christmas decorations on the stage; Mrs. Norman Mitchell for the beautiful tea table centerpiece; Mrs. Frederick Cole for the satistically decorated table with Christmas tree ornaments and cards. The order of business followed. The Philanthropy Fund Committee wished to thank all the members who helped to make the food sale at the last meeting such a big success.

Mrs. Cole, Art Chairman, explained about the decorations she had made from ordinary tin cans. She also explained the exhibit of original hand made cards by Fortnightly members as a result of the art class sponsored by the Art committee. Miss Dorothy Allen had several cleverly hand painted designs and one montage; Mrs. Roger Burgoyne pen and ink drawing, hand colored of her fireplace and mantel; Mrs. Frederick Cole, silk screen print of her dog; Mrs. Richard Fossett, pen and ink drawing of her house; Mrs. William Frizzell, block printed design of deer; Mrs. Willard Hudson, pencil drawing of her doorway; Mrs. Erskine Kelley, one stenciled and one hand painted card showing members of her family; Mrs. Lester Leathers, block printed design of her house. These cards were fascinating. Thanks to Mrs. Cole for her wonderful support. Mrs. George French had a beautiful idea for a small Christmas tree by decorating a large pine cone. Mrs. Hixon closed the business meeting by reading a Christmas story titled "Christmas Spirit" by Annie Johnson Flint.

It was not the Angels singing
Near the Christmas thought
Nor the precious gold and incense
By the wise men brought;
'Twas the Christ within the manger
Made the Christmas day.
We need never mourn that Christmas
Comes but once a year,
Since the blessedness of giving
Brings the Christmas cheer.
If we keep the Christmas spirit
In our hearts alway
Through the whole year we can make it
Christmas every day

Mrs. McCullough then introduced the artists for the afternoon, Mildred Zwicker Allison, lovely soprano, needed no introduction to many of us. In her first group of musical comedy she included "Make Believe", "Velvet Shoes", and "My Hero." Her second group consisted of Christmas carols from many lands. She included "Low How a Rose Ere Blooming", "Angels and Shepherds", "Today the Virgin Has Borne a Child", "Angels Heard on High", and "O Holy Night." Her accompanist was Mrs. McCullough. Mrs. Louise Neal Pratt provided us with charming and dignified entertainment as a reader. She first portrayed an old negro woman who was trying to take out an insurance policy on her husband who was to be hanged in a week. Mrs. Pratt then did an excellent job portraying so many characters in "Life with Mother." Her most humorous was the little boy playing Santa Claus and getting stuck in the chimney. His two friends tried to poke him out, wash him out by pouring water down the chimney, and then tried to smoke him out by building a fire in the fireplace — all this to no avail. He was finally rescued by pulling the chimney apart. Her loveliest was "Christmas Day in the Morning," a story of a family grown up, married and moved away from their parents. One Christmas eve they all came back, occupied their rooms and overwhelmed their parents the next morning with gladness just by their presence — instead of their presents.

A delicious tea was served at the close of the meeting by the social chairman, Mrs. Meigs, and her committee. The hostesses were Mrs. John Billings and Mrs. Arthur Haines. The pourers presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Frank Madge and Mrs. Francis Bowes.

JUNIOR MRS. GUILD CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Junior Mrs. Guild of the First Congregational Church will hold its Annual Christmas Party on December 18. Dessert and coffee will be served at 7:30 p. m. in the Social Hall. There will be entertainment and exchange of Christmas gifts.

UNITED NATIONS COMMITTEE PLANNED

A Temporary Steering Committee, charged with the responsibility of completing plans for a "Winchester Committee for the United Nations" was formed at a meeting of representatives of Winchester organizations at the Public Library on the evening of December 5th. The meeting was called by the League of Women Voters and had as its Moderator, Mr. Harrison Lyman, Jr.

Mr. Lyman introduced the Executive Director of the United Council on World Affairs, Mr. David Fenn, Jr., who spoke about the effect of public opinion on the United Nations. He said that if we think of the U. N. as merely a debating society, it will tend to become that. If, on the other hand, we think of it as a great deal more than that, it will become more.

There emerged from the discussion by the representatives unanimous agreement that there should be a Winchester Committee for the United Nations, on a permanent year-round basis, for the purpose of spreading information about the U. N., especially by the observance of U. N. week in October.

PARKHURST ASSEMBLY

On November 21 the fifth grade at the Parkhurst School presented an original play, "The First Thanksgiving". It told the story of the Pilgrims, beginning with their troubles in England and continuing through their first year in the New World. Each pupil in the class had a part in both writing and in presenting the play. Several songs were included in the program.

CHRISTMAS PLAY

The traditional Christmas play, "Bethlehem", by Lawrence Hausmann, will again be presented by the Parish Players in the Chancel of the First Congregational Church on Sunday, December 23, at 4:30 p. m. The play is presented before a golden triptych, and the story of the shepherds watching their sheen by the hillside, the wise men journeying for the Christ child, Gaspard with his message of hope, and Mary and Joseph with the Christ Child at the manger, are all portrayed in Lawrence Hausmann's poetic style.

NAVY PLAYS HOST TO CUB PACK 3

Announcement has been made of Pack 3's good fortune in having been invited to inspect the Air Craft carrier Shangri-La tomorrow afternoon. Arrangements were made through Captain T. J. Wellings of Winchester and Executive Officer Commander Keets.

The Cubmasters sense of anticipation among the young Cubs since the announcement was made can well be imagined. This is an opportunity that few people enjoy and particularly 8 to 10 year olds. It can be safely said that the Navy's hospitality will long be remembered by every youngster present.

Members and fathers of members attending have been instructed to assemble before 12:30 Saturday, December 15 in front of the Wyman School. Transportation will be provided by the Cubs' fathers from each den, from the Wyman School to the Navy Yard and return. The schedule requires that all concerned be prepared to leave by 12:30 p. m.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT BY BAPTIST YOUTH FELLOWSHIP

"The Light of Men"

It has become a tradition in our Church to have a Christmas pageant prepared by our young people as a Christmas Vesper Service. If we would only take the time to prepare ourselves spiritually for Christmas, as we do materially, the Season would have greater meaning for us. This is one of our chances.

Out of Nazareth, many years past, came a child of lowly birth. Kings, Shepherds, Wise Men — all were summoned to see the "Light of Men" and came they did to the Manger. Drawn from this ancient story is our pageant for this year, even more beautiful than the one presented last year. All of our Winchester friends are cordially invited to share this beautiful service with us and to join in the singing of familiar Christmas carols.

COACHES WOULD BOOST WINCHESTER TO CLASS A

At the meeting of the State Coaches Association in Boston last Saturday, twelve coaches of 12 who returned ballots voted to place Winchester in Class "A" of the Schoolboy Football Rating System.

The Boston Globe, in an effort to determine what the coaches think of the present system devised and administered by the Boston schoolboy sport writers, distributed 100 ballots to those at the meeting. Of these, 42 were returned marked, and of the 42 there were 12 coaches who thought Winchester should be moved up to Class "A" with teams like Arlington, Somerville, Brockton, Everett, Malden, Weymouth, Newton and Medford. Sixteen coaches thought Winthrop ought to be moved up from "C" to "B" and 10 thought Belmont ought to move up from "B" to "C". Three thought Woburn should be taken out of "C" and put in "B", and two thought Reading ought to be a "B" instead of a "C" team.

Besides Winchester several "B" teams, in the opinion of the coaches, ought to be placed in "A". Twenty-one thought Lawrence belonged in "A", and 13 thought Gloucester, co-winner with Winchester of the "B" crown this year, ought to move up to the top-flight competition. Behind Winchester, among others, Lawrence Central got 10 votes for "A"; Melrose, 6; Marblehead, 2; Watertown, 2; and Concord and Malden Catholic, a vote apiece.

It is obvious that those voting to put Winchester in with "A" schools like Medford, Malden, Somerville, Everett and Weymouth, base their vote on the Indians' unbeaten, untied record this fall.

Winchester did have a great year this year, but it played only two teams in Class "B", let alone Class "A" clubs. There is little evidence to support the contention that Winchester, playing a strictly Class "B" schedule would win any great majority of its games, if indeed it could break even in such competition; that is, if the Class "B" teams met were all representative.

Over the past five years Winchester has played two Class "B" teams, Wakefield and Watertown. The Indians have won all five games from Wakefield, scoring 94 points to 19 for the Scarlet. Wakefield has been admittedly weak in recent years.

Against Watertown, a much more representative Class "B" team, the Indians have not fared so well, winning two and losing three games in five years, and being outscored 11 points to 62. Add four or five teams as good as Watertown to Winchester's schedule and the Indians' record would probably be nowhere near as impressive as it has been meeting teams in its own class. Winchester is not a big school in a big community. It gave up playing teams like Arlington, Melrose and Watertown when the old Mystic League went out of existence, primarily because it could almost never win from schools of their size and manpower. Winchester is able to do so well against teams of its own class primarily because of the excellence of its coaching and conditioning and because of the development of a system that keeps nearly a hundred high school boys playing football throughout each season. It isn't a matter of waving a fairy wand and growing them bigger and better in Winchester than in other comparable towns and cities. Several of the teams Winchester played and beat this year were bigger than the Indians. We were going to say a majority of them were. On what we saw this season there is no evidence that Winchester, at least physically, outclassed its "C" opposition.

And just how well has the "big powerhouse" Class "B" Winchester team done against "C" opposition for the past five years. In that time it has made what at first glance appears a very impressive record, winning 36 games, losing 10 and tying 2 again the teams it is now meeting, scoring 775 points to 360 for the opponents. The win total should really be two games larger, for Winchester opened with Lexington in 1947 and '48, beating the Minutemen both times and outscoring them 41-7.

If you analyze Winchester's five-year comprehensive record you will see that 20 of the Indians' 36 wins in that time have been against Winthrop, Stoneham, Framingham and Wakefield, teams that haven't averaged to be too strong during this time. Against the better "C" competition and especially against its objective teams in that class, Winchester hasn't any particularly overwhelming win record.

Against Woburn, the Indians' big rival, Winchester has a 50-50 record, winning two, losing two and tying one. Against Reading, Winchester has a 3-2 edge. Wins against Belmont the Indians have won three, tied one and lost one. Against Swampscott the winning advantage is 3-2 in games. In competition against Swampscott, Reading, Belmont and Woburn, Winchester has won 11, lost 7 and tied 1. No great evidence here that Winchester is too good for "C" competition, let alone being taken out of "B" and put in "A". Incidentally two of Winchester's three wins over Class "C" Milton were by the margin of a single point. Outclassing? Hah!

Fortunately no decision on reclassification was made at last Saturday's coaches meeting, and of course less than 50 per cent of the coaches expressed opinions one way or the other. A committee of coaches was appointed to study the problem, headed by Denny Gilden of Everett, and their findings will be made to the schoolboy sports-writers. Whoever makes the final classification ought to think a little more before penalizing good coaching, excellent physical care and fine spirit by putting a team representing a relatively small school in with the largest schools in Greater Boston, simply because it has an unbeaten year, in the course of which it defeated only two such Class "B" teams.

Following is the five year composite record of Winchester against its presently scheduled teams; and in this connection it should be remembered that the Indians will play Melrose, a Class "B" team, next year, instead of Class "C" Framingham.

Competing Team	Winchester Won	Lost	Tied	Pts For	Pts Against
Milton	3	0	0	41	19
Swampscott	3	2	0	63	64

WHS FOOTBALL ASSEMBLY

At the second assembly for fall sports on December 7, members of Winchester High School's football teams, their coaches and trainer, received the much-deserved tributes of the student body and Principal Wade Grindle.

In congratulating the players and coaches on a successful season, Mr. Grindle noted that nearly 200 boys and girls have received athletic awards this fall. In a school of less than 800 students this is an unusually large number.

Referring to Coach Knowlton, Mr. Grindle recalled that, during the Coach's 12 years at Winchester, the Red and Black has compiled a record of 101 victories or ties out of 120 games played. "Winchester High is fortunate," he said, "to have a winning coach who is also a man of character, co-operative spirit, and clean living.

The first coach to be introduced by Earl Carrier, president of the Athletic Association, was Freshman Coach Ed Burns, who reviewed the yearlings' season and distributed numerals to a squad that was big in numbers if not as large in size as in some other years. Coach Frank Provinzano followed with a humorous summary of the junior varsity season.

Before calling each varsity player individually to receive his award, Coach Knowlton thanked his fellow coaches, Burns, Finnegan and Provinzano, for their co-operation in making this an outstanding season. He paid special tribute to Lou Gordon, whose valuable work as trainer has kept Winchester teams in top condition; to George Curtis, faculty athletic director; to Dr. Barone, team physician; and to Fred Felmet, leader of the band.

At the conclusion of the assembly, Mr. Grindle made two eagerly-awaited announcements when he called Janice Collins and Charles Murphy to the stage to receive the Wheeler-Mansfield Good Sportsmanship Cups for 1951. Janice is president of the girls' intramural council and three-letter winner, while Charlie is this year's cross country captain and a member of the varsity basketball and baseball teams. Both are outstanding school citizens.

The announcement by co-captain Richard Errico that Howie Amundsen has been elected captain of next year's football team is reported elsewhere in the Star.

AMUNDSEN FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Tackle to Lead WHS '52 Eleven

Howard Amundsen, regular left tackle on this year's Winchester High School State Championship team, was elected to captain the 1952 eleven at a recent meeting of this season's lettermen. Announcement of his election was made at the letter awards assembly last Friday.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Amundsen of 281 Washington Street, "Howie", as he is to us on the gridiron, is a 17-ish second junior class member at high school. As a sophomore last year he played both as a tackle and guard, winning his letter and the respect of his coaches for his steady play and conscientious effort.

This year "Howie", with added weight, won the left tackle starting slot before the season's opener with Milton and was a fixture at that position all fall, playing two way football and giving a consistently good account of himself at all sorts of goings, few gains of any great length being made over his position, while he seldom failed to block well on running plays to the left side.

"Howie" should lead a pretty fair ball club another year, barring accidents. On the line he will have as running mates Bobby Flaherty, speedy starting right end, and the other starting wingman, rugged Johnny Atkinson, whose play against Woburn was particularly outstanding. Behind the line the two stars of this year's offensive powerhouse, Jimmy Coffin, fullback, and big "Jocko" Sericka, halfback, will be back. Both rank right now with Winchester's great running backs.

Perhaps the boy who will be most missed next fall is Jost Michelsen, veteran quarterback, who had the tough job of succeeding under center when Coach Knowlton instituted the T offense two years ago. Michelsen's play calling improved from game to game and from year to year until he ranked with the best field generals in the schoolboy ranks at the end of this season. His knowledge of everyone's assignments as well as his own enabled him to give last minute instructions to his fellow players that often meant the difference between a gain and loss on a play, and this season he developed into a running back who contributed many long gains and several touchdowns to the local cause.

Another capable hard-working back who will be missed another fall is Bob Johnson, rugged linebacker who has been Winchester's meal ticket for the past two seasons. Seldom scoring, but always around for that vital yard or two for a first down, big Bob never gave anything but 100 per cent of himself to every play, whether or not he was carrying the ball. A coach's player all the way, he will leave a big hole come 1952.

On the line "Don" Rizzo, recently named to the Globe's All Scholastic, will leave a big hole. Don came fast this past season and with another year's experience would rank with Winchester's best at his position. Prep Keyes, prevented by injury this year from completing what looked like a brilliant season, and Fred Mottolo, another promising player, are the other first string guards to graduate in June.

Across the line from Captain Amundsen there will be no starting tackle available next fall, both Dave Keniston, veteran offensive right tackle, and big "Anchor" Murphy, defensive tackle, being graduated in June. Keniston, a three year veteran, will leave a hole, for he was a smart player who was able to compensate for his lack of horsepower by his knowledge of tackle play.

Coming back, another year to aid in the line situation are Carleton and Carroll, ends; Cullen, Rooney and Riordan, tackles; Taylor, Dorro and Curtis, guards; and Beck and Harrigan, centers. Behind the line "Stu" Thomson and Dave Pratt, quarterbacks; "Moose" Bellino, Jack Beggs, Al Lindsey, Freddie Wheaton, Peter Perkins and Paul Mahoney, backs, have had experience in varsity play.

ATTENDED COACHES MEETING

Football Trophy Presented To Coach Knowlton

Winchester High School's Director of Athletics, Henry Knowlton, who is also football coach at the local school, attended the meeting of the Massachusetts State Coaches Association last Saturday at the Hotel Lenox in Boston.

During the meeting coaches of the winning teams in each of the classes of schoolboy sportswriters were presented the trophies emblematic of their championship rating. Coach Knowlton and Coach Ross of Gloucester were presented twin trophies, Gloucester and Winchester having finished in a top tie for championship honors in Class B.

The Winchester trophy is about two feet tall and is a bronze football player in the act of punting, mounted on a base of simulated ivory and bronze, suitably inscribed. It will be placed with the other Winchester State Championship trophies won by the team of 1942, captained by Bill West, and the team of 1946, captained by Bill's brother, John.

At their meeting last Saturday there was considerable discussion of the present rating system among the coaches, who appointed a committee headed by Denny Gilden of Everett to consider this very controversial problem.

NOONAN SCHOOL

On Tuesday, December 4, the third grade children of the Noonan School welcomed their parents and friends to a dramatization of "Snow White and The Seven Dwarfs". Every member of the class participated in the Assembly program.

The pupils taking part in the play were: Snow White, the King's daughter, Louise Vinson; the Queen, her stepmother, Carolyn Doherty; the Queen's Maid, Lee Ellen Manzo; the Prince, James Flaherty; the Queen's Huntsman, Donald Nadeau; the Mirror, Mary Donovan.

The Seven Dwarfs were played by Thomas Treacy, Thomas Russo, Michael Sullivan, Stewart Poole, Lawrence Donlin, Terence Collins, Victor Cutrone.

Joyce Walden was the announcer.

ELEMENTARY TEACHERS HEAR SPEECH EXPERT

At their professional meeting on December 5, elementary school teachers and principals were fortunate to have as their speaker Dr. Wilbert Pronovost, professor of speech at Boston University. Professor Pronovost analyzed some of the common speech problems which are found among school children. He noted that many of those apparent in the early grades will disappear by the time the children have reached the fifth and sixth grades.

Of special interest was Professor Pronovost's description of a check list of speech difficulties which has been devised to help teachers identify pupils in need of help along these lines. These check lists have been made available to all teachers in the elementary schools in Winchester.

Officer James E. Farrell discovered last Sunday evening that some 15 lights were missing from the Community Christmas Tree on the Common.

OPPORTUNITIES IN PHYSICAL THERAPY

Editor of the Star:

After attending my high school and college class reunions last June where everyone recounted what he or she had been doing since graduation I was impressed by the apparent interest of my class-mates and their real desire to know more specifically just what Physical Therapy is — which happens to be my profession. For this reason, it has occurred to me that there may be many more who would like to know more of what Physical Therapy entails — particularly parents who have youngsters of high school age, or the students themselves, who are undecided as to what career they would like to pursue as a vocation or profession following their graduation from high school.

Briefly, a qualified Physical Therapist is a member of a medical team whose efforts are directed toward returning a physically handicapped person to normal activities, a productive life, and to shorten the time of the convalescent period.

The results of Physical Therapy in the recent world war, and the injuries resulting from the present Korean conflict, are making it increasingly apparent that Physical Therapy has a definite place, and that the need for qualified therapists is imperative in the medical field.

At the present time the country is faced with the shortage of Physical Therapists to meet all of its demands and for this reason, and the fact that opportunities are available which offer such a variety make it a challenging field to one who wants to be of service and at the same time have a stimulating career. It should not be thought that Physical Therapy is limited to war injuries, however. Too often, it is a civilian as well — perhaps someone you know who has had polio, a child born with a physical handicap, or a person who has had a serious accident, resulting in fractures or a nerve injury. All of these conditions and many more are the I ad a Physical Therapist would not t and work with, if a member of the staff of a department of Physical Medicine in a hospital. There are also opportunities available working with children, in research, or in teaching.

In brief, the opportunities are limitless t roughout the country and a care worthy of serious consideration. I should be happy t talk with any parent who is interested in k owing more of Physical Therapy as a profession.

Sincerely yours,
Katharine Carlisle

BREAKING AND ENTERING

Editor of the Star:

Several years ago a large number of public-spirited Winchester citizens banded together and raised some money for a recreation center for the Girl Scouts. This money was not sufficient. The Rotary Club came to the rescue! The town already knows what they did for the Girl Scouts. The story of their generosity bears repeating. The fine group of men through hours of labor-breaking work built our lovely cabin in the Fells. Now, one or a group of youths, whose ideals and actions are in exact reverse to our Rotarians, are making "breaking and entering" a weekend incident at Camp Joy. During one of their latest escapades they strewed plaster of paris over the entire cabin. Every time this happens it means additional outlay of money and time on the part of the Girl Scout organization, a Red Feather organization. Perhaps those young vandals are our Winchester boys. We hope not! Whoever they are, we are preparing to deal with them when they are apprehended.

Anyone who is caught will now be prosecuted. On this matter we have advice from the Metropolitan District Police. This recreation center can be the back ground for many good times for our girls of the present and several to come, or it can be wrecked by youthful delinquents. Which is it going to be?

We ask each one of you to help in some public up-keep.

Are we going to let Camp Joy, the result of such unusual and unselfish effort on the part of so many Winchester citizens, be ravaged repeatedly by thoughtless and lawbreaking youths?

Marion L. Willing,
Commissioner.

WHAT TO DO

Editor of the Star:

Dr. Dennett's letter in Friday's Star was most interesting with detailed accuracy. Our present state of confusion and apprehension can only be brought about by some ruthlessness. We seem to be a nation of astigmatic confusion and myopic authority.

We hear much of our crime wave, it is assuming tidal proportions, yet, we remain unimpressed. The Nation realizes the character of the constitution, there should be no conflict between people and President, between President and Congress. Opinions should be expressed and allowed. We say something must be done. We do not know what! I know little about politics, and dislike to discuss them. But one cannot fail to see the lack of ethical principals and how it has affected us. The privilege of aspiring to higher political certainly involves a behaviorism of conduct, and should stand for a symbol of inbred manners amongst civilized society.

An oath taken whether politics, medicine or law, has to be seriously thought, all are similar in their brevity of form or substance.

IS YOUR SON AWAY FROM HOME?

Editor of the Star:

Several people have asked about the military unit located on South Boston Beach. This is an anti-aircraft unit, part of the 775th AAA Gun Bn. under the command of Lt. Col. George T. Webster, Ft. Banks; the men on South Border road are under Lt. David Kroft.

Before Christmas there will be men in this unit from as far away as Arizona and, after talking with the Recreation Officer at Ft. Banks, Captain Gilbert Gleason, I find it would be appreciated if the people of Winchester would invite some of these men to their homes once in a while.

If you have room at your table for a man away from home, you can call Lt. David Kroft at MYstic 6-6690 and make arrangements, or the writer will be glad to handle it for you.

Cordially yours,
Mrs. Ky B. Toye, Chairman
Winchester Military Manpower Committee

KILEY RECITALS ON SUNDAY

Friends and parents are looking forward to the first recitals of the season given by pupils from the Kiley Pianoforte Studio at 731 Main Street.

Edward M. Kiley, the teacher, announces the termination of the Memory Contest, "Santa's Flower Festival For Shut-ins."

The students have been earning, through memory work, beautifully colored paper flowers which have been decorating flower pots and baskets at the studio.

The flowers are on paper tabs that are inserted behind the foliage of the flowers pots. On these tabs will be written little messages of cheer and later will be sent to the Children's Ward at the hospital for Christmas.

Winners of the contest will be announced at the recitals, and prizes awarded.

Pupils from Winchester, Bedford, Cambridge, Arlington, Melrose, Stoneham, Medford and Winchester will perform at the recitals held at 3:30 and 7:30 p.m. All interested are welcome to attend.

JAMES FISHER DWINELL JR.

NEW SAVINGS BANK HEAD IN GREAT GRANDFATHER'S FOOTSTEPS

When James Fisher Dwinell, Jr., of 7 Fernway was recently elected president of the Winchester Savings Bank he succeeded to a post once held by his great grandfather, the first James Fisher Dwinell, who was the bank's third president, serving in that capacity from 1862 to 1898.

The new president became a corporator of the bank in April, 1940. On April 24, 1946, he was elected a trustee and clerk of the corporation; and when his father, the late James Fisher Dwinell, resigned as vice president because of failing health, his son succeeded him in the office, being elected vice president April 27, 1949.

James Fisher Dwinell, Jr., was elected president of the bank October 17, 1951. A member of one of the town's old line and prominent families, he has served the town, both as chairman of the Finance Committee and of the Board of Selectmen. He is currently a member of the Water and Sewer Board, having been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Edmund C. Sanderson. He is also chairman of the committee supervising the improvement of the town's waterways.

When Mr. Dwinell was elected to the Water and Sewer Board he followed in the footsteps of his great grandfather, James Fisher Dwinell, who was a member of Winchester's original Water Board. Now history is repeating itself in his succession to the presidency of the Savings Bank, which position his grandfather also held. It is pleasing to old line residents to see younger men growing into the places of responsibility once held by their fathers and grandfathers. Such succession augurs well for the future of Winchester.

H., and the Harlow Juniors' son, John; also Mr. Thumin's sister, Miss Frances Thumin of Newtonville.

NEW ROLE FOR OFFICER FLAHERTY

Patrolman James E. Flaherty of the Police Department took a couple of hours from his duties Wednesday afternoon, with the blessing of Chief Harrold, to act as Santa Claus at the Christmas Party of the Lewis Parkhurst School. Those who saw "Five" in his robes of office, with his makeup by "Deputy" McGoff, state that his impersonation of Kris Kringle was most convincing. Officer Flaherty, himself, stated emphatically that he is booking no Santa Claus dates for next year, definitely!

FOOTBALL TEAM DINED

Letter players of Winchester High School's present State championship football team, with their wives, together with coaches, trainer, managers and Principal Wade Grindle, were guests Wednesday evening of the team physician, Dr. William D. Barone, at a steak dinner at the Winchester Country Club.

For the most part spontaneous speaking program Coach Henry T. Knowlton acted as toastmaster, calling on Assistant Coaches Frank Provinzano and Frank Finnegan, Trainer Leo Goddu, Principal Grindle and Dr. Barone to respond to toasts.

Coach Provinzano, a former Winchester High athletic star, spoke of his pleasure at being back in the old home town in a coaching capacity and lauded the spirit of the present student body at Winchester High.

Coach Finnegan, new to Winchester this year, also expressed his admiration for the type of spirit he found among players and students at Winchester. Principal Grindle lauded the present group of boys at high school, rating it the best he has had there in 25 years. Trainer Goddu, getting a tremendous hand from the boys, thanked Dr. Barone for including him in the dinner party and praised the Doctor's cooperation and interest in the work of caring for high school athletes. Dr. Barone also spoke of the fine spirit of cooperation existing among the coaching staff, trainer and physician.

In the course of his own remarks Coach Knowlton reminded all senior members of this year's team that they are still high school football players and always welcome at practice sessions and games, adding the information that he is always available to assist former high school athletes in any way possible.

At the conclusion of his address Coach Knowlton presented to Co-Captains Joe Donlon and Dick Errico the bronze and ivory trophy emblematic of Winchester's Massachusetts Class B Football Championship, the two captains in turn presenting the trophy to Principal Grindle, who received it for the school.

3 TO 3 DEADLOCK

On Tuesday, December 11, the Winchester Blades, minus their coach Harry Chadwick, played host to the Winchester Avengers at the Lynn Sports Center at 2 p.m.

In a game that some of the Sports Center's attendants and spectators called the roughest game they had ever seen, the two teams fought steadily for an hour, neither one giving in. Because of the undaunting spirit on both teams the game ended in a 3 to 3 deadlock. There were many bruises suffered, the worst being a sprained wrist of the Avenger's wingman Davey Dalton. Indeed, because of the rough rivalry, these two teams will probably not meet again in the near future.

However, if one looks back two weeks ago, when the Blades beat Melrose High, which in turn beat Arlington High, a strong contender for the G. B. I. crown, he would probably think of what a strong team Winchester High could have from the best of those two teams and possibly other boys.

This strength might be put to use if someone would get on the ball and get Winchester into a league.

The lineups were as follows:

Blades: r. w., MacKenzie; c., Fessenden; l. w., McLaughlin; r. d., MacNeil; c. d., Zimmerman; g., Rand.

Avengers: r. w., Lawson; c., Mahoney; l. w., Dalton; r. d., Harrigan; l. d., MacLeod; g., Sipp.

AT WOBURN FOOTBALL DINNER

Winchester High School's Head Football Coach, Henry Knowlton, and Co-Captains Dick Errico and Joe Donlon of this year's State Championship eleven, were among those invited to attend the complimentary dinner given the Woburn High eleven at the Town Line Cafe Tuesday evening.

Coach Knowlton was unable to attend, having a previous commitment to show this season's football movies to the public at the high school auditorium. Captains Errico and Donlon, however, accepted the invitation and thoroughly enjoyed themselves as the guests of their arch-gridiron rivals, the Woburn High boys.

During the evening the Woburn motion pictures of the Thanksgiving Day game were shown, and Errico came in for a lot of good natured razzing about his running form as his touchdown dash flashed on the screen. "Dick's" laughing rejoinder, "Well, I made it anyway!" more than held up his end. Carl Anderson, tackle, and Laddie Catania, back, were elected co-captains of next year's Woburn team.

SPOKE AT CLUB REUNION

Col. Nathan Thumin of Lantern Lane, Arlington, formerly for many years a resident of Winchester, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Seneca Club of the old Hale House, a settlement house in the south end of Boston.

The meeting was held at the Blue Room of the Statler Restaurant in Boston and was attended by 25 of the original 29 members of the Seneca Club, a boy's club of which Col. Thumin was director 25 years ago. The club has continued to hold monthly meetings through the years and will observe its 40th anniversary in the spring.

Col. Thumin took as the subject of his talk Tuesday evening, "Enjoy yourself, it's later than you think!"

TOWN BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Managers of teams intending to play in the Town Basketball League, sponsored by the Park Department under the community recreation program, are urged to get their entries in at once.

Five teams is the minimum necessary for the league to function, and thus far only one team has signed up for the competition. The town hopes to be able to run the league this winter, but can not do so unless advance interest warrants.

Richard Halverson is director of the league and all managers of teams or individuals interested in forming teams are urged to communicate with him at once at WInchester 6-2422-M.

KOREAN RAILROADS CARRY MAJOR LOAD IN UN'S WAR

On the railroad that wages war in Korea, boxcars are the missile ships and the fighting front is a freight yard, the National Geographic Society reports.

Several dozen new diesel-electric locomotives have been shipped to Korea recently, the U. S. Army Transportation Corps has disclosed. Unheralded in dispatches, they will be weapons nonetheless as crucial as the groaning trainloads of tanks, guns, supplies, and troops hauled north through the battered Korean countryside.

In the dark days of the Pusan foothold, an entire division was picked up and moved by train, 100 miles in less than 24 hours, to meet a Communist spearhead. Many another time rail transportation has spelled the difference between success and failure of United Nations operations. Railways have been used tactically to an extent not seen since the American Civil War. They have also carried 95 per cent of the U. N. supply load in some areas.

Japanese Network

Japanese military engineers, in the years before World War II, built one of the Far East's finest rail networks in Korea. In many ways it was better than Japan's own narrow-gauge system. Track and equipment in Korea are standard gauge, built to match the Manchurian railways.

Roadbeds are well graded and well ballasted. Cuts and tunnels are reinforced with concrete and steel. Two and sometimes three bridges were built at vital river crossings on the 500-mile double track main line from Pusan north to Sinuiju on the Manchurian border. Japan built a railroad to meet military needs. Today the rails are doing just that, but not for the Japanese.

Prior to the opening of hostilities in 1950 there were about 3,500 miles of standard-gauge lines and some 400 miles of narrow-gauge branches throughout Korea. But the Iron Curtain across the 38th parallel had already chopped the system in two. In South Korea, an area about the size of the state of Indiana, there were 2,700 miles of track, requiring 239 tunnels and 1,724 bridges.

In the short span of 17 months, many parts of this network have been wrecked and rebuilt several times. Battered rolling stock has been patched up by one part repair facilities and two parts ingenuity. The small Korean steam locomotives often did their jobs with bullet holes in their boilers plugged with wooden pegs.

Hazard

Members of the U. S. 3rd Transportation Military Railway Service, who have supervised U. N. rail operations since the early days of war, often hold the throttle in one hand and a gun in the other.

Trains have been pushed through guerrilla-held country with sandbagged gondola cars mounted with machine guns on the front and rear. Locomotives and ammunition-loaded cars have been snatched from beneath the noses of the Communists as the enemy advanced on burning yards and roundhouses.

Head of track has stayed close behind the front line. Today the main line ends at the demolished Han River bridge just above Munsan, advanced base of U. N. peace negotiators. Here, on top of the hottest spot in the world, newswise, a 10-car train is parked as the press headquarters for news correspondents covering the war and the current truce talks at Panmunjon.

ENTEBBE AIRFIELD CUTS TRAVEL TIME IN AFRICA

The new British airfield recently opened at Entebbe, Uganda, is Africa's largest, with runways two miles long capable of handling the latest jet planes.

Built 250 miles south of the southern border of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, the field occupies a strategically important position between the Middle East and South Africa, says the National Geographic Society. It has the advantage of year-around good weather. Entebbe, capital of the British Uganda Protectorate, nestles on the north shore of Lake Victoria, where seaplanes also can land.

Natives Accept Air Age

Reports from the capital say Uganda's nearly five million tribesmen have taken the arrival of the jet age in stride. Early missionaries considered these Africans the most advanced of the entire central section of the continent. They quickly learned to cultivate cotton — now Uganda's most valuable cash crop. Tea, rubber and coffee plantations are profitable.

Modern methods and transportation have altered customs for many native families. They now live in rectangular stone and wood homes, rather than in rude beehive thatch dwellings. Girls even wear European clothing instead of bark cloth and animal skins. The women are inclined to cling to brilliantly colored native dress, and in the far interior, to old style brief covering.

Brides Under Price Control

Along with the jet age, inflation and price control have penetrated even the remote jungles. The local government was forced to do something when the price of brides rose sky high. The price is now "frozen" at five head of cattle, five goats, and the equivalent of $2.80 in cash, per bride.

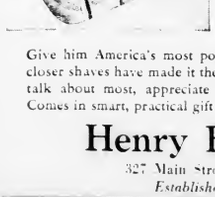

Grasshoppers, with rhinoceroses, leopards, and crocodiles are found in Uganda today as they were 81 years ago when the explorer, David Livingstone, disappeared while searching for the sources of the Nile River.

After 22 years residence on Arlington street Mr. and Mrs. Clinton H. Jonas are moving next Wednesday to their newly purchased house at 64 North Border road.

As a change of pace, a violin solo will be played by Annette Barbaro, an accomplished high school senior.

The dramatic portion of the entertainment will begin with "Christmas Memories", a playlet with music. The cast will include Walter Maroney, portraying the part of Grandfather Hiram, Jacqueline Sturtevant in the role of Grandmother Sarah, and Carol Brown, as Sue. Musical interludes will be provided by the Girls' Octette and a newly-organized group of male voices, the Key-Notes.

BUSY VACATION

When Winchester's representative in the General Court, Harris on Chadwick of Everett avenue, was asked how he is enjoying his vacation now that the legislative session is over, he replied something like this:

"It certainly is nice to have the session off our backs for a while. It doesn't mean, however, that our legislative duties have ended. I am serving on three recess commissions, studying matters during the interim for report to the next sitting of the General Court. One of these is the commission dealing with the reorganization of the state government, which has grown into a hodgepodge of inharmonsilke as a patchwork quilt. We hope to do a real streamlining job before we get through. Another commission deals with revising the rules and parliamentary procedures of the General Court itself. If we can get appropriate action on this, the efficiency of the legislative branch should be vastly improved and the sessions shortened. The third and last of the studies I am connected with is the commission on hypertension, — a long range program to see whether the public health services of the state can do something to alleviate the ravages of this number one killer. I might add that none of these commissions does any traveling outside the City of Boston, and each takes about one day a week of time.

"In addition to the official recess studies, there is other research to be done, bill drafting, investigations, inspections, committee meetings, political meetings, speaking engagements, telephone calls, correspondence, conferences with constituents, and just plain errands for people with problems. All in all, the time required to perform legislative duties during 'vacation' is sufficient to make most any union organizer believe he has overlooked a fertile field. However, it is very interesting and really seems worthwhile in such an appreciative district as mine. I am convinced I represent the best district in the state. I hope the people will continue to bring their requests to me freely whenever they think I can be of help."

SCIENCE ASSEMBLY AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL

Having concluded a science unit on the adaptation of plants and animals to winter, the pupils of Mrs. Ruth Graham's combination grade three and four presented an interesting assembly to their schoolmates last week.

After an opening march played on the piano by Valerie Ducharme, the program was announced by Paul Harrigan. The first number was a choral reading entitled "Mr. Frog's Good-by." Tommy Purtle read the part of the frog, and the children who questioned him about his winter habits were Valerie Ducharme, Suzanne Meek and Sonja Weeks. At the conclusion of the choral reading the children sang "The Toad."

"New Places to Grow" was the title of a choral reading about seed dispersal, with the following pupils participating. Seed: Tommy Purtle, Linda Senter, Susan Carter, Sonja Weeks, Beverley Bailey, James Bogue, Penny Dalziel, Gloria Rotondi, Carmeline Holland, Valerie Ducharme, Suzanne Meek and Penny Borden. The Wind: Lawrence Bennett; the water: Billy Lamarche; the animals: Andy Sjoholm and Judy Donovan; the birds: Susan Gleason and Stephen Monson. This reading also ended with a song, "Seeds."

For the second part of the assembly good television habits were dramatized in a play entitled "To View or Not to View." The following children took part: Nanette Marshall, Marcia Eaton, Bill Fitts, Penny Borden and James Bogue.

George Neville played the piano for the children to leave the assembly hall.

Three Winchester girls, Miss Linda Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bartlett of Herrick street; Miss Emily Hood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hood of Everett avenue; and Miss Dorothy Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Parker of Wilson street, sang with the Wheaton College Choir of 90 voices in its fifth annual contest coast broadcast on Monday night, December 10th.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB

On Saturday evening, December eighth, at the Winchester High School Auditorium, the curtains parted promptly at 8:15 to the singing of the Mystic Glee Club's Theme Song introducing the Club's Twelfth Annual Winter Concert. The thoroughly enjoyable program which followed, was enthusiastically received by a capacity audience.

Many of the numbers on the program were memorized by the club which created a good effect and provided for closer contact with the conductor. Perhaps special mention should be made of the tenor sections. Their tone quality was very pleasing and the enunciation was excellent throughout the entire program. The baritone and bass sections also maintained the high standard for which they are known. As usual, the piano accompaniment by Mrs. Middleton was delightfully versatile and technically accomplished.

Mr. Keith Snyder and the Club are to be congratulated for the finished quality of this performance. Mr. Snyder's control of the group was revealed throughout the program by his ability to transmit feeling and to evoke a sympathetic response, particularly in the softer passages and in the humming.

Program
Part One

The Mystic Club Theme Song
Words by Theodore F. Dudley
Music by Frederick Erickson
Where'er You Walk George F. Handel
The Dreaming Lake Robert Schumann
Deck the Hall Welsh Traditional Carol
arr. by Frederick Erickson
Mystic Glee Club

The two outstanding numbers in this group were "Where'er You Walk" and "The Dreaming Lake" in both of which the Club successfully created the romantic mood of these selections. Dynamics and tone control were noticeably good, and the humming was beautifully done. Words were clear throughout, even in the softest passages.

The spirited carol, "Deck the Hall", offered an excellent contrasting number. For an encore The Club sang the Czechoslovakian Dance Song with lilting rhythm and facile manner.

Sweet Flower Campbell-Tipton
In Gay My Window Rachmaninoff
To This We've Come
Arias from "The Consul" Menotti
Barbara Hayes Soprano
Kenneth Manzer Accompanist

Miss Hayes' voice possessed fullness and richness of quality. Her first selection ended with a beautifully sustained tone. Very outstanding was her rendition of the Aria, "To This We've Come". The dramatic quality of her voice was well suited to the heart-rending theme of the Aria, which was beautifully done with fine support from Mr. Manzer at the piano. The applause of the audience when she was presented with a bouquet was positive evidence of their enjoyment of her singing.

Part Two

Ezekiel Saw De Wheel Negro Spiritual
arr. by R. T. Burleigh
I've Been Listening Negro Spiritual
arr. by Homer A. Rodeheaver
Down in the Valley Kentucky Folk Tune
arr. by George Mead
See That Babe in the Lowly Manger
Spiritual, Noah F. Ryder
Glee Club

The spirituals in this group were (as usual) appealing to the audience. Perhaps the number deserving special mention was "Down in the Valley". This Folk Tune was extremely well done and gave the basses and baritones an opportunity to be heard to good advantage. The guitar effect of the accompaniment was particularly well adapted to this type of song. The melodious arrangement was enhanced by the evident enjoyment with which it was sung.

Another rollicking Czech folk song, "A, Lushka, Lushka", was sung as an encore and was, perhaps, the best of the spirited numbers of the entire program.

Part Three

The Magic of Music Daniel Protheroe
Piano Solo — Paul Gerber
The Christmas Spiritual
arr. by W. Work
Lord, Put Song
arr. by A. T. Davison
Glee Club

It was in this group of songs that the Glee Club began to sing its best and excellent tone blending became more apparent. Especially well done were two A Cappella numbers, "Here Is Thy Footstool", which was sung in reverent organ tones, and "Go Tell It on the Mountain". The latter selection was sung by Miss Hayes with choral accompaniment by the Glee Club.

"The Galway Piper" could have been sung a little more freely, as is true to a degree of some of the other spirited numbers on the program, but the interesting bagpipe accompaniment by Mrs. Middleton literally stole the show.

When the encore, "Spin, Spin", was announced by Keith Snyder, the audible appreciative murmurs showed clearly that this is a favorite with Mystic Glee Club audiences. The number was sung with tenderness and feeling.

Summertime Gershwin
Prelude Ronald
I Can't Be Talking of Love Duke
Barbara Hayes

Again Miss Hayes' selections were well suited to her voice. The last number showed her remarkable versatility in being able to sing light as well as serious and dramatic songs. Her encore, Leonard Bernstein's humorous "I Hate Music", gave her an opportunity to reveal herself as a clever comedienne. The audience was obviously disappointed that she did not respond to their requests for another encore.

Part Four

How Down Thine Ear, Oh Lord Rhodri M. Morgan
How Far Is It To Bethlehem? Geoffrey Shaw
"Twas the Night Before Christmas" Ken Darby
Glee Club

At this point in the program the lights of a Christmas tree at one side of the stage were turned on, as the Glee Club started to sing their last group of songs, composed of Christmas selections.

"Bow Down Thine Ear, Oh Lord" was the highlight of the evening's program. It was in this selection that the Glee Club achieved the greatest depth of religious feeling and the greatest control of dynamics.

"Twas the Night Before Christmas", the final number, a favorite of modern times, was sung with dash and was thoroughly enjoyed. Again, orchids to the accompanist.

EN KA TEA

The annual En Ka tea in honor of the provisional members was held on Friday, December seventh at the home of Mrs. Harold Meyer. White chrysanthemums and poinsettas throughout the house added much to the festive occasion.

The following new members were presented to the society. Mrs. Charles W. Butler, Mrs. Frank R. Creelman, Mrs. Richard Fisher, Mrs. Robert J. Fletcher, Mrs. Warren D. M. Haley and Mrs. Paul M. White.

A very attractive and delicious tea was served by Mrs. Townley-Tilson and her committee. Mrs. Edward Kuypers, Mrs. Cheney Cook, Mrs. Irving Jennings and Mrs. Vincent Clarke poured.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER OF THE D.A.R.

The Committee of Safety Chapter of the D. A. R. will hold its Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles M. Vanner, 10 Oxford street on Monday, December 17 at 2:30 p. m.

Miss Gloria Strickland, coloratura soprano from Swampscott, will give a new interpretation to several selections of Christmas music.

Mrs. Alferd H. Avery of Malden, the guest speaker, will have as her subject "The Challenges of Christmas". Mrs. Avery, selected to be the Massachusetts Mother of the Year in 1949 by the Golden Rule Foundation, has long been interested in the training and education of youth and has been the American Mother of young women from China, India and the Philippines, who have been attending colleges in this vicinity, many of whom have spent long vacations in her home. Here she has taught the American ideals and high grade standards. In her home besides her own two children, she has for ten years cared for two English children evacuated from London in 1941. Her life gives accent to her work.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton P. Charles of 2 Alden Lane are the parents of a son, Jeffrey Markham, born December 8 at the Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Lybeck of 9 Everell road and Mrs. Bessie Charles of Newburyport.

SHORTER LUNCH PERIOD FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

As announced earlier this fall in a bulletin sent to all parents of children in the Winchester Public Schools, a change in the time schedule of the elementary schools will be adopted after the Christmas holidays.

The following is quoted from a bulletin issued by the Winchester School Committee on October 5, 1951: "Beginning on January 2, 1952, and continuing through February 29, or at the discretion of the School Committee, the Elementary Schools will operate on a 60 minute lunch period with a corresponding earlier dismissal in the afternoon; those parents desiring to have their children remain at school for lunch during this period are requested to send a note to the school setting forth the reasons for their request before December 20, 1951."

VACATION SPECIAL

The Baptist Youth Fellowship is sponsoring a Hay Ride (we hope it will be a sleigh) Saturday evening, December 29th. At 6:45 p. m. we will meet at the Church, drive to the stables, — then a three hour Hay Ride, either in a Sleigh or a Wagon. All young people are invited. The charge will be one dollar per person and reservations must be made by Sunday, December 23rd.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Every Brownie is eager to share the Christmas spirit by participating in the carol-singing around the Community tree on the Common. All second grades sing on December 19; third grades on December 20 and fourth grades on the 21st. They will sing from 4 till 4:30.

The Senior Planning Board will meet Monday, December 17 at 7 p. m.

The Summer of 1953 will mean another trip to England for a few lucky Scouts — but such trips are planned far in advance. Troop I, under the leadership of Mrs. Vivian White, is earning money toward the trip by selling Scripps's Famous Ribbon Candy. Orders may be called into the Girl Scout Office or to Mrs. White, SToneham 6-1694 M.

In Winchester we need no proof of the worth whileness of the trip to England but we were greatly honored by a letter from the Department of State. The Department is further developing its program of International information and education and is requesting 20 copies of the Publication "Let's Go to the British Isles" which was written by our girls when they returned the summer of 1950.

We hope every friend will stop in at Filene's the week of December 17-22 around 4 p. m. to hear the Scouts sing Christmas carols.

39 NEW DIESELS FOR B. & M.

Thirty-nine new Diesel electric locomotives have been ordered by the Boston and Maine Railroad at a total cost of five million dollars. The new Diesel units will be delivered during the first five months of 1952 and will on arrival retire 17 steam locomotives now in service.

With the delivery of the new locomotives, the Boston and Maine will have a total of 233 Diesel electric units which will practically dieselize the entire system with the exception of the steam locomotives which will be used in the Boston commutation service.

All through passenger and freight trains have been operated on the Boston and Maine by Diesel power for some time, but some steam locomotives have been used on the branch lines. With a few minor exceptions, when these new Diesels go into service, the entire Fitchburg Division west of Ayer will be dieselized, the Portland Division east of Haverhill, and the New Hampshire Division north of Lowell.

TWO FALSE ALARMS

Two recent alarms from Box 333 located at the corner of Forest and Washington streets turned out to be false. The first of the two was rung in at 11:15 last week Thursday night. The second was Sunday night at about the same time.

EVERGREEN DANCE

Santa Claus made a pre-holiday visit to Winchester last Friday night to join the festivities at the annual Evergreen Dance of the Wednesday Night Club of the First Congregational Church. One hundred and twenty members and their guests danced from nine till one to the music of Will Rodochia and his orchestra. The parish hall was completely transformed into a Christmas fairyland with tinsel, laurel, candles and beautifully wrapped Christmas packages. The center of all eyes was a 15 foot tree trimmed with silver decorations on a revolving platform. There were many dessert parties before the dance at the homes of different members, those entertaining were:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams
Mr. and Mrs. George Gowdy
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oxford
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hodges
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ashenden
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mulford
Mr. and Mrs. Larry Poxton
Mr. and Mrs. John Moralsito
Mr. and Mrs. Colver Dyer
Mr. and Mrs. Walfried Wiklund

Everyone appreciated the hard work of the committee which made this dance such a success; headed by Jim Gustin they included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. William Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alpaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carter, Mrs. Philip Hovnanian, and Mrs. Milne Blanchard.

MYSTIC SCHOOL TEACHERS' LUNCHEON

On Wednesday, December 5, Mrs. William Wolsey, 50 Jefferson road, was hostess at a delightful buffet luncheon for Mr. Joseph C. Forte, Mrs. Maude G. Dover, and the Mystic School teachers. With no school in the afternoon because of a professional teachers' meeting with Dr. Norris, the longer noon hour and the mildness of the weather both contributed to a leisurely and most enjoyable gathering.

Mrs. Colver P. Dyer and Mrs. Everett A. Tisdale helped to welcome the teachers, while those assisting Mrs. Wolsey were Mrs. Frederick L. Baily, Mrs. Wayne H. Cowles, Mrs. Gordon D. Peckham, Mrs. Seth H. Shorey.

W. S. C. S. CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will hold its annual Christmas supper on Thursday, December 20th, at 6:30 p. m.

Devotions will be led by Mrs. Donald Wilkins. A most interesting speaker, Mr. Beret will speak on the subject, "The History of the Greeting Card."

The members of the society will exchange gifts. A most excellent supper has been planned. This, as in previous years, is expected to be a gala evening. All members are urged to put the date on their busy Holiday calendars and to come to the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Thursday, December 20th, for an evening of fellowship and fun.

CSC CHOMOIS SKI TIPS

Last week Chandler's Barn overflowed with skiers at the December meeting of the Chamois Ski Club of Winchester. The meeting was opened with the introduction of new members. Following a short business meeting, which included plans for the old and new styles of equipment from the inside out — long ones or short ones? Try the adjustable ones — that is, in ski poles. I've them long for cross country, then short for slalom. Harry's day humor was really a treat to hear and he made his talk especially helpful by having a good array of skis and equipment on hand. Coffee and doughnuts were enjoyed following the showing of the ski film "A Nation of Skiers" featuring Rominger and the Swiss Mountain Troops.

President Naulit again showed his interesting ski movie to a fine crowd of our Junior Skiers at Chandler's Barn on Thursday afternoon. On Saturday the Juniors met at the Mystic School auditorium under the direction of Bill Davies and Bob Lamson who explained and demonstrated ski equipment to them and to their parents.

Last Monday evening Rolly Naulit, Jim Greene and Al Breed attended the Inter-Club meeting at the Colonial Golf Club and gathered news and ideas to present at the Chamois Skiers' January meeting.

Now that the snow is beginning to fly, don't forget when the weekends roll around, if you need transportation to the slopes, call Al Breed, Winchester 6-1811-R or any of the Chamois Club directors. Ski hell!

COUNTRY CLUB WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The Winchester Country Club Women's Bowling League enjoyed a Christmas play at their weekly luncheon on Tuesday. Cast included Mrs. Cleo Daly, Mrs. Harvard L. Mann, Mrs. Chas. J. Emerson, Mrs. Edward Kuypers, Mrs. John Coulson, Mrs. Jas. L. Jenks, Mrs. Curtis J. Ware, Mrs. Peter Kramer, Mrs. William P. Hunt, Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, Mrs. Thos. S. Knight, Mrs. Crosby Kelly. The star of the play, playing the role of Santa Claus, was Mrs. Kelly. Music was furnished by Mrs. Daly, accompanied by Mrs. Joe Donnell and choir. Decorations were by Mr. Bill Dunsworth.

Santa presented each member with a gift from the huge Xmas tree, after which a delicious holiday luncheon was served with each place setting marked by gay Christmas cookies presented by Christie McDonald's Food Shop.

Much excitement was caused by the "baby doll" won by Mrs. Robert McKeown and donated by Gerbill Toy Stores of Winchester and Melrose. Mrs. McKeown assured everyone that it was just what her new niece, age two weeks, had been asking for.

Lovely hand wrought sterling silver ear rings, made and donated by Macefield Jewelers, were won by Mrs. Greiner, while Mrs. Ed Garrity was the lucky winner of the "bowling girl" cigarette case given by Colonial Perfumers as their Christmas gift to the spirited League.

Mr. Dave Whyte, Pro at W.C.C., presented a pair of hand knit golf hose as his Christmas present to the members of his Club, and these were won by Mrs. Bradford Bentley.

The next weekly luncheon will be held at the Club on January 8, 1952.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS GREENS AND FOOD SALE

Next Wednesday, December 19 at 10 a. m. the Winchester Home and Garden Club celebrate the Christmas season by sharing the holiday spirit in many different ways. You and your friends are hereby invited to the Baptist Church Recreation Hall. There will be background Christmas music, decorations will be made for the Winchester Hospital and Library, and Christmas greens, favors, and decorations will be sold.

Mrs. Alexander Aitken, President of the club, has spent hours fashioning the most unique mistletoe bells — a new idea and very attractively carried out. Helping at the day long workshop recently at Mrs. John Wills home were Mrs Edward McIlvery, Mrs. Robert Bayliss, Mrs. Alexander Aitken, Mrs. Frederick Cole, Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Edwin Chesterman, Mrs. Frederick Churchill, Mrs. Everett Gray, Mrs. Willard Hudson, Mrs. Frank Robinson, and Miss Louise Bancroft.

This year the luncheon chairmen, Mrs. George French and Mrs. Percy Bugbee are planning a delightful menu. So come and enjoy yourselves quietly in this hectic holiday week. The committee must know by Monday a. m. December 17th how many reservations you need. Please call Mrs. Bugbee, Winchester 6-2257 or Mrs. Frank Robinson, Winchester 6-2250.

There is to be a food table. This innovation will help you solve some gift problems as well as help out on the family meals at home. Mrs. Edward Mansfield, Mrs. Frank Robinson and Mrs. Frederick Churchill are soliciting home made food articles for this venture. If you are unable to bring your contributions, this committee are very willing to pick them up.

Mrs. Norman Mitchell assisted by a large group of workers will display and sell a marvellous collection of holiday articles on the 19th. Cones, greens, decorated stars and bells, angels, choir boys, metal tree ornaments and table trees. So come early and help put over the 1951 Christmas Sale.

CURLING SEASON STARTS

The Winchester Country Club curlers have had three Tuesday night sessions at the Country Club, Brookline, rink so far this winter. The season will extend through the middle of March. Interest is keen this year, with a full membership and a number of new curlers, including Larry Burke, Bill Sinclair, Frank Murphy, Charlie Siders, Courtney Gendron and Bob Dunbar. Bob Fisher tried it out this week and found it was just as hard to control a 35 pound stone on slippery ice as it was a golf ball on a putting green.

Last week was the start of competition for the White Cup. Charley Eaton's rink won over Bill Davis'. Al Litchfield won over Franklin Lane's and Dan Morse's rink over Charley Waghorne's. This week there were two Young Cup contests. Al Litchfield, skipping Craven's rink in Fritz's absence, won over Dick Nelley, due principally to the fine curling of Howard Morrison and Arthur Butters. John Joy and his rink gave Shorty Carr a good battle until near the end, saving his side many points by fine last shots, but Shorty's all-around and persistent fine curling won him the match.

Two Red vs. Blue matches were also curled this week. John Colson and his cohorts kept out ahead until the last stone, when Geof Nelley made one of his famous shots, scoring four points to win by two stones. Mike Hunt and Keith Fulton fought a 12-12 tie.

For the first three sessions the Reds lead the Blues by 110 to 82.

TIPSY DRIVER FINED

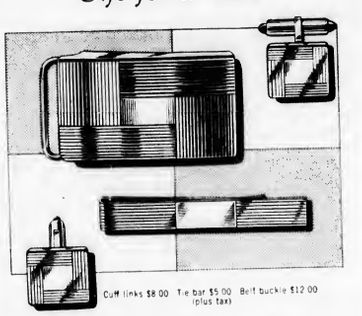

Officer Thomas Hannon of the police department, while directing traffic at the intersection of Washington street, Swanton street and Park avenue late Monday afternoon, narrowly missed being struck by an automobile headed north on Washington street.

Officer Hannon took the driver into custody on charges of drunkenness and operating while under the influence of liquor. He was locked up at headquarters where he gave his name as Daniel F. Donovan and his address as Billerica.

Donovan was arraigned in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning, at which time he was found guilty and fined $50.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH FORUM

The Dramatic Club will present the Christmas Play, "A Lesson from Luke", at the Worship Service this Sunday at 9:30 a. m. in the Social Hall. Mrs. B. Bentley is the Director and the cast includes: Janet Archibald, Tina Tonon, Nancy Ayer, Mary Lou Armstrong, Susan Tallman, John Gould and Dick Rush. While Holiday plans take the immediate attention of all, the Race Relations Committee is looking forward to the International Weekend in February. To become informed about the New Foreign Student Center in Cambridge seemed to be the first step, so with Mr. and Mrs. James Allen a group of four visited the center last Sunday afternoon. They shared a social hour and discussion period with the Cambridge Students and are most enthusiastic about the plans to entertain many of them in Winchester. The Forum Committee is: Catherine Goss, Judy Harmon, Janet Macauley and Brad Johnson.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM PLANNED

A special program has been planned for the Adult Group of the Second Congregational Church which will meet at the church on Thursday, December 20, at 8:00 p.m. Featured on the program will be Miss Joanne Roach, soprano, of Brockton, who will sing several Christmas selections. Immediately after breakfast, the children will go to their Church School classes and the women are invited to remain for the Brotherhood meeting and to hear their traditional speaker, Dr. Forbes Norris.

At the 10:45 Morning Sanctuary Service the children of the Church School will bring their White Gifts to the altar. This is an annual custom and the gifts brought are distributed to needy children. The Youth Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Richard Allison, will sing at this service and the Pastor, Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, will preach on "The Wisdom Wise Men Seek".

Secretary Betsy Burton read thank you notes from the Childrens' Medical Center, Winchester Home for the Aged, and Winchester Hospital, for Junior Red Cross services by our members.

Our Treasurer, David Sturtevant, reported a total of $34.80 received on the membership drive.

J. H. WINN'S SONS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Things are stirring again at the Watch Hand factory, for on Saturday, December 15, they have their annual holiday dinner, entertainment and dancing at Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church. The entertainment will be furnished as usual by the employees. Several acts are on tap and promise to be quite pleasing.

The management and those on entertainment are working together to produce another gala event.

METHODISTS IN MIDST OF CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

This coming Sunday morning, the pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will speak on the subject, "A Christmas Gift for You". It is the second of a series of Christmas sermons.

At 7:45 p. m. this Sunday evening, the Mary Witham Singers will present a Christmas program of music. This is a service for the whole family.

The traditional Christmas Eve service will be held December 24th in the form of a Candle Lighting dedication.

On the morning of December 30th, Norman Clayton of Illinois, who plays a singing part in the new play coming to the Plymouth Theatre in a few days, will be the guest soloist.

In the evening at 8:15 p. m. on December 30th, Alice Farnsworth, popular as a noted soloist all over New England, and soloist at Tremont Temple Baptist Church, Boston, will be with us as our guest. Her many followers in Winchester, will be pleased to hear the good news of her coming.

TO WELCOME THE CHRIST CHILD

The program is to be presented by the Mary Witham Singers, the Winchester women's choral organization directed by Mary Banton Witham who is so well known here for her beautiful musical productions. The accompanist for the group is Grace Norian, Winchester's talented young pianist, and the evening's carols will be enriched by readings given by Marian T. Blake whose art is so well fitted to deepen the inspiration of the service.

CUB PACK SEVEN NEWS

Cub Pack Seven held their December pack meeting Friday, December 7th at the First Baptist church. After the preliminary period of games the Cubs opened the meeting with the Salute to the Flag and the Cub Promise. Billy Morton and Paul LaMarche who are now eleven and have met all of the Webelos requirements were graduated from the Pack and were welcomed into Troop Seven. COLLISION AT PARKWAY AND MAIN STREET

A Winchester woman, within a month of child-birth, and two young children were taken to the Winchester Hospital last Sunday afternoon after the car in which they were riding with their husband and father was in collision with another automobile driven by a man from Cumberland, R. I., at the junction of the Parkway and Main street.

According to the police the car driven by the Winchester man was headed east on the Parkway and crossing Main street. The Rhode Island car was headed north on Main street. Both were damaged, the Olds being towed to Ungerman's Garage.

The Winchester woman and her children were taken to the hospital in a police car and attended by Dr. Harry Benson, who ordered the expectant mother held for observation.

The wife of the Rhode Island man was taken to the hospital by J. Joseph Maloney of 6 Lincolnshire Way. She also was treated by Dr. Benson for a bruised head and left knee. Neither operator saw the other car until just before the collision.

The MacArthurs went on the Bankers' Special out of New York and the Cusacks flew down.

WINCHESTER OFFICER ON RECOMMISSIONED SHIP

There is Winchester interest in the recommissioning of the USS Eaton at the Boston Navy Yard on Tuesday because of the fact that a Winchester man, Lt. Comdr. Kenneth A. Morris, USN, is executive officer of the ship. Comdr. Morris, and his wife and their three children, Desdemona, Alex and Leland, make their home at 40 Allen road.

The Eaton is a destroyer that participated in 10 major engagements while in the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre during World War II. Named in honor of the late General William Eaton, USA, who rose to fame during the early part of the 19th century as "Hero of Derne" in the brief but eventful war on the Tripoli pirates.

The Destroyer Eaton was originally commissioned December 4, 1942, at the Boston Navy Yard. Under command of Lt. Comdr. Edward L. Beck, USN, now retired with the rank of Rear Admiral, she joined the Pacific forces under Admiral William F. "Bull" Halsey. She brought down a Japanese torpedo bomber, sank a Jap submarine and accounted for half a dozen planes, as well as firing more than 10,000 rounds from her main battery in more than a dozen shore bombardments. Before being inactivated the Eaton had traveled the equivalent of ten times around the world.

The Eaton's new commander will be Comdr. Brisco Chipman, USN, of Newton Center, a 1935 graduate of the Naval Academy, who saw extensive action in the European-African war area. Among his decorations is that of the special Breast Order of Yun Hui, awarded by the Chinese Nationalist Government for training Chinese crews that served aboard eight ships which were transferred to their government.

Billy Thoms, son of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Thoms of Maxwell road, who underwent an operation at the Winchester Hospital last week-end for the removal of his tonsils, re-

INDIANS SCALPED DANVERS

Easily Won Hoop Opener, 53-30

Winchester High opened its basketball season with a 53-30 victory over Danvers High at the high school gym last Friday evening. The visitors were no match for the locals as Coach Bartlett used 14 players in an effort to obtain an estimate on some of his reserves for the coming season. The usual opening game's mistakes were in evidence, but the Indians did show considerable speed, much aggressiveness off both backboards, and a strong defense.

Danvers scored the first basket of the game, but this was the only time they were in the lead, as the locals moved out in front by a score of 15-6 at the end of the first period. At the half the Indians had increased this to a margin of 29-12 and coasted to an easy win in the second half. Various combinations were experimented with in the second half, so that the Indians did [illegible]

[illegible] Johnny Farrell and Bob [illegible] turned in good performances for Winchester, while Stu [illegible] [illegible] Bartlett's eye. [illegible] would be a big help to the Red and Black this season if he would overcome some of his catch [illegible] which impairs his efficiency.

Coach Knowlton used no less than 17 players in an attempt to keep the game from turning into a rout. Dave Pratt and Neil Munster looked good for the locals, while "Moose" Bellino and Al [illegible] built up a following among the spectators with their flashy play.

GREATLY IMPROVED

Former Resident Recovering In Maine

Mrs. Howard Razee, a former resident of Winchester who has been seriously ill with an attack of double virus pneumonia and dermatitis at her home in Passaranbeag, Me., is reported to be greatly improved and expects to be sufficiently recovered by Christmas to enjoy the holiday with her husband and friends.

Mrs. Razee deeply appreciates the many letters, cards and gifts sent to her by Winchester friends during her illness, remembrances that helped greatly to make her days of invalidism much brighter.

She regrets that she is unable to thank individually all those who remembered her during her illness and has asked the Star to express her gratitude to all her friends in Winchester.

WINTHROP TO TEST WINCHESTER

Winchester High travels to Winthrop tonight to engage Winthrop High in their second contest of the current campaign. This will be a severe test for the Red and Black as Winthrop is always represented by a strong quintet that is particularly difficult to beat on their tricky court. Winthrop has already defeated Melrose and Wakefield by substantial margins, and both of the latter are Middlesex League rivals of the Red and Black. It is expected that Coach Bartlett will insert Doug Hawkins into the starting lineup to handle the high scoring Steve Males, whom local fans will remember as the bruising fullback of last fall's Winthrop High football team.

A week from tonight the Indians will begin their Middlesex League schedule with Lexington High as the attraction at the high school gym. This is perfect scheduling from the Winchester point of view as Winchester and Lexington are defending [illegible] Middlesex [illegible] would [illegible] [illegible] a [illegible] [illegible] next Friday [illegible]

THE JOSLINS WRITE FROM ROME

December 8, 1951

Editor, The Star:

[illegible] letter we have [illegible] Delhi, [illegible] Ankara, Turkey. We are in Rome [illegible] days, then on to Paris, London and [illegible] to the "Athens of America", Winchester.

[illegible] on through to Istanbul. [illegible] we passed through [illegible] most ancient parts of the world, scenes of many wars, historical and religious. Some of the beautiful mosques were once Christian churches, turned to the use [illegible] religions [illegible] throughout the ages.

Many of these ancient cities have been rebuilt many times; for example, New Delhi has been destroyed and rebuilt seven times and in the present city there are the foundations for three cities covering some 1500 years.

The present New Delhi is a beautiful modern city, dating from 1925 when the British decided to build a modern capital city of India. The layout and architecture is modern and beautiful in all respects.

While in New Delhi we were guests of Dr. Kailas Nath Katju, who is now minister of Laws and Home Affairs. Through him and his secretary, Kalaraman, everything was arranged for our pleasure and we met many personages of importance in the Indian Government.

Because of the political campaign going on in India we did not meet Pandit Nehru, the Prime Minister, but we did meet and talk with Dr. Rajendra Prasad, the President of India; Honorable Mr. Justice G. R. Das, Justice of the Indian Supreme Court; Honorable Mr. M. C. Setalvad, Attorney General of the Indian Government; Mr. M. N. Kaul, Secretary of the Indian Congress and Mr. Tara Chand Mathur, President of the Delhi Bar Association. We also had the pleasure of meeting and having tea with Ambassador and Mrs. Chester Bowles from the United States at their home in New Delhi, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Evan Wilson, Consul General for the United States in India.

While examining the government gardens in New Delhi a Professor Rao introduced himself to me, saying he knew the Terzaghi of Winchester very well and have visited them several times. He is professor of Economics in New Delhi.

Among the many historic places we have seen in New Delhi and Delhi are the Red Fort, dating back 1600 years; the Berla Temple, one of the most famous Mohammedan mosques; the Tutab Minar and Alla, a tower 238 ft. high with a base diameter of about 18 ft., built about 1200 A. D.; Humayun's Tomb, built about 1550 A. D., and the old fort built about the same time; and above all, the new memorial Samadhi of Mahatma Gandhi where he was cremated after his assassination in 1947. Pilgrimages from all over India come to pay homage to this great leader.

We traveled about 20 miles outside New Delhi to Faridabad where about 30,000 displaced persons had come from the Pakistan area after the partition of India. In three years they have progressed from living in tents to a settlement of 20,000 homes with modern utilities and conveniences, roads, schools and shopping centers. Contrasting this with the terrible conditions around Calcutta makes one believe India, under proper leadership, can survive as a nation.

Our airplane trip from New Delhi, made at night, took us through Pakistan, Iraq, and Lebanon, to Turkey. We had time to see some of 600 mosques in Istanbul and the great covered Bazaar where 10,000 little businesses are carried on. In Ankara we saw the great Mausoleum of Attatok the first President of Democratic Turkey, who started modernizing the ancient country in 1927. Turkey is receiving much aid from the United States and it shows in many ways.

We left Istanbul on the morning of December 8 in a British European Airways Viking, landed in Athens for fueling and arrived in Rome at 4:15 in the afternoon.

Sincerely,
Jim, Caroline
and Tommy Joslin

Great God and Father of mankind, we Thou renew the childlike spirit within us as we draw near to the Nativity. Quicken in us the mood of wonder and the joy of expectancy. HEAVY CHRISTMAS MAILING

The slogan "Mail early" really had some meaning this year. Last Monday which was over a week before Christmas was the heaviest mailing day of the rush, receipts for that day being the largest ever taken in for a single day at the local office.

It is impossible to even guess the number of packages mailed here as they have been coming in for over two weeks in volume. The big problem now is to transport them to destination in time for Christmas. Because of the cooperation of the public in mailing early, [illegible] foreseen barring [illegible] storms, etc.

Receipts on last Monday totaled $6,750. Tuesday's take was $3,950 and Wednesday slowed down to $2,280. Thursday, [illegible] New England was covered, [illegible] Canada received a delayed jump. Cancellations from December 10 to December 20 alone showed an increase of 50,000 over a year ago for the same period.

Postmaster Gilgun wishes to thank everyone for their cooperation in mailing early and assures you that all packages reach [illegible] office's next Monday will definitely be delivered.

MISS BERGQUIST ENGAGED

On Sunday, December 16, at an open house Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Bergquist of 154 Cambridge street announced the engagement of their daughter, Norma Ann, to Mr. Norvell Edson Garnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley I. Garnett of Edgewood, R. I.

Miss Bergquist graduated from Winchester High School in 1948 and is a senior at Colby College, Waterville, Maine. She is a member of Theta Upsilon Sorority.

Mr. Garnett prepared at the Moses Brown School in Providence, R.I., and graduated from Colby in 1951. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity. He served [illegible] years in the armed forces.

[illegible] summer wedding is [illegible] planned.

ROTARY CHRISTMAS PARTY

[illegible] Rotarians and their guests [illegible] Wednesday evening at a Christmas party [illegible] Apparently, to an added [illegible] chair, [illegible] Rotarians and guests [illegible] and [illegible] Santa Claus [illegible] Rotarians and the youngsters had gathered around the tables, Rotary President A. Elliott made the invocation and led all present in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Beside each place at the table were fancy caps and noisemakers that were quickly put to good use.

Following supper a phonograph played Christmas carols, and everyone joined in singing the familiar old tunes.

Meanwhile Allan Wilde was circulating around the hall stopping at the various tables to have the fancy-hatted Rotarians rise and introduce their progeny.

An excellent entertainment was provided by M. B. Crouch, a Harvard student with a pleasing personality and more than a passing knowledge of the art of legerdemain. He capped his exhibition by producing a rabbit from a box, to the delight of the children.

During most of the evening young Freddie McCormack wandered around the hall, going up to the stage and generally keeping in the public eye. A cute youngster, he gave the Rotarians many a laugh as well as keeping "old Fred-die", his dad, pretty much on the "qui vive".

The highlight of the party was, of course, the entrance of Santa Claus, most convincingly portrayed by the experienced Justin Horic. Kris Kringle had gifts for all the youngsters, and also with considerable dignity presented to "Al" Elliott a gift in the shape of a brick with the compliments of the Winchester Brick Company.

COUPLES CLUB

The Couples Club of the Unitarian Church held a Christmas tea last Sunday afternoon.

In spite of the cold weather many couples were present and all admired the beautiful decorations and ate heartily of the delicious sandwiches and cookies prepared by the committee.

Eric Anderson made the announcement that the next event will be a dance followed by a Smorgasbord buffet on Saturday, January 26, at which Alma and Robert Brotherton will be chairmen of the committee in charge.

COMING EVENTS

SONS OF ITALY CHRISTMAS PARTY

More than 300 attended the Christmas Party held last Sunday afternoon at the Lincoln School Hall by Winchester Lodge, Sons of Italy in America.

All children present received gifts from Santa Claus, ably impersonated by Romeo Lanatonio. All present joined in singing Christmas Carols and refreshments of ice cream, cookies and candy were served.

Michael D. Saraco headed the committee of arrangements, with Rocco DeTeso, treasurer and Dominic Provenzano, secretary. Other committee members were Tony Melaragni, Tony Saraco, Tony Vespucci, Frank Dattilo, Frank Dattilo, Jr., and Joe Paonessa.

SHOP BILLAUER'S

Henry Billauer is among the friendly neighboring community merchant waiting to help you with Christmas gifts for everyone on your list.

Conveniently located at 327 Main street in Woburn, on the Winchester side of Woburn Center, Billauer's modern jewelry and gift shop is stocked with merchandise of the better grade, including Hamilton and Elgin watches, diamonds, jewelry in several price ranges, as well as sterling silver, glass and china and a wide assortment of gift items.

Mr. Billauer comes from a family of jewelers and has a background that enables him to stock only the best in the many lines he carries. You can buy with confidence at Billauer's. His business methods through the years have caused him to be known as the "square deal" jeweler. He is proud and very jealous of this reputation!

A CHANCE TO HELP

Many elderly and infirm persons as well as those with small children and limited incomes need help at Christmas & this holiday is not to be a mockery instead of a day of good cheer in accordance with the American tradition.

Gifts may be sent to the Winchester Community Relief Committee.

THE RISING TIDE OF BUREAUCRACY

The United States was the first country in the history of civilization founded for the preservation of individual freedom. In establishing the "New Order of the Ages," the Continental Congress recorded in the Declaration of Independence a list of grievances against the tyrannical King George III, among which were: "He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance." One hundred and seventy-five years later we find a swarming bureaucracy within our borders that threatens individual freedom — our most precious heritage.

From 1920 to 1930 the trend of government civilian employment ran practically parallel with the growth of the country's population and of non-government workers. Since the early 1930's, however, government employment has moved sharply above the other two factors, as is shown on the accompanying chart. The aggregate number of persons employed by Federal, state, and local governments in July, 1951, not including the armed forces, is estimated at around 6,250,000. This represents a gain of more than 100 percent since 1930, or four times the rate of growth of the United States population during this period. The most spectacular gains have been made in Federal civilian employment in the executive branch, which in the last two decades has increased by 320 percent, or ten times the rate of increase in total non-government employment. If the vast army of government workers were lined up in single file, two and one half feet apart, it would extend from Boston to San Francisco.

This mushroom growth of government, particularly in the Federal field, is of serious concern to everyone in this country as bureaucracy becomes an ever-growing wedge between the people and their government.

Under a regime of bureaucracy, government is presided over by a group that is not elected by, nor responsible to, the people, but that rules by directives instead of by laws enacted by representatives. There is created a spendthrift dynasty that perpetuates itself in power, and the extension of government control is accompanied by a withering of individual freedom. When power is concentrated in a centralized authority that determines the economic, social, and political powers of a nation, the system of checks and balances is scrapped, and when mistakes are made they have a profound and far-reaching influence.

About four decades ago, Woodrow Wilson admonished: "The history of Liberty is a history of the limitation of governmental power, not the increase of it. When we resist, therefore, the concentration of power, we are resisting the process of death, because concentration of power is what always precedes the destruction of human liberties." In our own day, General Eisenhower emphasized the same line of thought when he said: "I firmly believe that the army of persons who urge greater and greater centralization of authority, and greater and greater dependence upon the Federal Treasury are really more dangerous to our form of Government than any external threat that can possibly be arrayed against us."

A study of the growth of bureaucracy and government planning through the ages shows that one step leads to another until finally the entire economy and all institutions are engulfed in some form of totalitarianism under which the affairs and activities of the many are directed by a few with an iron hand.

Bureaucracy grows because of political patronage and pressure groups, but more particularly because there is within each bureau "a cosmic urge to yeasty growth." The rating of a department head in the government hierarchy is based upon the number of persons under his supervision. In consequence, there is a resort to "empire building." A committee appointed by the House to investigate "Employee Utilization in the Executive Departments" revealed in January, 1951, that "in order to give the appearance that they had work to do, employees were forced to falsify records by signing erroneous work progress reports. Employes were threatened with punitive action when they refused."

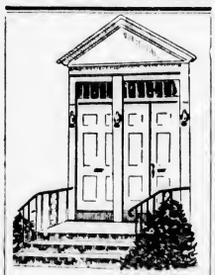

Not only does the bureaucracy pad its payroll but the various agencies of government spend an estimated $100 million a year on propaganda for a great variety of projects that in the aggregate run into many billion dollars annually. Our public servants have become the most vigorous and dangerous lobbyists for the spending of public money at a time when our Federal finances are in the danger zone.

Despite the knowledge that Federal finances are in a critical phase, the Administration, while paying lip service to economy, contends that the Federal budget is tight, and offers stubborn resistance toward any retrenchment. In the meantime, Federal expenditures are rolling along in snowball fashion, with current outlays at the annual rate of $71.6 billion. The addition of state and local expenditures brings total governmental costs for the present fiscal year to over $92 billion. This sum is equivalent to $2,315 per family, or nearly four and one half times the burden per family in 1939.

The time has come when the American people must take a vigorous and courageous stand for national solvency and be mindful of the warnings issued by Thomas Jefferson more than a century ago when he said: "We must make our selection between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude." Congressmen who are fighting for economy in government should be given whole-hearted support.

Everyone concerned about the welfare of the country should join the nation-wide movement to demand action on the Hoover Commission's recommendations for the elimination of waste in the Federal Government. To be victorious, this group must match the zeal and determination of the spenders who are squandering our substance and undermining the foundations of our freedom.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Christmas Assembly

The Christmas season received its official welcome at the high school today when a preview of the gala Christmas show, which is being presented to the public this evening, was given at the regular Christmas Assembly.

Student Cabinet-Maker

A fine example of the cabinet-maker's art may be seen at Mitchell's Barber Shop on Thompson street, where a mahogany television cabinet is on display. Bernard Boyle, a high school senior and the son of officer John Boyle, spent a good many hours in Mr. Otis Leary's woodworking class, fashioning the cabinet out of solid mahogany and then hand-rubbing it to its present lustrous finish.

WHS Singers Entertain

On December 15, the popular girls' Octette entertained members and guests of the Winchester Lodge with a program of songs and carols. "Zing-Zing, Zoom-Zoom", "If I Were the Only Girl", and "White Christmas" were much enjoyed by those present, as was the duet "Sympathy", sung by Mary and Louise Orgettas. In concluding their program the girls asked the audience to join them in singing several traditional carols.

On December 11, several high school students presented a varied program of Christmas music to the Thursday Group of the Church of the Epiphany. Among those participating were Nancy Ross, Margaret Reid, and Mary and Louise Orgettas.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

For its Christmas assembly on December 19 the Junior High School seventh and eighth grades presented a play entitled "Grandma's Whatnot", written by Miss Charlotte LeClaire.

The leading roles were played by Christina Page and Douglas Barnard. Other speaking parts were portrayed by Richard Carle, Ronnie Roberts, James Fitzgerald, Gregory Downes, and Barbara Hettel.

Musical parts were played by Robert Booker, Darla Hall, and Suzanne Dresser. A ballet was given by Gretchen Dietz, Ellen Glowacki, Deanne Williams, Barbara Eaton, and Elizabeth Ann Hood. An acrobatic dance by Marguerite Johnson was much enjoyed.

The play was announced by Mary Alice Codding and Nancy Holdane. The student director was Richard Clark, ably assisted by Sally Snow and Ann Cunningham. The stage crew consisted of Terry Stowe and Dick Gibbons; properties were managed by Lee Abbott and Pam Miller. Scenery workers included Robert Lindsey, Ronnie Johnston, John McKinley, Peter Bramhall, Lee Abbott, Judy Snelling, Gail Collins, Sheila Carleton, Herbert Gardner, William Harlow, Quentin Roberts, and George Wilkinson.

The Junior High boys' glee club, conducted by Miss Eleanor Amiantis, sang three songs: "We Three Kings", "O Come All Ye Faithful", and "Merry Christmas". The Junior High girls' glee club also participated in the program, singing "Angels We Have Heard On High", "What Child Is This?", and "O Holy Night". The excellent singing contributed the right atmosphere for the play. Altogether the acting, singing, and dancing went to make an exceptionally fine performance.

MOUNT PERO TO BE HOST TO WINTER CAMPERS

Camp Mount Pero, in the White Mountains at Plymouth, N. H., will again offer a Winter Holiday to some forty boys and girls, their ages ranging from 9 to 15 years. The campers will leave Winchester on a special Snow Train Saturday, December 29th, returning on the 31st. Highlights of the week-end will be skiing, skating, hiking, cooking out and numerous other sports under expert supervision. The camp has its own ski slope with 900 foot rope tow. Plans are being made for excursions to other near-by ski areas.

Evenings will be spent by the Lodge's huge fieldstone fireplace swapping skiing yarns, playing group games, ping-pong, bowling and highlighted with a full length feature movie as well as educational ski films.

Winchester leaders helping with this joyous outdoor fun-fest include Bob Lamson, Ted Trott, Virginia Dyer, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Roland A. Nault of 203 Washington street.

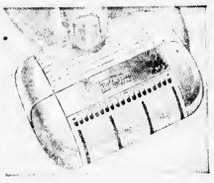

A nine year old visitor to Winchester broke through the ice at Wedge Pond last week-end. He was dragged to safety and taken to Police Headquarters by his grandfather, a resident of this town. After he became warm and his clothing dry the boy was taken to his home.

CHAMOIS SKI CLUB

The Chamois Ski Club of Winchester was well represented on the Groton Ski Club last Sunday after the first snowfall of the new season.

Art Gridin of Euclid avenue, whose exceptional color photographs have been regularly featured in each magazine as Saturday Evening Post, Holiday and Life, was on hand and took several snaps of Chamois juniors at Ski School, being coached in their snow-plows and stems by Instructors Harry Bean and Rolly Nault.

Among other newspaper men present was Pat Hardy of the Boston Globe, who also got several shots of Winchester skiers whom he rather featured in his Monday morning article.

Chamois is getting around and is planning a busy season. Enthusiasm is growing. Why not get in on the fun?

PARKHURST CHILDREN'S BAZAAR AGAIN A SUCCESS

A successful children's Bazaar was held last Wednesday, December 12 at the Parkhurst School and was well attended by the children and mothers. An added attraction this year were pony rides which were thoroughly enjoyed. A personal appearance by Santa Claus made the afternoon complete.

The mothers waiting on tables were attired in attractive aprons made by Mrs. Henry Kirk and her committee.

Mrs. Richard Pettingell would like to extend her thanks to all those who cooperated with her to make the Bazaar a successful one.

THREE ON THE 13th

It's a bit late perhaps, but the Star has just learned that Bob Elliott, one of our stalwart officers of the law attached to the Winchester Police Department, shot an eagle three on the difficult 13th hole at the Winchester Country Club while playing recently with Pharmacist Leo Partle.

We didn't get the information from Leo. Matter of fact, Leo is reported to be a bit doubtful about Officer Elliott's three-on-the-thirteenth. There is however apparently no doubt in Bob's mind about the matter, and since his feat was witnessed by no less than Arthur E. Butters, who years ago used to be called the State of Maine Champ when competing on the Horseshoe Courts at Wedge, there really should be as R. P. Teele would say, "no question!"

The Star is willing to concede the three-on-the-thirteenth story, especially since we have learned from a reliable source that Officer Bob is able to, and often does take the redoubtable "Doc" Leary over the golfing hurdles. Congratulations would seem to be in order, and here are ours!

GEORGE WASHINGTON DADS CLUB, PACK 9

A "no-host" outing was enjoyed by members and families of Pack 9 for the calendar year. A special Christmas party was held at the Pack meeting last Friday, and on Sunday forty-one (41) boys from the George Washington Pack went aboard the Flat Top Shangri-La with their Parkhurst guests. Pack 9, numbering 37.

Commander Robert Gulick arranged for the visit to the famous carrier, and each boy was personally conducted on all parts of the ship by his own enlisted escort. It was a thrilling day for the boys on the wind swept decks, and they will always remember Commander Gulick, a leader of Pack 9, for the courtesies extended to their guests and Dads on this memorable trip.

At the Pack meeting Friday evening, the dens decorated a fireproof tree with the ornaments made at their den meetings. This tree will go to the Winchester Hospital this week for the Children's Ward. The decorations are a credit to the boys and the den mothers, Herbert Thompson was admitted to the Pack, with the usual candlelight services, and the following boys received awards: Darrow Kirkpatrick, Bill Leighton, Jon Horvath, Richard Crockford, Eric Wittet, Paul Francis, Richard McLatchey, Bill Johnson, Bill Watkins. Refreshments were served and Christmas carols by parents and Cubs finished the program.

The Dads Club Cub Committee have elected the following officers for 1952: chairman, Henry K. Fitts; vice chairman, Benjamin T. Marshall; Cubmaster, Louis J. Bravacos; finances, Russell P. Leafe, recorder, George E. Sjoholm; equipment, William V. Watkins; advancement, Francis B. Parsons, field trips, Comm. Robert A. Gulick and Samuel Bor; public relations, Charles Q. Adams.

Mr. Arthur F. Sullivan, of 30 Wildwood street, has been elected a loan officer of the First National Bank of Boston. The Sullivans formerly lived at 146 Cambridge street.

CIVIL DEFENSE

PAPER A-BOMB BLASTS SPARK WINCHESTER'S FIRST CD STAFF ALERT

Two 5th mile red circles locating mile-wide bomb-blasted areas—one centered on M. I. T. in Cambridge, the other on the Edge General Electric River Works in Lynn—were drawn on the civil defense Operations Map shortly after noon, last Saturday, and were soon followed by symbols spotting Winchester CD units called into action to assist in the "emergency."

As "previewed" in last week's Star, Winchester's CD practice alert proceeded as scheduled at noon, December 15, and, in brief, can be reported as a success in serving its objectives: to test in action the operation of the Control Center, communications procedures, and the inter-action of Winchester's various CD Divisions.

An unexpected but valuable lesson was learned at the outset, when the snow apparently had short-circuited several sirens. Three out of seven did sound, and corrective measures will be taken to try to prevent future failures of this nature. Should the sirens fail on an actual Alert, the alternate warning system, including the Boggs and Cobb steam whistle would be used.

Following the receipt of the "alert" message at Police Headquarters and the sounding of the sirens, Division personnel and the Control Center staff went quickly to their appointed stations. Control Center established contact by telephone and radio with "Sector Hq" at 1240 hours, was completely operational by 1245, and had received reports of readiness and made initial arrangements with all Divisions by 1230.

Although no "punches" were pulled" in making a tough test, and the control center staff later reported they were hard pressed by the intentionally rapid flow of instructions from "Sector," a visitor was amazed at the orderly, efficient operation. Messages flowing in to Message Center by radio, telephone, and messenger were accurately logged by the Communications officer, channelled through the Operations section for recording of information on the Operations board, and planning appropriate action with the Divisions concerned. Liaison officers present advised on the capabilities of their respective Divisions, to shape decisions.

To insure an all-around "workout" for the town's CD facilities, almost every conceivable eventuality was thrown into the problem. Fire Service was asked to send fire-fighting equipment to a Sector post near Harvard Stadium. A refugee wave clogging highways from Boston demanded check-point manning by Police, by Transportation Division's mechanics and wrecking vehicles, by Civilian War Aid Division's representatives, and First Aid units from the Medical and Health Division. Civilian War Aid also made plans for on-duty feeding of CD workers, as well as possible refugees. Medical and Health was requested to supply a quantity of whole blood and plasma for a stricken area, and to receive many wounded for treatment. They had to "evacuate" less serious cases from Winchester Hospital to our CD Emergency Hospital and to the Lowell Hospitals. This, in turn, placed the burden of supplying ambulances upon the Transportation Division.

Further happenings found serious sabotage "knocking out" the Woburn sub station of Boston Edison Co., requiring action by the Utilities Division. Rescue and Evacuation units from the Transportation Division, and Ambulance units from Medical and Health, when called into action, required proper Police Division escorts to their scenes of duty.

With such a barrage of activity jammed into the hour and fifteen minutes of this first practical test, it was inevitable and very desirable that errors would appear. All in all, they were surprisingly few; but definite areas for improvement were discussed at the critique which followed the test, at the American Legion Home. Communications procedures were checked for closer attention by all; requisition of certain needed supplies was planned by the group; responsibilities of various Divisions in certain situations became more clearly defined.

A particular "target" for testing was Winchester's own unique control center system. Other CD organizations gather all Division leaders together under one roof and distribute requests directly to the unit most concerned, letting them each work out co-operative plans with others as best it can—if, indeed, it is able to at all. Winchester's plan allows Division leaders to locate at their own headquarters, and provides the central Operations section to channel and co-ordinate all activity, assisting several Divisions to operate together when situations demand, and keeping an up-to-the-minute record of all activity. Yet all this is to be accomplished with as few people, and as simple an operation as possible.

One of the most gratifying results of the test, regardless of minor "bugs" to be eliminated is the proof that the Winchester system is clearly sound, and already very effective in operation.

While Winchester's civil defense proceeds with its next phase of organization and expansion, another test alert is already being planned, to occur, probably, some weeks after the first of the year. The success of this past test will then become a yardstick to measure the degree of achievements made in the meantime. As always, full and regular reports of Winchester's progress will be made to the town.

How to avoid the Rush

Everybody likes to be waited on promptly. Nobody likes to stand in line. However, there are peak periods in every bank when lines at tellers' windows are likely to be longer. The peak hours are usually around noon and just before the closing hour of the day. The peak days are those that come at the latter part of the week and around the 1st and fifteenth of the month. So, for fastest service, we suggest that you bank early in the day and early in the week. And remember, you never have to stand in line at all when you do your banking by mail through your nearest mail box.

When mailing currency for deposit it is important that you register the letter.

FROM CHIEF HARROLD

Charles J. Harrold, Chief of Police, extends his personal wishes and those of the entire Police Department to the citizens of Winchester for a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"With traffic deaths in Massachusetts reaching almost twice as many in December as there were in November, this won't be a pleasant holiday season for everyone," added Chief Charles J. Harrold.

"In fact, the Christmas holiday is the most dangerous holiday for drivers in the entire year. The greatest cause of these deaths is speed too fast for conditions.

"The Massachusetts Safety Council points out a second fact to remember: the greatest number of Massachusetts' accidents has always been of the rear-end collision type. As far back as 1934, the rear-end accident started to increase in importance as the number one accident.

"Stopping distances on icy roads may be four or more times greater than on dry roads. This adds to the danger of a rear-end accident.

"To avoid this double dilemma of Death by Speeding and Accident by Rear-End Collision," advises Chief Harrold, "plan even your short trips in December and the winter months so that you can drive 5 mph slower than your usual speed, and allow the proper car-spacing.

"Not only will it mean a happy holiday for you, but it will help reduce the highway danger in December. With your cooperation, we in the Police Department shall do our best to see that a highway accident doesn't keep you from seeing the New Year in."

BROKE ANKLE IN FALL

Lester C. Gustin, Jr., of 11 Wildwood street, past commander of Winchester Post, American Legion, and prominent in local Civilian Defense, had the misfortune to break his left ankle Wednesday evening while visiting the Military Reservation on Border road in Medford.

Mr. Gustin broke his ankle when he slipped on some ice and fell to the ground. He was unable to drive his car and was taken to the Winchester Hospital in Patrol 5J by Sgt. John Dolan and Officer Irving Reardon. At the hospital X-rays showed the ankle was broken.

The Star takes its editorial pen in hand to wish its readers, advertisers and every one the compliments of the season. Wishing people a "Merry Christmas" this year is risky business, for many a home has been saddened by the loss of a husband, son, brother or dear one in the Korean mess or in some training camp accident here in this country or in some far-flung corner of the world where American boys and American arms and American dollars are trying to stem the mighty tide of communism. "Merry Christmas" would be a mockery to these people and could have but scant significance to those lonely souls whose boys are in uniform and far from home on Christmas Day. So we can not issue a blanket wish for a Merry Christmas, but we can, and do extend our best wishes to everyone. The greeting of a friend is good at any time. It is doubly good at the Christmas season when every one makes a little extra effort toward friendliness and good will. Would that this Christmas spirit extended through the year, and every year; that we could all be more imbued with the spirit of Tiny Tim of the immortal Christmas Carol, who despite his own adversity, found it in his heart to pray "God Bless Us Every One!" How much better we all would be, and feel if we emulated this heroic little cripple, if we gave instead of got, if we thought of the other fellow occasionally and not about ourselves, if we recognized something of the deeper significance of Christmas as a holy, and not a holiday, however good it is to enjoy oneself and to give gifts on this birthday of the Prince of Peace and of Christianity. We hope you can have a happy Christmas! We personally love the trees and holly and carols and gifts and Santa Claus. We hope that before long we can all return to having that will permit us again to wish you all a "Merry Christmas." There is nothing that quite replaces this wish. Until then please accept our heartiest Christmas Greetings. They are sincerely offered.

HOMEFRONTER CHRISTMAS CARDS ARRIVED IN KOREA

Editor of the Star:

The writer heard from Pt. John S. Barnes, Jr., Korea, who states that he was delighted to receive his Christmas card from the Homefronters and is on the lookout for his package from Ea Ka. He says "I think both ideas are fine." Incidentally, his mother, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes has received a purple heart sent on by her son but no details have yet been received.

The Homefronters are also in receipt of the following communication from Cpl. Edward R. Kelley, Jr.: — "I would like to show my appreciation for the card which I received the other day. I think it is a very good idea and it makes me feel proud that the people at home have not forgotten the boys in the army. Tomorrow I will be on my way to Germany and after that I won't be home for Christmas. I go away with the feeling that I and the other boys in the service have not and will not be forgotten. Thanking you, I remain, (signed) Cpl. Edward R. Kelley, Jr."

The above should send a warm glow to the hearts of all those who have worked so hard to obtain the current military addresses of our men and mail out some 300 cards. It should also encourage people to go into the Winchester Savings Bank and make a contribution to the Homefronter's account so that we may see to it that our men and women in the services receive birthday cards.

A safe Christmas to all our men and women in the services and may God go with you in the days ahead.

Cordially yours,
Mrs. K. B. Toye,
Public Relations Chairman
The Winchester Homefronters

STREETS OF WINCHESTER DISGRACEFUL

Editor of the Star:

Through your paper I would like to state the views of my friends and of myself pertaining to the snow storm that we had on Friday and Saturday, December 14 and 15. I drove from my work in Woburn, at 4:00 a. m. Saturday, in the worst of the storm, to my home in Winchester. I had no trouble until I hit the Winchester line. While the streets of Woburn were in fair passable condition under the circumstances, the streets of Winchester were disgraceful.

Furthermore, the streets of Winchester were in disgraceful condition Saturday, and Sunday; as a matter of fact, the sidewalks were still being plowed on Monday.

The citizens of the town that I have spoken to were thoroughly disgusted. What are the taxpayers for? I understand that our taxes are raised and money is appropriated for ice and snow removal. Why isn't the money used?

I heard stories that no one wants to work, that there is no help to be had. Well, if the town officials responsible would pay decent wages, say $1.50 an hour for all snow work, they would get all the help needed. Snow shoveling is cold, hard, tiring work, and when a high school student can go out and make $15.00 for shoveling the walks of a few houses in six hours, I would say there is no excuse for not wanting to work for the highway department for less than a dollar an hour.

I also want to say that it is a shame that the taxpayers who have paid in taxes to have these things taken care of must suffer because jobs are not handled until two and three days after a snow storm. We are paying the money to have the work done and done right, so let the officials responsible think more about getting the work done than trying to see how much money they can turn back to the P and D fund at the end of the year. I am not blaming the workers of the highway or any other town dept., as they are out there working their hearts out for us. I blame the town officials for not taking the proper action needed.

I have spoken to many people and they all agree with me. If there is ever a fire on any part of Highland avenue after a snow storm, I wish the Fire Department the best of luck while trying to get their apparatus up unsanded icy hills. It is not fair to the taxpayers who have spent the money to have these things taken care of?

Thank you,
Michael D. Sarasio

A GIFT OF LIFE

Although he cannot donate blood himself any more, C. Norman Noonan of P. T. Foley & Company wrote our local Chapter this week that he was sending along the following article in the hope it might convince someone to open his or her heart to give just one pint of blood for the Armed Forces:

"A Christmas present beyond price is yours to give — if you heed your beating heart. And the recipient of your gift will value it as he values life itself.

"It's a gift that cannot be made by machines; nor produced synthetically; nor bought at the corner store. It is not plentiful where needed most; yet you have it in abundance, for you are the manufacturer.

"But don't expect your gift to be delivered with benefit of Yuletide trappings. No tinsel here! No silken ribbons! Your present, in fact, may become grimy from rough and sweating hands. And the only carols — if you ironically call them that — may be arriving in shrieking salvos from the hot throats of guns.

"Even so, the contents of your present, flask-encased, will still have the Christmas touch. It will be as richly red as holly berries — and far more precious.

"It will be blood — your blood.

"The only way an injured soldier or sailor or airman can get the blood that will save his life is by the personal gift, in a simple and relatively painless manner, of a patriotic American.

"Blood supplies are a vital war weapon; right now there is a shameful shortage. More than 200,000 pints of blood are needed monthly. NOW! It can be procured for our fighters and grandads only when some man or woman gives it up, voluntarily, pint by pint, at any one of the 11 existing regional blood centers or during your local Bloodmobile visit on Friday, January 11, 1952.

"Could you possibly give a more present in this eternal year? Some soldier will bless you. So will God."

Call Winchester 6-2200 and make your appointment today.

Attending the recent statewide conference of local directors of the Massachusetts Blood Program were five representatives of the Winchester Red Cross Chapter: Mrs. George Dutting, Executive Director; Mrs. Mary Johnson, Secretary; Mrs. James B. Coon, Blood Program Chairman; Mrs. Kendall H. Spencer, Recruitment Chairman; and Mrs. S. Kennedy Tully, Publicity. Following a luncheon served by Canteen of the Newton Chapter, a very informative meeting was held in the beautiful Newton Chapter House, which was willed to the Red Cross by a local resident with a trust fund for its upkeep. Miss Virginia Beecher Smith, Eastern Area Field Representative from Richmond, Virginia, was the speaker.

Twenty-six "Christmas on the High Seas" gift packages will be distributed to military personnel in transit during the Christmas holidays, thanks to the efforts of six local organizations. In his letter of appreciation to our local Red Cross Chapter, Anthony Famiano, Field Director at Westover Field commented on the beautiful wrappings and how much it would mean to the spirit of lonesome and home sick serviemen travelling during the holidays. Hats off to the Girl Scouts for preparing fourteen boxes. Other organizations who filled gift boxes were the Women's League of the First Baptist Church; Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary; The Grange; Church Service League of the Epiphany Church and members of the Winchester Red Cross Chapter.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ACTIVE

The Fire Department had two calls Tuesday, the first at 5:45 a. m. to the Winchester Arms where water was flooding the cellar. The Firemen found the trouble was due to ice formation that prevented the water from running away from the building. Some brisk chopping on the part of the men corrected the trouble.

At 10:10 the Department was called to the home of Everett Kamsler, Jr., 28 Clark street, where a short circuit in the transformer of a radio caused an overheated coil fire.

Wednesday morning at 1:54 Officer Erwin Nurnberger discovered the cellar of the Economy Market at Main and Thompson streets full of smoke. The firemen found the trouble was caused by a frozen refrigerator motor.

At 6:45 Wednesday morning there was a fire caused by a short circuit in the wiring of a Chrysler sedan on Washington street in front of St. Mary's Church. The machine, owned by John Welch of 28 Lebanon street, was not badly damaged.

WHS CLUBS PRESENT "CHRISTMAS"

Tonight at 8:15 p. m. in the high school auditorium, the first production of "Christmas" will be offered to the public by the high school glee clubs and members of Curtain and Cue. A varied program of music and drama has been prepared under the direction of Miss Eleanor Anfanger and Messrs. Tom Morse and Ray Hayward.

Members of the glee clubs and of the dramatic casts have already been noted in the Star, but other groups have worked hard to make the show a success. Under the direction of Miss Pauline Goodrich students in the art classes have prepared several colorful posters advertising the entertainment, while another committee of artists is in charge of decorating the auditorium and stage. Members of the decorating committee include Jacqueline Chapman, Joan O'Neil, Sheila Scanlon, Jennifer Meigs, Deborah Fish, Joan McNeill, Nancy Fletcher, Florence Newton, and Janet Graves.

The sale of candy will be conducted by a committe composed of Arlene Weagler, chairman, Nancy Barnard, Shirley Frothen, Roselyn Gaglotmella, Joyce Haggerty, Jennifer Meigs, Carolyn Oxford, and Tina Tonon.

The ticket committee, under the supervision of Miss Louise Cone, is composed of Diane Greer, Carol Crockett, Michael Neagle, Joseph Canty, and Carole Ambrose.

CIVIL DEFENSE

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

On Saturday and Sunday, January 26 and 27, at the Town Hall, Winchester will have the services of a group of Doctors and trained technicians from the Massachusetts State Medical and Health Division, Civil Defense, for the purpose of blood-typing the people of Winchester.

This is not a blood donor program. Only a tiny drop of blood, quickly and easily taken, is required for determining your blood type. In three minutes you will have a card giving your blood-type — something most people will know then for the first time.

The primary purpose of blood-typing is for your own, and your family's protection. Latest medical evidence shows whole blood to be one of the most effective treatments for not only restoring lost blood, but also combating shock and promoting recovery after serious injury. In case of any injury to you, whether caused by enemy attack or any reason whatsoever, knowledge of your blood type will save precious minutes that can spell the difference between life and death, or avoid serious complications.

Between now and blood-typing week-end you may expect to be visited by a neighbor who will help list names of persons who want to take advantage of this opportunity, and guide the technicians in planning their time. Because of facilities limitations, only persons age 21 and over can be accepted.

Winchester confidently expects that you townspeople will oversubscribe this program, perhaps requiring a return visit by the State's technical teams. It will be in your own personal interest, and the welfare of the entire town, if our response is strong.

James W. Blackham, Director, Civil Defense
Angelo L. Mincieta, M.D., Asst. Director, Medical and Health Div.
Dominic Runci, M.D., Chairman, Blood Typing Program

WINCHESTER HOCKEY CLUB LOST

Winchester Hockey Club went down to defeat before the star studded Camp Parker sextet at the Lynn Arena last Sunday night. Winchester sorely missed several of its former stalwarts now in military service, among them Scott Doub, Dave Merrow, Billy Dingwell, Nonnie Cogan, also Don Ellis currently playing with the U. S. Olympic squad, and Whip Saltmarsh and Wimpy Bartlett, who are playing for Boston College.

Camp Parker, with Myles Huntington, last year's Harvard captain, his brother Charlie plus Eddie Cahoon, last year's B. U. Captain now playing for the Boston Olympics, were just a little too much for the locals. Winchester had been on the ice but once this season before this encounter. Nevertheless the score remained 3 to 1 until the last minute of play when Scott Connor was knocked down by getting the puck into Parker's end. He seemed a little unsteady in finishing up this final minute, and two shots got by him. Up to this point he had been making many clever saves.

Winchester's only score came early in the third period when Tom Power was fed a neat pass by his brother Allie, out-skated his Camp Parker cover and went in to score from close up.

Camp Parker (5)		Winchester Hockey Club (1)
Halloran	G	Connor
MacNamara	RD	Wimmler
Forbes	LD	Mills
M. Huntington	C	A. Power

Camp Parker Alternates: C. Prentice, G. Prentice, J. Prentice, Gumming, Downey, Gaudet, Tessier.

Winchester Alternates: Byrne, O'Connor, Collins, Armstrong, Langill, Sherburne.

Scoring: Camp Parker, Forbes (4), M. Huntington, C. Prentice (2) & J. Prentice, M. Huntington, Cahoon, Cahoon (unassisted), MacNamara (Tyssen); Winchester, T. Power (A. Power).

Penalties, none.

WINTER WEATHER

Winchester experienced real winter weather during the past week. From the coldest of the season, snow, and then rain and warm weather to zero cold again, the progress was rapid and rugged.

Last Friday night saw the first good snow storm following a cloudy day and seasonable cold. Saturday morning the glass was down close to the zero mark, where it held Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the two latter days being clear. Snow promised Tuesday failed to appear, but during the afternoon a few flakes gradually went into rain that was a real rain. Vivid flashes of lightning during the early evening accompanied a terrific downpour. The glass climbed from eight above in the morning to 46 above in the late afternoon.

Wednesday morning saw the glass down to 18 and yesterday morning was apparently the coldest thus far with reading from 10 below to five above. Snow is now again promised.

Driving conditions were hazardous during this week. The snow of the first of the week was well hardened down by the time the rain came in and the downpour washed off the sand and top snow, leaving glare ice. Many cars were stalled and a number of accidents occurred, mostly of a minor nature.

WINCHESTER PUPILS AMONG PRIZE WINNERS AT RECITALS

Last Sunday afternoon and evening at two piano-forte recitals, given by pupils from the Kiley Studio, 123 Main street, three Winchester girls were among the prize winners of the recent Memory Contest.

Marilyn Beckley, 7 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Beckley of Marshall road, received first prize in the beginners group. Marilyn had memorized thirty-nine short studies and pieces since the first of the season.

A close second in the group was Linda Parsons, 8 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Parsons of Euclid avenue. Linda received second prize for having memorized thirty-six pieces.

The next group was led by two little seven year old boys, who tied with eighteen numbers memorized, Jimmie Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stone of Washington street, Woburn, and Billy Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Walsh of Swampscott, Mass.

Second prize in that group went to Peggy Padelford, another tiny Winchester girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Padelford of Ravenscroft road. Peggy had completed twelve pieces.

The third group was won by a West Medford lad, Paul Pinault, 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Pinault. Paul had memorized ten numbers.

The last group was almost another tie, Elizabeth Brown and Dorothy Wiany both of West Medford had finished with 8 and 7 pieces and won first and second prize, respectively.

"Santa's Flower Festival for Shut-ins" memory contest was thus terminated and the colorful paper flower pots and baskets, the blossoms with their messages of cheer attached, which the pupils had earned through their memory work, are to be sent to the Children's Ward of the Malden Hospital.

The pupils have enjoyed earning these flowers for a gift to the less fortunate.

The above name pupils also performed on the two programs and gave their best to the success of the Christmas recital.

Contributing also to the musical part of the programs were the following pupils.

FORESTERS WORK TO IMPROVE CHRISTMAS TREE'S QUALITY

There is no excuse this year for sad, bedraggled and mutheaten Christmas trees in American homes. If shopping is done carefully, the family Christmas tree in 1951 can be larger, fresher and more symmetrical than it has been at any time since Yule trees became big business.

The Agriculture Department's U. S. Forest Service is working to improve Christmas trees. This year more emphasis has been placed on quality of the trees shipped to market by farmers and commercial growers, the National Geographic Society reports.

Federal foresters declare that scientific Christmas tree marketing is good conservation practice. Balsam firs, spruces, pines and other conifers cut from farm or commercial stands of timber clear out the land for more healthy growth of larger trees — saplings, pollywood, or good Christmas trees for future years.

There should be as many trees on the market this year as there were in 1950 — about 28 million, or enough to supply the nation-wide market.

This does not mean, of course, that there will be only 28 million homes with Christmas trees. Many families will still swarm the ax and head for the woods to return with an evergreen suitable for decoration.

The Forest Service says this is all right if the cutter knows anything about trees and asks the farmer or woodlot owner first. But cutting trees seen from the passing automobile is not approved unless permission is obtained first and unless the loss will not damage forest land.

The Christmas tree industry grosses more than $50,000,000 annually. It has provided added income to farmers who cultivate trees in their woodlots. It makes up the entire business of some tree farmers.

One Minnesota grower cuts and ships some 1,000,000 trees a year, most of them the tabletop or baby size, 36 to 40 inches high. Many of these are dyed silver, red or white, but natural green (sometimes encouraged by a little dye) remains the favorite.

To most Americans the Christmas tree is a tradition that seems as old as the era. Actually, the first decorated trees were introduced to the United States by homesick Germans about 1840.

One newly emigrated pastor from Germany, Henry G. Schwan, almost lost his pulpit in Cleveland in 1851 because he set up a tree in his church. Exhibition of a tree in a church was branded as idolatrous and irreligious.

Use of the Christmas tree sprang up in Germany in the Middle Ages. One legend has Martin Luther as the father of the Christmas tree idea.

Historians agree that display of a decorated tree was a practice sanctioned by the church from earlier pagan worship of living things, particularly evergreen trees that signified eternal life.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Since it first opened in 1792, the U. S. Mint has struck gold, silver, and minor coins valued at more than seven billion dollars.

In a few regions of the world the mineral, corundum, an ordinarily dull oxide of aluminum, is found pure and flawless. When red it is known as ruby, says the National Geographic Society. When colorless, pink, yellow, green, or violet, it is called sapphire. Burma is the principal source of fine rubies. Ceylon is rich in sapphires.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NOTES

A hospital is not the ideal place to spend Christmas. There is, however, much about a hospital that is in keeping with the true spirit of Christmas. A hospital is one of the communities' most tangible evidence of the spirit of good will among men. This idea is in practice every day of the year in the Winchester Hospital, as in all hospitals, but at Christmas time it becomes more evident.

The staff of the Hospital will help bring the joys of the season to the patients by decorations and favors. The fine decorations on the front of the Hospital were the gifts of several good friends. As in the past, Christmas carolers will spread their cheer by singing under patient's windows. All in all, we believe that Christmas for the patients at the Hospital will be made considerably brighter by the many friendly hands, both inside and outside of the Hospital, trying to serve them.

A Christmas party was held by the nurses on Wednesday evening, December 19th, at the Nurses' Home. Doctors of the staff were their invited guests. The following afternoon the employees of the Hospital held their annual party at the Home.

We are very grateful to the Winchester Conservatories, the Winchester Provision Company and several anonymous friends for their gifts of Christmas decorations.

WINTON CLUB CABARET

Even in the midst of frantic holiday preparations, Winton Club members are busily engaged with plans for their annual Cabaret. This exciting event which marks the high point in Winchester's winter season will be held on the 17th, 18th, and 19th of January at the Winchester Town Hall.

Mrs. John Ghirardini is Chairman of the Cabaret and her committee are Mrs. Charles Butler, Mrs. Frank d'Elseaux, Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, and Mrs. William Mitchell. Their show will be a fast, gay, and colorful revue with several innovations which are sure to delight the audience, and a special surprise is in store for all those attending on Friday evening. More details concerning the Cabaret and these intriguing new features will soon be forthcoming.

As always, the proceeds of the Cabaret will benefit the Winchester Hospital, so the Winton Club urges everyone to save these dates and guarantee themselves an evening of fun, as well as the satisfaction of helping a very worthy local institution.

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE AT SECOND CHURCH

The Second Congregational Church, Washington street at Kenwin road, will be the scene of a Christmas Eve Candlelighting Service Monday, December 24, at 11:30 p.m. All who attend will be given a candle which will be lighted during the service. The congregation will sing the familiar carols, and there will be special music for the occasion. A living creche will be featured in the chancel of the church. The Rev. Mr. John W. Cook, minister of the church, will conduct the service. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

BAPTIST COUPLES HELD YULE PARTY

Last Friday evening, the 8 o'clock Club (which usually meets at 7 o'clock!) held a lively Christmas party in the Social Hall of the First Baptist Church.

A delicious supper was served by Mrs. Walter Josephson, Mrs. William Sorenson and Mrs. Paul Butterworth. Afterwards, Mr. Walter Josephson won high praise for his efficient direction of the dish-washing project, assisted by Mr. Ralph Swanson. Mr. Robert Smith did an outstanding job as chairman of the clean-up squad, assisted by Mr. Herbert Ellart.

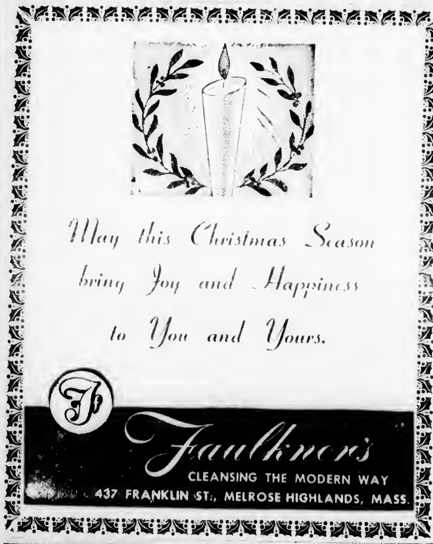

Following these gala festivities, the group gathered around pianist Mrs. Ralph Swanson, while Rev. Walter Lee Bailey hurried off to find some books of Christmas Carols. Meanwhile, the group spent an enjoyable half-hour ad-libbing carols in loud but not very musical voices. Just as the singing period came to a close, Mr. Bailey showed up with the song books.

Then the couples gathered around the beautiful Christmas tree, electrically decorated by professional tree-lighter-upper, Mr. William Sorenson—where Mr. Paul Butterworth, as a rather underfed Santa Claus-without-pillows, handed out the yule gifts.

Other highlights of the evening included a fast moving game of "Twenty Questions" led by the club's chairman, Mr. Richard Allison and some tasty "eclairs" made by Mr. Walter Josephson. (He explained they started out to be chocolate eclairs.)

For those couples who survived the affair, and for all other couples who have the courage, there will be another 8 o'clock Club supper party at 7 o'clock at the Baptist Church on January 11th. The committee in charge, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ellart, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chase—have announced that the program is to be a "surprise."

Anyway, it's sure to be surprising!

Songs Raise On High

Sound over all waters, reach from all lands,
The chorus of voices, the clasping of hands;
Sing hymns that were sung by the stars of the morn,
Sing songs of the angel when Jesus was born!
With glad jubilations
Bring hope to the nations!
The dark night is ending and dawn has began;
Rise, hope of the ages, arise like the sun,
All speech flow to music, all hearts beat as one.
Blow, bugles of battle, the marches of peace;
East, west, north, and south, let the quarrels all cease.
Sing the song of great joy that the angels began,
Sing of glory to God and of good will to man!
Hark, joining the chorus
The heavens bend o'er us!

MACEFIELD DEMONSTRATION

"An Introduction to Jewelry Making and Silversmithing" was the talk and demonstration by William Mason and Leonard C. Field of Macefield (Winchester) given before an enthusiastic group at the Beverly Art Association at the Beverly Public Library last Friday evening.

Mr. Field spoke first on a brief history of the art as a medium used through the ages by man in his desire to create beauty. He pointed out the rise of silversmithing and its decline with the machine age; and the current revival of interest in things hand made, a fortunate trend for the culture of our times.

Mr. Mason described silversmithing with what equipment it was possible to carry, and then with his jeweler's saw he fashioned a little barrette to demonstrate jewelry making. It was an appreciative audience to something new to them; most of them had no previous idea of the methods used.

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, is holding its annual Christmas Party for Children Sunday, December 23, at the Noonan School, commencing at 2 o'clock. CURLING

The Winchester curlers braved bad weather Tuesday evening to reach the Brookline Rink and were rewarded with very fast ice that [illegible] a good hand.

Three White Cap matches were played. Charley Wagoorne as skip, with teammates George King, Keith Eaton and Bob Ferguson won a lop-sided match with Charley Eaton's rink. It must be said, however that Charley was not present to skip his rink Tuesday.

Franklin Lane and his rink won handily over Bill Davis', in spite of an excellent last end by Bill. Dan Morse, superbly assisted by Frank Murphy as number one and Ralph Bonnell as number two, took Al Litchfield's rink in a tight match.

Frank Murphy is a new-comer to curling this year and his fine curling should give heart to the neophytes. Mike Hunt and Dan didn't have much to do except guard Ralph's and Frank's fine stones.

J. H. WINN'S SONS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas Party of the Winn Company was held Saturday evening, December 15, at Metcalf Hall, with almost one-hundred per cent attendance.

The following committees were complimented all during the evening for the splendid program on which they worked so hard to make the Party a success:

General Chairman,
Creighton Horn

Chairman of Publicity,
Dorothy Shaw

Chairman of Decorating,
Bob Low

Chairman of Costumes,
James Milnes

Chairman of Music,
George Reeves

The evening began with the usual fine banquet, with plenty to eat [illegible], supplemented by [illegible] music of the well known Duke Herland and his orchestra. Bob Low, to the surprise and enjoyment of all, introduced [illegible] of ceremonies of the [illegible], the genial Samuel H [illegible], Jr., who is the company's New England sales representative. Sam, in his usual "Southern Gentleman" manner, then proceeded [illegible] over with a few personal [illegible] which included jokes on [illegible] as well as the employees.

Mr. Dade, the president, was called on to introduce the guests of the evening, who were Mr. [illegible] J. Parsons, general counsel for the Boston and Albany Railroad; Mr. William [illegible], treasurer of the J. O. Whitten Co., Co., Inc.; and Mr. Abbott E. Bradlee, town treasurer of Winchester. Seated at the head table were guests of honor Rev. J. P. O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and the Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, of the First Baptist Church, Winchester.

Mr. Parsons spoke briefly about his long friendship with the Winn Company, having been acquainted personally with the Winn family for a great many years, and expressed his appreciation for having been asked to the party, which he thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. Lester Snow, vice president of the company, was then called upon for a few remarks. He expressed his greetings to the employees, and said he was in charge of making a recording of the entire evening's proceedings. These recordings will be played back for the employees sometime during the year 1952.

Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, the next speaker, held his audience in continual laughter with his humor. Rev. Bailey has been a guest speaker at the annual parties for the past several years and has always been one of the highlights of the evening. Mr. N[illegible], a partner, was then called upon for his annual [illegible], which was received with enjoyment by all.

The master of ceremonies, Sam Griffin, next called upon the president, who had a very special announcement to make. Mr. Dade asked his partners to stand with him while making the announcement that the Winn Company was planning to institute a profit sharing plan for all employees who qualified, and explained some of the details of the plan. Mr. Dade stated he felt this was another progressive move which the Winn Company was making, and although there are still some details to be worked out, the tentative effective date of the plan was set for June 30, 1952, and that he expected all the difficulties would be ironed out prior to that date. Needless to say, this announcement was received with pleasure and enthusiasm, and many of those present expressed their personal appreciation to the management.

Creighton Horn, general chairman, expressed his thanks to all who worked on the various committees and all those who were taking part in the entertainment, also for the fine support and cooperation they gave him in making the party a success.

Rev. Father O'Riordan, another annual invited guest, was the next speaker. He gave a very inspiring [illegible] on cooperation and getting along with our neighbors. It is always a pleasure to have Father O'Riordan with us at the party and [illegible] with interest to his inspiring talks.

Mr. Dade was then called upon to speak. After about ten minutes of jokes on a number of employees, he introduced as his subject, "Human Incentives and the Effect Taxes Have on These Incentives." Mr. Dade left no doubt in the minds of those present that if the tax program continues in the same direction as in recent years, the incentive to reach the top could well be destroyed. In his remarks he stated, "Payment of higher taxes is not much of an incentive; and if initiative incentive is absent or greatly reduced because of taxes, then top management positions will decrease." He suggested that everyone think very carefully about the decisions that are being made by present leaders of our Government and to sift out any misstatements that politicians can so easily make during a political campaign.

At the conclusion of Mr. Dade's talk, a drawing was held for a radio and an automatic pop-up toaster, given by the company to the persons whose names were drawn. The winners of these two gifts were Anna Hermanson, who won the radio, and Antoinette Cocciaputo, winner of the toaster.

The following entertainment program was then enjoyed by employees and friends of the Winn Company, after which dancing was the order of the evening.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

With a large turnout of members and friends our meeting on Tuesday, December 11th, was a most enjoyable one. Following the short business meeting the president turned the afternoon over to Mrs. Edward J. Gallagher, chairman of the day, who introduced our guest speaker, Mrs. Helene Maxwell Dardis.

"What is a hat?" With this provocative question Mrs. Dardis opened her lively talk on "Hats to Halos." If you have been laboring under the impression that a hat is merely a covering for the head, as Webster defines it, you are sorely mistaken. "A hat", says Mrs. Dardis, "is the keynote of your personality and the expression of a woman's soul." Along with a delightful sense of humor Mrs. Dardis is blessed with a rare gift for description and she kept her audience entertained with intimate glimpses into the lives and hat salons of the Big Four — John Frederics, Mr. John, Walter Florel and Lily Dache. There is no such thing as a new type hat, according to Mrs. Dardis, and she proved her point with charming illustrations of the eight basic hat types there have been since time began, following this with illustrations of the various kinds of halos, that "glory round the head" we all hope for one day, from the world of art.

Following our guest speaker we held our Reception to New Members with Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, Membership Chairman, in charge. Each new member was presented with a gay corsage by Mrs. Hintlian and welcomed into the Guild by our gracious president, Mrs. John Lennon. In the receiving line with Mrs. Lennon were Mrs. Peter A. Murphy, Mrs. Carl Thomas and Mrs. Martin P. Higgins. May we add our welcome and that of all the Guild members to the following new members present:

Mrs. Joseph Barrett, Mrs. George Kean, Mrs. Charles Craven, Mrs. Richard Hegarty, Mrs. Timothy Wellings, Mrs. Hubert Tracey, Mrs. James J. O'Connor, Mrs. Joseph W. Prior, Mrs. John M. Harrington, Mrs. James Daschbach and Mrs. Frank Grant, and all the other new members [illegible]. We [illegible] association with the Guild will be a long and [illegible].

Tea was served by [illegible] Chairman, Mrs. Joseph Burgatti, and hostesses for the day were Mrs. Robert H. Cavanagh, Mrs. Joseph Donaghey, Mrs. Albert T. McDougall, Mrs. Charles E. McGreggs, Mrs. John F. Madden, Mrs. James C. Marchant, Mrs. George F. Morrissey, Mrs. William H. Perkins, Mrs. Vincent L. Scanlon and Mrs. John Volpe.

Now on behalf of the officers and members of the board of the Guild of the Infant Saviour to our members everywhere — May you have a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Best wishes for a Happy Holiday are extended to all by the Winchester Girl Scout Council.

The Scouts have been busy sharing the Christmas spirit with others. Mrs. March's Brownie Troop of Mystic School had a delightful party this week at which time they presented their mothers with lovely paster plaques that each had made and decorated.

The Well-Baby Clinic party was voted a huge success despite the lack of co-operation of the weather man on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Richard Smith was chairman and wants to say to all who helped that she will be forever grateful to them. Mr. Frank Crawford will long be remembered for the joy he brought to the 65 youngsters, none of whom is old enough to go to school. The Scouts have shown great imagination and skill in dressmaking for dolls, sewing and stuffing animals and in designing and making bean bags. All of the details of decorating and tree trimming were ably handled by the Scouts. Mrs. Dorothy Cullins troop planned and carried out much of this decorating. Mary Murray and Ruth Freeman were present to lend a hand especially at the close when each guest departed with his many gifts. The delicious cookies served, and used in the attractively made tarletan stockings, were all made by our good Scout Cooks.

During the holidays the Scouts will concentrate on fun with their fellow Scouts. Friday, December 28 a group will meet promptly at 9:30 a. m. at the Shore road corner to take a bus to the Roller-Skating Rink. Remember the admission ticket is the signed parent permission card and no one is admitted without her card.

A CLASSIFIED AD IN THE STAR BRINGS RESULTS

WINCHESTER MAN RECEIVED PATENT

George E. Niles of Madison avenue west, was the recipient on December 4, 1951 of U. S. patent No. 2,577,624 entitled "Mineral-Coated Paper and Process of Producing Same".

Mineral-coated paper, which is used for the reproduction of fine half-tone cuts, consists of a fibrous base upon one or both surfaces of which is a continuous layer of a pigment composition. Commonly employed pigments are clays, talc and chalk; and the composition is such that it covers, and fills the open spaces between, the fibers so that the paper, when calendered or rolled, has a smooth, even and continuous surface. However, unless the pigment is suitably bonded to itself and the fibers, it will rub off.

According to Mr. Niles, the prior practice of using starch or casein as a binder for the pigments is unsatisfactory. For example, starch loses much of its bonding ability during the calendering operation; and it also results in a paper having poor water resistance. The casein is objectionable in that it is non-uniform to such an extent that variations occur in the finished product.

Mr. Niles has discovered that the foregoing limitations may be overcome by the expedient of using a pigment binder made of styrene and maleic anhydride or the derivatives. (Styrene and maleic anhydride are well known materials that are used in the manufacture of plastic substances.)

In other words, with the use of his improved compounds, not only is the bonding ability maintained with continued calendering, but less calendering is required as compared to prior procedures. As a consequence, there is a smaller loss of brightness with an accompanying improvement in the quality of the paper. It should be noted also that the cost of production is lowered; cheaper grades of paper pulp may be employed; and the finished paper has a high brightness, fine gloss, and good affinity for printing inks.

This patent has been assigned to Monsanto Chemical Company.

CALLING ALL PARENTS

[illegible] two than
Safe aspect when she should [illegible]
Both begin [illegible] by October
Visiting hours are 2 to 4

Chief Charles J. Harrold of the Police Department today asked parents to heed the twin warnings contained in this jingle from the Massachusetts Safety Council and to help their police department to safeguard the lives of Winchester's young children from the special hazards of the approaching winter season.

"Those parents who put new skates and new sleds under Christmas trees this year knew that these gifts would bring sparkles to the eyes of their children and roses to their cheeks," said Chief Harrold. "And so they will, and the older skates and sleds which were gifts of previous years are being sharpened and dusted off for this season's use.

"But how many of you parents have given a thought to the possibility that, now or old, they just might bring tragedy into your homes and that there is something that you can — and should — do to help prevent this. Official records prove that tragedies from these causes do strike many homes in this state every winter. For instance, children try too thin ice too early in the season, where there is no one around to hear their cries for help when they fall through. "I am asking for the co-operation of all parents (1) to be vigilant about keeping their children, particularly their pre-school youngsters, away from known hazardous skating and coasting areas; (2) to make certain that conditions are safe before permitting children to use any one area.

FLEW HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

Capt. William F. "Bill" West, regular Army officer and former Winchester High and West Point football star, flew home Tuesday from San Antonio, Texas, to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. West of Wedgemere avenue. He is stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas.

"Bill's" flight had pretty much given up "Bill" because of the atrocious weather conditions, and the report that all planes from New York had been cancelled due to icy runways. "Bill", however, found that one Eastern Airways plane was going through, and though it was not the ship on which he had passage, he was able to get aboard and arrived in Boston from New York at 12:15 Wednesday morning, his parents meeting him at the airport.

"Bill's" little brother, John, former Winchester High and Harvard fullback, is also expected home for Christmas. John, considerably lighter than his 200 pound football weight, has completed his Army basic training at Fort Dix and is presently at Warrenton, Virginia, awaiting reassignment.

With both "Bill" and John pulling up chairs to the West Christmas table, no small, or even medium size turkey will suffice!

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Howe of Littleton, formerly of Winchester, announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Barbara Donnison Howe to Mr. John Prentice Ferguson, son of Mrs. Emmie P. Ferguson of Scarsdale, New York.

Miss Howe was graduated from the Winchester High School with the class of 1947, and was also graduated from The Principia Junior College at Elsah, Illinois and the Latin American Institute at New York City. She is at present living in New York where she is employed as secretary to the Treasurer of the United Nations.

Mr. Ferguson served in the Navy during World War II. He is at present associated with the New York office of Carter's Ink Company.

A June wedding is planned.

THEODORE WALTZER HARTLEY

Theodore Waltzer Hartley of 15 Governor's avenue, a long time and well known resident of Winchester, died at his home early Wednesday afternoon, December 19. He had been ill since Thanksgiving, but had been in poor health for two years, during which time he had been hospitalized three times. He retired from the J. H. Winn's Sons watch-hand manufacturing company in the early spring and during the summer was able to take a three thousand mile automobile tour of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flaherty.

Mr. Hartley was the son of James, and Anna (MacKay) Hartley. He was born December 28, 1866, in Shemogue, N. B., and on January 24, 1894, he married Annetta May Goodwin, coming to this country immediately after his marriage.

For a time he and his wife lived in Dorchester, but 45 years ago they came to Winchester and had since made their home here.

Mr. Hartley was widely known in town through his more than 25 years association with the former Hersey Hardware Co. In recent years, until his retirement he had been employed at the Winn Watch-Hand factory in the Highlands. He was a past Noble Grand of Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows and a member of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

Besides his wife and daughter, Mrs. Flaherty of this town, Mr. Hartley leaves a daughter, Mrs. Mina Ralston of Newton, a son, Ralph F. Hartley of Boston; five grandchildren, ten great-children and a brother, Wnifred Hartley, living at Baie Verte, N. B.

Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bennett Chapel with Rev. John Snook, Jr., minister of the Crawford Memorial Church, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS. ELIZABETH STEWART STEVENSON

Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart Stevenson, wife of William Stevenson of 61 Hemingway street, died Monday morning, December 17, at her home in her 83rd year.

Born in Donegal, Ireland, July 1, 1869, Mrs. Stevenson was the daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Stewart. She lived for a short while in Woburn after coming to this country, but for the past 40 years she had lived in Winchester, having many friends among older residents of the North End. She was a member of the Church of the Epiphany.

Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Saarman; a son, Thomas J. Stevenson, both of Winchester; three grandchildren, and a brother, John Stewart of Woburn.

Services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Arthur P. Graham Funeral Home in Woburn with the Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

INJURED BY CAR ON THOMPSON STREET

Mrs. Virginia M. Dyson, wife of Chester F. Dyson of 17 Lebanon street was painfully injured Tuesday evening when she was struck and knocked down by an automobile while crossing Thompson street near Main street.

The car, an Olds sedan, driven by Arthur J. Haggerty of 24 Wendell street, was making a left turn from Main street into Thompson street when its right front fender struck Mrs. Dyson who had just left the southerly sidewalk on Main street and was crossing the street in the cross walk toward the northerly side of Thompson street.

Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy assisted Mr. Haggerty in picking Mrs. Dyson up and she was taken in the police ambulance to the Winchester Hospital by Officers John Boyle, James Noonan and Thomas Kennedy.

At the hospital Mrs. Dyson was attended by Doctor Phillip J. McManus for injuries to her right thigh and leg, to her spine and head. SANTA CLAUS VISITED NATHANIEL AND TUFTS ROADS

Santa Claus, on an informal visit, came to Nathaniel and Tufts roads Sunday evening.

His reception had been planned long in advance by the parents of the area. A large and beautifully lighted Christmas tree had been placed on the land of Richard O'Brien of Tufts road at the junction of Nathaniel road. In front of the tree was a large throne, for Santa, and to the side and slightly behind, a crib, depicting the Nativity.

At six o'clock carols were played over a loud speaker, and soon afterwards all the residents of the neighborhood and many people from surrounding areas assembled before the tree. Carols were sung by the throng, estimated at between two hundred and three hundred. At the request of Joseph Raftery of 32 Tufts road, who directed the proceedings, many of the children came forward to sing carols.

Everyone, of course, was marking time until the big event, the arrival of Santa Claus. At six forty-five, to the resounding cheers of both children and grownups, the car of Fire Chief James E. Callahan, who had risen to the occasion, came rushing down Nathaniel road with siren screaming and red light blinking, bringing Santa from the airport.

What a thrill for all when Santa Claus stepped down, with his big bag filled with good things slung over his shoulder! He waved to everyone, explaining that he had come by plane instead of by reindeer because he wanted to give the reindeer a good rest before the long haul the following night. He told the kiddies that he would then be out in full regalia with Rudolph as the lead reindeer. He also asked the kiddies not to forget to leave an apple on the mantlepiece for Rudolph.

H. S. PARENT-FACULTY PROGRAM

The executive committee of the Winchester High School Parent Faculty Association has started work on the 1952 spring program of events of interest to town residents.

At a meeting last week at the home of President Hazen H. Ayer, 53 Oxford street, Co-Chairman Edward A. Bartlett of the program committee announced Harold B. Gores, Newton superintendent of schools, will be the speaker at the Association's annual meeting.

Mr. Gore's topic will be "High School Education, 1960 Model." The meeting, which will be open to the public, will be in the high school auditorium April 22. Mrs. Victor Mosso is the program co-chairman with Mr. Bartlett.

Another event of much interest to Winchester residents has been scheduled tentatively by the Association.

This will be a bridge and canasta party in the high school gymnasium in March, the exact date to be decided later. A similar party was held last year and proved extremely popular. More than 400 tickets were sold for the benefit of the Winchester scholarship fund.

Mrs. and Mrs. Harry Whiton are co-chairmen of the ways and means committee which will handle arrangements and plan for the card party.

TO TELECAST TOURNAMENT OF ROSES

For the first time in history, the Tournament of Roses parade will be televised from coast to coast on New Year's Day by the National Broadcasting Company and under the sponsorship of the F. W. Woolworth Company, it was announced today by Raymond Murphy, manager of the Woolworth store at 539 Main street.

The world-famous parade, this year featuring 60 elaborate floats, twenty bands and more than two hundred horsemen, will be telecast beginning at 12:30 p. m. (EST). More than thirty million people are expected to view the parade on television, and a million more will line the route of march in Pasadena, California.

OPEN HOUSE "JIMMY" FUND BUILDING

Winchester "Jimmy" Fund Chairmen Micheal Strange, Winchester Theatre Manager and Charles Harrold, Winchester Chief of Police, take a great deal of pleasure in letting a great many people who have been an immeasurable part of the "Jimmy" Fund campaigns, by their generous contributions, know that the new "Jimmy" Fund Building, for children's cancer research, is now nearing completion.

Official opening of the new "Jimmy" Fund Building of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation, which houses the first institution in the world to be devoted to research in cancer for children, will take place in Boston on January 5, 6, and 7, according to the announcement by Martin J. Mullin, President of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation.

The public is invited to inspect the building on Saturday, from 1 to 5 p. m., and Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p. m. There will be conducted tours through the entire building every half hour. Formal dedication ceremonies will be held in the new auditorium of the building on Monday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. On Monday evening, a citation banquet will be held in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hotel Statler in Boston.

The five-storied cancer research building houses diagnostic clinics and laboratories where the basic techniques of physics and chemistry are applied to the biological problems of cancer in early life. The building has been constructed along the lines of the most modern ideas in laboratory design gathered by the research staff after exhaustive studies of the great laboratories of industry and of the hospital and academic world.

Special equipment has been obtained for the laboratories much of which will be found in Boston for the first time.

The first floor is devoted entirely to an out-patient chemotherapy clinic with facilities adequate for the daily care of more than 200 children. Prior to this time the Tumor Therapy has only been able to accommodate between 70 and 75 children in its old quarters in a nearby apartment house building.

The clinic has been decorated to appeal to the many young patients who will visit it daily for treatment. Among other features are colorful murals of famous Disney characters which cover the walls of the clinic and a magnificent supply of the latest toys supplied as gifts by many of America's leading toy makers.

The "Jimmy" Fund Building of the Children's Cancer Research Foundation has been erected with funds raised by the annual "Jimmy" Fund Drive. The new Building is located at 35 Binney street, Boston, adjacent to the Children's Medical Center.

Once again many thanks on behalf of your local chairmen and all of the participating fund raising committees.

Winchester residents are cordially invited to the Winter Open House of the Cambridge Center for Adult Education, 42 Brattle street, Cambridge, which will be held on Thursday, January 3, from three to five, and from seven to nine-thirty p. m.

January Exhibition.

The opening of the January Exhibition should come, auspiciously enough, on January 1. But those members who plan to celebrate New Year's Eve well, albeit wisely, will rejoice to know that the opening night has been arranged for Wednesday, January 2nd, time and place as usual.

This will be the annual Modern Art Showing and, with nice timing and good salesmanship, follows Mr. Bengtz's exhibition which was a suitable introduction to it.

Mr. Frederick Walkl, the Executive Director of the De Cordova Museum in Lincoln, where the paintings have been hanging, will discuss them. The evening promises to be interesting, perhaps controversial and certainly stimulating.

UNITARIAN YOUTH

The Junior High Fellowship of the Winchester Unitarian church is sponsoring a holiday dancing party on Saturday night at seven o'clock in Metcalf Hall. Tickets may be secured from members. Miss Linda Nanny is president of the group. Mr. Brandoch Lovely is the advisor.

The young people of the parish who are home for the holidays have been invited to the minister's home at 33 Glen Green for an open house at four o'clock for the college age young people and at eight o'clock for the High School age young people.

SINGERS AND ACTORS USHER IN HOLIDAYS

First nighters wended their way to the high school auditorium last Friday night to enjoy the musical and dramatic production "Christmas" given by the combined glee clubs, dramatic club, and modern dance group of the High School. The talents of Miss Eleanor Anifantis, vocal director, and dramatic coach Tom Morse, were joined with those of the old vaudeville master, Ray Hayward, in presenting a pleasant evening's entertainment appropriately introducing the holiday season. Credit also goes to Mrs. Dorothy Dunn, who trained the sprightly delightful Modern Dance Group in their interpretation of "Winter Wonderland" and "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" with music by the Mixed Glee Club accompanied by Janet Macauley.

Outstanding individual performers were Annette Barbaro in her violin solo of the lovely "Cantique de Noel" and Sona Norian as the sorely harassed mother in the one act play. Vern Carrier provided some rare comedy in showing why mothers grow gray, and the entire cast of this Curtain and Cue production are to be commended for their entertaining portrayal of the fact that no one is too grown up to enjoy Christmas at home.

Opening the program, the Girls' Glee Club, accompanied by Margaret Reid, sang five Christmas selections, with Solos by Louise Orgettas and Nancy Ross. Then followed a playlet, "Christmas Memories," given by members of Curtain and Cue with a choral background of mixed voices, after which the aforementioned Modern Dance selections and violin solo led to the climax of the evening, the one act comedy, "The Tree," by E. L. McMartin. At the conclusion of the play, carolers came down the aisles and the audience joined in singing "O Come All Ye Faithful," to make a very effective closing.

The program follows:

LEXINGTON HERE TONIGHT

Indians in First League Game

Winchester High will open defense of its Middlesex League championship tonight when they tangle with Lexington High at the High school gym. It is fitting that Lexington should be the opponent in the opening League game as these two teams tied for the League title last winter and have been strong rivals in basketball over the years. The Minutemen upset those lettermen from last year's championship outfit and have looked good so far this season in losing to strong Matignon High by four points and defeating Watertown High by 15 points.

Coach Ted Bartlett's Indians have won their first two games from Danvers and Winthrop by impressive margins and hope to open their Middlesex League campaign with a victory tonight. Captain John DiIorio will lead a veteran quintet on the floor that has looked strong defensively and one whose spirit and aggressiveness has earned the praise of opposing coaches. A large crowd should be on hand for this one as it shapes up as one of the best games of the year on the home schedule.

Next week the Red and Black will engage in two Middlesex League contests, both away from home. On Wednesday afternoon the Indians travel to Concord to meet the Patriots while next Friday night the locals play at Wakefield.

Miss Brandt, who is a freshman at the University, is enrolled at the College of Music and is a member of the glee club and chorus.

WINCHESTER GOT BY WINTHROP

Indians Impressed in 54 - 35 Win

Winchester High passed successfully its first real test of the infant basketball season by defeating Winthrop High at Winthrop last Friday night by a score of 54 - 35. The Indians' performance was very pleasing to Coach Bartlett as it was a vast improvement over their opening game exhibition a week ago. The fact that Winthrop had previously defeated Melrose and Wakefield, two of the local's Middlesex League opponents, makes the Winchester victory more impressive.

The Red and Black was in command all the way as they outscored Winthrop in every quarter to build up their winning margin. Winchester had a lead of 10 - 5 at the end of the first quarter which was increased to a 21 - 9 margin at the half as Winthrop was held to only two baskets over these two periods. Both teams loosened up in the second half and did considerably more scoring but Winchester had a comfortable 36 - 20 lead at the three-quarter mark and coasted home an easy winner.

In addition to pacing the Winchester scoring, Rodney Long and Johnny Farrell turned in outstanding performances for the Indians. Farrell was all over the court, breaking up the Winthrop attack with interceptions or held balls and starting the Winchester offense down the floor, while Long led both teams in the number of offensive and defensive rebounds he gathered in off the backboard. The whole team played well to ably support the starring role of Long and Farrell as they more than matched Winthrop's ruggedness with very spirited, aggressive play, showed a strong defense, and were shooting well as their 34 per cent of successful field goals indicates.

The Winchester Seconds romped to an easy 48 - 17 victory over the Winthrop Seconds. The locals had a 28 - 13 lead at the half but the second half was no contest as the Red and Black continued to pile up the score even though using 17 players. Norman Howard and Bob Flaherty played well for the Seconds while Max McCreery turned in a nice performance from among the many reserves used.

WE HEAR FROM "MUSCLES"!

The Star received the above letter from Ted Covert, former Winchester High three sport manager and distance runner who is University of Massachusetts exchange student in Holland.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Lovell Covert of Highland avenue, Ted is spending the year studying at the agricultural school at Wageningen and living with a young Dutch grocer and his wife. For the most part Ted has found the Dutch a bit on the sober and formal side, but his landlord and his wife are jolly and enjoy a joke, which is fortunate.

"Muscles", after a fine crossing, arrived in Wageningen just in time for a feast week celebrating the 75th anniversary of the Agricultural School and ceremonies celebrating the unveiling of a statue commemorating the liberation of the country. Prince Bernard unveiled the statue and the Queen visited Wageningen, "Ted" having a chance to get a couple of snaps of "Her Royal Highness".

The week after his arrival "Ted" went to Amsterdam to attend the World Congress for Tobacco, during which he took one excursion to Rotterdam, sailing around the city harbor, and another to Amsterdam, sailing through the city's system of canals.

"Muscles" had a bit of a time with the Dutch language at first, but he is now doing better with it, reading it tolerably and understanding people quite well if they don't talk too fast.

For a while he had a hard time in his classes at the college, but now he is able to follow the professors well enough to get something from his college courses.

"Muscles" has been making short trips away from Wageningen with Agricultural men, his best trip being a three-day visit to Friesland, [illegible] and with the exception of [illegible] on a recent [illegible] entrance in the "Hugh [illegible] was presented Ted [illegible] Christmas card [illegible] Winchester. Here [illegible] sending greetings to all [illegible] with a special greeting to E. L. Conklin, Esq."

Ted writes that he gets the Star regularly and enjoys reading it from first page to last. He followed the fortunes of the high school football team through the Star and sends along congratulations to Coach Knowlton for a wonderful season.

STONEHAM FROSH ON TOP

The Winchester High Freshman basketball team lost the opening game of its season at the high school gym last Friday afternoon when they were defeated 40 - 31 by a strong Stoneham Freshman quintet. The Stoneham Frosh had too much speed and experience for the Red and Black Papooses but the locals made a close contest of it down to the final three minutes. Lee Farrell, Bill Ross, and "Bucky" Mercath played good ball for Winchester and with a little more training and experience these boys will do all right.

The Winchester Junior High quintet rolled to a high scoring 52 - 34 victory over the Stoneham Junior High in a preliminary contest. Joe Bellino, John Lynch, and Dave Lindsey were the high scorers for Coach Mickey Mourling's [illegible].

With our Best Wishes!

The Star wishes all its readers, advertisers and friends a Happy New Year. We are grateful for past favors and will do everything possible to merit your continued support in 1952.

In another column of the Star you can read of the community Christmas Party held by the residents of Nathaniel and Tufts roads for themselves and their children. These newcomers to Winchester, living on a recently developed section of the town, have set an example of community neighborliness and good will that many long established neighborhoods could well follow. They bid fair to become valued citizens of Winchester.

DON'T BLAME US

Beginning the first of the year government post cards are advertised to go up to two cents, but don't blame us if they cost more. It's not our fault or due to any increase in our prices for printing. If you have 10 or less cards they will cost you two cents. But — if you have 50 cards or over, ten percent will be added. Thus 500 post cards will now cost you $11.00. That is for the cards alone. One thousand cards will cost you $22.00. These are Government costs, not ours. The scheme seems to be right in accord with our "free enterprise" and present New Deal philosophy — but who are we to beef in this time of great national emergency. Perhaps some of the extra money will be used to free United States army flyers from our friends in Europe or educate backward peoples in darkest Africa

TUFTS SINGERS HERE JAN. 12

Editor of the Star:

The Tufts Odeon Singers will be presented to Winchester Saturday evening, January 12, 1952, at the High School Auditorium, by the Winchester Public School Custodians Association. A capacity crowd is expected.

Dr. Forbes H. Norris, Superintendent of Schools, is interested in this venture of the Custodians, together with the Central Mothers' Association, and the Mothers' Association of every school in town.

Do not let the title of this group of select singers lead you astray.

The program will comprise music that it not only worth while, but is also guaranteed to keep you awake. The Odeon Singers are the pick of the Tufts College Glee Clubs. They have given concerts in New York and many other places and have been well received where ever they have appeared.

This mixed chorus is managed by none other than Winchester's own Tommy Drapeau who will be remembered for his pleasing voice while at Winchester High School. He will take an active part in several selections. He is the son of Mr. Tiberius Drapeau, Supervisor of Buildings and Grounds for the School Department and Supervisor over all Public School Custodians.

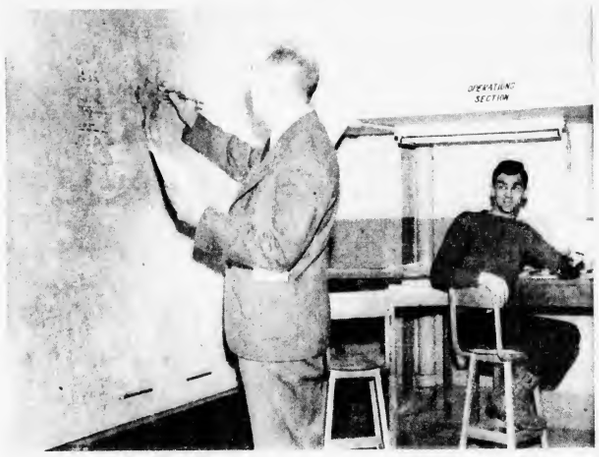

In next week's issue of the Star we hope to have a picture of this group of fine young singers.

There are many Tufts College graduates residing in Winchester. Here is an opportunity for them to come and hear their old College songs and at the same time help a worthy cause, the Winchester Public School Custodian Relief Fund. We also hope that the members of the Mystic Glee Club will be interested in hearing this fine group of young college songsters.

Looking forward to seeing you all at the High School Auditorium, Saturday evening, January 12.

TIME OUT FOR DREAMS

Winton Club Cabaret Promises Fun and Gayety

Are you beginning to have a certain "let down" feeling now that Christmas is over? Be of good cheer, then, because this year's Winton Club Cabaret, in the able hands of its chairman, Mrs. Joseph Gardina, is going to start off the New Year with a bang and transport you into a gay and carefree Dreamland. You stretch and make believe that the gloomy and cold and wet weather could be made for us. You can? Come, come, that's a magic carpet to please and surely you all have longed for.

So let us ahead of the game, put aside dreaming, and get on to the serious business of the Cabaret. If the dreaming part does come right after all, you'll be in the right mood to enjoy a Gay Parisian Stroll in Montmartre and various places — you can dance off your cares and enjoy those three enchantments at the Winton Club Cabaret, January 17, 18, and 19.

And did you know that Friday night, and that night only, some lucky couple is going to win the chance to spend two days at The Plaza in New York and see the latest Broadway shows, with all expenses paid? A dream come true!

By special request Mr. David Jones of the Cargill Co., is returning to direct this extravaganza. Tryouts will take place Wednesday, January 2, at the Mystic School Assembly Hall at 7 o'clock.

LEGION CHRISTMAS PARTY

Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion, held its annual Christmas Party for children on Sunday afternoon at the Legion House with 225 enthusiastic youngsters as their guests.

An attractively lighted and decorated tree made an appropriate background for the festivities which included appropriate motion pictures for children shown by Jim Marchant and refreshments of ice cream, cookies and candy.

Ralph Scott was a convincing Santa Claus and music was furnished by Herb Cleary at the piano, his son, Dick, trumpeter, and Tom McKee, drums. Everyone joined in singing Christmas Carols, led by Mr. Cleary. "Cod" O'Donnell was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

How to avoid the Rush

Everybody likes to be waited on promptly. Nobody likes to stand in line. However there are peak periods in every bank when lines at tellers' windows are likely to be longer. The peak hours are usually around noon and just before the closing hour of the day. The peak days are those that come at the latter part of the week and around the 1st and fifteenth of the month. So for fastest service, we suggest that you bank early in the day and early in the week. And remember you never have to stand in line at all when you do your banking by mail through your nearest mail box.

When making currency for deposit it is not usual that you register the letter.

Healing as an essential part of Christianity as taught and practiced by Christ Jesus will be among the points stressed in Christian Science services next Sunday, when a Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christian Science" will be read.

Bible selections to be read will include Jesus' command to his followers: "Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give" (Matthew 10:8).

Among the correlative citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" this one will be read: "Jesus established in the Christian era the precedent for all Christianity, theology, and healing. Christians are under as direct orders now, as they were then, to be Christlike, to possess the Christ-spirit, to follow the Christ-example, and to heal the sick as well as the sinning" (p. 138).

The Golden Text is from Isaiah: "The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it" (40:5).

MILK SHEDS FUNNEL INTO CITIES TODAY'S HUGE U. S. DAIRY YIELD

Enough milk will have been produced in the United States in 1951 to fill a river 3,000 miles long, 10 feet wide, and three feet deep.

The river has nearly 25 million sources — the number of cows milked during the year on U. S. farms. It flows at an annual rate of 56 billion quarts, a quart a day for every man, woman, and child in the country.

From farm to housewife's refrigerator, this tremendous flood of milk products moves in channels that could be drawn on a map, the National Geographic Society says. Such a U. S. milk map would resemble a series of spider webs spun around each city and town in the country.

Each tangled web would cover an area which dairymen call a "milk shed," much as geographers term the boundaries of a drainage system a "watershed." Around the largest cities of America are the great milk sheds of the world.

Milk Machine to Doorstep

Long before cities are awake each day, milk is moving in the supply lines which form the milk sheds. From the slow beat of milking machines to the clink of paper-capped bottles on the nation's doorstep, one of the world's fastest distribution systems is in operation.

Rigid health and legal standards determine the pattern of milk supply. Federal marketing orders, State milk legislation and municipal health departments control the manner in which the "most nearly perfect food" is produced and sold, and hence define, to a large extent, the size and shape of the milk sheds.

Chicago, crossroad of the nation's railroads and of much of its food, receives its milk from a dairying area which extends like a giant button hook down the length of Wisconsin to curl around the tip of Lake Michigan. Milk comes to the Chicago market from rural gathering depots as far as 375 miles away, such as a cooperative creamery in Clear Lake, Wisconsin.

New York City is fed milk by all New York State, parts of six other states, and sometimes even by two Canadian provinces. From the green lowlands around Lake Champlain, milk pours into New York and also into Boston. From eastern Pennsylvania, milk goes to New York and Philadelphia. The latter also draws milk from parts of Maryland, Delaware, and New Jersey. Thus are the vast milk sheds laced together in the crowded East.

FROZEN COAL OF SPITSBERGEN MINED BY RUSSIA AND NORWAY

For oddest crossroads of the cold war are Norway's jagged Spitsbergen islands, where polar bears nose inquisitively into the only mining settlements operated by Soviet Russia on the free side of the Iron Curtain.

Svalbard — "land of the cold coast" — is the ancient Norse name for this Arctic archipelago which became part of the Kingdom of Norway a quarter of a century ago, the National Geographic Society says. Once an international no man's land, Svalbard has recently become a strategic question mark.

It straddles potential polar air routes between Europe and North America. But under a 1920 treaty, the islands cannot be fortified, and signing nations (United States, Great Britain and its Dominions, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, and Russia) are guaranteed continued access to any economic interests they might hold there.

Today both Norway and Russia mine Spitsbergen coal. Norway is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; Russia is not. Svalbard's status is somewhere between.

Polar Wealth

For more than 300 years European nations fought Arctic warfare over Spitsbergen's wealth. First for whales, then for fur, finally for coal, ships and men have forced their way through polar ice to the fogbound coasts of a glacier-capped country one-fifth the size of Norway itself. The northern islands reach within 600 miles of the North Pole.

On Amsterdam Island through the 1,600's stood Smerenburg — Blubbertown — a booming summer city of evil-smelling rendering vats, crude huts, taverns and as many as 18,000 whaling men of Holland. Other settlements were built by the English, French, Norwegians, and Danes.

Beginning about 1715, crude river boats crossing the open sea brought black-bearded Russians to Spitsbergen. Wintering in darkness and misery in thousands of huts dotting coastline and interior, they hunted Arctic fox, polar bears, walruses, seals and eider ducks. Norwegian hunters came from Hammerfest to trap the great herds of reindeer for meat.

Spitsbergen has been the base for many noted explorers: the ill-fated Andree, originator of polar attack by air; Wellman, Peary, Byrd, Amundsen, Ellsworth, Nobile, Wilkins. The first scientific expedition in 1773 was English. On board one of the ships was a 14-year-old midshipman named Horatio Nelson — later Admiral Lord Nelson — who very nearly was killed by a polar bear.

Frozen Fuel

Viking voyagers in the 12th century, the Dutchman Willem Barents in 1596, Henry Hudson in 1607 may have seen black coal streaking the barren mountainsides, but mining did not begin until John M. Longyear of Boston sank a shaft in 1905. His success touched off a battle for mining rights which compared with the Alaska gold rush. Any nation that could dig out the coal could have it. Many tried, but later they sold their claims either to Norway or to Russia.

German invaders completely wrecked Spitsbergen's mining towns during World War II. Now built, there are three Norwegian communities — Longyearbyen, Sverdrupbyen and Ny Alesund — and three Russian settlements — Barentsburg, Grumant City and Pyramiden — on Vest Spitsbergen, largest island of the archipelago.

On the shores of the great Is Fjorden (Ice Fjord) there are lighthouses, radio beacons, meteorological stations, hospitals, movie theaters and the world's northernmost radar station. Such navigational aids extend the short shipping season into late October, when the ice pack closes on Svalbard, and the sun disappears for the four-month winter night.

ILLITERATE BIRDS FAIL DR. ALLEN'S MATH TEST

Birds can't count.

Knowledge of the mathematical failings of birds is just one of the things that makes an outstanding ornithologist and bird photographer of Arthur A. Allen, professor of ornithology at Cornell and author of a new book, "Stalking Birds with Color Camera," that promises to make bird-watchers out of all its casual readers. The book, of course, is almost a must for anyone with a previous interest in birds.

Dr. Allen is a stocky, spry little man of 65 who has been deeply interested in birds all his life and who started photographing them as a Cornell undergraduate in 1904.

For the last 20 years, aided by development of the color camera and sound recording equipment, Dr. Allen has roved from Aslaska to Panama, gathering material that has tremendously augmented knowledge of ornithology. Dr. Allen and his colleagues at Cornell have worked unceasingly to improve techniques in photographing birds in full color, and in recording their songs and calls.

Many of his expeditions have been sponsored by the National Geographic Society, publisher of the book, and illustrated accounts of his work have appeared frequently in the National Geographic Magazine. "Stalking Birds with Color Camera" is edited by Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the Society and editor of the Magazine, himself an outstanding authority on birds.

The author's expert work and infinite patience are clearly evident in the book, which contains 331 color photo-plates showing 226 species of North American birds. Dr. Allen is responsible for 264 of the color photographs, and the rest are the work of various other photographers.

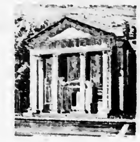

One of Dr. Allen's exploits took front page newspaper space away from the hot nomination campaign of the Republican National Convention in the summer of 1948.

Up to that time only one of all 815 North American birds had managed to keep the secret of its nesting place from man. That bird was the bristle-thighed curlew, a pullet-sized commuter between Alaska and the South Sea Islands.

On June 12, 1948, Dr. Allen, in a remote southwestern Alaska village, sent a radiogram to Dr. Grosvenor. It said: "We have found the curlew's nest."

On June 13 the newspapers had something besides convention news to print. The bristle-thighed curlew and its nest were page one material, and editorial copy for several days.

Dr. Allen's discovery of a bird's inability to count developed through the necessity of using blinds for close-up photographs of nesting. But no matter how well concealed a blind may be, the photographer must enter it.

Happy New Year!

After which hearing the Board may alter said plan and may determine where said way shall be located and the width and grade thereof.

Prior to the hearing the plan may be examined at the office of the Town Engineer.

IN MT. HOLYOKE PREMIERE

[illegible] Mount Holyoke College, [illegible] December 14. Produced by [illegible] expected to be produced professionally in New York and Dublin.

Miss Joan Barnacle, daughter of Mr. and Mr. William H. Barnacle of 32 Stratford road had a leading part in "God's Gentry." She has been active in Dramatic Club and Laboratory Theatre productions, but this was her first production play.

The play, Mr. McDonagh's latest, was directed by Denis Johnston, the well-known Irish playwright, actor and director. Before accepting his present position at Florence Purington Visiting Lecturer in English at Mount Holyoke, Mr. Johnston was associated with the Abbey Theatre of Dublin.

"God's Gentry" is the first dramatic Club production of this year. Several one-act plays will be presented by the freshmen in March, and the entire club will combine efforts for the May Day week-end play, which is repeated at graduation for the Alumnae.

Miss Barnacle, a junior at Mount Holyoke, attended Winchester High School.

Miss Barbara L. Haskell, senior at the college of Wooster, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Haskell, of 9 Lakeview Terrace.

GREER AWARDED PATENT

The invention pertains to machines and is for examples those that are employed to apply a fudge coating to candy centers. Generally speaking, such a machine comprises a tank over which an endless wire belt passes. This tank contains the chocolate coating mix, usually at an elevated temperature; and included also is a means for maintaining the mix continuously from the tank to a distributor located over the belt. As the individual candies, which are spaced along the upper stretch of the belt, are fed through the machine, the mix cascades over them from the distributor and the excess returns through the belt to the tank which thus acts as a reservoir.

However, according to Mr. Greer, difficulties have been encountered with the foregoing equipment due to the fact that the periodic cleaning operations, required by health authorities, have involved lengthy work stoppages. In other words, because of the compactness of the apparatus and the desirability of total enclosure both for cleanliness and for heat conservation purposes, the moving and stationary parts [illegible] such close clearance that considerable disassembly has always been necessary in order to render the tank completely accessible.

It is the object of Mr. Greer's invention to overcome this limitation and, for this purpose, he has devised a novel top housing consisting essentially of three independent, superposed structural parts. The bottom one of these parts holds the liquid coating material and also the driving motor; the intermediate one carries the wire belt and devices which transfer the coating substance continuously from the tank to the distributor; and the top part contains the distributor assembly. As the principal feature of the construction, the two upper components are so designed that they may readily be pivoted upwardly from their normal horizontal position into a setting that permits easy access to each part for cleaning.

This patent has been assigned to J. W. Greer Company, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

ARLINGTON GAS LIGHT COMPANY ANNOUNCES CONVERSION PLAN

As [illegible] step looking the coming of natural gas to Arlington, Belmont, Lexington, Winchester, and Woburn was made known today when Arlington Gas Light Company announced its plans to start preliminary work on customers' appliances about January 2, 1952. The first announcement of actual conversion plans was made by Everett C. Bryant, Vice President and Manager.

While the time when natural gas will be available is still a few months away, Mr. Bryant said that many necessary changes must be made before it can be supplied to the Arlington Gas Light Company's customers. This preliminary work on enlarging further ports of gas appliances will be done by experienced men carrying identification cards of Conversions and Surveys, Inc. This firm has been employed and authorized by the Arlington Gas Light Company to do the conversion work.

Mr. Bryant stated that any work that can be done in advance of the actual changeover will be completed now. When the final adjustments are made, the time an appliance is out of service will be substantially reduced by this preliminary work. However, before the final changeover, all customers of the Arlington Gas Light Company will receive full information explaining the Company's plans and giving the date when natural gas will be admitted into neighborhood.

Miss Mary Fisher of this town will be one of the Grinnell College students pictured in a full page of photographs in this week's Rotogravure section of the Chicago Sunday Tribune in connection with the Tribune's "Youth on Campus" series. Since the start of this series in 1940 more than 200 college campuses in 45 states have been visited by the Tribune.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON CHRISTMAS MEETING

The Christmas meeting of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion was held at the home of Mrs. Charles M. Vanner, 10 Oxford street on Friday, December 14. Mrs. Edward K. Eppes, vice-president called the meeting to order and business was discussed for a short time. After this the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham who presented the eagerly awaited entertainment.

Program

The program opened with piano selections by Grace Nolan who gave pleasure by clever interpretations of Arabesque by Debussy and The Little White Donkey by Ibert.

The carols, sensitively presented by the Mary Witham Singers under Mrs. Witham's artistic direction were as follows:

From Heaven High — Dickinson
Hasten Scottie — Kuntz
Lo, How a Rose — Praetorius
Still Grows the Evening — Bohemian
Amid the Roses — Reger-Beelvers
The Virgin's Lullaby — Henry King Fitts
Star of Courage — Jacques Wolfe
Bethlehem — Dickinson

[illegible] Christmas Carols [illegible] Music
Star Lord Up — Shaw Pritial Carol
Glory to God — Pergolesi

[illegible] were certain carols effective selections of verse impressively presented by Mary T. Blake. They were as follows:

What Makes a Christmas — [illegible] Williams
It isn't far to Bethlehem Town — Unknown
[illegible] — B. Y. Williams
The Star that Rose — J. C. McCoy
Memory — Kate C. Gredler
The Trees, They Know — Grace H. Sherwood
The Old Amaze — Grace N. Crowell
Christmas House Blessing — Arthur Guiterman

The combination of carols and verse made a pleasantly balanced program which was much enjoyed. Very lovely were the incidental solos by Louise Baghdoyan, Sophia Gardner, Marian Wright, Evelyn Strong, Elizabeth Gardner, Jane McGlotte and Elizabeth Mouradian.

The members of the Winchester Circle extend their many thanks to Mrs. Witham, the Mary Witham Singers and all who helped to make [illegible] a success.

[illegible] Sonia N[illegible] Mr. and Mrs. T. Baker [illegible] a short business meeting and a program.

HOW MANY electric plants WOULD YOU LIKE ?
Nowadays, electric plant construction comes higher than ever. Everybody knows how building costs have gone up.
But modern, mass-production plants are the big guns in the battle to hold down electric rates. And you can judge how the battle is going from the fact that electricity is still New England's biggest bargain.
Small investors finance electric plants — and as more building is needed in the future they will be ready to help again — providing always that the electric companies are permitted to earn fair returns and pay fair dividends.

GEORGE WASHINGTON DADS' CLUB NEWS

Continuing their annual custom, the Dads' Club held a Christmas party for all the children in the school on Friday, December 21. Fire-proof Christmas trees were placed in all the rooms, and the auditorium, and were appropriately decorated by the children. At 10:00 a. m., the Dads put on a Christmas party in each room, providing all kinds of refreshments for the children.

A special Christmas assembly was held at 10:45 a. m. Miss Edna Boutwell put on an excellent puppet show in three parts, using over 150 puppets. Part I was The Gingerbread Boy; Part II the Cinderella Ball; Part III The Zoo Parade. The children were thrilled with the fast-moving and delightful show.

Mr. Jack Wakefield, President of the Dads' Club, then made suitable Christmas presentations to Mr. Al McKenzie, the custodian, and Mr. Lord, the traffic officer. A humorous climax to the assembly was the presentation of the twenty-five-year-old coal shovel, newly painted and decorated to the custodian, Al McKenzie, who intends to hang it beside the new oil burner, forever untarnished.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The annual Christmas party of the Winchester Garden Club was held on Thursday, December 20, at the delightful home of Mrs. William W. Goodhue, a former president of the Club, and the many Christmas decorations gave evidence of the artistic ability of the hostess. After a most tempting array of ices, cakes and cookies with their Yuletide decorations, and coffee poured by the President, Mrs. Charles R. Main, and Mrs. Thomas I. Freeburn, the members held their business meeting and Christmas party in the fascinating studio-recreation room, where the beautifully decorated tree added to the pleasure of the giving of gifts. Mrs. Willard S. Hudson, whose artistic abilities are also well known, was co-hostess with Mrs. Goodhue.

COACH BARTLETT ON SPORTS BROADCAST

Coach Ted Bartlett of the Winchester High School basketball and baseball teams will be among those to appear on Fred Foye's Sports Broadcast Saturday evening at 8:45 over Station WNAC.

Fred Foye is schoolboy sports editor of the Boston Traveler. He has gotten together a number of sports figures for his broadcast, including a football player who ran 107 yards after intercepting a pass in his end zone and still failed to score.

Coach Bartlett has been chosen to appear because of the success of his teams in past seasons and because of his prospects, both in basketball and baseball, for this year.

At 12:12 Monday morning Ralph Heagland at Randall's Ice Cream and Candy Shop heard what sounded like an explosion in the basement of the shop. He notified the police who called the Fire Department. The firemen discovered trouble with the ignition of the oil burner was responsible for the explosion and the smoke in the cellar of the building.

SANTA CLAUS VISITED NATHANIEL AND TUFTS ROADS

Santa Claus granted his steeds and opened his large sack and started mail out the name of each child. When he asked each one whether he or she had been good all year an amazing fact was uncovered. Not one child had done a naughty thing all year!

Many amusing incidents occurred during the interviews. Little Robert Raftery wanted a bike with fat wheels for Christmas. He wanted Santa to be very sure about this and not bring him one with skinny wheels. Paul Rigney had received no candy with his present, and the crowd was quite amused when he came back to ask for it.

One little girl must have had quite a crush on Santa. As soon as she was placed on his lap she threw her arms around him and gave him a big kiss.

Santa's imposing figure had quite the opposite effect on a few of the very young ones. Little Michael Looney and "Skipper" Stone waited lustily as they were being pushed forward to be interviewed by him.

Little Timmy Millar didn't wait long to open his present, and he kept blowing for all he was worth on his new harmonica.

"Sooky" Ward knew what she wanted. When Santa asked her what she would like to receive for Christmas, she pointed to the gift he was holding in his hand and replied, "That package you have right there!"

Another little girl, who is evidently of a suspicious nature, remarked that Santa Claus had a mole on his face in exactly the same spot as has Lennie (Lennart Larson of 34 Nathaniel road)!

One little girl was quite disturbed because there were no apples at home and asked if it were all right if she left a banana on the mantlepiece for Rudolph.

The most patient of all the children was little Johnnie McIntosh. He was probably the very first of the children out to greet Santa, sat at his feet all through the proceedings, and was the very last to be called.

Jimmy McElholm missed Santa by about five minutes and was quite downhearted about it. However, Santa had announced that Jimmy should receive a gift the following night with the other gifts that the two party. Special [illegible] and [illegible] night.

There was evidently no bottom to Santa Claus' sack; for although many unexpected children made their appearance after all the names of the youngsters living on Nathaniel road and Tufts road had been called, no child went away empty handed.

Children at the party were:

Before his departure Santa Claus stated that, because of the extremely friendly reception he had received, he would pay another visit to the area another year.

All agreed that the party went off very well and that it had been well worth the effort expended by the many fathers and mothers in

LT. EATON AT CORPUS CHRISTI

Lieutenant junior grade William T. Eaton, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Eaton of 2 Ridgeway, has reported to the U. S. Naval School, All Weather Flight at NAS, Corpus Christi, Texas, for duty involving training in the latest procedures in all-weather instrument flying.

Upon completion of his training he will report to Commander Air Force Atlantic Fleet, Norfolk, Virginia.

The Navy's All Weather Flight School is designed for advanced training of Navy, Marine and Coast Guard pilots in instrument flight. The course includes instruction and practice on such things as Radio Range orientation and approaches, Direction Finding, Instrument Letdown Systems, radar Ground Controlled Approach and the latest in aids to air navigation, the Omni-directional Range.

During the period of instruction the student receives much ground school work to prepare him for his actual in-flight practice. Also, he learns much about the art of passing this instrument knowledge on to other aviators.

Those pilots completing the course are truly qualified all-weather aviators. They are more fully prepared to carry out their assigned missions, whether those missions are supplying much needed material by transport aircraft, or flying through the thickest weather to engage in actual combat.

ROTARY NOTES

John F. Conlin, M. D., was the speaker at yesterday's regular meeting of the Rotary Club in Masonic Apartments.

Director of Medical Information and Education for the Massachusetts Medical Society, Dr. Conlin spoke of the need of improving what private medicine and present community and state health agencies are doing without adopting the paternalistic and bureaucratic socialized medical program proposed by President Truman. His talk was both informative and timely, and will be reproduced in next week's Star.

TOWN HALL CHRISTMAS PARTY

During the Christmas season the town hall was gaily decorated, both upstairs and down, and at high noon of the day before Christmas the officials and clerks in the hall gathered in the Assessor's rooms for a Christmas party.

About 25 attended the affair and enjoyed the refreshments which included a holiday egg nog compounded by Treasurer E. Abbot Bradlee. The genial Mr. Bradlee also acted as Santa Claus for the exchange of gifts among those present, and explained to the Star that there was no time for the general singing of Christmas Carols to which everyone was looking forward.

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk by C. Edward Heptig, Jr., of 30 Inverness road, Arlington, and Ruth E. Lawson of 73 Dunster Lane.

K of C CHRISTMAS PARTY

Santa Claus came to town last Sunday afternoon, at the Noonan School, when the Winchester Council No. 210, Knights of Columbus, held their annual children's Christmas Party. Over 300 children attended the party which opened with the singing of Christmas carols under the direction of Jim Cullen, assisted by Norman Harrold at the piano. The children were in good voice as they sang under Jim's direction. A series of interesting short movies were shown which pleased the children. Ice cream and candy were distributed between the movies. After the kiddies had their tummies filled with sweets, Santa Claus (Justin Horie) made his appearance, and he was weighted down with all the toys he brought with him for all the good boys and girls who were present. The children flocked to Santa to tell him what they wanted for Christmas. Santa assured them that he had what they wanted on his list. The children looked very happy as they left when the party was over.

The committee that worked to make the party a success was headed by John Lane, Jr., ably assisted by Frank Nowell, John Hannon, Eugene Lane, William Dailey, Robert Fiore, Lawrence Kean, Charles Doherty, John Dolan, John Murray, Larry Donlin, John Donlon, Bart Conlon, James Falzano, John J. Flaherty, Charles Haggerty, Eric Johnson, Daniel O'Donnell, Henry O'Melia, Daniel Reardon, Justin Horie, Francis Donovan, William Sullivan, John Mulrenan and Thomas Drapeau, who ran the movie projector. Grand Knight Charles Craven wishes to thank the committee for making the party such a successful one for the children.

BACK THEM WITH BLOOD

Christmas has come and gone. The festivities are over. We can now turn our minds to our more serious responsibilities.

Thousands of boys in Korea did not enjoy the comfort and happiness we had during the holidays. Some of them were right at death's door. What they are sacrificing is for us! What greater gift can a man give than his life?

Let us appraise the situation. What are we giving? All the boys in Korea need from us is one pint of blood. It's very little to ask!

And to make sure that this painfully needed blood, which cannot be made synthetically, will be there at the right moment — is up to you.

Give A Gift Of Life! Call your local Red Cross Chapter today at Winchester 6-2300 and make your appointment. The Bloodmobile will be at the First Congregational Church on Friday, January 11. Put Winchester over the top. Two hundred appointments are needed.

Soldiers and sailors should not have to give their own blood before leaving for Korea. It is up to us who are enjoying the comforts and luxuries of home to make a little sacrifice. Don't let them down. Back Them With Blood!
